

TO QUIT LOWELL

MANHATTAN CLUB

STRIKE MAY SPREAD

NOTED DEMOCRATS

Hudson Man Supposed to be a Kleptomaniac

Many Other Interesting Cases Engage Attention of Police — Sunday Card Players Fined — Assault at a Saturday Night Wedding

Eben A. Woodbury, aged 65 years, a veteran of the Civil war and an alleged kleptomaniac, who resides in Hudson, N. H., was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with attempting to commit larceny Saturday afternoon. James E. O'Donnell, who represented the aged defendant, entered a plea of not guilty.

The first witness for the government was Herbert Charette who resides at 474 Moody street. He testified he saw the defendant coming out of the building in which he lives last Saturday afternoon. The man left the house in a hurry and upon reaching the street ran through Moody street and turned into a side street. Witness gave chase and finding an officer pointed the man out to him and Woodbury was placed under arrest.

Albina Forget, who lives in the house in question in Moody street, testified she entered her room about 1.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon and found Woodbury standing in front of her bureau. One of the drawers was open but she could not state as to whether or not he had anything in his hand.

Anna Proulx, who lives in the same house, testified to seeing the old man leaving the house in a hurry.

Supt. Welch said he had a conversation with the man admitted that he had entered the house for the purpose of stealing, but could not tell why he did such things. He said he came to Lowell to get some flesh. He left his horse and carriage in Fitchburg and came to Lowell on the electric line. He did not know who he went to the building in Moody street. He said he was sorry for what he had done and if given a chance would try to overcome his weakness. He said he was all right while he remained in the country but when he came to the city he lost control of himself.

Supt. Welch showed that the man had been arrested in Lawrence and Nashua and since 1887 had been before the court on a number of different occasions.

No defense was offered other than Judge Clyde of Hudson, N. H., who took the stand in order to tell what he knew about the man. He said that Woodbury is a kleptomaniac and does not steal for what gain he makes, but because there is some fascination about it. Judge Clyde cited certain instances where Woodbury had stolen things and whatever he took was of little or no value despite the fact that he had chances to steal things of greater value.

When Judge Clyde stating he would try to lock the man. Mr. Woodbury was placed on probation for one year in order that he keep away from Lowell.

Row at a Wedding

There was a wedding in Howe street Saturday night and one of the guests is in the hospital, while another was placed under arrest. Stanislaus Warkavitch was the victim of the assault and he is now lying at St. John's hospital with a deep gash in the head while the police claim that John Sokolinsky is the assailant. The latter was locked up late Saturday night but this morning when his name was called to answer to a complaint charging him with assault and battery it was found that he was a reasonable time to appear in court and when he failed to do so his default was read.

It is understood by the police that while the wedding was in progress Warkavitch and Sokolinsky had a heated dispute with the result that the latter struck Warkavitch over the head with a bottle or glass. The injured man was taken to St. John's hospital, where he received treatment and later Sokolinsky was located at his home in Bent's court and taken to the police station.

Raid in Upper Market Street

Sergt. Duncan, Inspectors Grady, Dwyer and Fox raided a house at 476 Market street last night, and succeeded in getting ten men in the drag net. The police had been "tipped off" that there was a card game in progress and the raiding party by strategic work made its way into the room, the ten occupants not being aware of the approach of the officers until the latter were in the room. There were ten

Rheumatism

Is a Constitutional Disease

It manifests itself in local aches and pains,—inflamed joints and stiff muscles,—but it cannot be cured by local applications.

It requires constitutional treatment, and the best is a course of the great blood purifying and tonic medicine which corrects the acid condition of the blood and builds up the system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Get it today in usual liquid form or in chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

MANHATTAN CLUB

Held Annual Election of Officers

The Manhattan Social club, which is composed of popular young men of wards 8 and 9, held its annual election and installation of officers in its rooms in Gorham street yesterday. The meeting was called to order by President John P. Ward at 4 o'clock. He stated that the object of the meeting was to select officers for the ensuing season and as he had held the office of president for two years he would not contest for re-election. He thanked the members for their enthusiasm and co-operation in the past and urged them to continue their grand work. Mr. Ward then called for nominations. For president there was no contest, as Charles L. Crowley was unanimously chosen. The other officers elected were: Vice-president, Frank E. Laycock; recording secretary, Wm. Donnellan; financial secretary, Daniel F. McCarthy; treasurer, John Ready; board of trustees, John P. Frawley, Richard F. Fitzgerald and John E. Ward. At the conclusion of the election the installation was held, the retiring officers performing the ceremony.

Mr. Crowley, the newly elected president, was then called upon for remarks. He responded and thanked the members for the honor that they had bestowed upon him and said that he would endeavor to conduct the club in the same progressive and efficient manner that his predecessor had. He spoke of the importance of the members to co-operate with the officers and said that if this was done, success was assured. He then called for a vote of thanks to the retiring officers.

At the conclusion of his remarks President Crowley was congratulated by all and was assured that all would assist him in increasing the club's popularity and augmenting its treasury. An informal musical program was carried out. It included songs by Charles A. Carey, Albert Olson, Bert Mason, George Rogers, Thomas Fay and others, with Robert Fay as accompanist.

FUNERALS

O'RILEY

The funeral of Mrs. Jennie O'Reilly took place yesterday afternoon from the home at 54 Perry street and was largely attended. Services were held at the Immaculate Conception church, Rev. Fr. Tighe, O. M. I., officiating. The bearers were Patrick McKeown, Thomas Boyle, Michael Noonan, Owen Gillooley, Dennis Haley and John Burns. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery under the direction of Undertaker Peter Davey. Rev. Fr. Tighe, O. M. I., read the complimentary prayers at the grave.

FANNING

The funeral of Frederick G. Fanning took place Sunday afternoon from the home of his parents, near 28 Walnut street, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. At St. Patrick's cemetery the burial took place under the direction of Undertaker Peter Davey. Among the beautiful floral tributes laid upon the grave were the following: Large pillow on base with the inscription "Our Darling," from the bereaved parents; large wreath on base, Jeremiah McGlinchey and family; large wreath of roses and lilies, Master John McGlinchey; basket of pink and white flowers, Mrs. J. McGlinchey; basket with ribbon inscribed "Cousin," the Shughrue children; basket of roses, pinks and chrysanthemums, Grandfather John J. Fanning; spray of roses and pinks, Alice, Margaret and Parker Fanning; spray of carnations and pinks, Cousin Helen and Marion Fanning; spray of asters, the Murray children and Philip McGovern; spray of pinks and ferns, Miss McGary, and many sprays from other friends.

SEVENTH DISTRICT

The democratic voters of the seventh senatorial district will have an opportunity to hear their candidate for senator in this city for arrangements have been made for three rallies in that district.

The first will be held tomorrow noon at the Helms Electric company plant in Lawrence street and tomorrow evening a big rally will be held at the old Boston and Maine depot. On Thursday a third rally will be held at the American Hide and Leather company's plant in Perry street. At all three rallies, Philip A. Kiely of Lynn, democratic candidate for senator in the seventh district will be a speaker.

At the rally tomorrow evening at the Boston and Maine depot not only will Mr. Kiely speak but Col. Carmichael, Mayor Meehan and others will be among the speakers. Mr. Kiely is a forceful speaker and his remarks will be well worth hearing. He is putting up an aggressive campaign throughout the district and expects to turn it over to the democratic column in the coming election.

Those Power Bills

A multiplicity of bills prevents definite knowledge of power costs.

Steam power costs per unit of production are seldom known.

This important knowledge can be secured frequently and accurately by purchasing electric power.

DO IT NOW!

The time to fix that umbrella and have it ready for a rainy day is not when it commences to rain. In time of peace you should prepare for war. We are umbrella doctors and our umbrella hospital is at 530 Merrimack St., Lowell, Mass.

Sarre Bros.

NOTICE

My wife, Mary Coyte, having left my bed and board, I will not be responsible for any bills contracted by her in my name after this date. Signed, J. J. Coyte, 112 Chapel St., Oct. 31, 1910.

SUPREMACY COURT

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT IN FALLON-WALSH CASE

At the opening of the superior court this morning the sealed verdict of the jury in the case of Fallon vs. Walsh was opened and the verdict was for the defendant.

Trouble in New York May Affect Entire Country

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The strike of the express company drivers and helpers, which has brought the express business in this city to a virtual standstill, is expected to spread today to the stable hands.

D. J. Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters now in Boston, has sent word here that, if necessary, he will organize all the express drivers in the country and call them out on strike.

During the early hours today the companies apparently confined their attentions to preparations to break the strike. Strikebreakers are expected to arrive from Philadelphia today. The strikers were caught unawares in Jersey City early today when a dash of 100 trucks was made and the express matter brought to this city without trouble. No disorders were reported by the police in the early hours of the day.

PRANKS AND WILES Of the Hallowe'en as Handed Down by Tradition

"We merry sangs, an' friendly cracks, I wat they did na weary; And unco tales, an' funnie jokes— Their sports were cheap an' cheery; Till butter'd sowms we fragrant lout, Syne, we a social glass o' sturmt. They parted aff careerin' Fu' blythe that night."

Tomorrow will be the feast of "All Hallowe'en," or as it is anciently known, the feast of "All Hallows" and hence today is "Hallowe'en," the eve of "All Hallows" and a festival that has been observed with word practices since time immemorial—the world over, though particularly in Scotland and Ireland.

All the traditions of Hallowe'en have come from the old country and Young America has added a number of new word customs of rough-house, order such as removing gates, advertising signs, ringing door bells and other annoying practices to which no self-respecting fairy would resort, even to make a haunting holiday.

From the works of that foremost child of nature, Bobby Burns, comes the best description of Hallowe'en. He wrote a lengthy poem on the subject, the concluding stanza of which appears above and for the benefit of the thousands of his non-Scottish admirers he left interesting notes explaining the traditions upon which the poem is based.

Hallowe'en is thought to be a night upon which witches, devils and other mischief-making beings are all abroad in their baneful midnight errands; particularly those aerial personages, the fairies, are said on Hallowe'en to hold a grand anniversary.

The passion of prying into the future makes a striking part of the history of human nature, in its rude state, in all ages and nations and hence on Hallowe'en among the Scotch peasantry of long yore the future was dived into by bad and lasses, through the medium of the spirits and practices weird and uncanny to see where fate would yet join their hearts.

"Then first an' foremost thro' the kail Their stocks mairn a' be sought ane."

The first ceremony of Hallowe'en, according to the old Scotch custom, was the pulling each a stock or plant of kail. The couple were obliged to go out hand in hand with eyes shut and pull the first they met. It's being big, little, straight or crooked, was prophetic of the size or shape of the grand object of all their spells, the husband or wife of the future. If any earth stuck to the root it was a sign of fortune, and the taste of the heart of the stem indicated the natural temper or disposition of the helpmate of the future. Lastly the stems were placed over the door and the Christian names of the persons whom chance first brought into the house were the names in question. In Ireland a somewhat similar practice was once in vogue though a cabbage was stolen from a neighboring field.

Burning puts was another famous charm. The nuts were named with the names of a lad or lassie and then were laid in the fire. Accordingly as they burned quietly together or jumped away from each other so would the souls of the lovers.

Another familiar practice was to take a candle and go alone to a looking glass; eat an apple before it and some traditions say you should comb your hair at the same time; the face of your future wife or husband will be seen in the glass as if peeping over your shoulder.

These are only a few of the old-time practices, some of which are still carried out in this country though in somewhat modified form.

In this country Hallowe'en is observed principally by the children whose fun consists of ducking for apples, for the night is often called "Snap Apple" night, and a practice for the older ones, namely hiding a wedding ring in the mashed potatoes at the evening meal, the lucky one getting the ring in his or her portion being sure to be married within a twelve-month, while all kinds of games in which the "Goblin," made of a pumpkin with a candle within, plays a prominent part.

So, if you miss your gate or if your doorknob arouses you from your slumbers, don't swear, simply recall the fact that it is only the fairies and that fortunately they are permitted to roam on only one night in the year.

FUNERAL NOTICES

PANGBURN.—Died in this city, Oct. 29, at 81 B street, Elizabeth L. Pangburn, daughter of Clarence and Mary, aged 1 year, 1 month, 7 days. Funeral from the residence Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The funeral will be under the direction of Undertaker J. A. Weinbeck.

HARMON.—Died Oct. 30, at the Lowell General Hospital, Dorothy M. Harmon, aged 3 months, daughter of William and Ruby Harmon. Funeral services will be held at the home of her parents, 38 Cady street, Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Friends are invited without further notice. Burial private. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

ELDER.—Died Oct. 30, in this city, very suddenly, Frederick B. Elder, aged 82 years, at his home, 139 Baldwin street. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Emeline M. Elder. Funeral services will be held at his late residence, 139 Baldwin street, Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Friends are invited without further notice. Burial will take place Thursday at Portland, Me. Please omit flowers. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

Democratic Rallies

Tuesday Night at 8

Old Boston & Maine Depot

Prominent speakers from city and state, including Philip A. Kiely, of Lynn, candidate for senate in Seventh Middlesex District. Tuesday, 12.45 p. m., at Helms Electric Co., Thursday noon, American Hide and Leather Co.

Will Take Part in Campaign This Week

Prominent Speakers From Afar Will Take Stump in This State—Candidates Foss and Cassidy Will Address Two Rallies in Lowell

Gov. Folk of Missouri, Congressman-Elect Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Lewiston, Maine, Ex-Gov. Higgins of Rhode Island, Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, and Governor-Elect Frederick W. Plaisted of Maine are coming to Massachusetts this week to assist Mr. Foss and the democratic state committee in putting Massachusetts side by side with Maine as a democratic pace maker for the rest of the Union.

The state committee has arranged hundreds of rallies for the coming week, covering every section of the state. Mr. Foss and Mr. Cassidy, candidate for governor and lieutenant-governor, will cover an enormous territory in their effort to address as many voters as possible, gradually working toward Boston, after their rallies in Springfield, Chicopee, Westfield and Holyoke on Monday night.

The deep interest nationally in the contest in Massachusetts is in no way better indicated than by letters and telegrams received by Mr. Foss and the state committee from such representative men as Governor Folk, who accepted with alacrity the invitation of the committee to speak in Boston on Saturday night.

Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma wrote: "I regret exceedingly that I cannot add my mite, as I was so glad to do last year, in appearing before Massachusetts voters. The opportunity is yours. Elect Mr. Foss and the rest of the ticket, and make sure of the legislature. The democrats of the Bay State can and should name the successor of Mr. Henry Cabot Lodge."

Judson P. Harmon of Ohio, who is in direct line for the democratic presidential nomination in 1912, wired: "Were it not for my own campaign I would be with you personally, as well as in spirit. You can win."

Woodrow Wilson, who resigned the presidency of Princeton college to accept the democratic gubernatorial nomination in New Jersey, has proposed the exchange of a day's campaigning with Mr. Foss during the coming week, so anxious is he to participate in the Bay State campaign.

Chairman Joseph A. Maynard of the Boston City committee has scheduled hundreds of rallies in Boston during the week, which will be brought to a close in Boston by a mammoth meeting on Saturday night. At this rally the local talent so far ahead in the campaign will address Bostonians. The speakers will include: Gov. Folk of Missouri, Gov.-elect Frederick W. Plaisted of Maine, Congressman-elect Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Maine, and other prominent Bay State democrats.

Mr. Foss, in addition to his regular evening engagements will participate in several daylight auto tours in different parts of the state, notably on Tuesday when with Mr. Cassidy, he will tour Worcester county.

The schedule of rallies for the week as made up to date by the democratic committee is as follows:

Monday

Springfield, Chicopee, Westfield, Holyoke.
Speakers—Foss, Cassidy, Palmer, Cong. Candidate McKeechie.
North Attleboro, Mansfield, North Adams.
Speakers—Mayor Fitzgerald, Vahey, Cong. Candidate R. T. Coughlin.
Westboro, Upton, Grafton.
Speakers—John R. Thayer and local speakers.
Amesbury, Newburyport.
Speakers—Thomas P. Riley, C. W. Bartlett, Cong. Candidate William H. O'Brien.
Cong. Candidate Walter H. Creaner will hold rallies in Malden and elsewhere in his district.
West Barnstable, Osterville, Centerville.
Speakers—Cong. Candidate Thatcher and local candidates.

Tuesday

Cambridge (2), Newton, Watertown, Waltham, Somerville, Chelsea.
Speakers—Foss, Cassidy, Vahey, Mayor Fitzgerald.
Holyoke, Chicopee, Bridgewater and Middleboro, with local candidates and other speakers yet to be assigned.

POLAND WATER

is almost without limit in its benefits. It is a diuretic—mild but positive. Its efficacy in uric acid excess, such as gout, gravel, etc., is particularly notable and sure, having the double advantage of alkalinity and absolute purity.

INTEREST BEGINS SATURDAY, NOV. 5

—AT—

THE CENTRAL SAVINGS BANK

88 CENTRAL STREET

LOWELL INSTITUTION FOR SAVINGS

INCORPORATED 1829

THE OLD LOWELL SAVINGS BANK

INTEREST BEGINS NOVEMBER 5

118 SHATTUCK ST. ST.

POLITICAL PRINTING

Lawler Printing Co., 29 Prescott St.

NOVEMBER

Quarter Month

AT THE WASHINGTON Savings Institution

207 Central Street

INTEREST BEGINS Thursday, Nov. 3

SAVINGS DEPT.

Traders National Bank

Hours: 8.30 to 3. Saturdays, 5.30 to 12.30 and 7 to 9 p. m.

PRISON SUNDAY

BOTH DROWNED

Boat Capsized and Men Went Down

RUTLAND, Vt., Oct. 31.—Wladyslaw Bandaszewicz, aged 38, and Piotr Rutkowski, 37, were drowned in Otter creek at Centre Rutland about 11:45 yesterday morning, when a flat-bottomed boat in which they were rowing capsized. Josef Wisniewski, a nephew of one of the other men, was saved.

The three men were in the habit of spending their spare moments on the water, and yesterday morning they started out. They rowed leisurely for about an hour. When about 100 yards above stream from the falls Wisniewski started to bail out the boat and while resting his weight on one side he reached for an old pail and the boat tipped over, throwing all three into the water. The two older men clung to the overturned craft, but Wisniewski swam for the shore. Chas. Popeski, a boy, who was standing on the bank about 50 feet away, ran to spot and extended a pole to Wisniewski and helped him ashore.

In the meantime the other two Polanders relinquished their holds on the boat and started to swim ashore, but after a few strokes both sank. When Wisniewski saw that his companions were drowned he became frantic and he started for the water and would undoubtedly have drowned himself had he not been restrained.

The accident happened about 11:50 feet from the homes of the dead men. The bodies were recovered in about 15 feet of water an hour later.

MATHEW INSTITUTE HELD ANOTHER IMPORTANT MEETING YESTERDAY

The regular meeting of the Mathew Temperance Institute was held yesterday in Mathew hall, in Dutton street. There was a large attendance and President James J. Gallagher presided. There were ten propositions for membership which were referred to the board of examiners and three new members were admitted.

Various standing committees reported progress in their many lines of entertainment, among them being the committee having charge of the tournament of games to be played between the St. Charles society of Woburn and the local Mathews. In arranging these games, the committees appointed by both societies intend to make it interesting and to establish more friendly relations between the two societies. Valuable prizes will be given to the winners of the various games. The committees will come together shortly to formulate plans for these games during the winter months.

President Gallagher stated to the members that he had received many offers of assistance in behalf of the society since the mass meeting a week ago. The encouragement thus received should induce the members to redouble their efforts in building up the society.

Observed by Rev. Charles T. Billings at Unitarian Church

"The Prisoner" was the subject of an interesting sermon by Rev. Charles T. Billings at the First Unitarian church Sunday morning. The sermon was in accordance with a request by the prison association, that the church observe the last Sunday in the month as prison Sunday. The preacher found his inspiration in Matt. 25:36: "I was in prison and ye came unto me."

One of the marvels of Christ's life was that he ministered so readily to people who had little claim upon him. Children came to him, those of whom he had never heard before came, those who would and could have little means of repaying Jesus came and he ministered unto them according to the power that was in him.

And it was because he lived a life of service that he could ask it freely of his disciples. The service he gave, he demanded that they should give and he told them that in serving the hungry, the sick, the stranger and the prisoner they were serving him.

The world has not forgotten that thought. Still we believe we are serving him when we minister to the needs of the humblest of God's creatures, and yet there are boundaries of our sympathy. We hear a cry of distress from Sicily or Armenia, and we sometimes think these regions are too remote for our interest, that the needs of our own country are more insistent and more far-reaching, and that charity begins at home.

Or, we are asked to help the negro, and though often we have responded to that appeal, there is a growing feeling that the negroes ought to do this work themselves, and the multiplied charities of our own city demand our first attention.

But even the Armenian and the negro appeal to us more deeply than the prisoner. In helping the Armenian and the negro we are at least trying to help people who are trying to help themselves, people who are deserving, people who appeal to us on the score of their manhood and womanhood. But the prisoner, although he is within the limits of our state and city, cannot appeal to us on these grounds. He is out of the pale of our interest and sympathy. He has had his chance and neglected it. He has proved himself to be not a fit member of society, has discovered flaws which are the foundation of his evil being, and his situation is in large measure the punishment for his disobedience.

For all disobedience of law brings its penalty. That is the teaching of both church and state. Another penalty of crime is not that the prisoner but the humiliation, the disgrace and the condition of being beyond the sympathy of our immediate interest and sympathy. When we read, therefore, as we may read in the pamphlets that many of our prisoners are unsanitary, unclean and with few facilities for bathing, we are reminded of the fact that even so, the conditions of the prisoners are often better than the homes from which some of those who live there come. And if we are told that the libraries connected with the prison are poor, ill-assorted, and totally inadequate, we are also told that it is not the business of the state to make the prison too attractive to those who come there; and further, if the philanthropist tells us that the prisoner, in order to develop again his lost self-respect, ought to have the power to earn honest wages, and perhaps provide for his family while in prison, and so prevent in measure the punishment from falling on the innocent persons who suffer from his support. We are met with the objection that if we allow the criminal to work for wages, he is competing with honest labor, and as for his family, it is hard indeed that they should suffer from his wrong-doing, but is not that the penalty of all crime, that it cannot fall upon one alone, but always drags much sorrow in its train? And will not the fact that others suffer because of his crime, act as a greater deterrent of crime? Is it well to make a man feel that in prison or out he could support his family? If punishment is to act as a deterrent from crime, man should bear its full penalty.

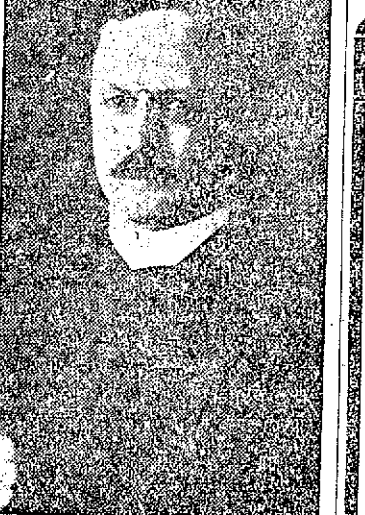

And yet our prisoners, even as they are, are not successful as places of punishment. Of the 22,228 persons committed to prison in Massachusetts last year 18,415 had been in the same prisons before, and more than 12,000 of them from one to five times. As a deterrent of crime the prisons have not fulfilled our expectations.

But indeed a change has come over the spirit of prison management. Formerly the punishment was made to fit the crime; the worse the crime, the heavier the penalty. But now the punishment is made to fit the individual. It is recognized that he is not worthy of being a free member of society, and it is proposed to keep him in prison till he is. That might be said to be or growing to be the whole object of the prison now to help the individual to take his place again as a free and honorable member of the social order. This requires study of the individual character. The young and the old are in our prison, men who are battling with an ugly inheritance, or whose weakened will, make them uncertain factors in the struggle for existence, and men who have succumbed to some great temptation. They cannot all be treated alike and it is the establishment of the indeterminate sentence to probation system, with an officer to look after each individual case, that is the real reforming influence in the criminal's life of today.

For what does a prison do for a man? It does not often make him better. It does not bring him back to his sin. Let me bring you the testimony of one who with brilliant gifts, but perverted manhood was compelled by his misdeeds to spend two years in an English jail. The fact that it was England and a dozen years ago need not affect the question, for the influence of prison life must always be somewhat the same. He says "prison life, with its endless privations and restrictions, make one rebellious. The most terrible thing about it is not that it breaks one's heart, but that it turns one's heart to stone." The writer toward the latter end of his own life in prison and left it with high determination, but his words well represent what may be the average man's conception of a prison. He chafes under its restraints. He comes not so much conscious of his own faults, as rebellious that he has been caught, and the heart of stone is not a favorable soil for the seeds of higher ethical impulse to take root.

And yet the fate of these men concerns our own. We cannot allow them to become habitual criminals without a protest. The more criminals we develop the more society is menaced. And we rise or fall with them. The more they come back to the world, better fitted to engage in its honorable warfare, the more heartily we should welcome them and try to find for them a worthy place in the work of every day life.

REV. CHARLES T. BILLINGS, Pastor Unitarian Church.

To help these men to a new chance in the world is certainly a concern of ours. To say their crime has forfeited their chance is not merely foolish, it is almost criminal, because if it were true these men no chance, they must drift back again to the life of the criminal. It is our work to encourage them to all honest attempts to make a living, to add to the moral strength of the community, and it is your business and mine to reach out a hand to help these men as they climb the upward way.

SLIGHT FIRES THAT CALLED FOR THE ATTENTION OF THE DEPARTMENT

An alarm from box 42 about 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze in Middlesex street, near the corner of Grand street. The fire was caused by an over-heated stove but was extinguished before any damage was done.

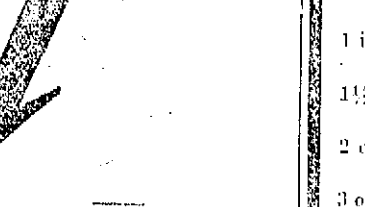

A still alarm was sent in Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock for a small blaze in a barn in Willie street, near the corner of Broadway.

An alarm from box 37, at 1:35 o'clock this morning, was for a chimney fire in a house in Kinsman street. There was no damage.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY ENJOYED BY THE PAWTUCKET BOAT CLUB

An enjoyable Halloween party was held Saturday night at the Pawtucket Boat club house about 50 young people being the guests of Miss Jessie Richardson of Middlesex street.

The clubhouse was decorated in an artistic manner, the decorations being in keeping with Halloween. The principal enjoyment of the evening was dancing. Various Halloween games were played and refreshments served.

F. H. ROURKE

OFFICE
Liberty Square
Telephone 1177-1

A. G. Pollard Co.

THE STORE FOR THRIFTY PEOPLE

An Out of the Ordinary Announcement

FROM THIS STORE

Of Special Interest to Drawing School Students, Draftsmen, Architects, Engineers

The following prices are probably the lowest that these goods were ever offered at—wholesale or retail. They are all in first-class shape and up-to-date in quality. We think you'll be interested. On sale today in our Merrimack Street Basement.

DRAWING BOARDS

| | |
|--|---------------|
| Size 9 in.x12 in., original price 35c..... | Our Price 10c |
| Size 12 in.x18 in., original price 50c..... | Our Price 15c |
| Size 13 in.x19 in., original price 60c..... | Our Price 13c |
| Size 17 in.x23 in., original price 75c..... | Our Price 25c |
| Size 19 in.x25 in., original price 90c..... | Our Price 29c |
| Size 20 1/2 in.x27 in., cleated, original price $1..... | Our Price 33c |
| Size 23 in.x30 in., original price $1.10..... | Our Price 35c |
| Size 23 in.x30 in., cleated, original price $1.25..... | Our Price 39c |
| Size 28 in.x41 in., original price $1.50..... | Our Price 49c |
| Size 28 in.x41 in., cleated, original price $1.75..... | Our Price 55c |

CELLULOID SQUARES, SCROLLS AND TRIANGLES

| | |
|-------------------------|---------------|
| Original price 35c..... | Our Price 10c |
| Original price 60c..... | Our Price 19c |
| Original price 65c..... | Our Price 19c |

POUNCE

For removing the gloss from Tracing Cloth, original price 20c can. Our Price 5c Can

PAINT OR CRAYON BOXES

Tin—Assorted Sizes—Japanned

| | |
|-------------------------|---------------|
| Original price 50c..... | Our Price 17c |
| Original price 75c..... | Our Price 25c |

TRACING PAPER

| |
|--|
| Size 27x37 in., 24 sheets to roll, original price $2.00 a roll. Our Price 49c a Roll |
| Size 54 in. wide, 20 and 22 yard rolls, original price $2.00 a roll. Our Price 59c a Roll |

DRAWING AND SKETCH PAPER

| |
|---|
| Linen Ledger in sheets, size 16 in.x21 in., original price 25c quire. Our Price 10c Quire |
| Sketch Paper, vellum finish, in sheets, size 11 in.x14 3/4 in. Our Price 2c Sheet, 20c per Dozen |
| Sketch Paper, in sheets size 11 in.x15 in. Our Price 3c Sheet, 25c per Dozen |
| Bristol Board, Reynolds & Co.'s extra heavy, in sheets, size 12 1/2 in.x15 1/4 in., original price 10c sheet, $1.00 dozen. Our Price 5c Sheet, 50c Dozen |
| Sketch Paper, Duplex, cream shade, size 27 in.x40 in., original price 10c sheet..... Our Price 5c Sheet |
| Sketch Paper, white, original price 25c sheet. Our Price 10c Sheet |

Merrimack Street Basement

SPECIAL TODAY IN OUR BARGAIN BASEMENT

600 Pairs of Long Curtains

Slightly damaged by smoke and water, made in plain and fancy muslin, with tucks, hemstitch and lace trimmed, curtains worth 50c to $1 a pair.

Only 39c a Pair
Basement

Special Sale of Wash Ribbons of Best Quality

BEGINS TODAY

| |
|--|
| 1 in white—pink and white with small dot pink, regular 6c quality. Only 3c Yard |
| 1 1/2 or 1/4 inch wide, in blue with small dot pattern, pink, bow-knot pattern, blue, gros grain, 8c quality..... Only 4c Yard |
| 2 or 1/2 inch wide, in white, cream, pink or blue, 12c quality. Only 4c Yard |
| 3 or 3/4 inch wide, in white or pink, plain, 15c quality..... Only 5c Yard |
| 5 or 1 inch wide, in white, cream, pink or blue, 20c quality. Only 5c Yard |
| 9 or 1 1/2 inch wide, in white, pink or blue, plain, 25c quality. Only 10c Yard |

West Section Centre Aisle

A. G. POLLARD CO.

The Store for Thrifty People

HALF-PRICE SALE

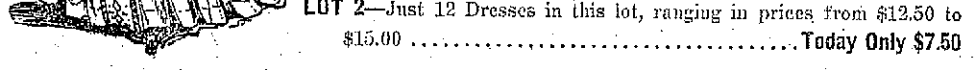

OF

White Lingerie Dresses

A final clean-up of our stock of Lingerie Dresses. These dresses are grouped into two lots and are marked 1-3 to 1-2 off regular prices.

LOT 1—Just 18 Dresses in this lot, ranging in prices from $6.00 to $10.00..... Today Only $5.00

LOT 2—Just 12 Dresses in this lot, ranging in prices from $12.50 to $15.00..... Today Only $7.50

Sale of SILK PETTICOATS Starts Today

$5.00 Silk Petticoats $3.75

Made of extra fine quality silk, black and all colors; all lengths. Regular $5.00 Petticoats. Today $3.75

$10.00 SILK PETTICOATS $5.00

Just a few of these Petticoats, but every one is a $10.00 skirt..... Today $5.00

Cloak Dept. Second Floor

Bargains at the Trunk and Bag Department

We secured the past week a small lot of fine sample Bags, Suit Cases and Trunks, which owing to the lateness of the season, we have decided to close at reduced prices.

About 40 Bags, all kinds and sizes, made from selected stocks; pigskin, alligator, cowhide, etc. Spitable for lady or gentleman, regular prices $2.08 to $16.00..... $1.98 to $10.00

About two dozen Suit Cases, sizes 22 and 24 inches, regular prices $2.75 to $16..... $1.75 to $10.00

TRUNKS - - - TRUNKS

20 Trunks, all one style, different sizes, 32 to 38 inches, black, vulcanized-fibre binding, narrow, hardwood cleats, two trays, fancy cloth lining, principal trimmings hand rivetted. High grade baggage in every respect. For this sale only..... $7.50 Each

For all sizes; regular prices $10.00 to $12.50.

Palmer Street Near Avenue Door

NEW FANCY WORK Not Too Soon For Holiday Choosing

A tremendous assortment of all varieties of Stamped Fabrics, including a full line of Infants' Wearables.

ALL MATERIALS FOR THE WORKING

BURNT WOOD WORK—You may select new blanks from a lot of half a thousand—all shapes and sizes. Outfits up to $3.50 Each.

PYRO ETCH BRASS—The newest of the art workings. We've stamped candle and lamp shades, picture frames, handkerchief and glove boxes, jewel cases, tea tiles and trays; pipe, tie and book racks, fern dishes, jardiniere, desk sets, etc., etc.

ALL THE TOOLS TO WORK WITH

East Section Centre Aisle

In Our Underprice Basement

WARM COMFORTERS and PUFFS

At Special Low Prices

Our line of Bed Comforters and Puffs is the most complete in this section; we offer some extra good values for this week.

Comforters for double beds, covers of good medium and dark color silkline, $1.25 value..... At $1.00 Each

Regular and extra large size Comforters, filled with good white batting, silkline covering and fancy stitch, $2.00 value. At $1.50 Each

Comforters covered with fine cambrie, regular and extra size, filled with clean and white cotton batting, $2.50 value. At $2.00 Each

Good Comforters, regular and extra size, sateen covering, fancy stitching, light and medium colors, $3.00 value... At $2.50 Each

Large Comforters, filled with best white batting, fancy stitch, covers of fine domestic sateen, $3.50 value..... At $3.00

Extra Large Comforters, covers of finest domestic sateen in hand-some patterns, filled with very best cotton batting, $4.00 value. At $3.50 Each

Extra good value in Cotton Puffs, fine silkline and fine sateen covering... At $2.00, $3.00, $3.50 and $5.00

DOWN PUFFS AT POPULAR PRICES

All our Down Puffs are made of best white down and covering of best material, domestic sateen, fine imported sateen, silk and satin, plain and with borders.

| | |
|--|-------------------------------|
| 6x6 Domestic Sateen..... | $5.00 |
| 6x7 Domestic Sateen..... | $6.50 |
| 6x6 Imported Sateen..... | $8.50 |
| 6x6 Silk Covering and Sateen Lining..... | $10.00 |
| 6x6 Silk Covering and Lining..... | $12.00 |
| 6x6 Silk Covering and Lining..... | $15.00 |
| Wool Puffs, Silk and Satin Covering..... | $7.50, $10 and $12.50 Each |

ENGINEER DEAD LOOK SHARP AT HALLOWEEN AND UNDER THE CANDELIGHT YOUR FATE WILL SMILE IN THE MIRROR

He Was Stricken With Apoplexy

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 30.—With his hand upon the throttle waiting the signal to start his train, C. Fred Whitney, engineer on an Intercolonial railway, was stricken fatally with apoplexy, Saturday night. The train had pulled up at a small station for a short stop. The train ran by a little farther than usual and the fireman spoke of the fact to Whitney to which the engineer replied that the rails were slippery. A moment later the signal to start was given but the engineer made no move to open the throttle. Then it was that the fireman found his chief to be unconscious. He was placed in the baggage car and the fireman took the train to Sussex where Whitney was transferred to his home, but he died a few moments after his arrival.

Whitney had been in the employ of the railway for 44 years and for the past thirty years had been driving on the same run on which he was stricken with his death sickness.

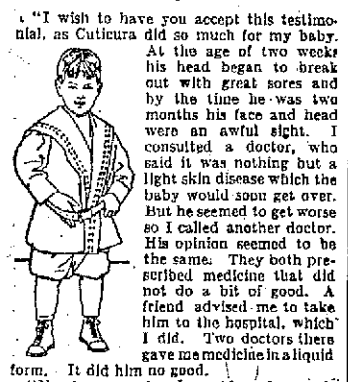

PLANT FACTORY CLOSED

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The acquirement of the rights of the shoe making machinery of Thomas G. Plant by the United Shoe Machinery company, in the recent litigation and settlement is having its serious after-effect in the virtual shutting down of the Plant factory in Roxbury and the throwing out of employment of nearly 3000 men and women. While many of the people have secured work in Lynn, Brockton, Peabody and other shoe towns, and in Manchester, N. H., there are still hundreds living in Roxbury who are unable to secure work and are in danger of eviction for non-payment of rent. Not more than 100 hands are now employed in the Plant factory.

It is understood efforts are being made to have the factory started up with some business while a prominent Brockton shoe manufacturer is understood to be considering the plant with a possibility of moving there.

FACE AND HEAD AN AWFUL SIGHT

Eruption Broke Out when 2 Weeks Old—Itched So He Could Not Sleep—Hair All Fell Out—Cuticura Cured Him.

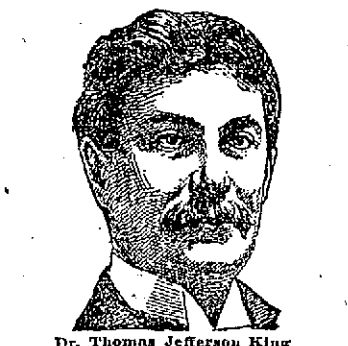

"I wish to have you accept this testimonial, as Cuticura did so much for my baby. At the age of two weeks his head began to break out with great sores and by the time he was two months his face and head were an awful sight. I consulted a doctor, who said it was nothing but a light skin disease which the baby would soon get over. But he seemed to get worse so I called another doctor. His opinion seemed to be the same. They both prescribed medicine that did not do a bit of good. A friend advised me to take him to the hospital, which I did. Two doctors there gave me medicine in a liquid form. It did him no good.

"Nearly every day I would read a testimonial in regard to Cuticura and my wife thought she would try it to see if it would help the baby. I got a box of Cuticura Ointment and a cake of Cuticura Soap and after using these he was entirely cured. Before Cuticura cured him he could not seem to sleep, as his face and head would itch so. What hair he had all fell out but soon he had a nice head of hair and his face was perfectly clear. It is now nearly five years since he was cured and there has been no sign of the eruption returning. Chas. H. Evans, 81 Flint St., Somerville, Mass., April 19, 1910."

A single set of Cuticura Soap and Ointment is often sufficient to cure, rendering it the most economical treatment for affections of the skin and scalp. Sold through the world's leading Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Prop., Boston, Mass. Mailed free, latest Book on Care of Skin and Scalp.

Don't Pay a Dentist Too Much

Dr. Thomas Jefferson King
Dr. King's "Natural Gum" sets off teeth absolutely defy detection.

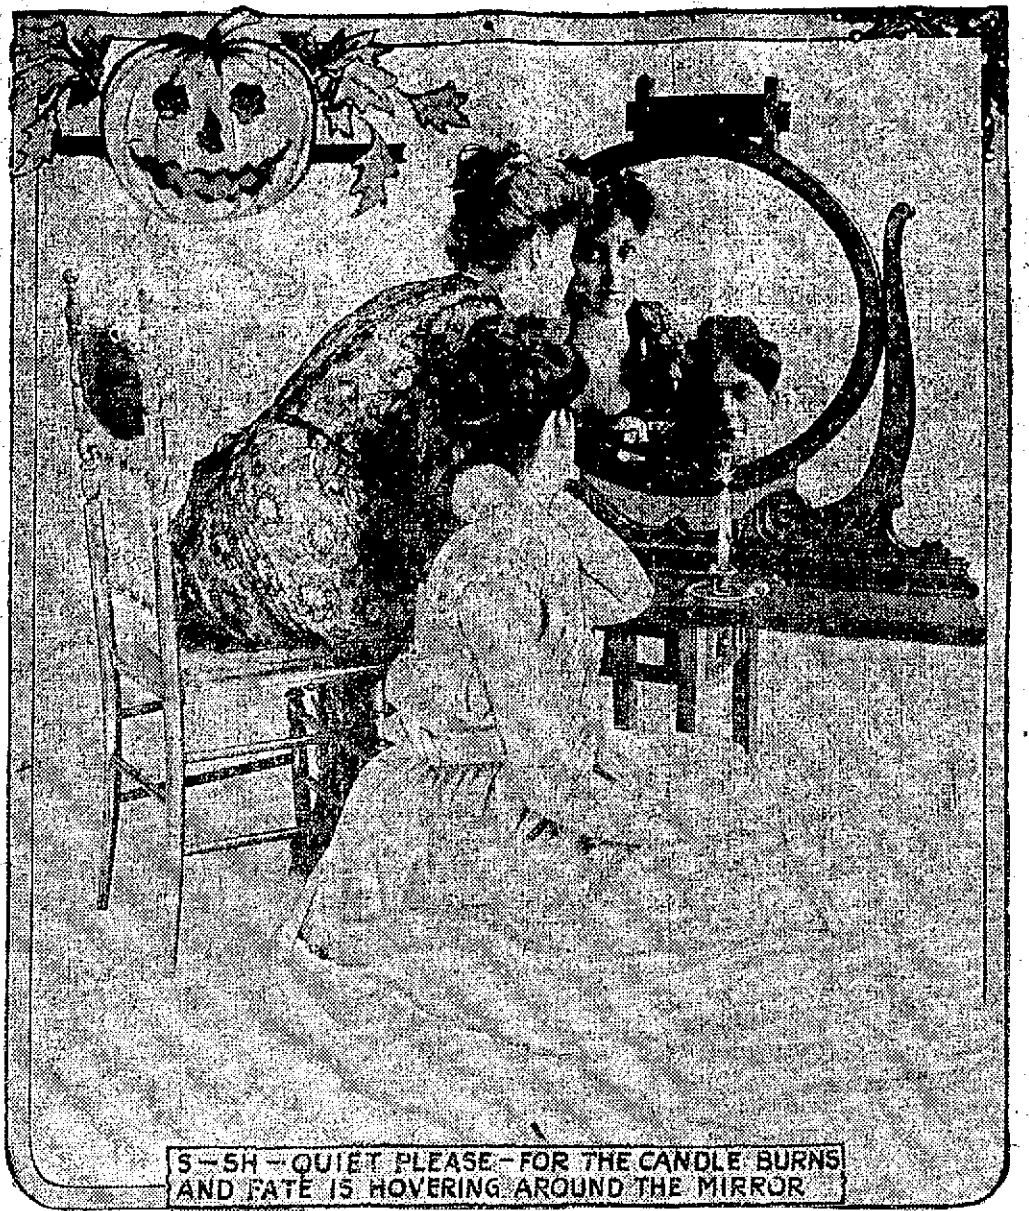

Your local dentist will charge you about four times as much as I would—he doesn't do much business, no he must "get it out of you"; besides he does not know how to do it painlessly, and, in nine cases out of ten, he performs operations with old-fashioned instruments, which enable him to do only inferior work. My inventions I control solely, and when anything new comes out I buy it. Remember—my patrons get the latest and best, and for less money.

Best set Teeth $5, good set $5. Gold crowns $5, bridge work $5, gold fillings $1 up, other fillings 50c; painless extraction free when sets are ordered.

King Dental Parlors
Over Hall & Lyon's
45 Merrimack St., Lowell!
Hours: 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Sundays 10 to 5. French spoken. Lady attendant. Telephone 374-2.

SAVE TIME AND MUSCLE
Goodale's Wash Clean
Will do it. We have customers who have used it for years and say it does not injure the fabric. It costs 50c per cent. of the labor on wash day.

GOODALE'S DRUG STORE,
217 CENTRAL STREET

S-SH-QUIET PLEASE-FOR THE CANDLE BURNS AND FATE IS HOVERING AROUND THE MIRROR

AMES IN CONGRESS

Col. Carmichael Discusses His Opponent's Record

Col. James H. Carmichael left for Lawrence this morning where he will conduct a lively campaign for the next week making noon day addresses at the different mills and workshops of that city, Andover and Methuen.

On Saturday night Col. Carmichael addressed several social clubs on invitation and he confined his remarks to Col. Ames' record in congress and to the present high cost of living.

Col. Carmichael spoke as follows:

"I have spoken of the record of my republican opponent while he was a member of the Massachusetts legislature. I have said that that record is conclusive proof that he is not in sympathy with the efforts of the working classes and the common people to better their conditions.

"I assert now that his record during eight years in congress bears still stronger proof of inattention to his duties, a carelessness of the public welfare and an utter disregard of the struggles of the plain people for better opportunities and better conditions in the great struggle of life.

"Mr. Ames' early career in congress showed hide-bound partisanship. He voted in the fifty-eighth congress for the bill to force Arizona into joint statehood with New Mexico, regardless of the wishes of the people of that state. A republican move to defeat the statehood movement, as they feared it, meant the addition of democratic congressmen and democratic United States senators to the ranks of a party fighting for the people's interests at Washington. This is the man whose friends declare that he always receives a large democratic vote. If the democratic party respects its organization, respects itself and expects the respect of decent men it will vote to retire to private life my republican opponent, who, regardless of protestations of liberality, has a record of narrow partisanship up to the very moment when emergency became popular and necessary to some people's political life. In this same congress my opponent is upon record in favor of ship subsidies, the giving of vast sums of money from the Federal Treasury to the great corporations owning and operating the trans-Atlantic liners. In the fifty-ninth congress my republican opponent voted to abolish the eight hour law on the isthmus of Panama. Organized labor never received a stiffer punch from the congress of the United States than this legislation, yet this is the man who attempts to represent a district composed almost exclusively of hard working and struggling men and women, and I might almost add children. For many years without a general public knowledge the railroads have been furnishing the president of the United States with transportation. During the session of the fifty-ninth congress, this fact became generally known, and an indignant public protested against the president accepting further favors from the railroads and a bill was introduced providing twenty-five thousand dollars for presidential traveling expenses. The member from this fifth Massachusetts district dodged this legislation and did not vote upon this bill including the sailors, in addition to fifty Eskimo men, women and children, who joined the expedition at Etah, 750 miles north of the Arctic circle. Every one of the party returned home from the trip in good health, due largely to the excellent care and treatment of Dr. Goodsell.

In the letter the Peary Arctic club officially acknowledges the labor and skill of Dr. Goodsell in contributing to the memorable result and at the suggestion of Commander Peary encloses a large check as more substantial evidence of the club's appreciation.

EXPECT THEIR MESSIAH

BRISTOL, Tenn., Oct. 31.—Curious as to what had become of the body of Dr. Teed who announced before his death a year ago that he would rise from the tomb and become the Messiah of the Koresians, two members of the cult, according to Henry D. Silvercreek, attempted to unscrew the tomb but before this was accomplished both were deprived of their reason and died before they could be taken to an asylum.

Silvercreek is prominent in the Koresian colony in Estero, Florida. He said yesterday that Dr. Teed had not risen, but members of the cult were confident he would come forth as their Messiah in due time.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains downward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

—MRS. AUGUSTE VESPERMANN, De Forest, Wisconsin.

Another Operation Avoided.

New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—MRS. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

High Cost of Living

My friends, I want to quote you a schedule of prices from the market reports of October 1, 1910, as compared with a report on prices of the same articles, October 1, 1910.

Two weeks' provisions for an average family.

| | Oct. 1 1896 | Oct. 1 1910 |
|------------------------|-------------|-------------|
| 3 lbs. salt pork | 25 | 1.01 |
| 5 lbs. pork ribs | 25 | 1.15 |
| 4 lbs. smoked shoulder | 40 | .64 |
| 5 lbs. sausage | 35 | .46 |
| 5 lbs. lard | 45 | .80 |
| 5 lbs. corned beef | 60 | 1.00 |
| 5 lbs. butter | 1.04 | 1.52 |
| 2 doz. eggs | .80 | 1.00 |
| 2 qts. beans | .16 | .25 |
| 2 lbs. navy beans | .35 | .75 |
| 4 lbs. flour | .64 | 1.00 |
| 21 lbs. sugar | 1.05 | 1.26 |
| 2 lbs. rump steak | .40 | .80 |
| 2 lbs. roast beef | .80 | 1.25 |
| 1 doz. of corn | 1.10 | 1.50 |

$13.97 $20.42

My friends, these are republican prices which we pay today. These are high tariff prices. These are Payne-Aldrich prices.

DR. GOODSELL

COMMENDED BY THE PEARY ARCTIC CLUB

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Oct. 31.—Over a year after his return from the expedition commanded by Robert E. Peary in his successful search for the North pole, Dr. John W. Goodsell of this place has received a letter from General Thomas H. Hubbard, president of the Peary Arctic club of New York city, commending the local physician on his work during the trip in the far north. There were 25 members of the party that went in search of the pole.

O'Donnell Dry Goods Co.

THE STORE FOR QUALITY AND STYLE

ANOTHER SHIPMENT OF NEW

FALL DRESS FABRICS

The values to be found at our Dress Goods Counters are proverbial. Today an offering of several lines of new Fall Dress Goods, embracing all the most desirable weaves and newest shades—such as Bessimer, Sepla, Tan, Antiopa, Orchid, Azura, Hazelnut, Lichen and many others. We rely on quality as poor goods are not cheap at any price.

TARTAN PLAIDS

These plaids closely follow the genuine Scotch effects for children's dresses and women's waists—shown in a great variety of new designs. These goods should not be confounded with the trashy kinds shown elsewhere at the price. Two grades, 49c and 75c

ZENATELLOW SUITING

Anyone who knows dress goods need not look at the fabric at 89c a yard, they can feel $1.25 worth of real value in every yard by simply touching it. We don't expect to have any other fabric this season at the price so big with quality. All new fall shades. Special 89c CENTS

ALL WOOL FANCY SERGES

42 inches wide, worsted dress goods—20 pieces in handsome stripes and self colored fabrics—medium weight. All wool serges are desirable in all seasons—popular from January to January and the ones in this offering are the newest and best shades. Value $1. Special 79c CENTS

IMPORTED BROADCLOTH

This broadcloth is from Austria—the finish is delicate and silky. It drapes exquisitely and will wear satisfactorily. The colors are London smoke, dark wine, navy blue, reseda, myrtle green and black. We don't think you can match the quality under $2 a yard. Special $1.50

ALL WOOL GERMAN HENRIETTA

Every woman knows the standing of this rich fabric. The present position of henrietta was fixed by style setters months ago and there is no going back of the decree. New fall shades of wistaria, navy blue, dark wine, gray, mignonette, in cluding cream and black. Value $1.25 a yard. Special $1.00

DARING ATTEMPT FIREMEN ESCAPE

Was Made to Rob Jewelry Store

Truck Crashed Into a Pole

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Following the arrest of two men, charged with breaking and entering and larceny at 6 yesterday morning, the police of division 3 discovered that an attempt had been made to break into the jewelry store of Julius Israel, 166 Court street.

The attempt was made by boring holes in the floor of the tailor shop of Max Sheinsohn, which is directly over the jewelry store. Fifty holes were bored in the floor, the persons who started the work evidently trying of the job. A bit and auger were found in the tailor shop.

Alfred Leroy, 22 years old, who refused to give his address, and William Dunn, 22, who said he lived in New York, are the men who were arrested as they were leaving 166 Court street.

Each man had a suit case filled with cloth and clothing, alleged to have been stolen from the tailor shop of Sheinsohn, on the second floor of the building. The goods are said to be worth about $300.

Two policemen of division 3 were on the opposite side of the street when they saw one of the two men come to a window in Sheinsohn's shop and look out.

The policemen crossed the street and arrested the two men. Soon after the two men left the building, each with a suit case. They were placed under arrest and taken to station 3.

The police have been unable to learn anything of the identity of the two men. It is believed that they are New York men.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Members of ladder 4, Dudley street, Roxbury, had a narrow escape from serious injury late yesterday afternoon when the truck crashed into an elevated pole at the corner of Dudley and Warren streets, while responding to an alarm. Two of the horses were thrown to the street and the pole of the ladder truck smashed into splinters.

The fact that the forward end of the ladder truck struck the pole probably saved it from being driven through the front windows of the drug store of L. D. Drury on the corner.

An alarm was given from box 261 at 3.23 for a fire in the 2 1/2-story wooden dwelling house at 17 Cobden street, occupied by Hiram Dwyer. The ladder truck left its house on Dudley street, with Edward Powers, one of the best firemen of the department, driving. Dudley street is being repaired and at the junction of Dudley and Warren streets several cars were stopped as the ladder truck came along.

Just as it got in front of Drury's drug store, a horse that has been in the department but two weeks shied. He was on the high side. Before Driver Powers could haul him up the horse reared and threw his weight against the middle horse. The force of the impact threw both of the other horses on the sidewalk.

Lieut. Hogan and Ladderman Rourke, who were riding near the head of the truck, jumped to the street and secured the horses. Neither animal was injured.

The accident yesterday afternoon is

IMPROVING LAKEVIEW AVENUE

The preliminary work for the macadamizing of Lakeview avenue in the Navy Yard district is almost completed and the work of putting on the crushed stone will in all probability be started within a few days.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

TORTURES OF PILES

IT IS UNNECESSARY TO SUFFER THIS TERRIBLE TROUBLE

Keen torture is the everyday lot of the sufferer from piles. And yet that suffering is needless. Carter & Sherburne, Lowell, Mass., will sell you Hem-Roid and later return your money if it fails.

We have sold Hem-Roid that way for two or three years and refunds asked have been less than 3 per cent. We therefore recommend it with confidence.

Hem-Roid is an internal remedy, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, $1 for large bottle. Dr. Leonhardt Co., Station B, Buffalo, N. Y. Write for booklet.

A Lesson in Economy

A dollar saved is better than two earned. Hundreds of householders in the city and suburbs can testify that the greatest saving ever made for the money invested is by having the Goodwin Weather Strips put on the doors. They are indestructible and the best thing ever devised for keeping out cold air and dust. If you had them once you would never be without them. It also means money saved to you. Send your order.

J. B. GOODWIN

11 THORNDIKE STREET

HAMILTON HALL

For public meetings, concerts, banquets, festivals and fairs.

Lodge Rooms

Large and small with large ante rooms, elevator service and all conveniences.

CLUB PARLOR

Light, large and with private office. Part of building. OFFICE TO LET. Light, large and with private office. Special—Small Lodge Rooms.

Rooms have been arranged for lodges and other organizations needing small quarters at very low rental with all conveniences. Apply to

JESSE D. CROOK, OWNER
ROOM 17 OLD FELLOWS' BLDG., 84 MIDDLESEX ST.
Of Janitor, Day or Evening.

Wood! Wood! Wood!

For kitchen range, fireplace, or furnace. Now is the best time of the year to fill your bins. I carry the largest stock of wood of any fuel dealer in New England. I am my own wholesaler and retailer. I sell in any quantity from $1.00 worth to a carload. All you have got to do is to telephone 1180 or 2480 and tell us what you want. Mail and telephone orders will receive immediate attention.

John P. Quinn
Office and Yards, Gorham and Dix Sts.
Telephone 1180 or 2480; when one is busy, call the other.

A NOVEL DISPLAY

Northwest Products to be Shown

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 31.—Within a few days an exhibit car, resplendent in fresh varnish and polished brass, will leave St. Paul on a 10,000 tour of the Eastern and Southern states, "chock full" of evidence of the productivity and varied resources of Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

At the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893, a similar car, equipped by the Northern Pacific Railway company, was on exhibition and attracted much attention. This car, after the close of the fair, made numerous tours, advertising the northwest. The car which is now ready to start on its long tour is the latest model in railroad coach building, seventy-five feet long, lighted by electricity and acetylene gas, equipped with extra wide windows, six-wheel trucks and all the other details of an up-to-date passenger car.

TOOK HER LIFE

AFTER MAKING LAST PLEA TO HUSBAND TO RETURN

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—After making a last plea to her husband to return, Mrs. Annie Davis, of Brooklyn, committed suicide and with her took her two children, Ellis, 5 years old, and Elsie, 3 years old. All were found yesterday morning asphyxiated by gas.

For the last two years, Mrs. Davis had supported the family by sewing, but, finding the struggle a hard one, she wrote a note and turned on the gas. This is the note:

"I am sorry, but this is the easiest way out of it. The children are asleep and won't know anything about it. I just can't fight any longer. The odds are against me."

CHAPPED SKIN

When red, rough, unsightly and sore, can be quickly healed and greatly improved in appearance by the liberal use of

A.D.S. PEROXIDE CREAM

This is an ideal preparation for keeping the skin smooth and white and the complexion fair and beautiful.

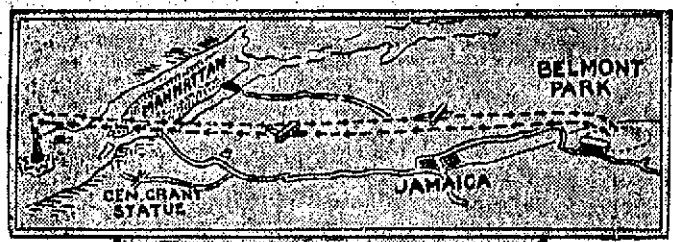

It is a fine, greaseless, fragrant toilet cream.

A mild, harmless bleach, which every woman who values her appearance should use regularly.

Get it at any A. D. S. Drug Store.

Frank J. Campbell, 253 Central St.; Falls & Burkinshaw, 418 Middlesex St.; Houli's Pharmacy, 462 Moody St.; R. J. Lang & Co., 374 Merrimack St.; Wm. H. Noonan & Co., 335 Bridge St.; John H. O'Neill, Lawrence St., corner Wamsit; Routhier & Delisle, 632 Merrimack St.; Charles W. Trombley, 415 Bridge St.; Fred Howard, 197 Central St.; John T. Sparks & Co., 747 Lakeview Ave.

WHITE IS BEATEN

THE COURSE OF THE GREAT AVIATION RACE AT BELMONT PARK

Moisant Defeated the Great Aviator in a Flight

NEW YORK, October 31.—Three aviators flew from Belmont Park, L. I., yesterday afternoon, circled the Statue of Liberty in an aeroplane, swept back through the upper air without a mishap and alighted chilled but exultant.

John B. Moisant, flying for America, covered the estimated 33 mile course in 34 minutes 38.84 seconds; Grahame-White of England was second in 35.21.23, and Count de Lesseps of France was third in 41.58.25. None, however, wins the $10,000 prize for the flight offered by Thomas P. Ryan, for the rules prescribe that the "contestants can start any time between 2.45 p. m. and 3.30 p. m." any day of the international aviation meet. Under this interpretation Moisant, although he protested, must await the result of any possible flights today. He is at liberty to better his time of yesterday as are Grahame-White and de Lesseps.

Hardly had the bomb announcing the statue of Liberty flight exploded in the air when up from the field hurried de Lesseps in his 50 horsepower Blériot. Gracefully he rose with the motor droning perfect attunement, circled across the starting line, and as though to make sure that his machine was in shipshape for the flight of 30 miles across the bay, he made a wide loop, then swooped down and pointed his prow upward and west, and went sailing majestically over the grandstand.

Nothing daunted by the jump the Frenchman had got on him, Grahame-White, in less than a minute, was in the air in a Blériot 100 horsepower. There was no preliminary skirmishing on his part. Once past the starting line, the Englishman was off on his journey, and, figuratively speaking, at the heels of de Lesseps, Grahame-White's machine appeared to be the faster of the two.

Passing the grandstand at an elevation of about 1000 feet, both aviators headed above the railroad tracks which took them over Jamaica Plain and across the town of Jamaica. Here they were sailing at an elevation of about 2000 feet, with the Englishman still chasing the Frenchman, half a mile astern. Every vantage point was filled with a wave-inspired spectators, automobiles clogged the thoroughfares, and the motor men stopped their cars in order that they and their passengers might witness the duel in the air.

The sky was cloudless and the two flying monoplanes silhouetted against the blue sky made beautiful pictures. So far up were they that the whirring of the motors was scarcely audible. Over Jamaica, still following the railroad as a guide for their flight, de Lesseps and Grahame-White held their course into Brooklyn—the city of homes and of churches, with their great spires piercing the air. The aviators never faltered but kept up their express train speed despite the biting cold.

Grahame-White was still gaining on de Lesseps, but the Frenchman was first out across the bay and around the statue about 1000 feet above the big black hallion that had marked the course. The crowds along the Brooklyn waterfront, on Governor's island and along the Battery shouted and waved hands and handkerchiefs.

Then Grahame-White sent the nose of his Blériot upward above the head of Miss Liberty and started back over the same course as he had traveled.

de Lesseps still had a slight lead, but with the wind at his back, Grahame-White put on full speed and began easing down his rival's advantage. Midway over Brooklyn the aviators were on even terms, each at an altitude of between 2000 and 3000 feet, but reaching the outskirts of the city Grahame-White forged ahead and set sail in earnest with Belmont Park as his objective. de Lesseps kept directly in the Englishman's wake and now and then could be seen working his controls in an endeavor to get his motor speed from his machine, which was fast falling behind. Both men were high above the railroad tracks. It seemed as though they feared to lose the guiding glimmer of steel rails. As on the outward journey, the same scenes were enacted by the great crowds below, except that it seemed as though thousands more of spectators had gathered to witness the flight.

Passing back over Jamaica, Grahame-White had a lead of about two miles. At the aviation field the Englishman started his descent, came down in a graceful curve over the tops of the great trees, and the nose of his machine pointed downward at an angle of 40 degrees.

4 CIGARS

Bright, Sears & Co.
BANKERS AND BROKERS
Wyman's Exchange
SECOND FLOOR

another chance. "I shall demand that the meet be extended so that I may have another chance," Grahame-White is flying with a 100-horsepower Blériot. The meet officially ended tonight and tomorrow's flights were supposed to be confined to the program of last Sunday, which inclement weather prevented. No other flights should be allowed tomorrow and if there is then I shall ask for a postponement of several weeks to allow me to get a 100-horsepower machine.

"It is just as fair for them to grant this to me as it will be for them to let Grahame-White fly a second time tomorrow. I don't care a farthing about the $10,000, but I do care for the honor of America, and as we have won fairly, I think we are entitled to the honor and credit."

HUNTSMEN BUSY

Deer Season Reopened in Vermont

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Oct. 31.—At sunrise this morning the hills and woods of the Green Mountain state were invaded by an army of huntsmen who, taking advantage of the reopening of the deer season, set out in quest of the elusive game. The extreme drought which has prevailed in many parts of the state last week induced Gov. John Mearns to suspend the season by proclamation and thus minimize the danger from forest fires.

No blighting effect resulted from the interruption for at daybreak the gunners, among whom were a more than ordinarily large number of women, were out in greater force than ever. Windham county was a favorite section for the hunters. Last year a great killing was made in this region and the prediction is freely made that the slaughter will be repeated this year.

$25,000 DAMAGE

Watertown Elevator a Complete Loss

WATERTOWN, Oct. 31.—The all-out signal for the grain elevator fire here was not sounded until 3 yesterday afternoon, making it one of the largest battles the local department has had to contend with in years.

The building and contents are a complete loss. Bundles of hay kept smoldering all day and occasionally one would burst forth in flames, keeping Chief Hatch and his men busy all day long.

Aid rendered by three engines from Boston without doubt prevented the flames from spreading to nearby buildings. Loring & Co. could not say with any degree of accuracy today just what the loss will be, but $25,000 may cover the damage. Two cars of hay on a side track in the rear of the building also went up in smoke.

GREAT ATHLETES ENTERED IN NT'L. INDOOR CHAMPIONSHIPS TO BE HELD IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—After looking over the list of out-of-town athletes who will start in the national indoor championships to be held here Oct. 31 and Nov. 1 it seems as though many of the higher-ups we are the safer we feel. If you start to fall near the ground you have little chance to save yourself, but from far above you have many chances of righting your plume.

Moisant was indignant at the prospect of Grahame-White and de Lesseps being allowed to compete again today. It was yesterday, he contended, and even if the rules leave the contest open to any aviator during certain hours of any day of the meet, he holds that he has eliminated his rivals of yesterday.

If they let Grahame-White have

first time seem to be taking interest in this meeting. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth and Michigan sending men, and the knowing ones say they will not be surprised if the college men upset the chances of the two major clubs, the New York A. C. and Irish American A. C. Among the stars entered in the different events are the famous Melvin Sheppard, Harry Glasgow, the N. Y. A. C. crack; Frank Sauer, the western half mile champion; Lakeman, the Canadian hundred yard champion; Kiviak, the sensational New Yorker; and Wilton Paul, the former Boston champion; Martin Sherman, the world's most famous athlete, and Ralph Rose, the great shot put champion. The indoor championships this year will be one of the best meetings yet held, and many new records will undoubtedly be made.

Moisant's Statement
Concerning his flight, Moisant said last night:
"I started with the wind against me. It was a biting, icy wind and climbed higher and higher as I went along. This I did purposely for, by climbing, two objects were accomplished. One was to make as much speed as possible, of course, by slanting upward in going against the wind it was apparent that much of its determining force is broken."

The other reason was that I had made up my mind that to win I must travel directly over the city of Brooklyn. I knew there was danger in this. Every airman knows the strange and treacherous air currents created by a big settlement of buildings. The higher or up I was the better I could escape these whirling, twisting currents and the less the danger, for if anything happened to the engine I would have the greater opportunity to glide and manipulate the plans until I might discover some park or open place in which to effect a safe landing or at least a landing of less peril to my life. It is hard for people generally, perhaps, to understand that with an aviator the higher up we are the safer we feel. If you start to fall near the ground you have little chance to save yourself, but from far above you have many chances of righting your plume."

Moisant was indignant at the prospect of Grahame-White and de Lesseps being allowed to compete again today. It was yesterday, he contended, and even if the rules leave the contest open to any aviator during certain hours of any day of the meet, he holds that he has eliminated his rivals of yesterday.

If they let Grahame-White have

first time seem to be taking interest in this meeting. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth and Michigan sending men, and the knowing ones say they will not be surprised if the college men upset the chances of the two major clubs, the New York A. C. and Irish American A. C. Among the stars entered in the different events are the famous Melvin Sheppard, Harry Glasgow, the N. Y. A. C. crack; Frank Sauer, the western half mile champion; Lakeman, the Canadian hundred yard champion; Kiviak, the sensational New Yorker; and Wilton Paul, the former Boston champion; Martin Sherman, the world's most famous athlete, and Ralph Rose, the great shot put champion. The indoor championships this year will be one of the best meetings yet held, and many new records will undoubtedly be made.

Moisant's Statement
Concerning his flight, Moisant said last night:
"I started with the wind against me. It was a biting, icy wind and climbed higher and higher as I went along. This I did purposely for, by climbing, two objects were accomplished. One was to make as much speed as possible, of course, by slanting upward in going against the wind it was apparent that much of its determining force is broken."

The other reason was that I had made up my mind that to win I must travel directly over the city of Brooklyn. I knew there was danger in this. Every airman knows the strange and treacherous air currents created by a big settlement of buildings. The higher or up I was the better I could escape these whirling, twisting currents and the less the danger, for if anything happened to the engine I would have the greater opportunity to glide and manipulate the plans until I might discover some park or open place in which to effect a safe landing or at least a landing of less peril to my life. It is hard for people generally, perhaps, to understand that with an aviator the higher up we are the safer we feel. If you start to fall near the ground you have little chance to save yourself, but from far above you have many chances of righting your plume."

Moisant was indignant at the prospect of Grahame-White and de Lesseps being allowed to compete again today. It was yesterday, he contended, and even if the rules leave the contest open to any aviator during certain hours of any day of the meet, he holds that he has eliminated his rivals of yesterday.

If they let Grahame-White have

first time seem to be taking interest in this meeting. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth and Michigan sending men, and the knowing ones say they will not be surprised if the college men upset the chances of the two major clubs, the New York A. C. and Irish American A. C. Among the stars entered in the different events are the famous Melvin Sheppard, Harry Glasgow, the N. Y. A. C. crack; Frank Sauer, the western half mile champion; Lakeman, the Canadian hundred yard champion; Kiviak, the sensational New Yorker; and Wilton Paul, the former Boston champion; Martin Sherman, the world's most famous athlete, and Ralph Rose, the great shot put champion. The indoor championships this year will be one of the best meetings yet held, and many new records will undoubtedly be made.

Moisant's Statement
Concerning his flight, Moisant said last night:
"I started with the wind against me. It was a biting, icy wind and climbed higher and higher as I went along. This I did purposely for, by climbing, two objects were accomplished. One was to make as much speed as possible, of course, by slanting upward in going against the wind it was apparent that much of its determining force is broken."

The other reason was that I had made up my mind that to win I must travel directly over the city of Brooklyn. I knew there was danger in this. Every airman knows the strange and treacherous air currents created by a big settlement of buildings. The higher or up I was the better I could escape these whirling, twisting currents and the less the danger, for if anything happened to the engine I would have the greater opportunity to glide and manipulate the plans until I might discover some park or open place in which to effect a safe landing or at least a landing of less peril to my life. It is hard for people generally, perhaps, to understand that with an aviator the higher up we are the safer we feel. If you start to fall near the ground you have little chance to save yourself, but from far above you have many chances of righting your plume."

Moisant was indignant at the prospect of Grahame-White and de Lesseps being allowed to compete again today. It was yesterday, he contended, and even if the rules leave the contest open to any aviator during certain hours of any day of the meet, he holds that he has eliminated his rivals of yesterday.

If they let Grahame-White have

first time seem to be taking interest in this meeting. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth and Michigan sending men, and the knowing ones say they will not be surprised if the college men upset the chances of the two major clubs, the New York A. C. and Irish American A. C. Among the stars entered in the different events are the famous Melvin Sheppard, Harry Glasgow, the N. Y. A. C. crack; Frank Sauer, the western half mile champion; Lakeman, the Canadian hundred yard champion; Kiviak, the sensational New Yorker; and Wilton Paul, the former Boston champion; Martin Sherman, the world's most famous athlete, and Ralph Rose, the great shot put champion. The indoor championships this year will be one of the best meetings yet held, and many new records will undoubtedly be made.

Moisant's Statement
Concerning his flight, Moisant said last night:
"I started with the wind against me. It was a biting, icy wind and climbed higher and higher as I went along. This I did purposely for, by climbing, two objects were accomplished. One was to make as much speed as possible, of course, by slanting upward in going against the wind it was apparent that much of its determining force is broken."

The other reason was that I had made up my mind that to win I must travel directly over the city of Brooklyn. I knew there was danger in this. Every airman knows the strange and treacherous air currents created by a big settlement of buildings. The higher or up I was the better I could escape these whirling, twisting currents and the less the danger, for if anything happened to the engine I would have the greater opportunity to glide and manipulate the plans until I might discover some park or open place in which to effect a safe landing or at least a landing of less peril to my life. It is hard for people generally, perhaps, to understand that with an aviator the higher up we are the safer we feel. If you start to fall near the ground you have little chance to save yourself, but from far above you have many chances of righting your plume."

Moisant was indignant at the prospect of Grahame-White and de Lesseps being allowed to compete again today. It was yesterday, he contended, and even if the rules leave the contest open to any aviator during certain hours of any day of the meet, he holds that he has eliminated his rivals of yesterday.

If they let Grahame-White have

first time seem to be taking interest in this meeting. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth and Michigan sending men, and the knowing ones say they will not be surprised if the college men upset the chances of the two major clubs, the New York A. C. and Irish American A. C. Among the stars entered in the different events are the famous Melvin Sheppard, Harry Glasgow, the N. Y. A. C. crack; Frank Sauer, the western half mile champion; Lakeman, the Canadian hundred yard champion; Kiviak, the sensational New Yorker; and Wilton Paul, the former Boston champion; Martin Sherman, the world's most famous athlete, and Ralph Rose, the great shot put champion. The indoor championships this year will be one of the best meetings yet held, and many new records will undoubtedly be made.

Moisant's Statement
Concerning his flight, Moisant said last night:
"I started with the wind against me. It was a biting, icy wind and climbed higher and higher as I went along. This I did purposely for, by climbing, two objects were accomplished. One was to make as much speed as possible, of course, by slanting upward in going against the wind it was apparent that much of its determining force is broken."

The other reason was that I had made up my mind that to win I must travel directly over the city of Brooklyn. I knew there was danger in this. Every airman knows the strange and treacherous air currents created by a big settlement of buildings. The higher or up I was the better I could escape these whirling, twisting currents and the less the danger, for if anything happened to the engine I would have the greater opportunity to glide and manipulate the plans until I might discover some park or open place in which to effect a safe landing or at least a landing of less peril to my life. It is hard for people generally, perhaps, to understand that with an aviator the higher up we are the safer we feel. If you start to fall near the ground you have little chance to save yourself, but from far above you have many chances of righting your plume."

Moisant was indignant at the prospect of Grahame-White and de Lesseps being allowed to compete again today. It was yesterday, he contended, and even if the rules leave the contest open to any aviator during certain hours of any day of the meet, he holds that he has eliminated his rivals of yesterday.

If they let Grahame-White have

first time seem to be taking interest in this meeting. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth and Michigan sending men, and the knowing ones say they will not be surprised if the college men upset the chances of the two major clubs, the New York A. C. and Irish American A. C. Among the stars entered in the different events are the famous Melvin Sheppard, Harry Glasgow, the N. Y. A. C. crack; Frank Sauer, the western half mile champion; Lakeman, the Canadian hundred yard champion; Kiviak, the sensational New Yorker; and Wilton Paul, the former Boston champion; Martin Sherman, the world's most famous athlete, and Ralph Rose, the great shot put champion. The indoor championships this year will be one of the best meetings yet held, and many new records will undoubtedly be made.

Moisant's Statement
Concerning his flight, Moisant said last night:
"I started with the wind against me. It was a biting, icy wind and climbed higher and higher as I went along. This I did purposely for, by climbing, two objects were accomplished. One was to make as much speed as possible, of course, by slanting upward in going against the wind it was apparent that much of its determining force is broken."

The other reason was that I had made up my mind that to win I must travel directly over the city of Brooklyn. I knew there was danger in this. Every airman knows the strange and treacherous air currents created by a big settlement of buildings. The higher or up I was the better I could escape these whirling, twisting currents and the less the danger, for if anything happened to the engine I would have the greater opportunity to glide and manipulate the plans until I might discover some park or open place in which to effect a safe landing or at least a landing of less peril to my life. It is hard for people generally, perhaps, to understand that with an aviator the higher up we are the safer we feel. If you start to fall near the ground you have little chance to save yourself, but from far above you have many chances of righting your plume."

Moisant was indignant at the prospect of Grahame-White and de Lesseps being allowed to compete again today. It was yesterday, he contended, and even if the rules leave the contest open to any aviator during certain hours of any day of the meet, he holds that he has eliminated his rivals of yesterday.

If they let Grahame-White have

first time seem to be taking interest in this meeting. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth and Michigan sending men, and the knowing ones say they will not be surprised if the college men upset the chances of the two major clubs, the New York A. C. and Irish American A. C. Among the stars entered in the different events are the famous Melvin Sheppard, Harry Glasgow, the N. Y. A. C. crack; Frank Sauer, the western half mile champion; Lakeman, the Canadian hundred yard champion; Kiviak, the sensational New Yorker; and Wilton Paul, the former Boston champion; Martin Sherman, the world's most famous athlete, and Ralph Rose, the great shot put champion. The indoor championships this year will be one of the best meetings yet held, and many new records will undoubtedly be made.

Moisant's Statement
Concerning his flight, Moisant said last night:
"I started with the wind against me. It was a biting, icy wind and climbed higher and higher as I went along. This I did purposely for, by climbing, two objects were accomplished. One was to make as much speed as possible, of course, by slanting upward in going against the wind it was apparent that much of its determining force is broken."

The other reason was that I had made up my mind that to win I must travel directly over the city of Brooklyn. I knew there was danger in this. Every airman knows the strange and treacherous air currents created by a big settlement of buildings. The higher or up I was the better I could escape these whirling, twisting currents and the less the danger, for if anything happened to the engine I would have the greater opportunity to glide and manipulate the plans until I might discover some park or open place in which to effect a safe landing or at least a landing of less peril to my life. It is hard for people generally, perhaps, to understand that with an aviator the higher up we are the safer we feel. If you start to fall near the ground you have little chance to save yourself, but from far above you have many chances of righting your plume."

Moisant was indignant at the prospect of Grahame-White and de Lesseps being allowed to compete again today. It was yesterday, he contended, and even if the rules leave the contest open to any aviator during certain hours of any day of the meet, he holds that he has eliminated his rivals of yesterday.

If they let Grahame-White have

first time seem to be taking interest in this meeting. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth and Michigan sending men, and the knowing ones say they will not be surprised if the college men upset the chances of the two major clubs, the New York A. C. and Irish American A. C. Among the stars entered in the different events are the famous Melvin Sheppard, Harry Glasgow, the N. Y. A. C. crack; Frank Sauer, the western half mile champion; Lakeman, the Canadian hundred yard champion; Kiviak, the sensational New Yorker; and Wilton Paul, the former Boston champion; Martin Sherman, the world's most famous athlete, and Ralph Rose, the great shot put champion. The indoor championships this year will be one of the best meetings yet held, and many new records will undoubtedly be made.

Moisant's Statement
Concerning his flight, Moisant said last night:
"I started with the wind against me. It was a biting, icy wind and climbed higher and higher as I went along. This I did purposely for, by climbing, two objects were accomplished. One was to make as much speed as possible, of course, by slanting upward in going against the wind it was apparent that much of its determining force is broken."

The other reason was that I had made up my mind that to win I must travel directly over the city of Brooklyn. I knew there was danger in this. Every airman knows the strange and treacherous air currents created by a big settlement of buildings. The higher or up I was the better I could escape these whirling, twisting currents and the less the danger, for if anything happened to the engine I would have the greater opportunity to glide and manipulate the plans until I might discover some park or open place in which to effect a safe landing or at least a landing of less peril to my life. It is hard for people generally, perhaps, to understand that with an aviator the higher up we are the safer we feel. If you start to fall near the ground you have little chance to save yourself, but from far above you have many chances of righting your plume."

Moisant was indignant at the prospect of Grahame-White and de Lesseps being allowed to compete again today. It was yesterday, he contended, and even if the rules leave the contest open to any aviator during certain hours of any day of the meet, he holds that he has eliminated his rivals of yesterday.

If they let Grahame-White have

first time seem to be taking interest in this meeting. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth and Michigan sending men, and the knowing ones say they will not be surprised if the college men upset the chances of the two major clubs, the New York A. C. and Irish American A. C. Among the stars entered in the different events are the famous Melvin Sheppard, Harry Glasgow, the N. Y. A. C. crack; Frank Sauer, the western half mile champion; Lakeman, the Canadian hundred yard champion; Kiviak, the sensational New Yorker; and Wilton Paul, the former Boston champion; Martin Sherman, the world's most famous athlete, and Ralph Rose, the great shot put champion. The indoor championships this year will be one of the best meetings yet held, and many new records will undoubtedly be made.

Moisant's Statement
Concerning his flight, Moisant said last night:
"I started with the wind against me. It was a biting, icy wind and climbed higher and higher as I went along. This I did purposely for, by climbing, two objects were accomplished. One was to make as much speed as possible, of course, by slanting upward in going against the wind it was apparent that much of its determining force is broken."

The other reason was that I had made up my mind that to win I must travel directly over the city of Brooklyn. I knew there was danger in this. Every airman knows the strange and treacherous air currents created by a big settlement of buildings. The higher or up I was the better I could escape these whirling, twisting currents and the less the danger, for if anything happened to the engine I would have the greater opportunity to glide and manipulate the plans until I might discover some park or open place in which to effect a safe landing or at least a landing of less peril to my life. It is hard for people generally, perhaps, to understand that with an aviator the higher up we are the safer we feel. If you start to fall near the ground you have little chance to save yourself, but from far above you have many chances of righting your plume."

Moisant was indignant at the prospect of Grahame-White and de Lesseps being allowed to compete again today. It was yesterday, he contended, and even if the rules leave the contest open to any aviator during certain hours of any day of the meet, he holds that he has eliminated his rivals of yesterday.

If they let Grahame-White have

first time seem to be taking interest in this meeting. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth and Michigan sending men, and the knowing ones say they will not be surprised if the college men upset the chances of the two major clubs, the New York A. C. and Irish American A. C. Among the stars entered in the different events are the famous Melvin Sheppard, Harry Glasgow, the N. Y. A. C. crack; Frank Sauer, the western half mile champion; Lakeman, the Canadian hundred yard champion; Kiviak, the sensational New Yorker; and Wilton Paul, the former Boston champion; Martin Sherman, the world's most famous athlete, and Ralph Rose, the great shot put champion. The indoor championships this year will be one of the best meetings yet held, and many new records will undoubtedly be made.

Moisant's Statement
Concerning his flight, Moisant said last night:
"I started with the wind against me. It was a biting, icy wind and climbed higher and higher as I went along. This I did purposely for, by climbing, two objects were accomplished. One was to make as much speed as possible, of course, by slanting upward in going against the wind it was apparent that much of its determining force is broken."

The other reason was that I had made up my mind that to win I must travel directly over the city of Brooklyn. I knew there was danger in this. Every airman knows the strange and treacherous air currents created by a big settlement of buildings. The higher or up I was the better I could escape these whirling, twisting currents and the less the danger, for if anything happened to the engine I would have the greater opportunity to glide and manipulate the plans until I might discover some park or open place in which to effect a safe landing or at least a landing of less peril to my life. It is hard for people generally, perhaps, to understand that with an aviator the higher up we are the safer we feel. If you start to fall near the ground you have little chance to save yourself, but from far above you have many chances of righting your plume."

Moisant was indignant at the prospect of Grahame-White and de Lesseps being allowed to compete again today. It was yesterday, he contended, and even if the rules leave the contest open to any aviator during certain hours of any day of the meet, he holds that he has eliminated his rivals of yesterday.

If they let Grahame-White have

first time seem to be taking interest in this meeting. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth and Michigan sending men, and the knowing ones say they will not be surprised if the college men upset the chances of the two major clubs, the New York A. C. and Irish American A. C. Among the stars entered in the different events are the famous Melvin Sheppard, Harry Glasgow, the N. Y. A. C. crack; Frank Sauer, the western half mile champion; Lakeman, the Canadian hundred yard champion; Kiviak, the sensational New Yorker; and Wilton Paul, the former Boston champion; Martin Sherman, the world's most famous athlete, and Ralph Rose, the great shot put champion. The indoor championships this year will be one of the best meetings yet held, and many new records will undoubtedly be made.

Moisant's Statement
Concerning his flight, Moisant said last night:
"I started with the wind against me. It was a biting, icy wind and climbed higher and higher as I went along. This I did purposely for, by climbing, two objects were accomplished. One was to make as much speed as possible, of course, by slanting upward in going against the wind it was apparent that much of its determining force is broken."

The other reason was that I had made up my mind that to win I must travel directly over the city of Brooklyn. I knew there was danger in this. Every airman knows the strange and treacherous air currents created by a big settlement of buildings. The higher or up I was the better I could escape these whirling, twisting currents and the less the danger, for if anything happened to the engine I would have the greater opportunity to glide and manipulate the plans until I might discover some park or open place in which to effect a safe landing or at least a landing of less peril to my life. It is hard for people generally, perhaps, to understand that with an aviator the higher up we are the safer we feel. If you start to fall near the ground you have little chance to save yourself, but from far above you have many chances of righting your plume."

Moisant was indignant at the prospect of Grahame-White and de Lesseps being allowed to compete again today. It was yesterday, he contended, and even if the rules leave the contest open to any aviator during certain hours of any day of the meet, he holds that he has eliminated his rivals of yesterday.

If they let Grahame-White have

first time seem to be taking interest in this meeting. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth and Michigan sending men, and the knowing ones say they will not be surprised if the college men upset the chances of the two major clubs, the New York A. C. and Irish American A. C. Among the stars entered in the different events are the famous Melvin Sheppard, Harry Glasgow, the N. Y. A. C. crack; Frank Sauer, the western half mile champion; Lakeman, the Canadian hundred yard champion; Kiviak, the sensational New Yorker; and Wilton Paul, the former Boston champion; Martin Sherman, the world's most famous athlete, and Ralph Rose, the great shot put champion. The indoor championships this year will be one of the best meetings yet held, and many new records will undoubtedly be made.

Moisant's Statement
Concerning his flight, Moisant said last night:
"I started with the wind against me. It was a biting, icy wind and climbed higher and higher as I went along. This I did purposely for, by climbing, two objects were accomplished. One was to make as much speed as possible, of course, by slanting upward in going against the wind it was apparent that much of its determining force is broken."

The other reason was that I had made up my mind that to win I must travel directly over the city of Brooklyn. I knew there was danger in this. Every airman knows the strange and treacherous air currents created by a big settlement of buildings. The higher or up I was the better I could escape these whirling, twisting currents and the less the danger, for if anything happened to the engine I would have the greater opportunity to glide and manipulate the plans until I might discover some park or open place in which to effect a safe landing or at least a landing of less peril to my life. It is hard for people generally, perhaps, to understand that with an aviator the higher up we are the safer we feel. If you start to fall near the ground you have little chance to save yourself, but from far above you have many chances of righting your plume."

Moisant was indignant at the prospect of Grahame-White and de Lesseps being allowed to compete again today. It was yesterday, he contended, and even if the rules leave the contest open to any aviator during certain hours of any day of the meet, he holds that he has eliminated his rivals of yesterday.

If they let Grahame-White have

first time seem to be taking interest in this meeting. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth and Michigan sending men, and the knowing ones say they will not be surprised if the college men upset the chances of the two major clubs, the New York A. C. and Irish American A. C. Among the stars entered in the different events are the famous Melvin Sheppard, Harry Glasgow, the N. Y. A. C. crack; Frank Sauer, the western half mile champion; Lakeman, the Canadian hundred yard champion; Kiviak, the sensational New Yorker; and Wilton Paul, the former Boston champion; Martin Sherman, the world's most famous athlete, and Ralph Rose, the great shot put champion. The indoor championships this year will be one of the best meetings yet held, and many new records will undoubtedly be made.

Moisant's Statement
Concerning his flight, Moisant said last night:
"I started with the wind against me. It was a biting, icy wind and climbed higher and higher as I went along. This I did purposely for, by climbing, two objects were accomplished. One was to make as much speed as possible, of course, by slanting upward in going against the wind it was apparent that much of its determining force is broken."

The other reason was that I had made up my mind that to win I must travel directly over the city of Brooklyn. I knew there was danger in this. Every airman knows the strange and treacherous air currents created by a big settlement of buildings. The higher or up I was the better I could escape these whirling, twisting currents and the less the danger, for if anything happened to the engine I would have the greater opportunity to glide and manipulate the plans until I might discover some park or open place in which to effect a safe landing or at least a landing of less peril to my life. It is hard for people generally, perhaps, to understand that with an aviator the higher up we are the safer we feel. If you start to fall near the ground you have little chance to save yourself, but from far above you have many chances of righting your plume."

Moisant was indignant at the prospect of Grahame-White and de Lesseps being allowed to compete again today. It was yesterday, he contended, and even if the rules leave the contest open to any aviator during certain hours of any day of the meet, he holds that he has eliminated his rivals of yesterday.

If they let Grahame-White have

first time seem to be taking interest in this meeting. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth and Michigan sending men, and the knowing ones say they will not be surprised if the college men upset the chances of the two major clubs, the New York A. C. and Irish American A. C. Among the stars entered in the different events are the famous Melvin Sheppard, Harry Glasgow, the N. Y. A. C. crack; Frank Sauer, the

HIGHWAYMEN BUSY

Fourth Robbery is Reported in Greater Boston

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The fourth woman victim of highwaymen in Brighton in as many days is Miss Katherine B. Coakley of 98 Corey road, Brookline.

While walking along Corey road about 6 last night she was robbed of a handbag containing $9 in money and an amethyst ring valued at $10.

In all but the first robbery, that of Miss Mary McDougall last Thursday night, the handbags have been snatched from the women.

In the three cases one man did the job, but in the case of Miss McDougall two men worked together, and one flourished a revolver.

In none of the cases reported have the thieves been very successful as far as securing much money is concerned, the sums, except in the case of Miss Coakley, ranging only from 75 cents to $1.50.

Captain Sullivan of division 14 has taken every precaution at his command to catch the thieves. Extra men have been assigned to the district where the robberies have occurred, along Commonwealth avenue from Harvard avenue to the reservoir section.

The first robbery occurred last Thursday evening about 11 when Miss Mary McDougall, a servant girl at 4 Cheswick road, Brighton, was held up by two young men on Chestnut Hill avenue near Commonwealth avenue.

Miss McDougall had been in town and had returned on a Beacon street car, getting off at the corner of Commonwealth and Chestnut Hill avenues. She started to walk along in the direction of Englewood avenue and was set upon by the two men.

One grabbed her roughly by the throat while the other pushed a revolver in her face. The man with the revolver stole the young woman's pocketbook. The two men then released Miss McDougall and started down Englewood avenue.

ITCHING ECZEMA
Eczema and similar skin diseases rarely cure themselves, but grow worse from week to week until the sufferer is nearly driven mad with intense irritation. Don't waste time taking internal medicines. Get a 10c box of Cadum, the new medical compound, and apply it immediately. The itching will stop at once, and a great improvement will be noticed overnight. People who have itched and scratched for years find sleep and rest soon after Cadum is applied. Cadum is also for pimples, rash, blotches, ulcers, eruptions, scaly skin, chafing, piles, etc.

An elevated railway conductor heard the young woman's cries and ran to her assistance, but her assailants had got away by the time the conductor reached the almost insensible girl.

On the following evening Miss May Murphy, who is employed at the Brighton wing of the Homeopathic hospital on Summit avenue, was robbed of her pocketbook at the corner of Summit and Commonwealth avenues and about half a mile from the scene of the holdup of the evening before.

Saturday evening the snatch thief appeared at the corner of Franklin and Boston streets in Allston, where he had no trouble in relieving Mrs. Charles H. Atwood of 127 Franklin street of her purse containing $1.25.

The snatch thief has been variously described as being from 18 to 24 years of age. He is said to be of fairly good height. Miss Coakley said last evening that he was about 5 feet 10 inches in height, weighed about 150 pounds and wore dark clothes and a black derby hat. She said he was about 20 years old.

In addition to the fact that extra men have been put out to run down the thief, the police auto is being called into play, as well as the bicycle force at division 14. Captain Sullivan warns the women of the district to keep their pocketbooks out of sight or advise them not to carry them in such a manner that they may be easily snatched away.

BOSTON MAN MADE AN ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 31.—Adolph Talamini, about 25 years old, of East Boston, son of the publisher of Liberator, an Italian weekly paper published in Providence, in his room in a local hotel last evening drank the phosphorous of matches dissolved in water and then tried strangulation with a towel. A note was found saying that he "loved Ethel," but that his case was hopeless.

Apparently repenting of his acts, Talamini rang for a bellboy and then lapsed into a dazed condition. He was taken to the Maine General hospital. Physicians say he will recover unless he absorbed too much phosphorous.

Talamini came here two days ago and registered as "Jack Alter." He said he was canvassing for the publishing house. Last night he admitted his real name and his address as 136 Bremen street, East Boston.

THE SUN LISTED

As Preferred Medium for Classified "Ads"

The following letter relative to publications preferred and recommended for classified advertising is received from the Mail Order World Advertising Agency of Lockport, N. Y. It is but fair to say that the letter comes without any solicitation or negotiation direct or indirect on our part. The letter, which is self-explanatory, is as follows:

Lockport, N. Y., Oct. 23, 1910.
Publisher Sun,
Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—We take pleasure in handing you, under separate cover, copy of the fourth revised edition of our booklet, "Where Your Ads Will Pull."

After a thorough and exhaustive test of the merits of the papers in your class, we have selected your paper as representative of that field among the leading classified media of the country.

In selecting the papers named in our booklet, we have had at our disposal accurate figures covering seven years of careful testing. In no case have we been guided by an argument or inducement offered by publishers, and feel that in presenting these lists to users of classified advertising space, we have produced the list of the best classified media in America.

Trusting that you will maintain the same high standards that has characterized your publication in the past, we remain

Yours very truly,
The Mail Order World Advertising Agency.

CARBONOL

Dispels All Dirt

Some kinds of dirt, especially of a greasy nature, won't dissolve in water; but a dash of Carbonol in the water makes such dirt vanish.

Carbonol is invaluable in house-cleaning. It is also a disinfectant and deodorant; makes garbage odorless, destroys nasty smells. Disinfects and purifies everything. More necessary than soap for sanitary housekeeping. 35c and 50c a bottle. Sample free on request.

Barrett Manufacturing Co.,
297 Franklin St., Boston, Mass.

OUR LAW BREAKERS

Probation Officer Ramsay Discusses Their Reformation

Makes Valuable Suggestions Relative to Future Treatment of the Many Non-Support Cases That Daily Come Before the Court

At the Eliot church yesterday Probation Officer James P. Ramsay delivered an interesting talk on the prison congress, recently held at Washington, D. C., which was attended by representatives of all civilized nations, and a series of suggestions for prison work in the future.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Ramsay said:

"Perhaps not again in this generation will there come to this country such a congress as was held at Washington during the first week of this month.

"First, the American Prison congress, the session lasting three days.

"Second, the first annual meeting of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology.

"Third, the International Prison congress, which began its session on Sunday, October 2. This congress meets once every five years and although it was organized by an American, Mr. E. C. Winsor, it has never before held a meeting in this country. The first meeting was held in London in 1872, and the last in Budapest, Hungary.

"The meeting of the International Prison congress brought together for the first time in America, representatives from 36 states of our Union, and 37 foreign governments, representing the different professions which come into contact with criminals and with the administration of the penal code, lawyers, legislators, judges, administrators of institutions, educators, and leaders of preventive and constructive philanthropy.

"Among the 278 delegates present were such well known Americans as Bishop Fallows of Chicago, Dr. Charles R. Henderson, North Western university, Chicago; Governor Gilchrist of Florida; H. C. Carbaugh, judge advocate, U. S. army; Frederick Howard Wines of Springfield, Ill.; Major R. W. McLaughry, Warden U. S. penitentiary, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas; Justice Charles DeCoursey of Massachusetts; Commander Ezra Booth of the Salvation Army; Z. R. Brockway, retired prison manager of Elmira; Miss Helen Gould, and many others.

"Many of the foreign delegates have international reputations: Paul Lubinsky, professor of law, Imperial university, St. Petersburg; Dr. J. Simon von der Au, professor of penal law, Rotterdam; Sir Evelyn Ruggles-Brise, London, England; Kimpah T. King, supreme court of justice, Peking, China, not admitting the old and venerable Dr. Guillaume, of Switzerland, secretary to the congress for many years.

"The delegates were greeted and welcomed by President Taft. The United States government appropriated $20,000 for the special entertainment of the foreign delegates. We were taken down the Potomac in a government vessel, and a banquet was served to the delegates. Many speeches were delivered by the foreigners, the Chinese justice carrying off the honors.

"In brief the resolutions under the section on criminal law, approved the principle of the indeterminate sentence and defined the makeup of parole boards, which should give it application.

Under the section on prison administration, the essential principle on which the reformatory method is based, was defined, short term sentences deprecated, and the joint confinement of prisoners waiting trial and those serving short sentences condemned.

The resolutions defined the terms on which conditional liberation and parole should be carried out, and distinguished between probation and parole; they held that all penal institutions, including houses of detention and jail, should be under the control of a central authority, that all prisoners should be employed at useful labor.

They affirmed the uselessness of repeated short sentences for recidivists and the practical success of special reformatory establishments for long periods, of habitual drunkards.

They favored workhouses for professional mendicants and vagrants, and advocated agricultural and industrial training and medical supervision in connection with the same; also the extension or establishment of a system of identification of such offenders.

The section held that it is desirable to introduce and extend laws providing for probation. That the effects of suspended sentence without probationary oversight, are difficult if not impossible to ascertain.

Under the fourth section, dealing with children, a strong series of resolutions was drawn up, declaring that young delinquents should not be subjected to the penal procedure now applied to adults, and defining the principle of probationary control with respect to them. The section held that legislative measures and moral and legal propaganda are necessary for the protection of illegitimate children, declaring incidentally but strongly for a single moral standard applicable to men and women alike. It supported laws for making parents responsible for the wrong-doing of their children.

Before the session adjourned, London was chosen as the meeting place for 1915, and Sir Evelyn Ruggles-Brise, as president of the international commission, and will bring the congress mission, and will bring the congress mission, and will bring the congress mission.

back to the city of its first meeting place and afford a remarkable opportunity for reviewing the advances since the initial congress in 1872.

Under the third section on prevention, the resolutions held that the state should allow payment to prisoners and that the money should be available for the assistance of their families, if needed.

Non-Support Cases
Mr. Ramsay then went into the important subject of "non-support" and cited many interesting incidents that have come under his observation.

In summing up he said:
For these evils, I would therefore, strongly urge that all cases of non-support or family desertion cases come before our police, district or municipal courts, be treated privately, that a day be set apart for their hearing, just as the cases of juveniles are now conducted, in a room set apart for the same, and that if the defendant is to be given a suspended sentence, he be placed in the care of the probation officer as surety, who shall see that the order of payments as made by the court is duly collected, and paid over to the neglected family. If unable to collect this money, he should arrest and return to court his ward, as he has the right to do under the law, or else involve the aid of the police to arrest for him, which he has also the right to do, and then let the judge deal with the man, not by sending him to a common jail, where he can mix and associate with thieves and other hardened criminals, where his labor is light, his food good and plentiful, as it ought to be, clean baths and bedding, as they must be, with good books to read and tobacco smoking enjoyed as per rule of the institution; but to some place not yet discovered, but which I will take the liberty of suggesting.

Good Suggestion
Why not have the state establish or rather extend the industrial camp idea, as is now operated under the management of the prison commissioners at Rutland, Mass. A few such colonies established in the different counties where these common drunkards, and wife deserters could be placed at work reclaiming the waste lands of the commonwealth would surely not be at variance with public sentiment or organized free labor. Then I would recommend that we go one step further and adopt the sense of the resolution as passed at the "International Prison Congress," and pay over to the families of these men a part of their earnings, say, for the sake of still further illustrating this subject, a nominal sum of 50 cents per day, so that there would be no incentive for a man to commit an offense, for the sake of getting employment from the state.

If the clergy and a few level headed citizens were to take this proposition to the legislature we might in time get this work established and thereby find a part solution of this great social problem. "The deserted family."

I would not give the impression, however, that the present system is not working out an immense amount of good, the local probation officer, Mr. Shattuck, collects a great deal of money in non-support cases, and one court alone, the Roxbury municipal court, through its probation officer, collected last year $9,000.

In conclusion—probation officers can be of great service to neglected wives and deserted children. I am acquainted with officers who specialize in this form of probation work, and a great

The Bon Marche Dry Goods Co.

SPECIAL SALE TODAY OF Children's Coats

—AT—
$1.98 Each

About 100 in the lot. Fancy mixtures, latest styles. Suitable for children from 3 to 14 years of age. Extra values at regular prices $3 and $4.

SALE PRICE TODAY

$1.98 Each

BADLY DAMAGED

Two Schooners Were in Collision

VINEYARD HAVEN, Oct. 31.—Badly damaged, the schooners Frank B. Swain, Boston for Charleston, S. C., and Sarah and Lucy, Boston for New York, which collided yesterday while beating past the Cross Rip Lightship were towed in here early today. The headgear and bowsprit of the Sarah and Lucy were carried away while the spunk of the Swain was torn to ribbons and the port and afternoon of the latter schooner were badly damaged. Neither vessel was leaking and it was expected that they would be towed to New London later today for repairs.

Captain Theall of the Swain stated upon his arrival here today that the collision was caused by the Sarah and Lucy endeavoring to cross the bow of the Swain. Both vessels came to anchor and distress signals were hoisted. The revenue cutter Acushnet was notified last night and immediately went to the assistance of the vessels. The Acushnet took the Sarah and Lucy in tow and arrived at this port shortly after midnight. The tug Orion came from Boston and towed the Swain in here this morning.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infelicity. A good counselor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Many other officers do a large amount of this same kind of work which the public learns but little about, inasmuch as this branch of probation work is not related in any public document. (These cases not being entered upon the court docket, do not get a place in the annual report of the prison commission.)

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it cures. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

TRAMP STEAMSHIP

CARRIES THE BIGGEST LUMBER CARGO YET

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 31.—Carrying the biggest lumber cargo ever floated on any sea, the British tramp steamship Knight of the Garter has just sailed from Portland with 5,300,000 feet of Oregon fir on board. The cargo weighs 17,400,000 pounds and is valued at $60,000. More valuable lumber cargoes are sent away from this port every little while, but this is the record one in tonnage.

The steamer is bound for North China ports and the cargo is made up of rough lumber. Part of it is square timbers that will be saved by the Chinese by hand after their arrival on the other side. The lumber in the Knight of the Garter's cargo represents about 160 acres of the finest timber in the Pacific northwest, a quarter section of big fir trees being required to supply this amount of lumber.

The big British tramp will go from China to New Zealand and load wool for London. She left down the Columbia river drawing 26.9 feet of water.

Dr. Frank G. Gulliland of Wyman's Exchange will spend the next two weeks hunting in the woods of Maine.

back to the city of its first meeting place and afford a remarkable opportunity for reviewing the advances since the initial congress in 1872.

Under the third section on prevention, the resolutions held that the state should allow payment to prisoners and that the money should be available for the assistance of their families, if needed.

Non-Support Cases
Mr. Ramsay then went into the important subject of "non-support" and cited many interesting incidents that have come under his observation.

In summing up he said:
For these evils, I would therefore, strongly urge that all cases of non-support or family desertion cases come before our police, district or municipal courts, be treated privately, that a day be set apart for their hearing, just as the cases of juveniles are now conducted, in a room set apart for the same, and that if the defendant is to be given a suspended sentence, he be placed in the care of the probation officer as surety, who shall see that the order of payments as made by the court is duly collected, and paid over to the neglected family. If unable to collect this money, he should arrest and return to court his ward, as he has the right to do under the law, or else involve the aid of the police to arrest for him, which he has also the right to do, and then let the judge deal with the man, not by sending him to a common jail, where he can mix and associate with thieves and other hardened criminals, where his labor is light, his food good and plentiful, as it ought to be, clean baths and bedding, as they must be, with good books to read and tobacco smoking enjoyed as per rule of the institution; but to some place not yet discovered, but which I will take the liberty of suggesting.

Good Suggestion
Why not have the state establish or rather extend the industrial camp idea, as is now operated under the management of the prison commissioners at Rutland, Mass. A few such colonies established in the different counties where these common drunkards, and wife deserters could be placed at work reclaiming the waste lands of the commonwealth would surely not be at variance with public sentiment or organized free labor. Then I would recommend that we go one step further and adopt the sense of the resolution as passed at the "International Prison Congress," and pay over to the families of these men a part of their earnings, say, for the sake of still further illustrating this subject, a nominal sum of 50 cents per day, so that there would be no incentive for a man to commit an offense, for the sake of getting employment from the state.

If the clergy and a few level headed citizens were to take this proposition to the legislature we might in time get this work established and thereby find a part solution of this great social problem. "The deserted family."

I would not give the impression, however, that the present system is not working out an immense amount of good, the local probation officer, Mr. Shattuck, collects a great deal of money in non-support cases, and one court alone, the Roxbury municipal court, through its probation officer, collected last year $9,000.

In conclusion—probation officers can be of great service to neglected wives and deserted children. I am acquainted with officers who specialize in this form of probation work, and a great

What Ails You?
Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at these will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

On a Cold Afternoon
A BLAZING FIRE
In the Fireplace Makes the Home More Cheerful.
—OUR—
American Cannel Coal
BURNS LIKE WOOD. LASTS LONGER.

HORNE COAL CO.

Merrimack Clothing Co.

ACROSS FROM CITY HALL

MERRIMACK SUITS

FOR WOMEN

The secret of finding a suit that satisfies your taste and, your judgment lies in going where quality is as much considered as style.

At $18.50

We have women's tailored suits made of cheviot, rough serges and fancy worsteds and we venture to say that no custom tailor puts better cloth into a $30 or $35 suit or better tailoring into any suit than you will find in these.

At $20.00

These are totally different styles made of broadcloths, basket weaves, chevots and serges in all good colors—the coats are the proper lengths and the skirts so varied and yet so closely identified with the narrow gored skirt that you have all the style that is and none of the conspicuous lack of it that is found in so many skirts today.

At $25.00

These are unusually fine suits of heavy chevots, fancy worsteds, broadcloths and serges excellently tailored with all sorts of go in the cut, many have the plain tailor-made coats, others are quite elaborate in their trimmings and all of the skirts are cut over the newest models.

WE HAVE OUR GARMENTS FITTED BY EXPERT FITTERS FREE OF CHARGE

A Genuine Corset Bargain

The New RENGO BELT

Corsets

In both models, for medium and tall figures, reduce the hips in a way unequalled by any other corset.

Boned with double watch-spring steels guaranteed not to rust.

Rengo Belt

Style 43 has High Bust and Low Bust $2.00

Style 44 High Bust and Low Bust $3.00

Extra quality of Imported Cord

For Sale By

The Bon Marche Dry Goods Company

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was 16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotta, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

Never in the history of the city have we had so many street improvements in progress as at the present time.

The importance of East Merrimack street as a public thoroughfare was not realized until it was closed by sewer work.

Hamlin, Vahey and the other democratic leaders are loyally fighting for the election of Eugene N. Foss. The pre-nomination differences are all forgotten in the desire for victory at the polls in the interest of the whole people.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

The people of this country today are groaning under the high cost of living and are looking for relief from the coming election.

The insurgent movement in the republican party is marching on and promises to leave the machine candidates and the machine policies far behind in the race.

The housekeepers especially are well informed on the burdens in this increased cost of living. They make the purchases and they realize what a short way a five dollar bill will go in buying household supplies compared to what it paid for ten or fifteen years ago. The purchasing power of the dollar has declined nearly one-half because the prices of commodities in general have been boosted up by the trusts in virtue of their power to stamp out competition under protection of the high tariff wall.

If the women of this country could vote they would cast their ballots solidly against the trust policies that have practically doubled the cost of living within the past fifteen years. The high tariff has rested heavily on dress goods for women as well as upon many household necessities which have formerly sold at moderate prices.

If we look back to the year 1896 and compare the prices of that year with those of today we shall find a most alarming increase. Below we give a comparison from the Johnstown, Pa., Democrat, showing how the prices in 1896 compare with those of the present time. We notice that some of the present prices are under-stated. Take for example the single article of flour quoted at $6.50. The average brand of flour sells at $7.50 a barrel in Lowell and other New England cities today while some brands are sold at $8 per barrel. We mention this instance to show that in the prices quoted there is no attempt to juggle figures or to make the situation worse than it really is. The comparisons follow:

In 1896 under democratic rule you could buy two pounds of salt pork for 10 cents. Today the price is 34 cents.
In 1896 you could buy five pounds of pork ribs for 30 cents. Today the price is 50 cents.
In 1896 you could buy four pounds of smoked shoulder for 28 cents. Today the price is 60 cents.
In 1896 you could buy two pounds of sausage for 14 cents. Today the price is 30 cents.
In 1896 you could buy five pounds of lard for 25 cents. Today the price is 55 cents.
In 1896 you could buy five pounds of corned beef for 25 cents. Today the price is 70 cents.
In 1896 you could buy four pounds of butter for 54 cents. Today the price is $1.52—and you are not sure of getting genuine butter at that.
In 1896 you could buy two dozen eggs for 26 cents. Today the price is 64 cents—and packed eggs at that.
In 1896 you could buy one pound of cheese for 13 cents. Today the price is 20 cents.
In 1896 you could buy two quarts of beans for 8 cents. Today the price is 20 cents.
In 1896 you could buy a barrel of flour for $4. Today the price is $6.50.
In 1896 you could buy four pounds of fowl for 48 cents. Today the price is $1.00.
In 1896 you could buy 21 pounds of sugar for $1. Today the price is $1.31.
In 1896 you could buy two pounds of steak for 32 cents. Today the price is 50 cents.
In 1896 you could buy five pounds of roast beef for 65 cents. Today the price is $1.25.
In 1896 you could buy a bag of corn for 65 cents. Today the price is $1.60.
In 1896 you could buy a bushel of oats for 28 cents. Today the price is 55 cents.
And so on through the entire list of family necessities.

In other words, a two weeks' store bill in 1896 amounted to $9.76. A two weeks' store bill today foots up $18.95.

It appears from this comparative statement that prices of household necessities have doubled since 1896; but if the rate of wages went up in the same proportion there would be no reason to complain.

The standpatters assert that the tariff has nothing to do with increasing prices, but the fact is undeniable that prices began to increase as soon as the Dingley law went into effect and kept on soaring with the multiplication of trusts, and mounted still higher when the Payne-Aldrich law took effect.

Let the voters of this district and of the state in general consider their own interests and vote against the party that is responsible for this enormous drain upon the resources of the people. How can a man support himself and family of small children upon six, seven, eight or even ten dollars a week?

While the rate of wages is somewhat higher than formerly the purchasing power is greatly reduced, and that is why the average family finds it so hard to get along.

There is an opportunity to effect a change by following the example of the state of Maine in voting for democratic candidates and democratic policies. Nothing else will bring the trusts and standpatters to their senses.

It is all nonsense for voters to turn in disgust from both political parties and seek relief in some revolutionary scheme that can never be realized because wrong in principle, visionary and impracticable. The voters of this country today have the power in their own hands, and if things are wrong it is because they have not used that power aright when they cast their ballots on election day. If they vote for their own interests, refusing to be intimidated or influenced to do something entirely different, they will soon find the changes and the reforms that will correct most of the present abuses.

BEEN AND HEARD

Now that winter is coming on, it is time to make a black mark on the curbstone, so that in shovelling off the sidewalk you won't go beyond your neighbor's line.

Don't worry, girls. There will be mistletoe on sale as usual, this year at the Christmas season.

Men wouldn't have to work half so hard if it weren't for the women, and the women wouldn't have to work half so hard if it weren't for the men.

Nothing illustrates a mean man's character better than laughing at a woman's way of sharpening a pencil. Instead of asking to sharpen it for her as he should.

Giving advice is a pretty serious matter, even though people very seldom follow it.

The restaurant man isn't hard-hearted just because he doesn't care how hungry people get.

The habit of wearing society buttons is getting to be so common now that before long the people who don't belong to anything may take to wearing a non-society pin, just to be in style.

When a woman is always telling in public how good her husband is to her, people naturally begin to wonder if he really is.

A great many people are denying themselves to give their boys and girls an education, one result of which will be that when the boys and girls have the education they will look down on the old folks.

It is always very impressive to hear a sixteen-year-old girl say of another sixteen-year-old girl: "Oh, she is an old, old friend of mine!"

Every young bride should learn dressmaking, so that she would be able to support herself in case anything should happen to her husband. Incidentally, by making her own dresses she can save her husband money. This piece of advice applied to husbands would make them all their own tailors.

When a young man gets the idea in his head that he is a good judge of human nature, it generally costs him money before he finds out his mistake.

Even if clairvoyants could tell the future from a lock of hair, that wouldn't do Mr. Rockefeller any good.

How immensely superior the boy who has a stem-winding watch is to the boy who has an old key-winder.

Sometimes a woman's literary society devotes nearly a quarter of the evening to literary matters.

Even in Boston people talk about getting into good society, as if all society in Boston were not good.

WHERE SUMMER WAS

Where summer was the grass is gray and brown.

And withered leaves are scattered here and there.

To mark how they have softly fluttered down.

On sighing breezes, or through breathless air.

The flowers flaunt no more their banners gay.

Nor toss their perfumes to the laughing wind—

No trace the more of joyous June or May.

Do we in all the dying landscape find.

Where summer was the birds have flown the nest.

To journey southward to a fairer clime.

No more the twilight purples in the west.

While stars march up the eastern slope of time.

But night stalks in with draperies that fold.

All suddenly upon the world of light.

And winds that chant a chorus dull and cold.

Run with the rustling leaves beside the night.

Where summer was—it comes not back today.

The silver mornings bringing each a song.

That lifts in joy adown a rose-hedged way.

With little echoes trailing it along:

The golden hush of summer afternoons

When we of field and flower seem a part.

And all of summer's sweetness sways and swoons

And in an untold rapture holds the heart.

Where summer was, the lone tree on the hill.

Lifts up its arms of sacrificial fire.

Heaped high with leaves that flame all mystic-still.

In red and gold—a beacon and a pyre.

But one brave blossom lifts its petalled cup

From the recesses of the drooping vine.

As though before it dies it would raise up

The parting draught of summer's scented wine.

—Walter D. Nesbit in Chicago Evening Post.

Hallowe'en Sale

John Street Window

While They Last, Two for 5c

R. E. JUDD, Bookseller and Stationer, 79 Merrimack St.

ST. THOMAS' SALVE

—FOR—

Piles, Old Sores and Skin Diseases

—FOR SALE—

At All Up-to-Date Drug Stores

THIRTY-FIVE CENTS

SPECIALS

Steamed clams, 20c; fried oysters and French fries, 25c; fried clams and French fries, 25c. Call and see us.

LOWELL INN

Busiest place on Central street

J. P. Q. No. 2 Nut Coal

$6.50 per ton, $3.25 per half ton.

For kitchen range or topping off the furnace fire, it is worth more than coal you pay $7.50 per ton for. Try a ton and be convinced. I guarantee every ton. Mail and telephone orders will receive immediate attention.

JOHN P. QUINN

Office and Yard, Gorham and Dix Sts.

Telephones 1180 and 2430; when one is busy, call the other.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"Billy the Boy Artist" gives no idea of the original, comical, sparkling, dashing, charming musical comedy presented at the Opera House for three nights beginning tonight.

Just consider the effort and expense that goes into the modern first class musical show now-a-days. For instance, "Billy the Boy Artist," that plays at the Opera House for three nights starting tonight, is a good example. To begin at the beginning, the author worked at the play and songs for two years off and on, three competent composers being engaged to write the twenty-two pieces of music. Every costume, property and piece of scenery had a sketch made for it first, which was afterward reproduced by the costumers and scene painters; a first class company specially engaged to fit the parts as well as play them rehearsed for weeks while at the same time a strong chorus of singing and dancing girls was being trained under an expert dancing master. When everything was ready for its Metropolitan opening thousands of good, hard American dollars had been spent. There is a vast difference, between putting on a dramatic play with a few modern costumes and some simple scenery and an up-to-date musical show. Every chorus girl in "Billy the Boy Artist" has to change to five different fetching expensive dresses in the course of the evening. Barnum's circus is the only other form of entertainment that holds anything like the same comparison between the big original investment and the small price of admission. Think it over.

THE NEW OPERA COMPANY.

That music and the dance so closely allied in the history of music, are still good friends is illustrated by the fact that Christian Hansen, the noted tenor to appear here on November 12th, with the New Opera company at the Opera House, uses dancing as his favorite exercise. J. C. Breil, the managing director of the New Opera company, known to his intimates as a quaint humorist, says that Hansen makes him nervous, that he dances so much as to make him think of one afflicted with the St. Vitus dance.

"THE MAN ON THE BOX."

"The Man on the Box," which is to be presented at the Opera House on Saturday, matinee and night, by John Meehan and supporting company, has been styled "America's best comedy." It has always been a prime favorite with theatregoers since first produced by Henry B. Dixey. It amuses by mirth of genial whimsicality and holds the interest upon the dis-entanglement of its situations as a well made piece should. The characters are drawn with the human touch of good comedy.

Seats go on sale Wednesday.

GERTRUDE ELLIOTT.

The date announced for the local engagement of the talented actress, Gertrude Elliott, in Mrs. Frances Burnett's play, "The Dawn of Tomorrow," is Friday, Nov. 11th, and already there is an unusual number of inquiries at the box office in regard to the engagement. Miss Elliott, who has made a pronounced success in this play, has just finished a successful engagement at the Shubert theatre, Boston, and will be seen here supported by the same exceptional cast and same complete production as during the Boston engagement.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

One of the greatest local favorites in Lowell's theatrical history is to be at the Hathaway theatre this week, and his presence is expected to pack the playhouse throughout the week. He is Wright Huntington, formerly a matinee idol in this city, who is now heading his own company in a jolly vaudeville playlet, entitled "A Vision of the Night." The Great Lutz & Co. present an act that is bristling with surprises. The Great Lutz plays the slide trombone, using his toes and legs in the place of fingers and arms. He plays the snare and bass drums in the same manner. With the stage in darkness, he takes a rifle and shoots a lighted candle out of his brother's mouth. He also executes many other difficult feats of sharpshooting, and as a finish, Mrs. Lutz, wife of his brother, stands on a swing and while it is in motion, she shoots a lighted candle at the things that bind her cloak about her, allowing it to drop at her feet. The brother also gives an exhibition of fancy shooting. From an artistic as well as applause standpoint, the slugging of Horace Wright and Rene Dietrich, "The Somewhat Different Show," is one of the high points of the program. Wright, who won laurels by his splendid vocal work in "The Wall Between," makes his entrance as an Italian and sings a native song. Miss Dietrich follows with a selection that shows her cultivated and melodious voice to admirable advantage. They close with "Moon" song. Wilbert Leland and European comedy acrobats, who appear in a unique and original exhibition. They are just over from England, and will make their first American appearance at Hathaway's. William J. Morrissey, a popular vaudevillian, will give pleasure with his merry and musical pianologue. Kessler and Leland, a well known pair of terpsichoreans, and their stepping in "Dances of All Nations" is worth going far to enjoy. Vittorio and Georgetti, "The Upside Down Boys," offer a distinct and remarkable novelty.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

It was a great bill which was presented at the first Sunday night concert of the season at the Merrimack Square theatre last night, and the audience which packed the house to the doors thoroughly enjoyed it, and made it plain that they did so.

For besides such acts as the Glen-dale quartet, out of the six vaudeville features on the program there were three which had not before been seen here: Ward & Raynor, Grace Lavelle and Eddie Poyer.

The bill for this week promises some delightful surprises also. There is for instance, Dr. McDonald, who is truly a musical wizard, and who is assisted in an unusual and elaborate act by a young woman who apparently deduces all the mystic powers of electricity.

Irene LaTour is besides being a wonderful contortionist, a very charming, winsome young woman. She has, to assist her in her act, her little pet dog "Zoe," who plays a far from unimportant part in the act.

Then there is Morgan & West, real comedians this time, in a screamingly funny sketch, and Miss Mae Monahan, the soloist who so delighted audiences last week that the management agreed to numerous requests and retained her at the local house of the theatre for another engagement.

The scenic stock Co. will present a dainty comedy called "The Thief and the Rose." The company will appear with an augmented cast, Miss Comford Marie, a dainty and charming little actress, having been engaged for a prominent role.

A fine musical performance will be presented every day from 1 until 10.30 p. m.

PUTNAM & SON CO.

166 CENTRAL STREET

Fancy OVERCOATS

Values up to $15, for

$8.50

Here are 17 patterns of fancy overcoats and but fifty-five coats in the lot—all marked to sell for this extremely low price.

These are from last season—but you'd never know it unless we told you—for they're smart cut and in good style today.

Every pattern is desirable—they're capably tailored and our only purpose in making this low price is to clear our stock of small quantities that have but two or three coats in a lot.

Young men's sizes, fitting boys from 17 years up to young men, 38 breast measure. Original prices were $10, $12, $13 and $15, all today $8.50

Our Complete Overcoat Stock Is Ready

A surprising variety of styles—covering every possible use—from the conservative dress overcoat to motor great coats.

DRESS OVERCOATS

Full box back, made by Rogers-Peet & Co., and other high class makers—kerseys, meltons, English coatings, in black, blue, oxford and Cambridge from... $10 to $35

FANCY OVERCOATS

50 inches long—full box back with very deep center vent—the swellest garments shown this season, all new coatings in browns, tans, grays, herringbone weave, overplaids and quiet stripes... $10 to $30

COMBINATION COLLAR OVERCOATS

Collars with the long roll lapel, or to button close in military style, Stan-lays and other models. These coats are 50 inches long, made with full box back, many of them cravat-collared, making them water-proof, mighty smart patterns in fancy coatings... $10 to $28

GREAT COATS

Full double breast with more "snap and go" than you've ever seen in ready for service garments. All made with full box back and a broad sweep to the skirt. Stunning fancy patterns and fine friezes with box cloth linings—great coats for motoring... $20 to $32

FUR LINED COATS

Fine kerseys, splendid fitting and perfectly tailored... $35 to $150

FUR COATS

Fur outside. Made on very full patterns, Chinese Dog, Siberian Buffalo Calf and Raccoon... $16.50 to $55.00

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

An entire new show at the Academy today, including Capt. Doin & Co., Rogers' heavy-weight balancing novelty, Walters, White & Walters, comedy singing and dancing trio, and Fredericks & Kirkwood in a western comedy playlet, "The Cowboy's Visit," also new and up-to-date moving pictures. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

These who have read the Soldiers Three stories in the Boston Sunday Post magazine will appreciate the feature dramatic subject in the Theatre Voyons playlet, "The Cowboy's Visit," also new and up-to-date moving pictures. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

EMPIRE THEATRE

The Moulin Rouge orchestra with Frederick Guillaume, may be classified in the line of the "its." Although only a very few weeks in this country, the Moulin Rouge orchestra with Frederick Guillaume has secured a head-line position wherever it has appeared. The more announcement of the act may indicate that it consists of the ordinary musical entertainment. To enlighten all, it will be of interest to learn that Frederick Guillaume is considered one of the best impersonators of famous composers of past and present. While the orchestra renders the overture to William Tell, Frederick Guillaume appears as Rossini, the composer of the overture and directs his musicians with the same skill and fervor, for which Rossini was noted. In lightning like rapidity the impersonator appears as Verdi, Liszt, Strauss, Gounod, Sotia, Mascagni, Suppe, and a number of others, all of which are from the Moulin Rouge orchestra in Paris, conducting the closing waltz at three o'clock in the morning.

DRACUT

The Florence club defeated the invaders in a good game of football Saturday afternoon on Skilling's field, the final score being 10 to 0. The game was one of the best that has been seen in the town this season and was well contested. Despite the fact that the invaders met defeat they put up a strong game.

DEMOCRATS CONFIDENT

That Foss Will Win a Great Victory Nov., 8

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Both the democratic and republican candidates for governor rested yesterday and got all the sleep they could, preparatory to resuming their stump speaking again this evening.

The democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, Thomas F. Cassidy of Adams, spent yesterday at a hotel in this city and Lieut. Gov. Frothingham rested at his home.

Cassidy has been recognized as one of the best speakers in the party and is in great demand all over the state for rallies. His friends predict a big vote for him in the western part of the state and wherever he has spoken in the eastern and central sections he has made many new friends and votes of the entire ticket. He is easily the best speaker on the democratic ticket this year.

Yesterday James H. Vahey spent most of the afternoon and evening with him. Mr. Vahey is deeply interested in the candidacy of his friend Cassidy and wants to see him elected.

The Boston democratic campaign opens tonight with rallies in wards 3, 18, 20 and 24.

Foss and Cassidy go to Springfield, Holyoke, Chicopee and Westfield for rallies.

Gov. Draper speaks in Brockton and Lieut. Gov. Frothingham goes to Melrose.

Democratic Reports Hopeful

It was announced at democratic state headquarters last evening that the committee is in receipt of hundreds of letters and telegrams from all sections of the state, reporting a condition of affairs which is extremely promising.

Christopher T. Callahan of Holyoke says, that after a trip through the Berkshires he is satisfied from personal observation that "conditions have improved wonderfully over a fortnight ago, particularly in Adams and North Adams."

From the 14th congressional district, the committee is assured that conditions were never more bright, more enthusiastic for Mr. Foss being shown than during the recent congressional fight, which sent the gubernatorial nominee to congress. Many republicans are openly asserting their intention to vote for Mr. Foss.

Edward Gilmore of Brockton writes as follows:

"It looks to me, after personal visitation of the towns in Plymouth and Barnstable counties, that you have Gov. Draper beaten to a frazzle in the 14th district. In all the towns where I have been I have found many anti-Lodge republicans—they are for Foss and anti-Lodge. I am told by many republicans that Judge Horn is now a Lodge man and with Draper, and no longer entertains 'insurgent' feelings, but he cannot drive away the republicans who are planning to vote for you, not even in his own Bridgevaters."

"The republicans are getting very anxious about Cape Cod," says State Committeeman George T. McLaughlin of Sandwich. "They are going to send Bates and a host of spellbinders down here, beginning Thursday. That is evidence enough for me. Mr. Thatcher starts a while and trip up from Provincetown, beginning on the 30th, before election and we will get in the last and conclusive arguments—not to speak of the votes."

LAKE COMMERCE

Shows a Decrease From Previous Years

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Domestic commerce on the Great Lakes during September, as measured by the volume of shipments from domestic lake ports, shows a smaller volume than for the preceding summer months. The bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor announces a monthly total of 11,822,012 short tons shipped, which is less than the corresponding total for September, 1909—12,527,885 short tons. As compared with the figures for September, 1908, the increase in volume was, however, not less than 25 per cent. Smaller shipments of iron ore and miscellaneous freight are mainly accountable for the decrease in the monthly total.

The iron-ore shipments for the month, 6,009,682 long tons, were 12 per cent. less than the total for the preceding month as well as the September figures of 1909, though the total for the year thus far is larger than that of the corresponding months of last year. The loss in shipments does not affect equally all the shipping ports. The Duluth-Superior figures for the month, 3,245,967 long tons, were slightly in excess of the corresponding 1909 total. Shipments from the other Lake Superior and Michigan ports, on the other hand, were decidedly lower than a year ago.

Escanaba reporting the largest decline from 1909, 1908 long tons in September, 1909, to 559,462 long tons for the month under consideration. Practically all the larger receiving ports show smaller receipts than a year ago. The monthly receipts at Lake Erie ports were 4,568,321 long tons, compared with 5,512,235 long tons in August and 5,771,846 long tons in September, 1909. Lake Michigan ports show receipts of 1,048,837 long tons compared with 1,141,220 long tons for the preceding month and 1,170,407 long tons for September, 1909. The season's shipments to the end of September, 34,276,840 long tons, owing to the heavy movement during the first part of the season, are still over 5 million tons larger than for the corresponding period in 1909 and about 4 tons larger than in 1907.

The shipments of coal during the month, while also lower than the month before, compare favorably with corresponding 1909 figures. Hard-coal shipments for the month, 375,391 short tons, destined mainly to Superior, Chicago, and Milwaukee docks, were, considerably in excess of the September, 1909 figures. The season's shipments to the end of September, 3,035,434 short tons, were about 22 per cent. larger than a year ago. The soft-coal shipments during the month, 2,457,721 short tons, of which over 60 per cent was destined to Duluth-Superior and Milwaukee docks, were also lower than the month before, although nearly 25 per cent larger than during September of the preceding year. The shipments for the 9 months of the season, 15,697,705 short tons, by far exceed corresponding totals for any of the preceding years.

The lumber shipments during the month, 161,501 M feet, continued fairly heavy and exceeded in volume the shipments during each of the summer months. The 9 months' record, 922,596 M feet, shows a 10 per cent increase over the 1909 total. Heavy season receipts at Lake Erie ports, 382,216 M feet, are mainly responsible for the larger total, the receipts at North Tonawanda for the present year being about 40 per cent larger than in 1909.

The grain shipments during the month, 21,026,472 bushels, compared favorably with the corresponding 1909 shipments of 20,874,749 bushels, corn and oats showing heavy gains, while the movements of wheat and barley were decidedly smaller than a year ago. Both the monthly and season movements of flaxseed, 245,056 and 856,555 bushels, respectively, were considerably lower than in former years. Beans, as compared with September, 1909, are also shown in the shipments of flour, salt, iron manufactures, and miscellaneous freight, while shipments of pig iron and copper show larger monthly totals than a year ago.

Merchandise traffic during the month through the Sault Ste. Marie canals aggregated 8,707,474 short tons compared with 8,227,192 and 6,452,358 short tons, reported for September, 1909 and 1908. The decrease, as compared with last year's figures, affects only eastbound shipments, chiefly those of iron ore, wheat, and other grains. The smaller grain traffic, as compared with September, 1909, is due primarily to the smaller shipments of Canadian wheat from Lake Superior ports. The monthly canal traffic through the canals, while heavier than for September, 1909, shows a decline when compared with the preceding month's record. The number of vessel passages for the month was 2,997, compared with a total of 7,033,571 net tons registered compared with 2,918 vessel passages and a tonnage of 7,435,769 net tons reported for September, 1909.

The total vessel movement on the Great Lakes during the month, as measured by the departure of vessels, included 8897 vessels of 15,745,011 net tons registered, compared with 10,001 vessels of 15,957,489 net tons reported for September of the preceding year.

The September freight traffic movement through the Detroit river, 9,316,524 short tons indicates a decrease of traffic similar to that stated above for all lake ports, though the loss affects only the southbound movement. The northbound freight movement for the month, 2,957,323 short tons, largely composed of coal, proved heavier than during the month before and about 25 per cent. in excess of the corresponding total in 1909.

The GILBRIDE CO.

WE ARE DETERMINED UPON INCREASING OUR BUSINESS IN

Rugs, Bedding and Draperies

This department is not satisfied with any past achievement. It is always endeavoring to better its own best. How such a policy affects your interests will be best demonstrated to you by a visit the coming week. We carry only the better grades, consequently this sale is of unusual importance to prospective purchasers of HOUSE FURNISHINGS. By making a small deposit, any of the goods advertised will be stored free of charge a reasonable length of time.

Hodge's Fibre Rugs

Every rug guaranteed perfect—None mismatched; all in perfect condition.

| | |
|--|--------|
| 7-6x10-6 Fiber Rugs, $7.50 value..... | $2.95 |
| 9x12 Fiber Rugs, value $10.00..... | $5.95 |

9x12 Axminster Rugs, value $25.....$18.50
(These rugs are all perfect and this season's patterns.)

30x60 Royal Axminster Rugs in reproduction of Orientals.....$1.98

9x12 Tapestry Rugs, value $20, for.....$10.95

30x60 Double-faced Reversible Smyrna Rugs, worth $1.50.....79c

65c Linoleums, two yards wide, in wide range of patterns.....49c Square Yard

50c Floor Oil Cloths, two yards wide, all perfect goods.....39c Square Yard

Attend this Rug Sale

Rugs from the Bigelow-Howell Carpet Co., S. Sanford & Sons, Firth Carpet Co., Schofield, Mason & Co., etc.

Our Line of Draperies

Is as complete as ever, and we are constantly adding the most up-to-date styles and patterns, so you are sure to get the latest goods at the lowest possible prices.

| | |
|--|--------|
| Muslin Curtains, good quality, worth 75c pair, for..... | 59c |
| Muslin Curtains with hemstitched edge and two-inch lace insertion, value $1.65, for..... | $1.25 |
| High Grade Nottingham Curtains, in all the newest effects, reduced for this special sale, 79c to $5.00 Pair | |

Irish Point Curtains—Our line at $5.00 has no equal in this city and includes curtains that were priced up to $7.00.

Couch Covers reduced for this sale. Priced from 79c to $4.98

Brass Beds and Iron Beds

Springs and Mattresses

The sale prices on these goods are the lowest we have ever quoted for the same quality of goods. Our Mattresses are all guaranteed perfectly sanitary, and every bed and spring carries our guarantee.

Beautiful Brass Beds, continuous post and large rod ends and hushes, worth $27.50, for.....$19.50

$16 Brass Bed for.....$9.95
2 inch posts with colonial naps.....$9.95

| | |
|--|---------|
| $20 Brass Bed, full two-inch posts with heavy fillers, English lacquered..... | $14.95 |
| $50 Brass Beds, two-inch posts, Napoleon design, regular $50 value..... | $35.00 |
| $7.50 White Iron Beds, guaranteed Bessemer steel tubing, best quality, hard-baked enamel..... | $5.98 |
| $7.50 Couch Beds..... | $4.98 |
| All Steel Frame Drop Side Couch, fitted with National spring, top and mattress, complete..... | $4.98 |
| $4.00 National Springs in all sizes, malleable corner castings, for..... | $2.48 |
| $3.00 Soft Top Mattresses in good quality ticking, for..... | $1.98 |
| $4.00 Soft Top and Bottom Combination Mattress for..... | $2.98 |
| Cotton Comfort Mattress, best ticking, $10.00 quality, for..... | $5.95 |

DPAPERY and UPHOLSTERY DEPT.

In our work-room we are prepared to furnish the highest grade of workmanship on all kinds of Drapery Work, from Shades to the finest class of Draperies and Festoon Work. Estimates given on Shades and Draperies by expert workmen, who will call at your residence, look over your house and advise you in the latest styles of work. Get the habit of coming here once and you will call again.

LEADER OF GANG

Shot and Killed by Police Officer

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Through quick work with his revolver and unerring aim, Robert Adler, the special policeman in a West 23rd street dancing academy, who late Saturday night shot and killed one man and probably fatally injured another while the fifty or more dancers were in the midst of the mazurka of the waltz, broke up for the time being the copper gang, a band of gunfighters.

Six of them, led by Charles Hunt, charged into Adler's academy and, according to the police, went to the dancing academy to "get" him. When Adler stopped them at the door six hands reached for as many pistol pockets. A shot was fired and the door near Adler's head was splintered. Then Adler's pistol flashed and Hunt crumpled up and fell, shot through the head.

Three other shots were fired at Adler, but all missed. William Morris, one of the band, then lunged forward with pistol raised but the special policeman was too quick and shot him through the head.

The remainder of the gang fled. Morris probably will die.

PLANS MADE FOR THE ANNUAL CHRISTMAS DAY SWIM

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 31.—Plans are being laid for the annual Christmas day swim in the Willamette river at Portland. It is expected the biggest list of entries yet made in the history of the event will be forthcoming.

A shorter course than was the case last year will be laid in order to encourage even the beginners in swimming to enter. A distance of 220 yards will be marked off on the waterfront and the swimmers will enter the water from a large moored at one end of the course and will swim to another boat at the proper distance.

Arthur Cavill, swimming instructor of the Multnomah Athletic Club, has incorporated the custom of holding a swimming race on Christmas day and he will be in the water this year as usual, to encourage the others in this aquatic novelty. F. E. Watkins, chairman of the swimming committee of the club, is also backing the event.

Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 31.—Yesterday's program of the 37th annual convention of the Y. M. C. A. consisted of devotional services, men's meetings and platform addresses. The church services were delegates spoke before well attended. At the men's meeting in Massey hall, Fred B. Smith, secretary, was the principal speaker. J. N. Spence of St. Louis, chaplain of the association for the United States and R. T. Towson of New York, also spoke.

The Satisfied Customers Who Return Season After Season Are the Best Evidence of the Merits of Our Plan of Selling

ON CREDIT

LADIES' SUITS THAT FIT WOMEN WHO USUALLY FIND DIFFICULTY IN BEING FITTED.

At $18.75. Silk Striped Cheviot Suits, satin lined, with full deep skirted skirts. $25.00 Garments in all but price. Black and navy only. Sizes 37 to 51.

At $20.00 Smooth Worsteeds with a slight pattern that tends to give a slender appearance. New model flare skirt. Coat trimmed with button ornaments.

Coats, too, for women of difficult figures, fit so well that seldom an alteration is necessary. Black, navy and mixtures. Price $15.00.

TRIMMED HATS

The equal of any millinery store—with style and smartness apparent to the most indifferent. Genuine compliments and eager buying prove their good style.

| | |
|------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Black Silk Waists.....$3.95 | Silk Petticoats.....$3.95 |
|------------------------------|----------------------------|

TAFETTA WAISTS different models; tuckings, insertion trimmed and plain.

will compare with any $5 garment. Rustling heavy silk, full width, deep sectional flounce.

Caesar Misch Store

ALEXANDER STRAUSS, PROP.

220 CENTRAL STREET

WHEN IN WANT OF COAL or MASON Supplies

Don't Forget We Sell

| | |
|---|---|
| Fire Brick, for Bakers' Ovens. | Agricultural Lime, for land. |
| Drain Pipe, for Sewers. | Lime for Maine, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and Vermont. |
| Drain Pipe, for Wells. Sizes run from 3 to 24 inches. | Portland Cement. |
| Blacksmith Coal. | Rosendale Cement. |
| Admiralty New River Steam Coal, for Boilers. | Fire Clay. |
| Jeddo Lehigh, Stove or Egg Size. | Hard Wall Plaster. |
| Reading Hard White Ash, Stove or Egg Size. | Wire Lath. |
| Wilkesbarre Free Burning, Stove, Egg or Nut. | Mortar Color. |
| Lockawana White Ash, all sizes. | Hard Brick, for nice work. |
| Franklin Red Ash, Stove Size. | Pressed Brick, for Fire Places. |
| Cannel Coal, for Open Grates. | Soft Brick, for Chimneys. |
| Briquettes, no clinkers or cinders. | Fire Brick, for Boilers. |

At our Broadway yard we carry in stock the largest variety of Coal of any dealer in the city. If you want good clean Coal send us your order or call and we will be pleased to show you our Coal and also prove that we are still doing business at our own yard.

F. A. WILSON & CO.

4 Merrimack Sq., 700 Broadway, 15 Tanner St.

Telephones 68-135-352.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Gerald J. Griffin and Miss Josephine M. Aubert were married yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Louis church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Jacques. The witnesses were William M. Landon and Alex. J. Cote. A family dinner was served at the bride's home, 212 Ludlum street, followed by a reception in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin left later by the 9:25 train for a brief bridal trip.

TROTTER-CHATEAUNEUF

Mr. Victor Trotter and Miss Marie Chateaneuf were married yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory, Rev. Fr. Brullard, O. M. I., being the officiating clergyman. Messrs. Charles Duprat and Arthur Chateaneuf were the witnesses.

DUBE-BURNS

Mr. Alfred Dube and Miss Rose Burns were married yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory, by Rev. Fr. Brullard, O. M. I. Messrs. James Burns and Amedee Dube were the witnesses.

DOLE-SMITH

Mr. Ralph M. Dole, who for a number of years was connected with the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co., but who is now residing in Johnstown, N. Y., was united in marriage to Miss Edna C. Smith, of Gloversville, N. Y., on October 26, the marriage taking place at the parsonage of the prominent street Methodist church, Gloversville. Rev. George C. Douglass performing the ceremony.

The full ring service was used. The bride carried white roses, and was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Maie Lawrence of Middletown. While the bridegroom was attended by Mr. Clarence S. Putnam of Johnstown. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was given at the home of Mr. Dole's sister, 22 North Hudson street. There was later a reception. Mr. and Mrs. Dole received many beautiful gifts. Following a wedding tour they will live at 108 Byard street, Johnstown, N. Y.

THE FINANCES

STATEMENT OF THE LOWELL HOSIERY CO.

The following is from Fibre and Fabric of even date:

The financial statement of the Lowell Hosiery Co. as of September 30, reads as follows:

| | |
|---|--------------|
| Yarns payable..... | $66,000.00 |
| Taxes for the current year due the 20th inst..... | 2,451.94 |
| Total..... | $68,451.94 |
| Bills receivable..... | 20,351.93 |
| Billing price of goods at mill and in New York..... | 15,448.55 |
| Total..... | $104,252.42 |
| Commission 3 per cent..... | 1,464.76 |
| Balance..... | $105,717.18 |
| Cash in bank..... | 4,160.51 |
| Cash and local bills receivable..... | 636.70 |
| Total..... | $110,514.39 |

Against plant and machinery and supply account of $7,135.94.

Treasurer Thissell has been remarkably successful in the building up of the plant and business of the company, as in the last half of 1909 when he assumed the trusteeship there was a loss from operations which he has changed into a good profit and during his management, $9000 has been spent on extraordinary repairs, drives, etc., $35,000 for new machinery and $41,000 for dividends. Competition now demands more modern machinery and a loan of $100,000 is being considered, to be used for new equipment, provided a shareholders' committee, consisting of H. G. Duckworth, Alonzo G. Walsh, George Bowers, J. H. Sparks and F. A. Pladner find the new equipment is needed. The plant now operates about 382 spindles, 16 ribbers, 57 looms and 83 sewing machines on seamless cotton hosiery. The business was established in 1893 and the company is capitalized at $200,000, while the insurance appraisal is $227,156 and assessed value of the land $19,250.

Wonderful Case of Deafness Cured

Chester, N. H., May 19, 1910.

Keron's Institute, Manchester, N. H.

This is to certify that I have been deaf for two years, and doctors pronounced my case incurable, on account of my old age, 54 years; I was cured after taking three treatments from Prof. G. V. Keron, and now hear the tick of a clock at quite a distance. I cheerfully recommend Prof. G. V. Keron to all deaf people, as I believe he can help them.

Signed, S. A. BLACKSTONE, Chester, N. H.

If you are alive and can breathe yet, there is still a chance for you, even without medicine, surgery, pain or absence from business, at Keron's Institute, 393 Elm street, Manchester, or 257 Broadway, Lawrence, Mass. Much easier open every Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. Office hours, 8 to 11 a.m., 1 to 3, and 7 to 8:30 p.m. Sundays, 1 to 5 p.m. Late evening office open every Monday. Tel. 1198-2.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ROWING

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 31.—The athletic governing board of Syracuse university has voted to eliminate intercollegiate rowing from the list of sports for the present college year. The services of Coach James A. Ten Eyck will be retained.

As rowing necessitates the heaviest expense and brings no financial returns, it was deemed best to drop that sport for the present to effect economy.

The governing board expects that rowing will again be taken up in 1912.

NEW CABINET ELECTED

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 31.—President-elect Maschito de Figueiredo has selected his new cabinet as follows:

Minister of foreign affairs, Baron de Albuquerque.

Minister of the interior, Senhor Correa.

Minister of public works, Dr. J. J. Seabra.

Minister of agriculture, Pedro Toledo.

Minister of finance, Senhor Salles.

Minister of war, General Barretto.

Minister of marine, Admiral Leao.

THESE MEN WILL BE AMONG THE VICTORS AND THE VANQUISHED OF ELECTION DAY

HIRAM W. JOHNSON

THEODORE A. BELL

WOODROW WILSON

VIVIAN M. LEWIS

SENATOR BEVERIDGE

JOHN W. KERN

WILLIAM L. CUNDIFF

SPEAKER CANNON

SYDNEY ANDERSON

JAMES A. TAWNEY

HOKE SMITH

FREDERICK W. PLAISTED

SIMEONE BALDWIN

CHARLES A. GOODWIN

By CHARLES N. LURIE.

WITH the fall of the leaves comes the fall of the ballots. Then comes another fall, harder than either of the two just named—the fall of the hopes of the candidates. And that is the kind of fall that hurts most if the facial expressions of the disappointed nominees, not their words, are to be believed.

It is to be feared that a greater proportion than usual of political hopes are doomed to go "the way to dusty death" this year, for possibly never before in the history of the United States have there been so many cases of doubt. For instance, after a recent canvass of the campaign for election to the national house of representatives it was asserted that no fewer than 133 districts were to be classed as "doubtful." Think what that means—no fewer than 266 aspiring and perspiring men, outwardly confident of election to the house and inwardly confessing to themselves individually that "it looks bad!"

Interesting Political Battle.

The political battle being waged this year is one of peculiar intensity and interest. The insurgent storm, long brewing over the Republican party, found open demonstration in congress during the early part of the year and has broken fully now. Its rumblings and crashes are heard throughout the land. To it are attributed in large part the Democratic successes in Maine, Massachusetts and New York that have heartened up the opposition, nearly starved by long exile in the land of defect. The injection of Colonel Roosevelt into the campaign gave his party a new rallying point and the campaign a new issue. Taking the country by and large, insurgency is the leading topic in the present campaign. It is complicated with other issues, such as the tariff, the high cost of living and control of the corporations, and in some of the states it is overshadowed in local interest by the gubernatorial campaigns. In New York state and in some others the personality of ex-President Roosevelt looms large enough to make an issue of him and the men and measures which he approves or condemns. In some parts of the country Republicans have failed of renomination because they supported Speaker Cannon and the house machine, and in Georgia two Democrats have failed to "come back" because they did the same thing. In New Jersey a leader of the insurgents,

Charles N. Fowler, has been compelled to turn his attention from the house to the senate because he "bucked" Uncle Joe. It's an interesting scrap no matter how you look at it. Many Governors to Be Elected.

Most of the states will elect governors this year. Four of them—Arkansas, Georgia, Maine and Vermont—already have done so. Arkansas went Democratic "by the usual majority," and the initiative and referendum, made an issue in the campaign, was approved. The interest in Georgia's campaign lay in the election of Hoke Smith, who had defeated for nomination the incumbent of the governor's chair, Joseph M. Brown. Vermont went Republican as usual, and Maine did not go Republican as usual. To the old time Republican this action of the Pine Tree State seemed almost like treason to the republic, but it is a fact nevertheless that from Jan. 1 the Democrats will be in control of the rock ribbed state. Two of her four representatives in the sixty-second congress will be Democrats, and the senatorial robe of Eugene Hale, one of the high priests of the standpatters, will be cut down or padded out, as the case may be, to fit a Democratic wearer. F. W. Plaisted was elected governor.

Every state is a center of interest to its loyal citizens. Space will not permit, however, the detailing of the names, professions and platforms of the gubernatorial candidates in all the states which will elect governors this year. Among the candidates are men of the most interesting and striking personalities, like James C. Dahlgren, erstwhile cowboy and present Democratic candidate for governor of Nebraska, whose candidacy has not met with the approval of William Jennings

Bryan; Woodrow Wilson, Democratic nominee in New Jersey, probably the leading exemplar of "the scholar in politics," who is opposed by Vivian M. Lewis; Hiram W. Johnson of California, Republican candidate, an insurgent who has had to fight for nomination against the opposition of his own father, a standpatter, and for election against Theodore A. Bell, Democrat; Simeone E. Baldwin, a seafaring man and a distinguished jurist and sociologist, who is making a fight for election as governor of Connecticut on the Democratic ticket against Charles A. Goodwin. Of every one of the gubernatorial candidates something equally interesting might be written. Ohio Democrats have renominated Governor Judson Harmon against Warren G. Harding, and in New York Henry L. Stimson, a "Roosevelt man," and John A. Dix are the Republican and Democratic candidates respectively.

"Turned Down" Tawney.

Note in the illustration the picture of James A. Tawney. He is the only man in the whole "layout" who is not running or has not run for an office. He is placed there because, as one of the country's best known standpatters, he went down to defeat in the primaries for supporting Speaker Cannon and the speaker's policies. The Republicans of Tawney's district would have no more of him, despite the fact that he is an able man and an experienced legislator, and they named as their candidate Sydney Anderson, a young lawyer of thirty heretofore unknown to fame.

When the result of the coming election is known several members of that high and mighty body known as the United States senate will climb down from the anxious seat with deep breathes of relief or they will set about arranging their affairs for at least six years' enforced absence from Washington official life; also some men will be hiking to their tailors with orders for togas of the latest cut. The terms of thirty-one senators are almost completed. Twenty-four of them are Republicans. A Democrat will take the place of Hale of Maine, as already stated, and there will be in all likelihood "insurgents" to succeed Flint of California, Burrows of Michigan and Piles of Washington. One of the most interesting of the senatorial contests is that being waged in Indiana, where Senator Beveridge is fighting for indorsement of his "insurgent ideas." John W. Kern, Mr. Bryan's running mate in the late presidential election, is after Beveridge's seat.

He's After Uncle Joe's Seat. Uncle Joe Cannon has had a vigorous campaign on his trail this fall. The man who wants the seat which serves Mr. Cannon as a stepping stone to the speaker's rostrum is William L. Cundiff, a lawyer of Danville, Ill., the speaker's home city. Mr. Cundiff is not old in years, being only forty-six, but he has had political experience enough for a man of greater years. He has been active in politics in Nebraska, Oklahoma and Illinois for twenty years and more, and to him belongs the distinction of having nominated William Jennings Bryan when the latter ran for congress the first time.

Man With Record For "Doing Things" Now Busy Trying to Raise the Maine

FIRST we had to come to the decision to raise the wreck of the Maine after twelve years of wavering. Then congress had to be induced to furnish the money for so big an undertaking. Then arose the question of the adequacy of the sum appropriated—this question is not yet settled, by the way, and last remained the problem of devising a feasible method of lifting the hulk of the famous battleship from the slime and mud of Havana harbor.

While the expert operators in marine surgery began holding consultations and advancing their individual views on the proper manner of operating on the wreck, the army engineers, charged by the government with the task of lifting the Maine, went ahead with their work. A recent report of progress stated that they had lifted the progress of the Maine to its original position. Of course that is something gained, but only a very small percentage of what is to be accomplished before the Maine is afloat again and on its way north. While the army engineers retain their century old record for efficiency, it may be assumed safely that everything possible will be done to raise the wreck. At their head is General William H. Bixby, who became chief of engineers of the army engineering corps when General Marshall retired in June. Doing things is General Bixby's strong point, and if he reports to the government that the wreck of the Maine cannot be lifted we may conclude that it will remain in Havana harbor for all time. In the meantime General Bixby and his men have $300,000 of the government's money with which to prosecute the work. Congress "loosened up" to that extent in its latest session. The estimates of the cost of raising the Maine have varied between $100,000 and $500,000. If Bixby finds the $300,000 inadequate and can show results for the money expended it is likely that congress will advance more money when asked to do so.

The plan of raising the Maine which the special board has recommended and the president has approved provides for the construction of a cofferdam of interlocking steel piling, within which the wreck is "to be first exposed for unwatering," as General Bixby describes it. By bulkheading and flooding the undamaged portions will be removed, and then the damaged portions will be hoisted. The army engineers believe this will be the safest and fastest process for getting the wreck out of the harbor and also for determining the cause of the explosion.

Even before the echoes of the Maine explosion that "was heard around the world" in 1898 had ceased its reverberations plans for raising the wreck were discussed. Lay theorists as well as practical engineers have advanced many plans for moving the wreck. Each plan made its stir, little or big, and then was permitted to die through seeming want of government interest in the matter. It was asserted on the floor of congress and elsewhere that the government did not want the Maine raised; that it feared bringing of the hull to view would fall to sustain the navy men's findings that an exterior explosion had destroyed the vessel. These views met with vehement refutation, and at last the lawmakers were stung into action by the open assertion that further delay was perfect evidence of want of patriotism.

In the meantime, however, the Maine sank deeper and deeper into the mud. It is asserted on good authority that it now lies beneath twenty-five feet of water and mud. How to get it out of the mud and afloat is the problem that must be solved.

When congress actually gave the money for the gigantic task various men of experience and repute came forward with plans for raising the wreck. Chief among them were John Arbuckle, the New York merchant and philanthropist, who has made a successful study of the raising of sunken ships, and John F. O'Rourke, one of New York's best known engineers, with a fine record of achievement. The Arbuckle plan of salvaging ships may be described briefly as making the hull of the sunken ship water tight by divers and then forcing air into the holds, thus floating the hull. So confident was Mr. Arbuckle that he could raise the hulk of the Maine in this way that he purchased the Roosevelt, Peary's famous arctic vessel, for use as a wrecking ship. The O'Rourke plan of raising the Maine contemplated the employment of practical tunnel building operations, but it has been rejected by the government experts.

Woman Champion Star Discoverer. Other Women Famous In Astronomy

I regard the discovery of a dish a far more interesting event than the discovery of a star, for we have already starved enough, but we can never have too many dishes.—Houston of Penesey.

TO the lay reader the report of the finding of a new star may mean much or little, according to the depth or shallowness of his poetic sentiments. But to the astronomer the charting of a new point of light in the firmament is an achievement to be inscribed on the list of the year's events.

During the past twenty-five years only sixteen new stars have been found. Thirteen of them have been discovered by women astronomers of Harvard university and ten of the thirteen by Mrs.

Flaming. Mrs. Flaming is now in charge of the astrophotographic building of the observatory and has for assistants more than a dozen women computers. She discovered her first star in 1887. In some respects she is the world's leading woman astronomer. Mrs. Flaming gives much credit to the work of her women assistants in the university. Like most persons of great probably since the time when folks first began to study the heavens. The famous woman philosopher Hypatia, who flourished in Alexandria in the fourth and fifth centuries, was the daughter of Theon, a celebrated astronomer, and she herself gained some of her great learning from the stars.

It is recorded that a number of women added to the world's store of astronomical knowledge in the middle ages. One of them, an abbess of a German convent, is said to have anticipated some of the discoveries of Copernicus and Galileo. The translation of Newton's "Philosophiæ" into French was made by a woman.

The second half of the eighteenth century and the first half of the nineteenth is an era in astronomical history, owing to the researches of the three Herschels—Sir William, his son, Sir John Frederick, and Caroline Lucretia, sister of Sir William. "As an explorer of the heavens Sir William Herschel had but one rival—his son," according to one authority, but it is also asserted that much of Sir William Herschel's renown is due to the assistance of his sister, who subordinated her own fame to that of her brother without affecting her standing as one of the very greatest of woman astronomers of all time. Caroline Herschel reached the extraordinary age of ninety-eight, dying in 1848.

Contemporary with Miss Herschel was Mrs. Mary Somerville, another British woman, who lived from 1780 to 1872, a term of ninety-two years. She published a translation of the "Mécanique Céleste" of Laplace, as well as other works. An American name which stands with Herschel and Somerville is that of Maria Mitchell (1818-89), professor of astronomy in Vassar college, the first woman member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the recipient of many honors from the hands of scientific men. Miss Mitchell's assistant at Vassar, Miss Mary Watson Whitney, succeeded to her chair and is the present professor of astronomy at the famous women's college.

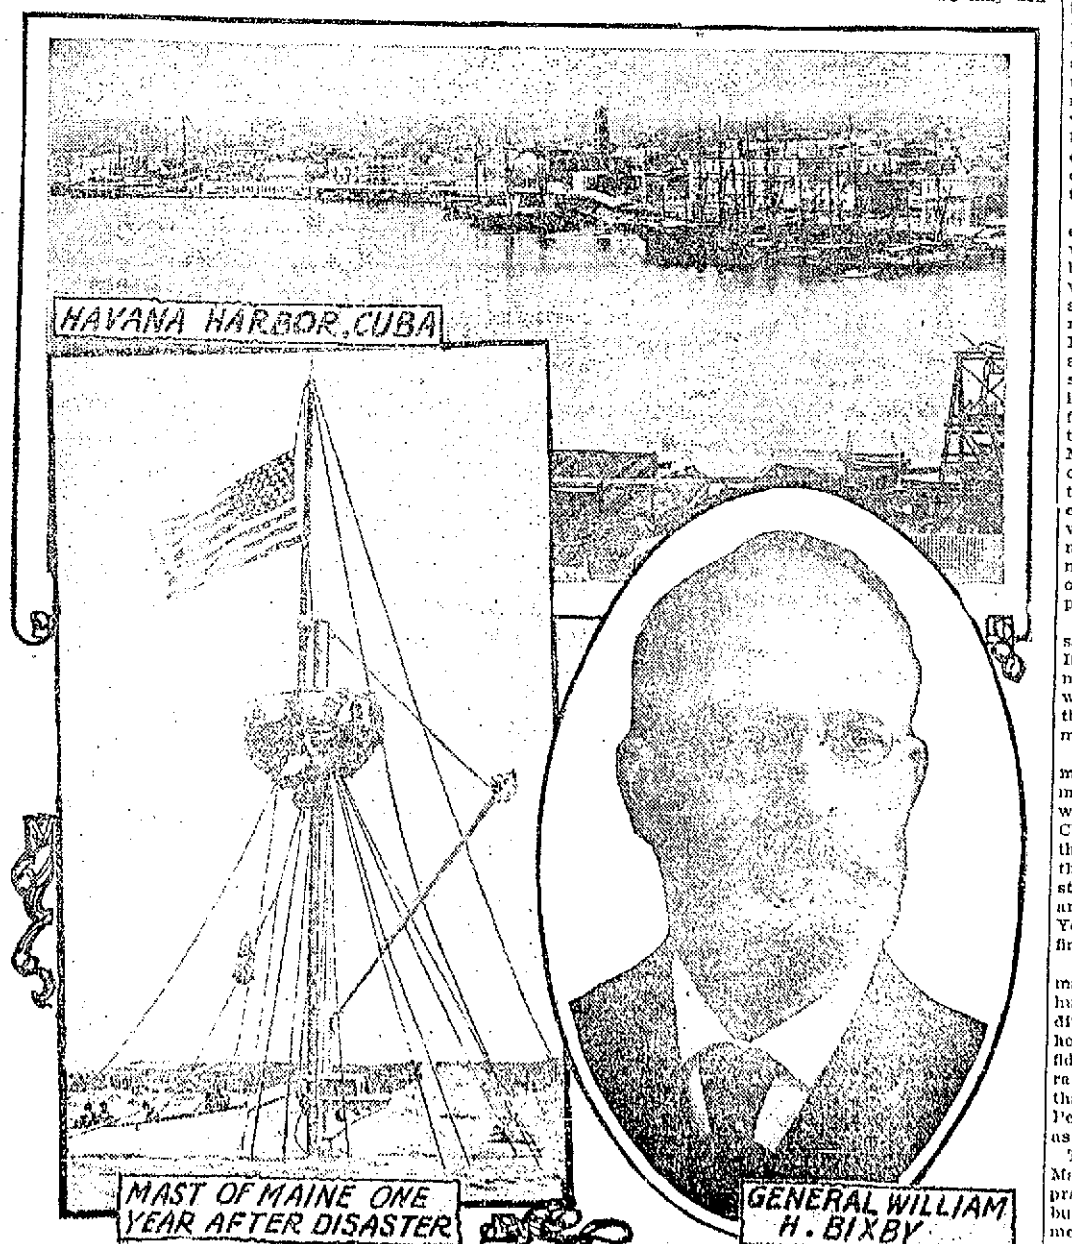

England has had several women astronomers of note since the time of Miss Herschel and Mrs. Somerville. Among them should be mentioned Mary Agnes Clarke, Eliza Brown, Mrs. E. W. Maunder and Lady Huggins, wife of Sir William Huggins, the famous scientist. Prominent among women astronomers of today is Miss Dorothea Klumpke of San Francisco, who, like Mrs. Flaming, devotes the major part of her time to astrophotography. In America we have Mrs. Anita Newcomb McGee, who was assistant and secretary to her father, the late Professor Simon Newcomb; Miss Mary Proctor, who combines scientific attainments with the power to impart information interestingly in lectures and writings; Mrs. Mabel Lewis Todd, wife of Professor David Todd, who stands on a par with her husband in the estimation of other astronomers, and several others.

MRS. WILLIAMINA P. FLEMING.

Williamina Paton Fleming, whose likeness illustrates this article, Mrs. Fleming is the world's champion star discoverer. A biographical authority says of her that she is "known to astronomers as a discoverer of new stars, variables," etc. Mrs. Fleming's latest find is a new star in the constellation Ara. A few days before the discovery of this star Mrs. Fleming found one in the constellation Sagittarius. The observation of the heavens has been the life work of Mrs. Fleming. She scientific attainments, she is very modest about her achievements and prefers to suppress details about her personality, declaring that only her work can be interesting to the public. She is a quiet, soft spoken woman, and her manner suggests something of the schoolteaching which was formerly her vocation. By no means is Mrs. Fleming the first woman to win distinction in the field of astronomy. There have been women of note among the star gazers

HAVANA HARBOR, CUBA

MAST OF MAINE ONE YEAR AFTER DISASTER

GENERAL WILLIAM H. BIXBY

WALTER P. HUDSON.

TRAINS TO AND FROM BOSTON

| SOUTHERN DIV. | | | | WESTERN DIV. | | | |
|---------------|--------|--------|--------|--------------|--------|--------|--------|
| To | From | To | From | To | From | To | From |
| Boston | Boston | Boston | Boston | Boston | Boston | Boston | Boston |
| Live | Arr. | Live | Arr. | Live | Arr. | Live | Arr. |
| 8:45 | 8:50 | 8:45 | 8:50 | 8:45 | 8:50 | 8:45 | 8:50 |
| 8:55 | 9:00 | 8:55 | 9:00 | 8:55 | 9:00 | 8:55 | 9:00 |
| 9:05 | 9:10 | 9:05 | 9:10 | 9:05 | 9:10 | 9:05 | 9:10 |
| 9:15 | 9:20 | 9:15 | 9:20 | 9:15 | 9:20 | 9:15 | 9:20 |
| 9:25 | 9:30 | 9:25 | 9:30 | 9:25 | 9:30 | 9:25 | 9:30 |
| 9:35 | 9:40 | 9:35 | 9:40 | 9:35 | 9:40 | 9:35 | 9:40 |
| 9:45 | 9:50 | 9:45 | 9:50 | 9:45 | 9:50 | 9:45 | 9:50 |
| 9:55 | 10:00 | 9:55 | 10:00 | 9:55 | 10:00 | 9:55 | 10:00 |
| 10:05 | 10:10 | 10:05 | 10:10 | 10:05 | 10:10 | 10:05 | 10:10 |
| 10:15 | 10:20 | 10:15 | 10:20 | 10:15 | 10:20 | 10:15 | 10:20 |
| 10:25 | 10:30 | 10:25 | 10:30 | 10:25 | 10:30 | 10:25 | 10:30 |
| 10:35 | 10:40 | 10:35 | 10:40 | 10:35 | 10:40 | 10:35 | 10:40 |
| 10:45 | 10:50 | 10:45 | 10:50 | 10:45 | 10:50 | 10:45 | 10:50 |
| 10:55 | 11:00 | 10:55 | 11:00 | 10:55 | 11:00 | 10:55 | 11:00 |
| 11:05 | 11:10 | 11:05 | 11:10 | 11:05 | 11:10 | 11:05 | 11:10 |
| 11:15 | 11:20 | 11:15 | 11:20 | 11:15 | 11:20 | 11:15 | 11:20 |
| 11:25 | 11:30 | 11:25 | 11:30 | 11:25 | 11:30 | 11:25 | 11:30 |
| 11:35 | 11:40 | 11:35 | 11:40 | 11:35 | 11:40 | 11:35 | 11:40 |
| 11:45 | 11:50 | 11:45 | 11:50 | 11:45 | 11:50 | 11:45 | 11:50 |
| 11:55 | 12:00 | 11:55 | 12:00 | 11:55 | 12:00 | 11:55 | 12:00 |

SUNDAY TRAINS

| SOUTHERN DIVISION | | | | WESTERN DIVISION | | | |
|-------------------|--------|--------|--------|------------------|--------|--------|--------|
| To | From | To | From | To | From | To | From |
| Boston | Boston | Boston | Boston | Boston | Boston | Boston | Boston |
| Live | Arr. | Live | Arr. | Live | Arr. | Live | Arr. |
| 8:45 | 8:50 | 8:45 | 8:50 | 8:45 | 8:50 | 8:45 | 8:50 |
| 8:55 | 9:00 | 8:55 | 9:00 | 8:55 | 9:00 | 8:55 | 9:00 |
| 9:05 | 9:10 | 9:05 | 9:10 | 9:05 | 9:10 | 9:05 | 9:10 |
| 9:15 | 9:20 | 9:15 | 9:20 | 9:15 | 9:20 | 9:15 | 9:20 |
| 9:25 | 9:30 | 9:25 | 9:30 | 9:25 | 9:30 | 9:25 | 9:30 |
| 9:35 | 9:40 | 9:35 | 9:40 | 9:35 | 9:40 | 9:35 | 9:40 |
| 9:45 | 9:50 | 9:45 | 9:50 | 9:45 | 9:50 | 9:45 | 9:50 |
| 9:55 | 10:00 | 9:55 | 10:00 | 9:55 | 10:00 | 9:55 | 10:00 |
| 10:05 | 10:10 | 10:05 | 10:10 | 10:05 | 10:10 | 10:05 | 10:10 |
| 10:15 | 10:20 | 10:15 | 10:20 | 10:15 | 10:20 | 10:15 | 10:20 |
| 10:25 | 10:30 | 10:25 | 10:30 | 10:25 | 10:30 | 10:25 | 10:30 |
| 10:35 | 10:40 | 10:35 | 10:40 | 10:35 | 10:40 | 10:35 | 10:40 |
| 10:45 | 10:50 | 10:45 | 10:50 | 10:45 | 10:50 | 10:45 | 10:50 |
| 10:55 | 11:00 | 10:55 | 11:00 | 10:55 | 11:00 | 10:55 | 11:00 |
| 11:05 | 11:10 | 11:05 | 11:10 | 11:05 | 11:10 | 11:05 | 11:10 |
| 11:15 | 11:20 | 11:15 | 11:20 | 11:15 | 11:20 | 11:15 | 11:20 |
| 11:25 | 11:30 | 11:25 | 11:30 | 11:25 | 11:30 | 11:25 | 11:30 |
| 11:35 | 11:40 | 11:35 | 11:40 | 11:35 | 11:40 | 11:35 | 11:40 |
| 11:45 | 11:50 | 11:45 | 11:50 | 11:45 | 11:50 | 11:45 | 11:50 |
| 11:55 | 12:00 | 11:55 | 12:00 | 11:55 | 12:00 | 11:55 | 12:00 |

SUNDAY TRAINS

| SOUTHERN DIVISION | | | | WESTERN DIVISION | | | |
|-------------------|--------|--------|--------|------------------|--------|--------|--------|
| To | From | To | From | To | From | To | From |
| Boston | Boston | Boston | Boston | Boston | Boston | Boston | Boston |
| Live | Arr. | Live | Arr. | Live | Arr. | Live | Arr. |
| 8:45 | 8:50 | 8:45 | 8:50 | 8:45 | 8:50 | 8:45 | 8:50 |
| 8:55 | 9:00 | 8:55 | 9:00 | 8:55 | 9:00 | 8:55 | 9:00 |
| 9:05 | 9:10 | 9:05 | 9:10 | 9:05 | 9:10 | 9:05 | 9:10 |
| 9:15 | 9:20 | 9:15 | 9:20 | 9:15 | 9:20 | 9:15 | 9:20 |
| 9:25 | 9:30 | 9:25 | 9:30 | 9:25 | 9:30 | 9:25 | 9:30 |
| 9:35 | 9:40 | 9:35 | 9:40 | 9:35 | 9:40 | 9:35 | 9:40 |
| 9:45 | 9:50 | 9:45 | 9:50 | 9:45 | 9:50 | 9:45 | 9:50 |
| 9:55 | 10:00 | 9:55 | 10:00 | 9:55 | 10:00 | 9:55 | 10:00 |
| 10:05 | 10:10 | 10:05 | 10:10 | 10:05 | 10:10 | 10:05 | 10:10 |
| 10:15 | 10:20 | 10:15 | 10:20 | 10:15 | 10:20 | 10:15 | 10:20 |
| 10:25 | 10:30 | 10:25 | 10:30 | 10:25 | 10:30 | 10:25 | 10:30 |
| 10:35 | 10:40 | 10:35 | 10:40 | 10:35 | 10:40 | 10:35 | 10:40 |
| 10:45 | 10:50 | 10:45 | 10:50 | 10:45 | 10:50 | 10:45 | 10:50 |
| 10:55 | 11:00 | 10:55 | 11:00 | 10:55 | 11:00 | 10:55 | 11:00 |
| 11:05 | 11:10 | 11:05 | 11:10 | 11:05 | 11:10 | 11:05 | 11:10 |
| 11:15 | 11:20 | 11:15 | 11:20 | 11:15 | 11:20 | 11:15 | 11:20 |
| 11:25 | 11:30 | 11:25 | 11:30 | 11:25 | 11:30 | 11:25 | 11:30 |
| 11:35 | 11:40 | 11:35 | 11:40 | 11:35 | 11:40 | 11:35 | 11:40 |
| 11:45 | 11:50 | 11:45 | 11:50 | 11:45 | 11:50 | 11:45 | 11:50 |
| 11:55 | 12:00 | 11:55 | 12:00 | 11:55 | 12:00 | 11:55 | 12:00 |

LOCAL NEWS

Political printing at Tobin's Printery. Interest begins Saturday, Nov. 5, at the Central Savings Bank.

"SEND WORD—DON'T WRITE."

If one wants a nice clean load of Coke delivered at the door, telephone any of the Lowell Gas Light company's numbers or make personal call at the offices. People are urged to house their supply now during the moderate weather. When the real cold weather comes, with all the many teams of the Lowell Gas Light people they cannot possibly keep up with orders. People who buy by the bag will find the regulation packages for sale at stores throughout the city. The Lowell Gas Light Coke is always plainly marked upon the bag.

A NEW MILL

TO BE ERRECTED AT BRATTLEBORO, VT.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Oct. 31.—A $500,000 textile mill is to be added to the industries of this city in the near future.

Of the half million dollars necessary for the establishment of the enterprise $250,000 has been subscribed locally, the remainder being furnished by Massachusetts and Rhode Island capitalists. The new concern will be styled the Port Dummer mill, and Malcolm C. Chase of Providence, R. I., will be president and manager. H. I. Harriman of Hyde Park, Mass., is also interested in the project. The capitalization, it is said, will be lowest per spindle of any mill in New England.

REV. SISTER MARIE
FORMER LOWELL LADY DIED AT OTTAWA

Rev. Sister Marie of the Gray Nuns of Ottawa, formerly Miss Clara Dubois of this city, died last week at Ottawa, of the mother-house of the order. She was 77 years of age. Since her entering the order she had devoted her life in the care of orphans, being one of the directors of the Bethlehem asylum, one of the orphanages of the Gray Nuns devoted to the care of small babies from birth to three years of age.

Rev. Sister Marie was one of four nuns, all daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Dubois of 449 Moody street, and all members of the Gray Nuns of the Cross. The others are Rev. Sister Marie of Sudbury, Ont., formerly Miss Eveline Dubois; Rev. Sister Marie Claire, of Ottawa, formerly Miss Annie Dubois; and Rev. Sister St. Hilarius of Plattsburg, N. Y., formerly Miss Louise Bugeon Dubois. Besides her parents and these three sisters who were nuns with her, Rev. Sister Marie left four other sisters, Mrs. Pierre Ducharme, Mrs. Maurice H. Novel and Mrs. Lucien Ducharme of Lowell; and Mrs. Adrien Desautelle of Biddeford, Me.; and three brothers, Irene, Albert and Joseph Dubois, all of Lowell.

WOMEN'S BRANCH OF PEOPLE'S CLUB, Ruess's Block

Opened Oct. 1. Classes Begin Nov. 1. Hours from 7 to 9.

The classes are as follows: Dress-making, Monday and Thursday. Includes cutting, fitting and making. Price $2.00 for 12 lessons. Plain sewing, Tuesday. Includes making of underwear and plain shirtwaists. Price $1.00 for 20 lessons. Millinery, Thursday. Includes making and trimming of hats. Price $2.00 for 15 lessons. Embroidery, Monday and Friday. Includes all forms of embroidery and lace making. Price $1.00 for 20 lessons. Cooking, Thursday. Includes all branches of cooking. Price $1.50 for 15 lessons. Christmas Gift Class, Thursdays. Price $1.00 for 10 lessons. A pleasant recreation room with current magazines and daily papers on the table is also connected with the club. All women and girls are cordially invited to make use of these rooms for reading or recreation. Take the elevator.

NOTICE

C. M. SAUNDERS, CHIROPODIST
Has reopened her office at 30 Prescott st. and will be pleased to meet her former patrons and friends. Office hours—9 a. m. to 12 m.; 1:15 p. m. to 6 p. m. No evening work for the present.
Closed Wednesday Afternoons

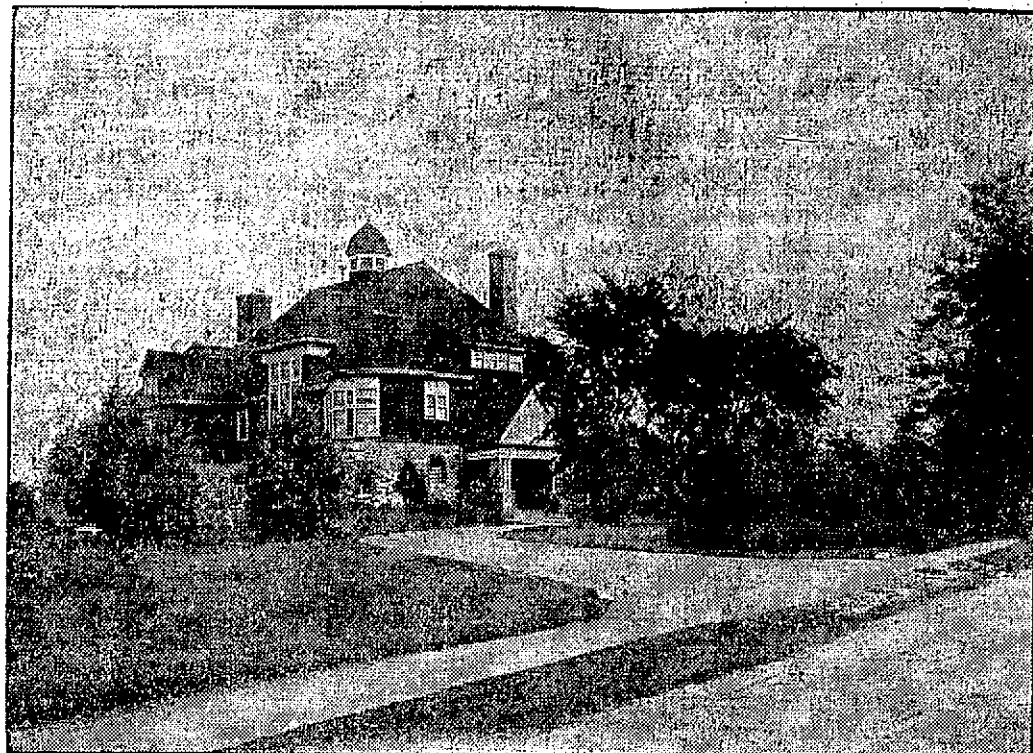

Scribbling Pads

John Street Window
4 Pads 7c
R. E. JUDD, Bookseller and Stationer
79 Merrimack St.

NOTICE

Dr. J. V. Pepin takes pleasure in informing his many friends and patients that he has reopened a dental office in the Associate building, 322 Merrimack street corner Worthen, directly opposite his former office.

ANNUAL PRIZE AWARD

THOMAS TALBOT MEMORIAL HALL

For Beautiful Premises by Talbot Company of No. Billerica

There were over 500 people in Thomas Talbot Memorial hall in North Billerica Saturday night, the occasion being the annual distribution of prizes offered by the Talbot mills to the tenants of that corporation for the best kept premises, vines, window and porch boxes, flower gardens and vegetable gardens.

The enthusiasm displayed by the people in attendance evidenced the deep enthusiasm of the village folks in beautifying their premises and keeping the town of Billerica before the public in this vicinity as the "town beautiful."

Cash prizes were offered, the total amount of prize money being nearly $50. None but those occupying houses belonging to the Talbot company are allowed to compete for the prizes, for similar prizes are offered each year by the Billerica Improvement association to contestants other than tenants of the Talbot company.

In addition to the prize money offered the winners of first and second prizes in the events are each entitled to one year's subscription to a magazine or any book selected from a list which is prepared by the company.

Long before the hour for the opening of the exercises the pretty little hall was packed with townspeople and at 8 o'clock when President Frederick S. Clark, of the Talbot mills, called to order and delivered an address of welcome, there were over 500 people in the hall.

During the course of his remarks Mr. Clark expressed his gratification at the interest which the tenants of the company had taken in the competition during the past year. In former competitions, he said, the winners of the first prizes were not allowed to enter the events in which they had gained first honors for a period of three years, but next season this rule would be discontinued and all tenants would be permitted to compete, regardless of whether they had secured first award this year or last.

Mr. Clark also took occasion to publicly thank the judges, who so willingly gave their time in order to assist in the work of beautifying the village of North Billerica. The judges, he stated, were Rev. J. Harold Dale, Rev. Charles H. Williams, Ph. D., Mrs. Sydney A.

White, Albert B. White, a highly esteemed citizen of White's Mills, N. H., died at his home on October 19. Deceased was 61 years of age. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Haslett of White's Mills, and Mrs. Parker Gates of Lowell, and one son, Matthew White of White's Mills. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

White's Mills, the ritual of the

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR
BAKING POWDER

Makes Home Baking
Successful and Easy

You will produce Biscuit, Cake,
Crusts, in freshness, flavor and cleanliness surpassing any that can be bought ready made.

Bull and Mrs. F. S. Clark. He concluded his remarks by presenting Rev. Mr. Dale, the president of the Improvement association, who spoke briefly and announced the winners. Rev. Mr. Williams also gave a short talk, after which the prizes were awarded by Mr. Clark amid enthusiastic applause by the audience.

The Prize Winners

The following is a list of the events and the prize winners:

Best kept premises—1st, Joseph Fairbrother; 2d, Samuel Lord.

Vines—2d, Joseph Fairbrother; 3d, Thomas Waterhouse; 4th, Isabelle Mahoney; 5th, Harold Tivey.

Window and porch boxes—2d, Thomas Waterhouse, Samuel Lord; 3d, Isabelle Mahoney.

Flower gardens—1st, Joseph Fairbrother; 2d, Samuel Lord.

Vegetable gardens—1st, Raymond Carter; 2d, Flora Tivey; 3d, Harold Tivey; 4th, Harold S. Simpson.

One of the features of the evening was the picture of the prize winning premises, which were exhibited by stereopticon, the slides being operated by Mr. Natt H. Hutchins.

Local interest was a number of views of scenes which could be recalled only by the older residents of the town, but which were interesting nevertheless.

One of the slides presented a view of Billerica Centre taken in 1830. Another series of pictures which were familiar to the old residents of the town showed the development of the Talbot school, originally a one-story wooden affair, which was later made a two-story building and afterwards transformed into a four-apartment dwelling house when the new brick schoolhouse was erected about ten years ago.

Several good reels of motion pictures brought the exercises to a close. During the evening Hubbard's orchestra discoursed pleasing music.

The Billerica Improvement association prizes will be awarded tonight in the town hall in the Centre.

DEATHS

WHITE—Albert B. White, a highly esteemed citizen of White's Mills, N. H., died at his home on October 19. Deceased was 61 years of age. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Haslett of White's Mills, and Mrs. Parker Gates of Lowell, and one son, Matthew White of White's Mills. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, White's Mills, the ritual of the

WHITE—Albert B. White, a highly esteemed citizen of White's Mills, N. H., died at his home on October 19. Deceased was 61 years of age. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Haslett of White's Mills, and Mrs. Parker Gates of Lowell, and one son, Matthew White of White's Mills. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, White's Mills, the ritual of the

WHITE—Albert B. White, a highly esteemed citizen of White's Mills, N. H., died at his home on October 19. Deceased was 61 years of age. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Haslett of White's Mills, and Mrs. Parker Gates of Lowell, and one son, Matthew White of White's Mills. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, White's Mills, the ritual of the

WHITE—Albert B. White, a highly esteemed citizen of White's Mills, N. H., died at his home on October 19. Deceased was 61 years of age. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Haslett of White's Mills, and Mrs. Parker Gates of Lowell, and one son, Matthew White of White's Mills. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, White's Mills, the ritual of the

WHITE—Albert B. White, a highly esteemed citizen of White's Mills, N. H., died at his home on October 19. Deceased was 61 years of age. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Haslett of White's Mills, and Mrs. Parker Gates of Lowell, and one son, Matthew White of White's Mills. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, White's Mills, the ritual of the

WHITE—Albert B. White, a highly esteemed citizen of White's Mills, N. H., died at his home on October 19. Deceased was 61 years of age. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Haslett of White's Mills, and Mrs. Parker Gates of Lowell, and one son, Matthew White of White's Mills. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, White's Mills, the ritual of the

WHITE—Albert B. White, a highly esteemed citizen of White's Mills, N. H., died at his home on October 19. Deceased was 61 years of age. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Haslett of White's Mills, and Mrs. Parker Gates of Lowell, and one son, Matthew White of White's Mills. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, White's Mills, the ritual of the

WHITE—Albert B. White, a highly esteemed citizen of White's Mills, N. H., died at his home on October 19. Deceased was 61 years of age. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Haslett of White's Mills, and Mrs. Parker Gates of Lowell, and one son, Matthew White of White's Mills. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, White's Mills, the ritual of the

WHITE—Albert B. White, a highly esteemed citizen of White's Mills, N. H., died at his home on October 19. Deceased was 61 years of age. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Haslett of White's Mills, and Mrs. Parker Gates of Lowell, and one son, Matthew White of White's Mills. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, White's Mills, the ritual of the

WHITE—Albert B. White, a highly esteemed citizen of White's Mills, N. H., died at his home on October 19. Deceased was 61 years of age. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Haslett of White's Mills, and Mrs. Parker Gates of Lowell, and one son, Matthew White of White's Mills. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, White's Mills, the ritual of the

WHITE—Albert B. White, a highly esteemed citizen of White's Mills, N. H., died at his home on October 19. Deceased was 61 years of age. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Haslett of White's Mills, and Mrs. Parker Gates of Lowell, and one son, Matthew White of White's Mills. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, White's Mills, the ritual of the WHITE—Albert B. White, a highly esteemed citizen of White's Mills, N. H., died at his home

NIGHT EDITION BRIGHT OUTLOOK

For Great Democratic Victory in Fifth District

Carmichael's Election Confidently Predicted—Even the Republican State Committee Appears to See Defeat Approaching

The republican state committee with the election one week away has practically conceded Lowell and vicinity, or in other words, the fifth congressional district, to the democrats.

Last year Mr. Valley carried the fifth district by some 2500 votes, carrying Lowell by nearly 2500 votes. These facts have apparently given the state committee cold feet as the committee declines to risk even one big republican rally, before the state election. Time was when indignant local republicans would rush to the front and provide a rally irrespective of the state committee but that was when they were all united. This year finds the republican party of the fifth district split on two great issues, one the high cost of living and the other the personal contest of Lodge and Ames. The working men in the republican party are going to vote the democratic ticket because a republican congress has brought about the present unbearable conditions; the Lodge stand-patiment of the party which swears that the big boss is going to throw down Ames for congress lost his victory there should be followed by his victory over Lodge for the United States senate next year. Little has been heard from the republican party of this district relative to the state election and less from the republican city committees of Lowell and Lawrence.

Great Democratic Activity.

On the other hand, the democratic state committee and the local committee are working as they never worked before. As will be seen in another column prominent democrats from many states are here and are still coming to assist in this campaign, while rallies are being held in every city and town in the commonwealth. As there is no hall big enough for the coming rally in this city next Thursday night, two have been engaged and every voter will have an opportunity to hear Messrs. Foss and Cassidy, the democratic standard bearers, for they will be here on Thursday night. Between now and election day Congressmen-elect McMillan of Maine and other prominent speakers will be heard here.

POLAND WATER is almost without limit in its benefits. It is a diuretic—mild but positive. Its efficacy in uric acid excess, such as gout, gravel, etc., is particularly notable and sure, having the double advantage of alkalinity and absolute purity.

Those Power Bills

A multiplicity of bills prevents definite knowledge of power costs.

Steam power costs per unit of production are seldom known.

This important knowledge can be secured frequently and accurately by purchasing electric power.

Lowell Electric Light
60 Central Street

In the seventh senatorial district Candidate Kiely is hustling and will hold three rallies in Lowell this week, as referred to below. Candidate Pearson in the eighth district is displaying his usual hustling ability and reports most encouragingly.

Col. Carmichael Hustling

Never in the many campaigns of his career has Col. James H. Carmichael displayed such activity as at present. After a very busy week just passed Col. Carmichael left for Lawrence this noon where he intends to give his time for the coming week. This afternoon he attended a conference with Mr. Paul Hannegan, the officers of the Lawrence democratic city committee, and other prominent democrats of that city relative to a plan of campaign in that city. Mr. Hannegan and Mr. Carmichael will return to Lowell tomorrow morning noon he will address a rally at the Wood mills in South Lawrence. He will return to Lowell tomorrow evening to be present and vote at the meeting of the board of aldermen when the measure relative to the pay of city laborers comes up and after leaving city hall at five o'clock he will attend the board of trade meeting and the rally to be held at the old Boston & Maine depot. An urgent request was made to Col. Carmichael that he remain in Lawrence tomorrow evening, but the colonel would not allow his name to be a member of the board of aldermen to be neglected on account of his campaign and he was forced to decline the request.

At Tremont and Suffolk

A number of employees of the Tremont and Suffolk mills walked upon Col. Carmichael Saturday and invited him to address a noon day rally at their plant. Though pretty well booked up from now until election day Col. Carmichael promised to get there.

SEVENTH DISTRICT

THREE DEMOCRATIC RALLIES BY SENATORIAL CANDIDATE KIELY

The democratic voters of the seventh senatorial district will have an opportunity to hear their candidate for senator in this city for arrangements have been made for three rallies in that district.

The first will be held tomorrow noon at the Heine Electric company plant in Lawrence street and tomorrow evening a big rally will be held at the old Boston and Maine depot. On Thursday a third rally will be held at the American Hide and Leather company's plant in Perry street. At all three rallies Philip A. Kiely of Lynn, democratic candidate for senator in the seventh district will be a speaker. At the rally tomorrow evening at the Boston and Maine depot not only will Mr. Kiely speak but Col. Carmichael, Mayor McEwen and others will be among the speakers. Mr. Kiely is a forceful speaker and his remarks will be well worth hearing. He is putting up an aggressive campaign throughout the district and expects to turn it over to the democratic column in the coming election.

DIV. 8, A. O. H.

MILITARY ORGANIZATION HELD A DRILL YESTERDAY

The military organization of Division 8, A. O. H. held a drill in A. O. H. hall yesterday afternoon. The drillmaster, Capt. Fitzgerald, was greatly pleased at the showing made by the new company and at the conclusion of the drill congratulated the members on the interest they are taking in the organization.

There were fifty-five members of the company present at the drill and Pres. Rourke of Div. 8, who witnessed the work of the men expressed his satisfaction and said that it will be only a short time when there will be five companies composed of members of Division 8.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral
Lungs

BIDDEFORD BANK

Resumed Business This Morning

BIDDEFORD, Me., Oct. 31.—The doors of the York County Savings bank, which were closed by the state bank examiner in August when a discovery was made of discrepancies in the accounts of former Treasurer Richmond H. Ingersoll, which later were found to aggregate more than $300,000, were re-opened today and business was resumed.

Since the closing of the bank the depositors accounts have been scaled down 22½ per cent. by order of the supreme court to make the bank solvent and enable the institution to resume business.

The bank opened at 9 o'clock and there was no evidence that the depositors would withdraw their funds to any extent. During the first hour five or six drew sums less than $50 and two or three gave the required notice of ninety days that they wished to obtain their money, while one of the largest depositors increased his account. The business was about the same as on an ordinary Monday morning.

SOLD OUT TO GEO. H. WOOD.

One of the most important business transactions that has taken place on Merrimack street for a long time was the sale of the stock of the Grant Jewelry Co., which took place last week, George H. Wood, the wholesale and retail jeweler of Central street, being the purchaser. It has been known for some time that there was to be a change in the management of this large jewelry establishment of the Grant Co. and many have been interested in the purchase of this elegant stock. Mr. Wood is a man who seems as one possessed of live wires and certainly must be covered with them, for he is one of Lowell's leading as well as liveliest merchants. After the others had looked over the property over and had made their bids, Mr. G. H. Wood came on the scene and with his keen knowledge of the jewelry business attained by forty years' experience every moment of which has been actively spent in this line of merchandising and with his insight, made a figure which was acceptable to the owners, and has now become the proprietor, and will offer the stock in a sale which will start within a few days at the present location, which will prove a fortunate thing to the people of this city and vicinity.

It has not been positively decided as yet as to the way in which the property will be disposed of, but as Mr. Wood is a wholesale as well as a retail dealer the goods will be offered in large or small lots to buyers. This sale will be of benefit to all wideawake purchasers who intend to give a present during the coming holidays and are alert enough to procure their Christmas tokens at this time. It will be to their advantage to attend this sale as the purchase figure was way down and Mr. Wood will thus be able to sell the stock at a figure which, while below the cost of the goods, will give him a generous profit, and this is all he expects. He will give more to the purchasers at this sale than was ever given to them for the amount of money expended. He figures that he got the stock below 50 per cent. of its face value and can thus afford to give the value above. The sale will be held at the Lincoln street bridge and the shrewd will keep their eyes on the daily papers for the announcements which will be made through the press just as soon as the stock has been assembled for the sale.

FUNERAL NOTICES

PANGBURN.—Died in this city, Oct. 29, at 81 B street, Elizabeth L. Pangburn, daughter of Clarence and Mary, aged 1 year, 1 month, 7 days. Funeral from the residence Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The funeral will be under the direction of Undertaker J. A. Weinbeck.

HARMON.—Died Oct. 30, at the Lowell General hospital, Dorothy M. Harmon, aged 3 months, daughter of William and Ruby Harmon. Funeral services will be held at the home of her parents, 58 Cady street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Friends are invited without further notice. Burial private. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

ELDER.—Died Oct. 30, in this city, very suddenly, Frederick E. Elder, aged 82 years, at his home, 139 Baldwin street. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Emeline M. Elder. Funeral services will be held at his late residence, 139 Baldwin street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Friends are invited without further notice. Burial will take place Thursday at Portland, Me. Please omit flowers. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

LOWELL INSTITUTION FOR SAVINGS
INCORPORATED 1829
THE OLD LOWELL SAVINGS BANK
INTEREST BEGINS
NOVEMBER 5
18 SHATTUCK ST.

INTEREST BEGINS
SATURDAY, NOV. 5
—AT—
THE CENTRAL SAVINGS BANK
ON CENTRAL STREET

STRIKE MAY SPREAD

Trouble in New York May Affect Entire Country

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The strike of the express company drivers and helpers, which has brought the express business in this city to a virtual standstill, is expected to spread today to the stable hands.

D. J. Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters now in Boston, has sent word here that, if necessary, he will organize all the express drivers in the country and call them out on strike.

During the early hours today the companies apparently confined their attentions to preparations to break the strike. Strikebreakers are expected to arrive from Philadelphia today. The strikers were caught unawares in Jersey City early today when a dash of 100 trucks was made and the express matter brought to this city without trouble. No disorders were reported by the police in the early hours of the day.

The waybill clerks of the American Express Co., who have no organization and no special grievances, held a meeting this morning and decided to go out on a sympathetic strike this morning.

The Adams company moved nine trucks this morning. Strike sympathizers upset an express wagon on West Broadway near Bleeker street. No one was hurt. The International Brotherhood of Teamsters this morning called out between 1500 and 1800 drivers and helpers employed by the Boston Dispatch Co., Monahan's Express, and the Manhattan Delivery Co. These men went out at once, not one of them, according to the strikers, remaining at work.

THE APPEAL IN DR. CRIPPEN'S CASE

LONDON, Oct. 31.—It is expected that the criminal court of appeals will hear the appeal of Dr. Hawley Crippen from the sentence of death for the murder of his wife on November 3. The execution has been set for November 8.

PLAIN STREET BRIDGE

Will be Opened in a Few Days, it is Believed

The iron work of the Plain street bridge has been finished and just as soon as the planks are laid the bridge will be ready for travel. The iron work was done by the Boston Bridge company and what that company was able to do in a few days would have taken months to do a few years ago. The company sent a car to the scene of operations and the car was so equipped as to make it an almost perfect machine shop. It contained a derrick and a compressed air plant for field riveting. The rapidity with which the work was done was almost marvellous. The iron for the Lincoln street bridge has not yet arrived. Both abutments are finished and ready for the iron in Walker street. Engineer Bowers said today that he did not know when the iron would arrive.

The street department is hustling on the Lawrence and Congress street jobs. The work in these streets includes the building of concrete bridges over Hule's brook and the widening of a portion of Lawrence street. It will require months to complete the Lawrence street job.

City Hall Meetings

The committee on appropriations will meet at 8 o'clock tonight and tomorrow night. The board of aldermen will meet in regular session and there will be a meeting of the committee on convenience stations.

MILITARY SURGEONS MEET

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 31.—The executive committee of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States which will inaugurate its 19th annual convention here tomorrow held a preliminary meeting here today and completed arrangements for the discussions relating to health in army and navy life which will mark the convention's sessions. A feature of the meeting will be the attendance of representatives of several foreign governments, including Great Britain, Canada, France, Germany, Mexico, China and Guatemala. Among the foreign physicians who already have arrived are Dr. D. Route of the surgeon general's office of France, Dr. King-Sen-Yau and Dr. Liang-King-Chand of the medical corps of the Chinese army, and Lieut. Rennie, president of the organization of Military Surgeons of Canada.

The association will hold an introductory session tonight. When the convention is formally opened tomorrow Governor Mann of Virginia and Mayor Richardson of Richmond will extend the state and city's welcome to the delegates. On Wednesday the army and National Guard will be the subject of general discussion; on Thursday, the navy; and on Friday, the closing session, the United States public health and marine hospital service.

FOR DEFENDANT

Verdict in Case of Fallon vs. Walsh

In the case of Fallon vs. Walsh, in which the jury reported a disagreement this morning, the court ordered a verdict for the defendant.

The case of Maher vs. Boston & Northern, an action of tort, went to trial today. Messrs. Pratt & Byrne for the plaintiff and Trull & Wier for the defendant.

MOISANT WINS

BEAUMONT PARK, Oct. 31.—John B. Moisant, the American aviator, was hailed here today as the winner of the great flight to the Statue of Liberty for the prize offered by Thomas F.

Ryan. In one of the most thrilling races in the history of aviation Moisant beat his rivals, Count Jacques de Lesseps, the Frenchman, and Claude Grahame-White, the English winner on Saturday, easily distancing his French competitor, but defeating the victor in the Gordon Bennett event by only 43 seconds.

This margin, however narrow, was sufficient although it was thought until the early hours today that the American had not clinched his victory, as it was understood the race was still open for competition today. The Aero Club of America, however, sustained Moisant's protest against further competition for the Liberty prize, ruling that the meet as originally scheduled, closed with yesterday's events, today being an extra, or added day. Thus Moisant wins the big race and gets the $10,000 prize. Moisant won in the elapsed time of 21:51; Grahame-White second in 32:21; de Lesseps third in 41:56:35.

For the gala day's program of today $10,000 worth of special prizes were offered. The Aero club distance event was the first, lasting two hours this afternoon, the winner to get $2,000, second man $1,000, and third $500. A special altitude prize is offered. The winner to get $500 if he ascends more

INSPECTOR MASTER

Attended Meeting of State Milk Inspectors' Association

Melvin Master, inspector of milk for the city of Lowell, attended a meeting of the State Milk Inspectors' association at Amherst college a few days ago and gathered suggestions for the benefit of the board of health and also of milk dealers. Mr. Master inspected the Amherst college farm and learned a great deal as to the proper care of cattle and milk.

One of the features of the meeting was a talk by E. H. Forristall, an authority on cows and milk. Mr. Forristall said that the stable should be constructed so as to allow no opportunity for the collection of dirt. He said there should be lots of light and air, good circulation, round corners, tight floors, walls and ceilings.

As to food, he says that cows should not be given food just previous to milking, and the food should be given every six months, or at least once a year. Strangers should not be allowed at milking time, as it tends to excite the cow, and anything tending to excite the cow should be avoided. Never strike a cow.

The udders and tails should be clipped often as necessary. Use a curry comb and brush freely, then go over the cow with a sponge or a damp cloth to remove dust. Stanchions should be so constructed that cows will be unable to lie down until after milking. Special attention should be given to the hands with respect to cleanliness. While milking suits should be worn, and the hair should be completely covered with a white cap to prevent dandruff, etc., from falling into the milk pail. Hooded pails with a six inch opening should be used. Ventilation is a very important question, and should be looked after thoroughly. The temperature should be even, 50 degrees being considered best.

The average yield per cow a year at Amherst college is 5000 pounds of milk. The average bacteria count has to be below 1,000,000 per centimeter. They raise above 20 calves a year, and feed them the milk, which they believe has a high bacteria count. Four breeds of cows are used: Ayrshire, Holstein, Jersey and Guernsey. The Ayrshire milk is considered the best to mix with other milk, as the fat globules are smaller. The morning's milk is usually higher, because the cows are more quiet during the night. Piles affect the quality and quantity of milk. The cost to produce certified milk at the Amherst farm is nine cents per quart. A milking machine is practical if properly used by a competent man and the cows are stripped by hand after the machine is removed. Due care must be used, however, to keep the milking machine perfectly clean. Sucking of some good feed for the cows and then stiek to it. Constant changing of the feed keeps the cow constantly adjusting herself to new conditions. A cow should go dry for eight or 10 weeks each year. The average cost of grain is one and a half cents a pound, and the following feed per day is recommended:

Two pounds of grain, six pounds of hay at $23 a ton, 10 pounds of corn stover at $5 per ton and 30 pounds of ensilage at $5 of $8 per ton.

The producer should be careful to avoid giving food, the order of which will affect the milk. For example, wild onions give a garlic odor to the milk. All food that gives off odors should be fed after, instead of before milking. Do not cut off too soon the food from dry to green; do not change food too rapidly; but make it a gradual change. Ensilage and brewery grains should be fed slowly at first and gradually increased until 30 or 40 pounds per day is reached, but do not give over 40 pounds.

FORMER PREMIER JEERED

LISBON, Oct. 31.—A crowd jeered former Premier Franco as he left the court today, having been admitted to bail in the sum of $200,000. Foreign Minister Machado protested against the admission to bail of the former premier but exhorted his enemies to be calm.

Franco is charged, among other things, with having issued during his tenure of office 70 illegal decrees and with having liquidated the debts of King Carlos, amounting to $500,000, with crown funds, on the pretext of augmenting the civil list.

BOY SHOT AND KILLED

LINCOLN, Me., Oct. 31.—Millage Lyons, a ten-year-old boy, was accidentally shot and killed by his young step-sister, Helen Cole, at Webster plantation late yesterday. Word of the accident reached here today. The boy had just returned home from a hunting trip with his father and another man. The girl ran out to meet them and young Lyons handed her his 22 calibre rifle. A moment later the weapon was discharged and the bullet entered the boy's heart.

TO OPEN FIRST PARLIAMENT

CAPETOWN, S. A., Oct. 31.—The duke of Connaught, who will formally open the first parliament of the union of South Africa on behalf of King George, arrived here today accompanied by the Duchess and the Princess Victoria Patricia. The party received a splendid welcome.

Pending the state opening November 4, the parliament was convened today by Lord Gladstone, governor general of the union of South Africa, for the purpose of electing a speaker and otherwise organizing.

than 4000 feet; an additional $500 if he exceeds the record of the meet, and $100 more if he breaks the world's record. The grand speed contest will be run off after 3 p.m. in two sections, the flight between Grahame-White, fastest of the monoplanists, by the meet's records, and McCurdy, speediest of the biplanists by the same token. Each starter gets $100 anyway and the winner gets an additional $2000.

Auburn and Mars, the second men

The total earnings of the aviators up to the close of the scheduled events of the meeting last night are: Moisant $31,550; Grahame-White $7100; Hoxsey $3,475; Latham $3,100; De Lesseps $1,550; Johnstone, $1,525; Radley $1,400; Brooks $900; Auburn $900; Drexel $700; Farnes, $2,000; Men $250; McCurdy $200, and Audemars, Barrier, Ely, Mars and Willard $100 each.

A dinner in honor of the aviators who have taken part in the meet will be given under the auspices of the Aero Club of America tonight at the Plaza hotel.

NOVEMBER

Quarter Month

WASHINGTON

Savings Institution
207 Cent al Street

INTEREST BEGINS

Thursday, Nov. 3

SAVINGS DEPT.

Traders National Bank
Hours: 8.30 to 3, Saturdays, 8.30 to 12.30 and 1 to 3 p.m.

LATEST TO QUIT LOWELL

Hudson Man Supposed to be a Kleptomaniac

Many Other Interesting Cases Engage Attention of Police—Sunday Card Players Fined—Assault at a Saturday Night Wedding

Eben A. Woodbury, aged 55 years, a veteran of the Civil war and an alleged kleptomaniac, who resides in Hudson, N. H., was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with attempting to commit larceny Saturday afternoon. James E. O'Donnell, who represented the aged defendant, entered a plea of not guilty.

The first witness for the government was Herbert Charette who resides at 474 Moody street. He testified he saw the defendant coming out of the building in which he lives last Saturday afternoon. The man left the house in a hurry and upon reaching the street ran through Moody street and turned into a side street. Witness gave chase and finding an officer pointed the man out to him and Woodbury was placed under arrest.

Albina Forget, who lives in the house in question at Moody street, testified she entered her room about 1.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon and found Woodbury standing in front of her bureau. One of the drawers was open but she could not state as to whether or not he had anything in his hand.

Anna Proulx, who lives in the same house, testified to seeing the old man leaving the house in a hurry. Supt. Welch said he had a conversation with Woodbury yesterday afternoon and that the man admitted that he had entered the house for the purpose of stealing, but could not tell why he did such things. He said he came to Lowell to get some flies. He left his horse and carriage in Pelham and came to Lowell on the electric cars. He did not know why he went to the building in Moody street. He said he was sorry for what he had done and was given a chance would try to overcome his weakness. He remained in the country but when he came to the city he lost control of himself.

Supt. Welch showed that the man had been arrested in Lawrence and Nashua, and since 1887 had been before the court on a number of different occasions. No defense was offered other than Judge Clyde of Hudson, N. H., who took the stand in order to tell what he knew about the man. He said that Woodbury is a kleptomaniac and does not steal for what gain he makes, but because there is some fascination about it. Judge Clyde cited certain instances where Woodbury had stolen things and whatever he took was of little or no value despite the fact that he had chances to steal things of greater value.

Upon Judge Clyde stating he would try to look after the man, Mr. Woodbury was placed on probation for one year in order that he keep away from Lowell.

Row at a Wedding

There was a wedding in Howe street Saturday night and one of the guests is in the hospital, while another was placed under arrest. Stanislaus Watkavitch was the victim of the assault and he is now lying at St. John's hospital with a deep laceration in the head while the police claim that one John Sokolinsky is the assailant. The latter was locked up last Saturday night but this morning when his name was called to answer to a complaint charging him with assault and battery it was found that he was among the missing. He was given a reasonable time to appear in court and when he failed to do so his default was read.

It is understood by the police that while the wedding was in progress Watkavitch and Sokolinsky had a heated dispute with the result that the latter struck Watkavitch over the head with a bottle or glass. The injured man was taken to St. John's hospital, where he received treatment and later Sokolinsky was located at his home in Bent's court and taken to the police station.

Raid in Upper Market Street

Serjt. Duncan, Inspectors Grady, Dwyer and Fox raided a house at 476 Market street, last night, and succeeded in getting ten men in the drag net. The police had been "tipped off" that there was a card game in progress and the raiding party by strategic work made its way into the room, the ten occupants not being aware of the approach of the officers until the latter were in the room. There were ten men seated around the table and considerable money was in the centre of the table. The ten were sent to the police station, three of the prisoners being charged with gaming on Land's Day while the other seven were charged with being present at a game. When booked at the police station they gave their names as follows: Stavos Pubrukulos, George Karoulos and James Aloupes, James Andries, Andros Giris, Harry's Athanas, Charles Ceras, James Riley, Christos Coscos and Christos Fappas, the first three being charged with gaming and the seven last for being present.

When arraigned in police court this morning each entered a plea of guilty and those who were charged with gaming were fined $10 each and those with being present $7 each.

Evaded His Fare
John E. Dempsey was charged with evading car fare on a car of the Boston & Northern Street Railway Co. and also with being drunk. He admitted that he had been drunk but denied that he had refused to pay his fare.

Conductor George T. McKenna testified that Dempsey got on his car about 200 yards from the end of the car line at Dracut Centre and believing that the man was going to ride back to the city did not bother him for car fare owing to the short distance to the end of the line. He testified that on the return trip he asked Dempsey for his fare and the latter refused to pay. He further testified that he made many other attempts to collect the fare until he reached Merrimack square at which place he turned the man over to Patrolman Killroy.

Motorman George Small corroborated to a large extent the testimony offered by the conductor. Patrolman Killroy, when called to the stand, said that the man was drunk when Conductor McKenna called his attention to him.

Dempsey said that he paid his car fare, but the court evidently did not believe him and found him guilty on both charges, imposing a fine of $10 for evading car fare and $5 for drunkenness.

His Trip Postponed

Charles Yunuli was to have taken a trip to Greece this week but as a result of a little sentence handed out by Judge Hadley this morning Charles will have to postpone his trip for at least three months. It seems that the defendant and his wife have not been living together of late and yesterday he called on her and after assaulting her threw their six months' old baby on the floor. The cause of the trouble is that Charles wants to go back to Greece to live while his wife prefers this country. The court found the young man guilty and ordered him to be sentenced to jail for three months and also furnish bonds in the sum of $100 to keep the peace for six months.

Case Postponed

Salem K. Hussen, who was arrested Saturday on a warrant charging him with larceny and forgery, appeared in court this morning and through his counsel, William A. Hogan, entered pleas of not guilty to each complaint. Lawyer Silverblatt asked for a continuance till Saturday until he could secure some witnesses who are out of town at the present time and the request was granted.

Allowed to Return Home

John T. Keating, who lives in Fitchburg and works in Ayer, came to Lowell Saturday for the purpose of purchasing a pair of shoes. While here he got intoxicated and was later arrested. This morning he put up a pitiful plea to be given a chance to go back to his work. He said he had no money with him but if given time he could pay the fine. He was fined $5 and ordered to pay it within a month.

Drunken Offenders
Daniel Campbell, charged with being drunk, was sentenced to four months in jail, while David Sheehan will spend the next six months at that institution.

Francis Little was given a suspended sentence of five months in jail and John Clark was placed in the hands of the probation officer for a year.

John C. Driscoll, who was on parole from the state farm, was returned to that institution. George B. McGinn, Frederick A. Giles and Edward Gendron were each fined $5. There were several first offenders, who were fined $2 each and a few simple drunks were released. Blanche Mercer was fined $5 for getting drunk on Sunday.

THE POLITICAL HALLOWEEN

If Col. Ames looks in his mirror tonight he certainly will see the portrait of our next congressman as represented above.

NOTED DEMOCRATS

Will Take Part in Campaign This Week

Prominent Speakers From Afar Will Take Stump in This State—Candidates Foss and Cassidy Will Address Two Rallies in Lowell

Gov. Folk of Missouri, Congressman-Elect Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Lewis and Clark, Ex-Gov. Higgins of Rhode Island, Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, and Governor-Elect Frederick W. Plafsted of Maine are coming to Massachusetts this week to assist Mr. Foss and the democratic state committee in putting Massachusetts side by side with Maine as a democratic pace maker for the rest of the Union.

The state committee has arranged hundreds of rallies for the coming week, covering every section of the state. Mr. Foss and Mr. Cassidy, candidate for governor and lieutenant-governor, will cover an enormous territory in their effort to address as many voters as possible, gradually working toward Boston, after their rallies in Springfield, Chicopee, Westfield and Holyoke on Monday night.

The deep interest nationally in the contest in Massachusetts is in no way better indicated than by letters and telegrams received by Mr. Foss and the state committee from such representative men as Governor Folk, who accepted with alacrity the invitation of the committee to speak in Boston on Saturday night.

Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma wrote: "I regret exceedingly that I cannot add my mite, as I was so glad to do last year, in appearing before Massachusetts voters. The opportunity is yours. Elect Mr. Foss and the rest of the ticket, and make sure of the legislature. The democrats of the Bay State can and should name the successor of Henry Cabot Lodge."

Judson P. Harmon of Ohio, who is in direct line for the democratic presidential nomination in 1912, wired: "Were it not for my own campaign I would be with you personally, as well as in spirit. You can win."

Woodrow Wilson, who resigned the presidency of Princeton college, to accept the democratic gubernatorial nomination in New Jersey, has proposed the exchange of a day's campaigning with Mr. Foss during the coming week, so anxious is he to participate in the Bay State campaign.

Chairman Joseph A. Maynard of the Boston City committee has scheduled hundreds of rallies in Boston during the week, which will be brought to a close in Boston by a mammoth meeting on Saturday night. At this rally the local talent so far ahead in the campaign will address Bostonians. The speakers will include: Gov. Folk of Missouri, Gov.-elect Frederick W. Plafsted of Maine, Congressman-elect Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Maine, and the democratic nominee, as well as other prominent Bay State democrats. Mr. Foss, in addition to his regular evening engagements will participate in several daylight auto tours in different parts of the state, notably on Tuesday, when with Mr. Cassidy, he will tour Worcester county.

The schedule of rallies for the week is made up to date by the democratic committee is as follows:

Monday
Springfield, Chicopee, Westfield, Holyoke.

Speakers—Foss, Cassidy, Palmer, Cong. Candidate McKeechie.

North Attleboro, Mansfield, North Adams.

Speakers—Mayor Fitzgerald, Vahey, Cong. Candidate R. T. Coughlin.

Westboro, Upton, Grafton.

Speakers—John R. Thayer and local speakers.

Amesbury, Newburyport.

Speakers—Thomas, Riley, C. W. Bartlett, Cong. Candidate William H. O'Brien.

er and local candidates.

Tuesday
Cambridge (2), Newton, Watertown, Waltham, Somerville, Chelsea.

Speakers—Foss, Cassidy, Vahey, Mayor Fitzgerald.

Holyoke, Chicopee, Bridgewater and Middleboro, with local candidates and other speakers yet to be assigned.

Candidates Foss and Cassidy will make a daylight auto tour of Worcester county.

Wednesday

Fitchburg, Leominster, Clinton.

Speakers—Vahey, Hamlin, J. R. Thayer, W. P. Hayes.

Salem, Danvers, Peabody, Marblehead, Gloucester, Manchester.

Speakers—Foss, Cassidy, W. H. O'Brien, Frank C. Richardson.

Thursday

Fall River (2).

Speakers—Gov. Higgins of Rhode Island, Congressman-elect D. J. McGillicuddy of Maine, Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston, Mayor John T. Coughlin of Fall River and Thomas P. Riley of Malden.

French rally in New Bedford.

Speakers—T. J. Boynton of Everett, Francis J. Carroll.

Sharon, Stoughton, Randolph, Malden, Cambridge, North and West Fallmouth, Hanover and Hudson.

Friday
Lowell (2), Lawrence (2), Haverhill.

Speakers—Foss, Cassidy and local candidates.

Gardner, Winchendon.

Speakers—Mayor John F. Fitzgerald and John R. Thayer.

Wakefield, Woburn, Medford, Winchendon.

Speakers—Hamlin, Vahey, Cong. Candidate Creamer.

Concord, Haverhill, Boston.

Evening, Italian rally.

Malden and North Cambridge.

Saturday
Worcester, Whitcomb tour of Boston, Boston evening rally and ratification meeting (hall to be announced).

Speakers—Gov. Folk of Missouri, Gov.-elect F. W. Plafsted of Maine, Congressman-elect D. J. McGillicuddy of Maine, Hon. Eugene N. Foss, Hon. Thomas F. Cassidy, Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, James H. Vahey, Sherman L. Whipple, Henry M. Whitney, Edward A. Whitman, Thomas P. Riley, and others.

Rheumatism

Is a Constitutional Disease

It manifests itself in local aches and pains, inflamed joints and stiff muscles, but it cannot be cured by local applications.

It requires constitutional treatment, and the best is a course of the great blood purifying and tonic medicine which corrects the acid condition of the blood and builds up the system. Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The F. H. Pearson Co.

Footwear Merchants

Ask to See
Our Equipoise Shoes

FOR MEN AND WOMEN

They are made to correct arch fallancy. If you are wearing arches you can take them out.

You don't believe it. We do because we know what we are talking about.

That's our business all the time and has been for years.

THINK THIS OVER

Look at the shoes. Try one on your foot, then you will know what we are talking about.

THE HOME OF FOOT FITTING

120-122 Merrimack St.

MANHATTAN CLUB

Held Annual Election of Officers

The Manhattan Social club, which is composed of popular young men of wards 8 and 9, held its annual election and installation of officers in its rooms in Gorham street yesterday. The meeting was called to order by President John P. Ward at 4 o'clock. He stated that the object of the meeting was to select officers for the ensuing season and as he had held the office of president for two years he would not contest for re-election. He thanked the members for their enthusiasm and co-operation in the past and urged them to continue their grand work. Mr. Ward then called for nominations. For president there was no contest as Charles L. Crowley was unanimously chosen. The other officers elected were: Vice-president, Frank P. Laycock; recording secretary, Wm. Donnell; financial secretary, Daniel F. McCarthy; treasurer, John Ready; board of trustees, John P. Frawley, Richard F. Fitzgerald and John P. Ward. At the conclusion of the elections the installation was held, the retiring officers performing the ceremony.

Mr. Crowley, the newly elected president, was then called upon for remarks. He responded and thanked the members for the honor that they had bestowed upon him and said that he would endeavor to conduct the club in the same progressive and efficient manner that his predecessor had. He spoke of the importance of the members to co-operate with the officers and said that if this was done, success was assured. He then called for a vote of thanks to the retiring officers. At the conclusion of his remarks President Crowley was congratulated by all and was assured that all would assist him in increasing the club's popularity and augmenting its treasury. An informal musical program was carried out. It included songs by Charles A. Carey, Albert Olsson, Bert Mason, George Rogers, Thomas Fay and others, with Robert Fay as accompanist.

INJURIES FATAL

Driver Was Thrown From His Pony

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Venette S. Pelletreau, a well known real estate dealer of Brooklyn, was thrown from a runaway polo pony at Morristown, N. J., yesterday and killed.

Mr. Pelletreau was a member of the Passaic Valley Hunt club of Long Hills, N. J., and rode into Morristown yesterday morning with several other members of the club to look over some western polo ponies that had just been received by a horse dealer. Mr. Pelletreau was particularly impressed with the looks of a little bay pony. It was a restive creature, and the groom held it with difficulty as it reared and plunged.

"I'll have a try at that one," said Mr. Pelletreau. He dismounted from his own horse, and in spite of the presence of his friends, who told him to wait until the horse could be saddled and bridled, he vaulted on its back. It is believed that his spurs scraped the pony's sides as he mounted. At any rate, as he touched its back it gave a violent plunge. Then it wheeled and started for the alleyway that led out of the stable yard. Several grooms made a rush, but the pony dodged them, ran into Morris street, the mounted members of the hunt club in full pursuit.

Mr. Pelletreau kept a firm seat and tried to get a grip on the halter. He was unable to do so, and his mount galloped at full speed down the street. It was about 12 o'clock and many people returning from church were crossing the avenue. The hoof beats warned most of them, but in several instances the rider of the bridleless horse was barely able to avoid running them down.

Half a mile farther on, opposite the Memorial hospital, the rider made a determined effort to get hold of the halter and succeeded in grasping the rope. He had almost succeeded in bringing the pony to a walk and his friends had come up to within a short distance of them, when Mr. Pelletreau used his spurs to thoroughly master his mount. The pony reared violently. Then he bucked, coming down hard on all fours. Mr. Pelletreau was thrown off, and landed on his head against the stone curb of the street.

From the windows of the hospital the accident had been witnessed, and several men ran out and carried the unconscious man into the building, where it was found that his skull had been fractured. He was placed on the operating table, and the surgeons endeavored to relieve the pressure on the brain, but their patient died within an hour.

Rich Cut Glass

We Have Just Received for the Holidays a Beautiful Line of

CUT GLASS

Suitable for wedding presents at very moderate prices, at

Frank Ricard's

Eyes examined and Glasses fitted by the latest modern methods.

Democratic Rallies

Tuesday Night at 8

Old Boston & Maine Depot

Prominent speakers from city and state, including Philip A. Kieley, of Lynn, candidate for senate in Seventh Middlesex District. Tuesday, 12.45 p. m., at Heinz Electric Co. Thursday noon, American Mide and Leather Co.

WANTS TO "SQUARE" HIMSELF

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—To "square himself with Uncle Sam," as he put it, Peter Olsen, who deserted from the cruiser Charleston ten years ago, boarded the cruiser Colorado yesterday and surrendered himself.

"I'm getting $150 a month from a good job at home and — well, Uncle Sam, he treated me pretty decent and I feel kinder mean. Just have to square himself." So he told Boatwain Gibson.

Owing to the absence of the commander, Olsen was allowed to go on his promise to return.

TAUNTON, Oct. 31.—Stepping from the sidewalk directly in front of a big electric car bound from Brockton to Taunton yesterday, William McClair, aged 45, was instantly killed.

His head was crushed by the body and trunk of the car and his body was tightly wedged beneath the car that was necessary to use jacks to extricate it.

McClair was a painter, and so far as known here had no relatives. His home to Taunton from some part of Canada about five years ago,

HIGHWAYMEN BUSY THE SUN LISTED

As Preferred Medium for Classified "Ads"

Fourth Robbery is Reported in Greater Boston

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The fourth woman victim of highwaymen in Brighton in as many days is Miss Katherine E. Coakley of 96 Corey road, Brookline.

While walking along Corey road about 6 last night she was robbed of a handbag containing $9 in money and an amethyst rosary valued at $10.

In all but the first robbery, that of Miss Mary McDougall last Thursday night, the handbags have been snatched from the women.

In the three cases one man did the job, but in the case of Miss McDougall two men worked together and one flourished a revolver.

In none of the cases reported have the thieves been very successful as far as securing much money is concerned, the sums, except in the case of Miss Coakley, ranging only from 16 cents to $1.50.

Captain Sullivan of division 14 has taken every precaution at his command to catch the thieves. Extra men have been assigned to the district where the robberies have occurred, along Commonwealth avenue from Harvard avenue to the reservoir section.

The first robbery occurred last Thursday evening about 11 when Miss Mary McDougall, a servant girl at 6 Cheswick road, Brighton, was held up by two young men on Chestnut Hill avenue near Commonwealth avenue.

Miss McDougall had been in town and had returned on a Beacon street car, getting off at the corner of Commonwealth and Chestnut Hill avenues. She started to walk along in the direction of Englewood avenue and was set upon by the two men.

One grabbed her roughly by the throat while the other pushed a revolver in her face. The man with the revolver stole the young woman's pocketbook. The two men then released Miss McDougall and started down Englewood avenue.

An elevated railway conductor heard the young woman's cries and ran to her assistance, but her assailants had got away by the time the conductor reached the almost insensible girl.

On the following evening Miss May Murphy, who is employed at the Brighton wing of the Homeopathic hospital on Summit avenue, was robbed of her pocketbook at the corner of Summit and Commonwealth avenues and about half a mile from the scene of the holdup of the evening before.

Saturday evening the snatch thief appeared at the corner of Franklin and Holton streets in Allston, where he had no trouble in relieving Mrs. Charles H. Atwood of 137 Franklin street of her purse containing $1.25.

The snatch thief has been variously described as being from 18 to 24 years of age. He is said to be of fairly good height. Miss Coakley said last evening that he was about 5 feet 10 inches in height, weighed about 150 pounds and wore dark clothes and a black derby hat. She said he was about 20 years old.

In addition to the fact that extra men have been put out to run down the thief, the police auto is being called into play, as well as the bicycle force at division 14. Captain Sullivan wants the women of the district to keep their pocketbooks out of sight or advises them not to carry them in such a manner that they may be easily snatched away.

BOSTON MAN MADE AN ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 31.—Adolph Talamini, about 25 years old, of East Boston, son of the publisher of Liberta, an Italian weekly paper published in Providence, in his room in a local hotel last evening drank the phosphorus of matches dissolved in water and then tried strangulation with a towel. A note was found saying that he "loved Ethel," but that his case was hopeless.

Apparently repenting of his acts, Talamini rang for a bellboy and then leaped into a dazed condition. He was taken to the Maine General hospital. Physicians say he will recover unless he absorbed too much phosphorus.

Talamini came here two days ago and registered as "Jack Alter." He said he was canvassing for the publishing house. Last night he admitted his real name and his address as 196 Bremen street, East Boston.

The following letter relative to publications preferred and recommended for classified advertising is received from the Mail Order World Advertising Agency of Lockport, N. Y. It is but fair to say that the letter comes without any solicitation or negotiation direct or indirect on our part. The letter, which is self-explanatory, is as follows:

Lockport, N. Y., Oct. 28, 1910.
Publisher Sun,
Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—We take pleasure in handing you, under separate cover, copy of the fourth revised edition of our booklet, "Where Your Ads Will Pull."

After a thorough and exhaustive test of the merits of the papers in your field, we have selected your paper as representative of that field among the leading classified media of the country. In selecting the papers named in our booklet, we have had at our disposal accurate figures covering seven years of careful testing. In no case have we been guided by an argument or inducement offered by publishers, and feel that in presenting these lists to users of classified advertising space, we have produced the first absolutely authoritative list of the best classified media in America.

Trusting that you will maintain the same high standard that has characterized your publication in the past, we remain

Yours very truly,
The Mail Order World Advertising Agency.

CARBONOL
Dispels All Dirt

Some kinds of dirt, especially of a greasy nature, won't dissolve in water; but a dash of Carbonol in the water makes such dirt vanish.

Carbonol is invaluable in house-cleaning. It is also a disinfectant and deodorant; makes garbage odorless, destroys nasty smells. Disinfects and purifies everything. More necessary than soap for sanitary housekeeping. 10c and 25c a bottle. Sample free on request.

Barrett Manufacturing Co.,
237 Franklin St., Boston, Mass.

OUR LAW BREAKERS

Probation Officer Ramsay Discusses Their Reformation

Makes Valuable Suggestions Relative to Future Treatment of the Many Non-Support Cases That Daily Come Before the Court

At the Eliot church yesterday Probation Officer James P. Ramsay delivered an interesting talk on the prison congress, recently held at Washington, D. C., which was attended by representatives of all civilized nations, and a series of suggestions for prison work in the future.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Ramsay said:

"Perhaps not again in this generation will there come to this country three such congresses as were held at Washington during the first week of this month."

"First, the American Prison congress, the session lasting three days."

"Second, the first annual meeting of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology."

"Third, the International Prison congress, which began its session on Sunday, October 2. This congress meets once every five years and although it was organized by an American, Mr. E. C. Wines, it has never before held a meeting in this country. The first meeting was held in London in 1872, and the last in Budapest, Hungary."

"The meeting of the International Prison congress brought together the first time in America, representatives from 36 states of our Union, and 37 foreign governments, representing the different professions which come into contact with criminals and with the administration of the penal code, lawyers, legislators, judges, administrators of institutions, educators, and leaders of preventive and constructive philanthropy."

"Among the 278 delegates present were such well known Americans as Bishop Fallows of Chicago, Dr. Charles R. Henderson, North Western university, Chicago; Governor Gilchrist of Florida; H. C. Carbaugh, judge, and U. S. attorney, Frederick Howard Wines of Springfield, Ill.; Major R. W. McClaughry, Warden U. S. penitentiary, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas; Justice Charles DeCoursey of Massachusetts; Commander Eva Booth of the Salvation Army; Z. R. Brockway, retired prison manager of Elmira; Miss Helen Gould, and many others."

"Many of the foreign delegates have international reputations: Paul Lubinsky, professor of law, Imperial university, St. Petersburg; Dr. J. Simon von der Aa, professor of penal law, Holland; Sir Evelyn Ruggles-Brise, London, England; Kimpah T. King, supreme court of justice, Peking, China; Dr. Guillaume of Switzerland, secretary to the congress for many years."

"The delegates were greeted and welcomed by President Taft. The United States government appropriated $30,000 for the special entertainment of the foreign delegates. We were taken down the Potomac in a government vessel, and a banquet was served to the delegates. Many speeches were delivered by the foreigners, the Chinese justice carrying off the honors."

"In brief the resolutions under the section on criminal law, approved the scientific principle of the indeterminate sentence and defined the making of parole boards, which should give it application."

"Under the section on prison administration, the essential principle on which the reformatory method is based, was defined, short term sentences deprecated, and the joint confinement of prisoners waiting trial and those serving short sentences condemned."

"The resolutions defined the terms on which conditional liberation and parole should be carried out, and distinguished between probation and parole; they held that all penal institutions, including houses of detention and jail, should be under the control of a central authority, that all prisoners should be employed at useful labor."

"They affirmed the uselessness of repeated short sentences for inebriety, and the practical success of special establishments for the detention for long periods, of habitual drunkards."

"They favored workhouses for professional mendicants and vagrants, and advocated agricultural and industrial training and medical supervision in connection with the same; also the extension or establishment of a system of identification of such offenders."

"The section held that it is desirable to introduce and extend laws providing for probation. That the effects of suspended sentence without probational oversight, are difficult if not impossible to ascertain."

"Under the fourth section, dealing with children, a strong series of regulations was drawn up, declaring that young delinquents should not be subjected to the penal procedure now applied to adults, and defining the principle of probationary control with respect to them. The section held that legislative measures and moral and social propaganda are necessary for the protection of illegitimate children, declaring incidentally but strongly for a single moral standard applicable to men and women alike. It supported laws for making parents responsible for the wrong-doing of their children."

Before the session adjourned, London was chosen as the meeting place for 1915, and Sir Evelyn Ruggles-Brise, as president of the International commission, and will bring the congress home."

"The amount collected and paid out by this one officer is very large, amounting to several thousand dollars annually."

Many other officers do a large amount of this same kind of work which the public learns but little about, inasmuch as this branch of probation work is not printed in any public document. (These cases not being entered upon the court docket, do not get a place in the annual report of the prison commission.)

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counselor can do much toward bringing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

back to the city of its first meeting place and, under a remarkable opportunity for reviewing the advances since the initial congress in 1872.

Under the third section on prevention, the resolutions held that the state should allow payment to prisoners and that the money should be available for the assistance of their families, if needed.

Non-Support Cases
Mr. Ramsay then went into the important subject of "non-support" and cited many interesting incidents that have come under his observation.

In summing up he said:
"For these evils, I would therefore, strongly urge that all cases of non-support or family desertion cases come before our police, district or municipal courts, be treated privately, that a day be set apart for their hearing, just as the cases of juveniles are now conducted, in a room set apart for the same, and that if the defendant is to be given a suspended sentence, he be placed in the care of the probation officer as surety, who shall see that the order of payments as made by the court is duly collected, and paid over to the neglected family. If unable to collect this money, he should arrest and return to court his word, as he has the right to do under the law, or else invoke the aid of the police to arrest for him, which he has also the right to do, and then let the judge deal with the man, not by sending him to a common jail, where he can mix and associate with thieves and other hardened criminals, where his labor is lost, his food good and plentiful, as it ought to be, clean baths and bedding, as they must be, with good books to read and tobacco smoking enjoyed as per rule of the institution; but to some place not yet discovered, but which I will take the liberty of suggesting."

Good Suggestion
Why not have the state establish or rather extend the industrial camp idea, as is now operated under the management of the prison commissioners at Rutland, Mass. A few such colonies established in the different counties where these common drunkards, and white deserters could be placed at work reclaiming the waste lands of the commonwealth would surely not be at variance with public sentiment or organized free labor. Then I would recommend that we go one step further and adopt the sense of the resolution as passed at the "International Prison Congress" and pay over to the families of these men a part of their earnings, say, for the sake of still further illustrating this subject, a nominal sum of 50 cents per day, so that there would be no incentive for a man to commit an offence, for the sake of getting employment from the state. If the clergy and a few level-headed citizens were to take this proposition to the legislature we might in time get this work established and thereby find a part solution of this great social problem. "The deserted family."

I would not give the impression, however, that the present system is not working out an immense amount of good, the local probation officer, Mr. Shattuck, collects a great deal of money in non-support cases, and one court alone, the Roxbury municipal court, through its probation officer, collected last year $3000.

In conclusion—probation officers can do a great service to neglected wives and deserted children. I am acquainted with officers who specialize in this form of probation work, and a great amount of good is accomplished by them. One officer attached to a large court in Essex county informed the writer that his judge took great interest in this branch of the probation system, and working together as they did, many cases where husbands failed to provide for their wives never reached the public stage of the open court. A complainant would call to see the judge in his private room, tell her story. She would then be referred to the probation officer, who, after giving her a hearing would call upon the husband or write him a letter requesting him to call at the probation office. If he came voluntarily—and most of them did—they would sit down and talk the matter over. The probation officer would point out to the man the folly of being brought into a public hearing in court, and being obliged to submit to the court's decree when the business could just as well be settled privately. This method usually proved and an agreement is entered into, whereby the probation officer is paid a stipulated sum weekly for the benefit of the family.

The amount collected and paid out by this one officer is very large, amounting to several thousand dollars annually.

Many other officers do a large amount of this same kind of work which the public learns but little about, inasmuch as this branch of probation work is not printed in any public document. (These cases not being entered upon the court docket, do not get a place in the annual report of the prison commission.)

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counselor can do much toward bringing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

back to the city of its first meeting place and, under a remarkable opportunity for reviewing the advances since the initial congress in 1872.

Under the third section on prevention, the resolutions held that the state should allow payment to prisoners and that the money should be available for the assistance of their families, if needed.

Non-Support Cases
Mr. Ramsay then went into the important subject of "non-support" and cited many interesting incidents that have come under his observation.

In summing up he said:
"For these evils, I would therefore, strongly urge that all cases of non-support or family desertion cases come before our police, district or municipal courts, be treated privately, that a day be set apart for their hearing, just as the cases of juveniles are now conducted, in a room set apart for the same, and that if the defendant is to be given a suspended sentence, he be placed in the care of the probation officer as surety, who shall see that the order of payments as made by the court is duly collected, and paid over to the neglected family. If unable to collect this money, he should arrest and return to court his word, as he has the right to do under the law, or else invoke the aid of the police to arrest for him, which he has also the right to do, and then let the judge deal with the man, not by sending him to a common jail, where he can mix and associate with thieves and other hardened criminals, where his labor is lost, his food good and plentiful, as it ought to be, clean baths and bedding, as they must be, with good books to read and tobacco smoking enjoyed as per rule of the institution; but to some place not yet discovered, but which I will take the liberty of suggesting."

Good Suggestion
Why not have the state establish or rather extend the industrial camp idea, as is now operated under the management of the prison commissioners at Rutland, Mass. A few such colonies established in the different counties where these common drunkards, and white deserters could be placed at work reclaiming the waste lands of the commonwealth would surely not be at variance with public sentiment or organized free labor. Then I would recommend that we go one step further and adopt the sense of the resolution as passed at the "International Prison Congress" and pay over to the families of these men a part of their earnings, say, for the sake of still further illustrating this subject, a nominal sum of 50 cents per day, so that there would be no incentive for a man to commit an offence, for the sake of getting employment from the state. If the clergy and a few level-headed citizens were to take this proposition to the legislature we might in time get this work established and thereby find a part solution of this great social problem. "The deserted family."

I would not give the impression, however, that the present system is not working out an immense amount of good, the local probation officer, Mr. Shattuck, collects a great deal of money in non-support cases, and one court alone, the Roxbury municipal court, through its probation officer, collected last year $3000.

In conclusion—probation officers can do a great service to neglected wives and deserted children. I am acquainted with officers who specialize in this form of probation work, and a great amount of good is accomplished by them. One officer attached to a large court in Essex county informed the writer that his judge took great interest in this branch of the probation system, and working together as they did, many cases where husbands failed to provide for their wives never reached the public stage of the open court. A complainant would call to see the judge in his private room, tell her story. She would then be referred to the probation officer, who, after giving her a hearing would call upon the husband or write him a letter requesting him to call at the probation office. If he came voluntarily—and most of them did—they would sit down and talk the matter over. The probation officer would point out to the man the folly of being brought into a public hearing in court, and being obliged to submit to the court's decree when the business could just as well be settled privately. This method usually proved and an agreement is entered into, whereby the probation officer is paid a stipulated sum weekly for the benefit of the family.

The amount collected and paid out by this one officer is very large, amounting to several thousand dollars annually.

Many other officers do a large amount of this same kind of work which the public learns but little about, inasmuch as this branch of probation work is not printed in any public document. (These cases not being entered upon the court docket, do not get a place in the annual report of the prison commission.)

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counselor can do much toward bringing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

back to the city of its first meeting place and, under a remarkable opportunity for reviewing the advances since the initial congress in 1872.

Under the third section on prevention, the resolutions held that the state should allow payment to prisoners and that the money should be available for the assistance of their families, if needed.

Non-Support Cases
Mr. Ramsay then went into the important subject of "non-support" and cited many interesting incidents that have come under his observation.

In summing up he said:
"For these evils, I would therefore, strongly urge that all cases of non-support or family desertion cases come before our police, district or municipal courts, be treated privately, that a day be set apart for their hearing, just as the cases of juveniles are now conducted, in a room set apart for the same, and that if the defendant is to be given a suspended sentence, he be placed in the care of the probation officer as surety, who shall see that the order of payments as made by the court is duly collected, and paid over to the neglected family. If unable to collect this money, he should arrest and return to court his word, as he has the right to do under the law, or else invoke the aid of the police to arrest for him, which he has also the right to do, and then let the judge deal with the man, not by sending him to a common jail, where he can mix and associate with thieves and other hardened criminals, where his labor is lost, his food good and plentiful, as it ought to be, clean baths and bedding, as they must be, with good books to read and tobacco smoking enjoyed as per rule of the institution; but to some place not yet discovered, but which I will take the liberty of suggesting."

Good Suggestion
Why not have the state establish or rather extend the industrial camp idea, as is now operated under the management of the prison commissioners at Rutland, Mass. A few such colonies established in the different counties where these common drunkards, and white deserters could be placed at work reclaiming the waste lands of the commonwealth would surely not be at variance with public sentiment or organized free labor. Then I would recommend that we go one step further and adopt the sense of the resolution as passed at the "International Prison Congress" and pay over to the families of these men a part of their earnings, say, for the sake of still further illustrating this subject, a nominal sum of 50 cents per day, so that there would be no incentive for a man to commit an offence, for the sake of getting employment from the state. If the clergy and a few level-headed citizens were to take this proposition to the legislature we might in time get this work established and thereby find a part solution of this great social problem. "The deserted family."

The Bon Marche Dry Goods Co.

SPECIAL SALE TODAY OF Children's Coats

—AT—
$1.98 Each

About 100 in the lot. Fancy mixtures, latest styles. Suitable for children from 3 to 14 years of age. Extra values at regular prices $3 and $4.

SALE PRICE TODAY

$1.98 Each

amount of good is accomplished by them. One officer attached to a large court in Essex county informed the writer that his judge took great interest in this branch of the probation system, and working together as they did, many cases where husbands failed to provide for their wives never reached the public stage of the open court. A complainant would call to see the judge in his private room, tell her story. She would then be referred to the probation officer, who, after giving her a hearing would call upon the husband or write him a letter requesting him to call at the probation office. If he came voluntarily—and most of them did—they would sit down and talk the matter over. The probation officer would point out to the man the folly of being brought into a public hearing in court, and being obliged to submit to the court's decree when the business could just as well be settled privately. This method usually proved and an agreement is entered into, whereby the probation officer is paid a stipulated sum weekly for the benefit of the family.

The amount collected and paid out by this one officer is very large, amounting to several thousand dollars annually.

Many other officers do a large amount of this same kind of work which the public learns but little about, inasmuch as this branch of probation work is not printed in any public document. (These cases not being entered upon the court docket, do not get a place in the annual report of the prison commission.)

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counselor can do much toward bringing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

back to the city of its first meeting place and, under a remarkable opportunity for reviewing the advances since the initial congress in 1872.

Under the third section on prevention, the resolutions held that the state should allow payment to prisoners and that the money should be available for the assistance of their families, if needed.

Non-Support Cases
Mr. Ramsay then went into the important subject of "non-support" and cited many interesting incidents that have come under his observation.

In summing up he said:
"For these evils, I would therefore, strongly urge that all cases of non-support or family desertion cases come before our police, district or municipal courts, be treated privately, that a day be set apart for their hearing, just as the cases of juveniles are now conducted, in a room set apart for the same, and that if the defendant is to be given a suspended sentence, he be placed in the care of the probation officer as surety, who shall see that the order of payments as made by the court is duly collected, and paid over to the neglected family. If unable to collect this money, he should arrest and return to court his word, as he has the right to do under the law, or else invoke the aid of the police to arrest for him, which he has also the right to do, and then let the judge deal with the man, not by sending him to a common jail, where he can mix and associate with thieves and other hardened criminals, where his labor is lost, his food good and plentiful, as it ought to be, clean baths and bedding, as they must be, with good books to read and tobacco smoking enjoyed as per rule of the institution; but to some place not yet discovered, but which I will take the liberty of suggesting."

Good Suggestion
Why not have the state establish or rather extend the industrial camp idea, as is now operated under the management of the prison commissioners at Rutland, Mass. A few such colonies established in the different counties where these common drunkards, and white deserters could be placed at work reclaiming the waste lands of the commonwealth would surely not be at variance with public sentiment or organized free labor. Then I would recommend that we go one step further and adopt the sense of the resolution as passed at the "International Prison Congress" and pay over to the families of these men a part of their earnings, say, for the sake of still further illustrating this subject, a nominal sum of 50 cents per day, so that there would be no incentive for a man to commit an offence, for the sake of getting employment from the state. If the clergy and a few level-headed citizens were to take this proposition to the legislature we might in time get this work established and thereby find a part solution of this great social problem. "The deserted family."

I would not give the impression, however, that the present system is not working out an immense amount of good, the local probation officer, Mr. Shattuck, collects a great deal of money in non-support cases, and one court alone, the Roxbury municipal court, through its probation officer, collected last year $3000.

In conclusion—probation officers can do a great service to neglected wives and deserted children. I am acquainted with officers who specialize in this form of probation work, and a great amount of good is accomplished by them. One officer attached to a large court in Essex county informed the writer that his judge took great interest in this branch of the probation system, and working together as they did, many cases where husbands failed to provide for their wives never reached the public stage of the open court. A complainant would call to see the judge in his private room, tell her story. She would then be referred to the probation officer, who, after giving her a hearing would call upon the husband or write him a letter requesting him to call at the probation office. If he came voluntarily—and most of them did—they would sit down and talk the matter over. The probation officer would point out to the man the folly of being brought into a public hearing in court, and being obliged to submit to the court's decree when the business could just as well be settled privately. This method usually proved and an agreement is entered into, whereby the probation officer is paid a stipulated sum weekly for the benefit of the family.

The amount collected and paid out by this one officer is very large, amounting to several thousand dollars annually.

Many other officers do a large amount of this same kind of work which the public learns but little about, inasmuch as this branch of probation work is not printed in any public document. (These cases not being entered upon the court docket, do not get a place in the annual report of the prison commission.)

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counselor can do much toward bringing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

back to the city of its first meeting place and, under a remarkable opportunity for reviewing the advances since the initial congress in 1872.

Under the third section on prevention, the resolutions held that the state should allow payment to prisoners and that the money should be available for the assistance of their families, if needed.

Non-Support Cases
Mr. Ramsay then went into the important subject of "non-support" and cited many interesting incidents that have come under his observation.

In summing up he said:
"For these evils, I would therefore, strongly urge that all cases of non-support or family desertion cases come before our police, district or municipal courts, be treated privately, that a day be set apart for their hearing, just as the cases of juveniles are now conducted, in a room set apart for the same, and that if the defendant is to be given a suspended sentence, he be placed in the care of the probation officer as surety, who shall see that the order of payments as made by the court is duly collected, and paid over to the neglected family. If unable to collect this money, he should arrest and return to court his word, as he has the right to do under the law, or else invoke the aid of the police to arrest for him, which he has also the right to do, and then let the judge deal with the man, not by sending him to a common jail, where he can mix and associate with thieves and other hardened criminals, where his labor is lost, his food good and plentiful, as it ought to be, clean baths and bedding, as they must be, with good books to read and tobacco smoking enjoyed as per rule of the institution; but to some place not yet discovered, but which I will take the liberty of suggesting."

Good Suggestion
Why not have the state establish or rather extend the industrial camp idea, as is now operated under the management of the prison commissioners at Rutland, Mass. A few such colonies established in the different counties where these common drunkards, and white deserters could be placed at work reclaiming the waste lands of the commonwealth would surely not be at variance with public sentiment or organized free labor. Then I would recommend that we go one step further and adopt the sense of the resolution as passed at the "International Prison Congress" and pay over to the families of these men a part of their earnings, say, for the sake of still further illustrating this subject, a nominal sum of 50 cents per day, so that there would be no incentive for a man to commit an offence, for the sake of getting employment from the state. If the clergy and a few level-headed citizens were to take this proposition to the legislature we might in time get this work established and thereby find a part solution of this great social problem. "The deserted family."

I would not give the impression, however, that the present system is not working out an immense amount of good, the local probation officer, Mr. Shattuck, collects a great deal of money in non-support cases, and one court alone, the Roxbury municipal court, through its probation officer, collected last year $3000.

In conclusion—probation officers can do a great service to neglected wives and deserted children. I am acquainted with officers who specialize in this form of probation work, and a great amount of good is accomplished by them. One officer attached to a large court in Essex county informed the writer that his judge took great interest in this branch of the probation system, and working together as they did, many cases where husbands failed to provide for their wives never reached the public stage of the open court. A complainant would call to see the judge in his private room, tell her story. She would then be referred to the probation officer, who, after giving her a hearing would call upon the husband or write him a letter requesting him to call at the probation office. If he came voluntarily—and most of them did—they would sit down and talk the matter over. The probation officer would point out to the man the folly of being brought into a public hearing in court, and being obliged to submit to the court's decree when the business could just as well be settled privately. This method usually proved and an agreement is entered into, whereby the probation officer is paid a stipulated sum weekly for the benefit of the family.

The amount collected and paid out by this one officer is very large, amounting to several thousand dollars annually.

Many other officers do a large amount of this same kind of work which the public learns but little about, inasmuch as this branch of probation work is not printed in any public document. (These cases not being entered upon the court docket, do not get a place in the annual report of the prison commission.)

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counselor can do much toward bringing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

back to the city of its first meeting place and, under a remarkable opportunity for reviewing the advances since the initial congress in 1872.

Under the third section on prevention, the resolutions held that the state should allow payment to prisoners and that the money should be available for the assistance of their families, if needed.

Non-Support Cases
Mr. Ramsay then went into the important subject of "non-support" and cited many interesting incidents that have come under his observation.

In summing up he said:
"For these evils, I would therefore, strongly urge that all cases of non-support or family desertion cases come before our police, district or municipal courts, be treated privately, that a day be set apart for their hearing, just as the cases of juveniles are now conducted, in a room set apart for the same, and that if the defendant is to be given a suspended sentence, he be placed in the care of the probation officer as surety, who shall see that the order of payments as made by the court is duly collected, and paid over to the neglected family. If unable to collect this money, he should arrest and return to court his word, as he has the right to do under the law, or else invoke the aid of the police to arrest for him, which he has also the right to do, and then let the judge deal with the man, not by sending him to a common jail, where he can mix and associate with thieves and other hardened criminals, where his labor is lost, his food good and plentiful, as it ought to be, clean baths and bedding, as they must be, with good books to read and tobacco smoking enjoyed as per rule of the institution; but to

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

Member of the Associated Press

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was 16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

Never in the history of the city have we had so many street improvements in progress as at the present time.

The importance of East Merrimack street as a public thoroughfare was not realized until it was closed by sewer work.

Hamlin, Vahey and the other democratic leaders are loyally fighting for the election of Eugene N. Foss. The pre-nomination differences are all forgotten in the desire for victory at the polls in the interest of the whole people.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

The people of this country today are groaning under the high cost of living and are looking for relief from the coming election.

The insurgent movement in the republican party is marching on and promises to leave the machine candidates and the machine policies far behind in the race.

The housekeepers especially are well informed on the burdens in this increased cost of living. They make the purchases and they realize what a short way a five dollar bill will go in buying household supplies compared to what it paid for ten or fifteen years ago. The purchasing power of the dollar has declined nearly one-half because the prices of commodities in general have been boosted up by the trusts in virtue of their power to stamp out competition under protection of the high tariff walls.

If the women of this country could vote they would cast their ballots solidly against the trust policies that have practically doubled the cost of living within the past fifteen years. The high tariff has rested heavily on dress goods for women as well as upon many household necessities which have formerly sold at moderate prices.

If we look back to the year 1896 and compare the prices of that year with those of today we shall find a most alarming increase. Below we give a comparison from the Johnstown, Pa., Democrat, showing how the prices in 1896 compare with those of the present time. We notice that some of the present prices are under-stated. Take for example the single article of flour quoted at $6.50. The average brand of flour sells at $7.50 a barrel in Lowell and other New England cities today, while some brands are sold at $8 per barrel. We mention this instance to show that in the prices quoted there is no attempt to juggle figures or to make the situation worse than it really is. The comparisons follow:

In 1896 under democratic rule you could buy two pounds of salt pork for 10 cents. Today the price is 24 cents.
In 1896 you could buy five pounds of pork ribs for 30 cents. Today the price is 90 cents.
In 1896 you could buy four pounds of smoked shoulder for 28 cents. Today the price is 60 cents.
In 1896 you could buy two pounds of sausage for 14 cents. Today the price is 30 cents.
In 1896 you could buy five pounds of lard for 25 cents. Today the price is 85 cents.
In 1896 you could buy five pounds of corned beef for 25 cents. Today the price is 70 cents.
In 1896 you could buy four pounds of butter for 64 cents. Today the price is $1.52—and you are not sure of getting genuine butter at that.
In 1896 you could buy two dozen eggs for 20 cents. Today the price is 64 cents—and packed eggs at that.
In 1896 you could buy one pound of cheese for 13 cents. Today the price is 20 cents.
In 1896 you could buy two quarts of beans for 8 cents. Today the price is 20 cents.
In 1896 you could buy a barrel of flour for $4. Today the price is $6.50.
In 1896 you could buy four pounds of fowl for 48 cents. Today the price is $1.00.
In 1896 you could buy 21 pounds of sugar for $1. Today the price is $1.31.
In 1896 you could buy two pounds of steak for 32 cents. Today the price is 50 cents.
In 1896 you could buy five pounds of roast beef for 66 cents. Today the price is $1.25.
In 1896 you could buy a bag of corn for 65 cents. Today the price is $1.60.
In 1896 you could buy a bushel of oats for 25 cents. Today the price is 55 cents.
And so on through the entire list of family necessities. In other words, a two weeks' store bill in 1896 amounted to $9.76. A two weeks' store bill today foots up $18.95.

It appears from this comparative statement that prices of household necessities have doubled since 1896; but if the rate of wages went up in the same proportion there would be no reason to complain.

The standpatters assert that the tariff has nothing to do with increasing prices, but the fact is undeniable that prices began to increase as soon as the Dingley law went into effect and kept on soaring with the multiplication of trusts, and mounted still higher when the Payne-Aldrich law took effect.

Let the voters of this district and of the state in general consider their own interests and vote against the party that is responsible for this enormous drain upon the resources of the people. How can a man support himself and family of small children upon six, seven, eight or even ten dollars a week?

While the rate of wages is somewhat higher than formerly the purchasing power is greatly reduced, and that is why the average family finds it so hard to get along.

There is an opportunity to effect a change by following the example of the state of Maine in voting for democratic candidates and democratic policies. Nothing else will bring the trusts and standpatters to their senses.

It is all nonsense for voters to turn in disgust from both political parties and seek relief in some revolutionary scheme that can never be realized because wrong in principle, visionary and impracticable. The voters of this country today have the power in their own hands, and if things are wrong it is because they have not used that power right when they cast their ballots on election day. If they vote for their own interests, refusing to be intimidated or influenced to do something entirely different, they will soon find the changes and the reforms that will correct most of the present abuses.

SEEN AND HEARD

Now that winter is coming on, it is time to make a black mark on the curbstone, so that in shoveling off the sidewalk you won't go beyond your neighbor's line.

Don't worry, girls. There will be mistletoe on as usual this year at the Christmas season.

Men wouldn't have to work half so hard if it weren't for the women, and the women wouldn't have to work half so hard if it weren't for the men.

Nothing illustrates a mean man's character better than laughing at a woman's way of sharpening a pencil, instead of offering to sharpen it for her as he should.

Giving advice is a pretty serious matter, even though people very seldom follow it.

The restaurant man isn't hard-hearted just because he doesn't care how hungry people get.

The habit of wearing society buttons is getting to be so common now that before long the people who don't belong to anything may take to wearing a non-society pin, just to be in style.

When a woman is always telling in public how good her husband is to her, people naturally begin to wonder if he really is.

A great many people are denying themselves to give their boys and girls an education, one result of which will be that when the boys and girls have the education they will look down on the old folks.

It is always very impressive to hear a sixteen-year-old say of another sixteen-year-old girl: "Oh, she is an old, old friend of mine!"

Every young bride should learn dressmaking, so that she would be able to support herself in case anything should happen to her husband. Incidentally, by making her own dresses she can save her husband money. This piece of advice applied to husbands would make them all their own tailors.

When a young man gets the idea in his head that he is a good judge of human nature, it generally costs him money before he finds out his mistake.

Even if clairvoyants could tell the future from a lock of hair, that wouldn't do Mr. Rockefeller any good.

How immensely superior the boy who has a stem-winding watch is to the boy who has an old key-winder.

Sometimes a woman's literary society devotes nearly a quarter of the evening to literary matters.

Even in Boston people talk about getting into good society, as if all society in Boston were not good.

WHERE SUMMER WAS

Where summer was the grass is gray
And brown,
And withered leaves are scattered here and there
To mark how they have softly fluttered down
On sighing breezes, or through breathless air.
The flowers flaunt no more their banners gay
Nor lose their perfumes to the laughing wind.
No trace the word of joyous June or May
Do we in all the dying landscape find.

Where summer was, the birds have flown the nest.
To journey southward to a fairer clime,
No more the twilight purples in the west
While stars march up the eastern slope of time.
But night stalks in with draperies that fold
All suddenly upon the world of light,
And winds that chant a chorus dull and cold
Run with the rustling leaves beside the night.

Where summer was—it comes not back
today,
The silver mornings bringing each a song
That lifts in joy adown a rose-hedged way
With liltle echoes trailing it along:
The golden hush of summer afternoons
When we of field and flower seem a part.
And all of summer's sweetness aways and sways
And in an untold rapture holds the heart.

Where summer was, the lone tree on the hill,
Lifts up its arms of sacrificial fire,
Heaped high with leaves that flame all mythic still
In red and gold—a beacon and a pyre.
But one brave blossom lifts its petalled cup
From the recesses of the drooping
vine,
As though before it dies it would raise
The parting draught of summer's scented wine.

—Wilbur D. Nesbit in Chicago
Evening Post.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

It was a great bill which was presented at the first Sunday night concert of the season at the Merrimack Square theatre last night, and the audience which packed the house to the doors thoroughly enjoyed it, and made it plain that they did so.
For besides such acts as the Glendale quartet, out of the six vaudeville features on the program there were three which had not before been seen here: Ward & Ravnor, Grace Lavelle and Eddie Poyer.
The first of these week promises some delightful surprises also. There is for instance, Dr. McDonald, who is truly an electrical wizard, and who is assisted in an unusual and elaborate act by a young woman who apparently defies all the mystic powers of electricity.
Irene LaTour is besides being a wonderful contortionist, a very charming, winsome young woman, who has, in assist her in her act, her little pet dog, "Zaza," who plays a far from unimportant part in the act.
Then there is Morgan & West, real comedians this time, in a scorchingly funny sketch, and Miss Mae Moulton, the soloist who so delighted audiences last week, and the management awarded to numerous requests and retained her at the local house of the circuit for another engagement.
The scenic stock Co. will present a dainty comedy called "The Thief and the Rose." The company will appear with an augmented cast, Miss C. M. Marie, a dainty and charming little actress, who has been engaged for a prominent role.
A continuous performance will be presented every day from 1 until 10.30 p. m.

Hallowe'en Sale

John Street Window
While They Last, Two for 5c
R. E. JUDD Bookseller and Stationer, 79 Merrimack St.

ST. THOMAS' SALVE

—FOR—
Piles, Old Sores and Skin Diseases
—FOR SALE—
At All Up-to-date Drug Stores
THIRTY-FIVE CENTS

SPECIALS

Steamed clams, 20c; fried oysters and French fries, 25c; fried clams and French fries, 25c. Call and see us.

LOWELL INN

Busiest place on Central street

J. P. Q. No. 2 Nut Coal

$6.50 per ton, $3.25 per half ton. For kitchen range or topping off the furnace fire it is worth more than coal you pay $7.50 per ton for. Try a ton and be convinced. I guarantee every ton. Mail and telephone orders will receive immediate attention.

JOHN P. QUINN

Office and Yard, Gorham and Dix Sts. Telephone 1180 and 2480; when one is busy, call the other.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"Billy the Boy Artist" gives the idea of the original, comical, sparkling, dashing, charming musical comedy presented at the Opera House for three nights, beginning tonight.

Just consider the effort and expense that goes into the modern first-class musical show now-a-days. For instance, "Billy the Boy Artist" that plays at the Opera House for three nights starting tonight, is a good example. To begin at the beginning the author worked at the play and songs for two years off and on, three competent composers being engaged to write the twenty-two pieces of music. Every costume, property and piece of scenery had a sketch made for it first, which was afterward reproduced by the costumers and scene painters; a first class company specially engaged to fit the parts as well as play them rehearsed for weeks while at the same time a strong chorus of singing and dancing girls was being trained under an expert dancing master.

When everything was ready for its Metropolitan opening thousands of gold, hard American dollars had been spent. There is a vast difference between putting on a dramatic play with a few modern costumes and some simple scenery, and an up-to-date musical show. Every chorus girl in "Billy the Boy Artist" has to change to five different fetching expensive dresses in the course of the evening. Barnum's circus is the only other form of entertainment that holds anything like the same comparison between the big original investment and the small price of admission. Think it over.

THE NEW OPERA COMPANY.

That music and the dance so closely allied in the history of music, are still good friends is illustrated by the fact that Christian Hansen, the noted tenor to appear here on November 12th, with the New Opera company at the Opera House, says dancing is his favorite exercise. J. C. Brill, the managing director of the New Opera company, known to his intimates as a quaint humorist, says that Hansen makes him nervous, that he dances so much as to make him think of one afflicted with the St. Vitus dance.

"THE MAN ON THE BOX."

"The Man on the Box," which is to be presented at the Opera House on Saturday, matinee and night, by John Meehan and supporting company, has been styled "America's best comedy."

It has always been a prime favorite with theatregoers since first produced by Henry E. Dixey. It amuses by mirth of genial whimsicality and holds the interest upon the disentanglement of its situations as a well made piece should. The characters are drawn with the human touch of good comedy.

Santa go on sale Wednesday.

GERTRUDE ELLIOTT.

The date announced for the local engagement of the talented actress, Gertrude Elliott, in Mrs. Frances Burnett's play, "The Dawn of Tomorrow," is Friday, Nov. 13th, and already there is an unusual number of inquiries at the box office in regard to the engagement. Miss Elliott, who has made a pronounced success in this play, has just finished a successful engagement at the Shubert theatre, Boston, and will be seen here supported by the same exceptional cast and same complete production as during the Boston engagement.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

One of the greatest local favorites in Lowell's theatrical history is to be at the Hathaway theatre this week, and his presence is expected to pack the playhouse throughout the week. He is Wright Huntington, formerly a matinee idol in this city, who is now heading his own company in a jolly vaudeville playlet, entitled "A Vision of the Night." The Great Lutz & Co. present an act that is bristling with surprises. The Great Lutz plays the slide trombone, using his toes and legs in the place of fingers and arms. He plays the snare and bass drums in the same manner. With the stage in darkness, he takes a rifle and shoots a lighted candle out of his brother's mouth. He also executes many other difficult feats of sharpshooting, and as a finish, Mrs. Lutz, wife of his brother, stands on a saw and when it is in motion the Great Lutz shoots away the things that bind her cloak about her, allowing it to drop at her feet. The brother also gives an exhibition of fancy shooting. From an artistic as well as applause standpoint, the singing of Horace Wright and Rene Dietrich, "The Slender," "The Different Singers," is sure of high honors. Mr. Wright, who won laurels by his splendid vocal work in "The Wall Between," makes his entrance as an Italian and sings a native song. Mrs. Dietrich follows with a selection that shows her cultivated and melodious voice to admirable advantage. They close with a "Moon" song. Wilbert and Leland are European comedy acrobats, who appear in a unique and original exhibition. They are just over from England, and will make their first American appearance at the Hathaway's. William J. Morrissey, a popular vaudeville comedian, will give pleasure with his merry and musical jokery. Kessler and Lee are a gifted pair of terpsichoreans, and their stepping in "Dances of All Nations" is worth going far to enjoy. Vittorio and George, "The Upside Down Boys," offer a distinct and remarkable novelty.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

It was a great bill which was presented at the first Sunday night concert of the season at the Merrimack Square theatre last night, and the audience which packed the house to the doors thoroughly enjoyed it, and made it plain that they did so.

For besides such acts as the Glendale quartet, out of the six vaudeville features on the program there were three which had not before been seen here: Ward & Ravnor, Grace Lavelle and Eddie Poyer.

The first of these week promises some delightful surprises also. There is for instance, Dr. McDonald, who is truly an electrical wizard, and who is assisted in an unusual and elaborate act by a young woman who apparently defies all the mystic powers of electricity.

Irene LaTour is besides being a wonderful contortionist, a very charming, winsome young woman, who has, in assist her in her act, her little pet dog, "Zaza," who plays a far from unimportant part in the act.

Then there is Morgan & West, real comedians this time, in a scorchingly funny sketch, and Miss Mae Moulton, the soloist who so delighted audiences last week, and the management awarded to numerous requests and retained her at the local house of the circuit for another engagement.

The scenic stock Co. will present a dainty comedy called "The Thief and the Rose." The company will appear with an augmented cast, Miss C. M. Marie, a dainty and charming little actress, who has been engaged for a prominent role.

A continuous performance will be presented every day from 1 until 10.30 p. m.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

An entire new show at the Academy today, including Capt. Dohn & Co., Europe's heavyweight balancing novelty; Walters, White & Walters, comedy singing and dancing trio; and Fredericks & Kircwood in a western comedy playlet, "The Cowboy's Visit," also new and up-to-date moving pictures. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

Those who have read the Soldier's Three stories in the Boston Sunday Post magazine will appreciate the fact that the dramatic outlet at the Theatre Voyons today, its title is "His Brother of Discipline," and its scenes range from Paris to the gold fields of California. There are three real comedies on the bill, and each is good for many laughs. "The Proposal" details the story of a man who proposes by letter and then wishes he hadn't and it brings out many funny situations, fervor for which Roschul was noted, in

PUTNAM & SON CO.

166 CENTRAL STREET

Fancy OVERCOATS

Values up to $15, for

$8.50

Here are 17 patterns of fancy overcoats and but fifty-five coats in the lot—all marked to sell for this extremely low price.

These are from last season—but you'd never know it unless we told you—for they're smart cut and in good style today.

Every pattern is desirable—they're capably tailored and our only purpose in making this low price is to clear our stock of small quantities that have but two or three coats in a lot.

Young men's sizes, fitting boys from 17 years up to young men, 38 breast measure. Original prices were $10, $12, $13 and $15, all today

$8.50

Our Complete Overcoat Stock Is Ready

A surprising variety of styles—covering every possible use—from the conservative dress overcoat to motor great coats.

DRESS OVERCOATS

Full box back, made by Rogers-Peet & Co., and other high class makers—korseys, meltons, English coatings, in black, blue, oxford and Cambridge from....

$10 to $35

FANCY OVERCOATS

50 inches long—full box back with very deep center vent—the swellest garments shown (this season, all new coatings in browns, tans, grays, herringbone weave, overplaid and quiet stripes,.....

$10 to $30

COMBINATION COLLAR OVERCOATS

Collars with the long roll lapel, or to button close in military style, Stan-lays and other models. These coats are 50 inches long, made with full box back, many of them cravenetted, making them water-proof, mighty smart patterns in fancy coatings.....

$10 to $28

GREAT COATS

Full double breast with more "snap and go" than you've ever seen in ready for service garments. All made with full box back and a broad sweep to the skirt. Stunning fancy patterns and fine friezes with box cloth linings—great coats for motoring.....

$20 to $32

FUR LINED COATS

Fine kerseys, splendid fitting and perfectly tailored.....

$35 to $150

FUR COATS

Fur outside. Made on very full patterns, Chinese Dog, Siberian Buffalo Calf and Racoon.....

$16.50 to $55.00

PUTNAM & SON CO.

166 CENTRAL STREET

Fancy OVERCOATS

Values up to $15, for

$8.50

Here are 17 patterns of fancy overcoats and but fifty-five coats in the lot—all marked to sell for this extremely low price.

These are from last season—but you'd never know it unless we told you—for they're smart cut and in good style today.

Every pattern is desirable—they're capably tailored and our only purpose in making this low price is to clear our stock of small quantities that have but two or three coats in a lot.

Young men's sizes, fitting boys from 17 years up to young men, 38 breast measure. Original prices were $10, $12, $13 and $15, all today

$8.50

Our Complete Overcoat Stock Is Ready

A surprising variety of styles—covering every possible use—from the conservative dress overcoat to motor great coats.

DRESS OVERCOATS

Full box back, made by Rogers-Peet & Co., and other high class makers—korseys, meltons, English coatings, in black, blue, oxford and Cambridge from....

$10 to $35

FANCY OVERCOATS

50 inches long—full box back with very deep center vent—the swellest garments shown (this season, all new coatings in browns, tans, grays, herringbone weave, overplaid and quiet stripes,.....

$10 to $30

COMBINATION COLLAR OVERCOATS

Collars with the long roll lapel, or to button close in military style, Stan-lays and other models. These coats are 50 inches long, made with full box back, many of them cravenetted, making them water-proof, mighty smart patterns in fancy coatings.....

$10 to $28

GREAT COATS

Full double breast with more "snap and go" than you've ever seen in ready for service garments. All made with full box back and a broad sweep to the skirt. Stunning fancy patterns and fine friezes with box cloth linings—great coats for motoring.....

$20 to $32

FUR LINED COATS

Fine kerseys, splendid fitting and perfectly tailored.....

$35 to $150

FUR COATS

Fur outside. Made on very full patterns, Chinese Dog, Siberian Buffalo Calf and Racoon.....

$16.50 to $55.00

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

An entire new show at the Academy today, including Capt. Dohn & Co., Europe's heavyweight balancing novelty; Walters, White & Walters, comedy singing and dancing trio; and Fredericks & Kircwood in a western comedy playlet, "The Cowboy's Visit," also new and up-to-date moving pictures. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

Those who have read the Soldier's Three stories in the Boston Sunday Post magazine will appreciate the fact that the dramatic outlet at the Theatre Voyons today, its title is "His Brother of Discipline," and its scenes range from Paris to the gold fields of California. There are three real comedies on the bill, and each is good for many laughs. "The Proposal" details the story of a man who proposes by letter and then wishes he hadn't and it brings out many funny situations, fervor for which Roschul was noted, in

EMPIRE THEATRE

"The Month Rouge" orchestra with Frederick Guillaume will be classified in the line of the "Hus." Although only a very few weeks in this country, the Month Rouge orchestra with Frederick Guillaume has secured a head-line position wherever it has appeared. "The new announcement of the art may indicate that it consists of the ordinary musical entertainment. To enlighten all, it will be of interest to learn that Frederick Guillaume is considered one of the best impersonators of famous composers of past and present. While the orchestra renders the overture to William Tell, Frederick Guillaume appears as Rossini, the conductor of the overture and directs his musicians with the same skill and fervor for which Roschul was noted, in

DRACUT

The Florence club defeated the Invaders in a good game of football Saturday afternoon on Skilling's field, the final score being 10 to 0. The game was one of the best that has been seen in the town this season and was well contested. Despite the fact that the Invaders met defeat they put up a strong game.

DEMOCRATS CONFIDENT

That Foss Will Win a Great Victory Nov., 8

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Both the democratic and republican candidates for governor rested yesterday and got all the sleep they could, preparatory to resuming their stump speaking again this evening.

The democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, Thomas F. Cassidy, of Adams, spent yesterday at a hotel in this city and Lieut. Gov. Frothingham rested at his home.

Cassidy has long been recognized as one of the best speakers in the party and is in great demand all over the state for rallies. His friends predict a big vote for him in the western part of the state and wherever he has spoken in the eastern and central sections he has made many new friends and votes of the entire ticket. He is easily the best speaker on the democratic ticket this year.

Yesterday James H. Yahoo spent most of the afternoon and evening with him. Mr. Yahoo is deeply interested in the candidacy of his friend Cassidy and wants to see him elected.

The Boston democratic campaign opens tonight with rallies in wards 3, 18, 20 and 24.

Foss and Cassidy go to Springfield, Holyoke, Chicopee and Westfield for rallies.

Gov. Draper speaks in Brockton and Lieut. Gov. Frothingham goes to Milwauke.

Democratic Reports Hopeful

It was announced at democratic state headquarters last evening that the committee is in receipt of hundreds of letters and telegrams from all sections of the state reporting a condition of affairs which is extremely promising.

Christopher T. Callahan of Holyoke says that after a trip through the Berkshires he is satisfied from personal observation that "conditions have improved wonderfully over a fortnight ago, particularly in Adams and North Adams."

From the 14th congressional district, the committee is assured that conditions were never more bright, more enthusiastic for Mr. Foss being shown than during the recent congressional fight, which sent the gubernatorial nominee to congress. Many republicans are openly asserting their intention to vote for Mr. Foss. Edward Gilmore of Brockton writes as follows:

"It looks to me, after personal visitation of the town in Plymouth and Barnstable counties, that you have Gov. Draper beaten to a frazzle in the 14th district. In all the towns where I have been I have found many anti-Lodge republicans. They are for Foss and anti-Lodge. I am told by many republicans that Judge Hurd is now a Lodge man and with Draper and no longer entertains 'insurgent' feelings, but he cannot drive away the republicans who are planning to vote for you, not even in his own Bridgewater."

"The republicans are getting very anxious about Cape Cod," says State Committeeman George T. McLaughlin of Sandwich. "They are going to send Bates and a host of spellbinders down here, beginning Thursday. That is evidence enough for me. Mr. Thacher starts a while and trip up from Provincetown, beginning on the 10th. He says part of the season, and we will get in the last and conclusive arguments—not to speak of the votes."

Matrimonial

Mr. Gerald J. Griffin and Miss Josephine M. Aubrey were married yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Louis church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Jacques. The witnesses were William M. Lannan and Alex. A. Coia. A family dinner was served at the bride's home, 212 Ludlum street, followed by a reception in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin left later by the 9:30 train for a brief bridal trip.

Trotter-Chatteauf

Mr. Victor Trotter and Miss Marie Chatteauf were married yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory, Rev. Fr. Brullard, O. M. I., being the officiating clergyman. Messrs. Charles Duprat and Arthur Chatteauf were the witnesses.

Dube-Burns

Mr. Alfred Dube and Miss Rose Burns were married yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory, by Rev. Fr. Brullard, O. M. I. Messrs. James Burns and Amedeo Dube were the witnesses.

Dole-Smith

Mr. Ralph M. Dole, who for a number of years resided with the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co., but who is now residing in Johnston, N. Y., was united in marriage to Miss Edna C. Smith, of Gloversville, N. Y., on October 26, the marriage taking place at the parsonage of the Protestant Street Methodist church, Gloversville, Rev. George C. Douglass performing the ceremony.

The full ring service was used. The bride carried bride roses, and was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Ma Mae Lawrence of Middlebury, while the bridesmaid was attended by Mr. Clarence S. Putnam of Johnston. Following the ceremony a wedding reception was given at the home of Mr. Dole's sister, 22 North Johnson street. There was later a reception. Mr. and Mrs. Dole received many beautiful gifts. Following a wedding tour they will live at 108 Byard street, Johnston, N. Y.

THE FINANCES

STATEMENT OF THE LOWELL HOSIERY CO.

The following is from Fibre and Fabric of even date:

The financial statement of the Lowell Hosiery Co. as of September 30, reads as follows:

Notes payable are.....$60,000.00
Taxes for the current year due the 30th inst..... 2,481.94
Total.....$62,481.94
Bills receivable..... 30,331.93
Billing price of goods at mill and in New York.....18,443.55
Total.....$111,257.42
Commission 2 per cent..... 2,317.76
Balance.....$108,939.66
Cash in bank..... 4,160.51
Cash and local bills receivable..... 636.70
Total.....$113,736.87
Balance we owe.....$10,324.01
Against plant and machinery and supply account of $7,136.94.
Treasurer Thissell has been remarkably successful in the building up of the plant and business of the company, as in the last half of 1909 when he assumed the trusteeship there was a loss from operations which he has changed into a good profit and during his management, $9000 has been spent on extraordinary repairs, drives, etc., $35,000 for new machinery and $41,000 for dividends. Competition now demands more modern machinery and a loan of $100,000 is being considered to be used for new equipment, provided a shareholders' committee, consisting of H. G. Duckworth, Alonzo G. Welch, George Bowers, J. H. Sparks and F. A. Platter find the new equipment is needed. The plant now operates about 325 looms, 16 ribbers, 57 looper and 50 sewing machines and a loss cotton hosiery. The business was established in 1869 and the company is capitalized at $200,000, while the insurance appraisal is $232,186 and assessed value of the land $19,280.

TRIMMED HATS

The equal of any millinery store—with style and smartness apparent to the most indifferent. Genuine compliments and eager buying prove their good style.

| | |
|------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Black Silk Waists.....$3.95 | Silk Petticoats.....$3.95 |
|------------------------------|----------------------------|

TAFFETA WAISTS
different models; tuckings, insertion trimmed and plain.

will compare with any $5 garment. Rustling heavy silk, full width, deep sectional flounce.

Caesar Misch Store

ALEXANDER STRAUSS, PROP.

220 CENTRAL STREET

WHEN IN WANT OF COAL or MASON Supplies

Don't Forget We Sell

| | |
|---|---|
| Fire Brick, for Bakers' Ovens. | Agricultural Lime, for land. |
| Drain Pipe, for Sewers. | Lime for Maine, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and Vermont. |
| Drain Pipe, for Wells. Sizes run from 3 to 24 inches. | Portland Cement. |
| Blacksmith Coal. | Rosendale Cement. |
| Admiralty New River Steam Coal, for Boilers. | Fire Clay. |
| Jeddo Lehigh, Stove or Egg Size. | Hard Wall Plaster. |
| Reading Hard White Ash, Stove or Egg Size. | Wire Lath. |
| Wilkesbarre Free Burning, Stove, Egg or Nut. | Mortar Color. |
| Lackawanna White Ash, all sizes. | Hair. |
| Franklin Red Ash, Stove Size. | Hard Brick, for nice work. |
| Cannell Coal, for Open Grates. | Pressed Brick, for Fire Places. |
| Briquettes, no clinkers or cinders. | Soft Brick, for Chimneys. |
| | Fire Brick, for Boilers. |

At our Broadway yard we carry in stock the largest variety of coal of any dealer in the city. If you want good clean coal send us your order or call and we will be pleased to show you our coal and also prove that we are still doing business at our own yard.

E. A. WILSON & CO.

4 Merrimack Sq., 700 Broadway, 15 Tanner St.

Telephones 68-135-352.

Wonderful Case of Deafness Cured

Chester, N. H., May 18, 1910.
Keron's Institute, Manchester, N. H.

This is to certify that I have been deaf for two years, and doctors pronounced my case incurable, on account of my old age. To me, I was cured after taking three treatments from Prof. G. W. Keron, and can hear the tick of a clock at quite a distance.

I cheerfully recommend Prof. G. W. Keron to all deaf people, as I believe he can help them.

Signed, S. A. BLACKSTONE.

If you are alive and energetic yet there is still a chance for you to get well without medicine, surgery, pain or absence from business, at Keron's Institute, 939 Elm street, Manchester, or 287 Broadway, Lawrence, Mass. Manchester office open every Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, office hours, 8 to 11 a. m. and 2 to 7 p. m. Sunday, 4 to 6 p. m. Lawrence office open every Monday. Tel. 1108-2.

LAKE COMMERCE

Shows a Decrease From Previous Years

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Domestic commerce on the Great Lakes during September, as measured by the volume of shipments from domestic lake ports, shows a smaller volume than for the preceding summer months. The bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor announces, a monthly total of 11,892,012 short tons shipped, which is less than the corresponding total for September, 1909—12,527,865 short tons. As compared with the figures for September, 1908, the increase in volume was, however, not less than 25 per cent. Smaller shipments of iron ore and miscellaneous freight are mainly accountable for the decrease in the monthly total.

The iron-ore shipments for the month, 6,008,682 long tons, were 13 per cent less than the total for the preceding month as well as the September figures of 1909, though the total for the year thus far is larger than that of the corresponding months of last year. The total in shipments does not affect equally all the shipping ports. The Duluth-Superior figures for the month, 3,245,967 long tons, were slightly in excess of the corresponding 1909 total. Shipments from the other Lake Superior and Michigan ports, on the other hand, were decidedly lower than a year ago. Bessemer reports the largest decline from 317,258 long tons in September, 1909, to 259,452 long tons for the month under consideration. Practically all the larger receiving ports show smaller receipts than a year ago. The monthly receipts at Lake Erie ports were 4,356,321 long tons, compared with 4,811,258 long tons in August and 5,771,846 long tons in September, 1909. Lake Michigan ports show receipts of 1,048,537 long tons compared with 1,141,220 long tons for the preceding month and 1,170,407 long tons for September, 1909. The season's shipments to the end of September, 24,276,040 long tons, owing to the heavy movement during the early part of the season, are still over 5 million tons larger than for the corresponding period in 1909 and about 4 tons larger than in 1907.

The shipments of coal during the month, while also lower than the month before, compare favorably with corresponding 1909 figures. Hard-coal shipments for the month, 375,491 short tons, destined mainly to Superior, Chicago, and Milwaukee docks, were considerably in excess of the September, 1909 figures. The season's shipments to the end of September, 3,035,434 short tons, were about 22 per cent larger than a year ago. The soft-coal shipments during the month, 2,457,721 short tons, of which over 60 per cent was destined to Duluth-Superior and Milwaukee docks, were also lower than the month before, although nearly 25 per cent larger than during September of the preceding year. The shipments for the 9 months of the season, 18,727,715 short tons, by far exceeded corresponding totals for any of the preceding years.

The lumber shipments during the month, 161,501 M feet, continued fairly heavy and exceeded in volume the shipments during each of the summer months. The 9 months' record, 922,594 M feet, shows a 10 per cent increase over the 1909 total. The season's receipts at Lake Erie ports, 383,216 M feet, are mainly responsible for the larger total, the receipts at North Tonawanda for the present year being about 40 per cent larger than in 1909.

The grain shipments during the month, 1,026,872 bushels, compared favorably with the corresponding 1909 shipments of 20,831,749 bushels, corn and oats showing heavy gains while the movements of wheat and barley were decidedly smaller than a year ago. Both the monthly and season movements of flaxseed, 245,056 and 556,555 bushels, respectively, were considerably lower than in former years. Losses, as compared with September, 1909, are also shown in the shipments of flour, salt, iron manufactures, and miscellaneous freight, while shipments of pig iron and copper show larger monthly totals than a year ago.

Merchandise traffic during the month through the St. Joe, Ste. Marie canals aggregated 799,374 short tons, compared with 9,227,192 and 6,453,258 short tons, reported for September, 1909 and 1908. The decrease, as compared with last year's figures, affects only eastbound shipments; chiefly those of iron ore, wheat, and other grains. The smaller grain traffic, as compared with September, 1909, is due primarily to the smaller shipments of Canadian wheat from Lake Superior ports. The monthly coal traffic through the canals, while heavier than for September, 1909, shows a decline when compared with the preceding month's record. The number of vessel passages for the month was 2997, receiving a total of 7,093,575 net tons register, compared with 2,918 vessel passages and a tonnage of 7,435,709 net tons register for September, 1909.

The total vessel movement on the Great Lakes during the month, as measured by the departure of vessels, included 987 vessels of 14,740,114 net tons register, compared with 10,617 vessels of 15,057,489 net tons register reported for September of the preceding year.

The September freight traffic movement through the Detroit river, 5516,524 short tons indicates a decrease of traffic similar to that stated above for the lake ports, though the loss affects only the southbound movement. The northbound freight movement for the month, 2,937,325 short tons, largely composed of coal, proved heavier than during the month before and about 23 per cent in excess of the corresponding total in 1909.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ROWING

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 31.—The athletic governing board of Syracuse university has voted to eliminate intercollegiate rowing from the list of sports for the present college year. The services of Coach James A. Ten Eyck will be retained.

As rowing necessitates the heaviest expenses and brings no financial returns, it was deemed best to drop that sport for the present to effect economy.

The governing board expects that rowing will again be taken up in 1912.

NEW CABINET ELECTED

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 31.—President-elect Marshal Hermes Fonseca has selected his new cabinet as follows:

Minister of foreign affairs, Baron de Rio Branco.

Minister of the interior, Senhor Correa.

Minister of public works, Dr. J. J. Seabra.

Minister of agriculture, Pedro Toledo.

Minister of finance, Senhor Salles.

Minister of war, General Barreto.

Minister of marine, Admiral Leao.

The GILBRIDE CO.

WE ARE DETERMINED UPON INCREASING OUR BUSINESS IN

Rugs, Bedding and Draperies

This department is not satisfied with any past achievement. It is always endeavoring to better its own best. How such a policy affects your interests will be best demonstrated to you by a visit the coming week. We carry only the better grades, consequently this sale is of unusual importance to prospective purchasers of HOUSE FURNISHINGS. By making a small deposit, any of the goods advertised will be stored free of charge a reasonable length of time.

Hodge's Fibre Rugs

- Every rug guaranteed perfect—None mismatched; all in perfect condition.
- | | |
|--|--------|
| 7-6x10-6 Fiber Rugs, $7.50 value..... | $2.95 |
| 9x12 Fiber Rugs, value $10.00..... | $5.95 |
- | | |
|---|-----------------|
| 9x12 Axminster Rugs, value $25..... | $18.50 |
| (These rugs are all perfect and this season's patterns.) | |
| 30x60 Royal Axminster Rugs in reproduction of Orientals..... | $1.98 |
| 9x12 Tapestry Rugs, value $20, for..... | $10.95 |
| 30x60 Double-faced Reversible Smyrna Rugs, worth $1.50..... | 79c |
| 65c Linoleums, two yards wide, in wide range of patterns..... | 49c Square Yard |
| 50c Floor Oil Cloths, two yards wide, all perfect goods..... | 39c Square Yard |

Attend this Rug Sale

Rugs from the Bigelow-Howell Carpet Co., S. Sanford & Sons, Firth Carpet Co., Schofield, Mason & Co., etc.

Our Line of Draperies

Is as complete as ever, and we are constantly adding the most up-to-date styles and patterns, so you are sure to get the latest goods at the lowest possible prices.

| | |
|--|--------|
| Muslin Curtains, good quality, worth 75c pair, for..... | 59c |
| Muslin Curtains with hemstitched edge and two-inch lace insertion, value $1.65, for..... | $1.25 |
| High Grade Nottingham Curtains, in all the newest effects, reduced for this special sale, 79c to $5.00 Pair | |

| | |
|--|--|
| Irish Point Curtains—Our line at $5.00 has no equal in this city and includes curtains that were priced up to $7.00. | |
| Couch Covers reduced for this sale. Priced from 79c to $4.98 | |

Brass Beds and Iron Beds

- | | |
|---|---------|
| $20 Brass Bed, full two-inch posts with heavy pillars, English lacquered..... | $14.95 |
| $50 Brass Beds, two-inch posts, Napoleon design, regular $50 value..... | $35.00 |
| $7.50 White Iron Beds, guaranteed Bessemer steel tubing, best quality, hard-baked enamel.... | $5.98 |
| $7.50 Couch Beds..... | $4.98 |
| All Steel Frame Drop Side Couch, fitted with National springs, top and mattress, complete, $4.98 | |
| $4.00 National Springs in all sizes, malleable corner castings, for..... | $2.48 |
| $3.00 Soft Top Mattresses in good quality ticking, for..... | $1.98 |
| $4.00 Soft Top and Bottom Combination Mattress for..... | $2.98 |
| Cotton Comfort Mattress, best ticking, $10.00 quality, for..... | $5.95 |

DPAPERY and UPHOLSTERY DEPT.

In our work-room we are prepared to furnish the highest grade of workmanship on all kinds of Drapery Work, from Shades to the finest class of Draperies and Festoon Work. Estimates given on Shades and Draperies by expert workmen, who will call at your residence, look over your house and advise you in the latest styles of work. Get the habit of coming here once and you will call again.

LEADER OF GANG Shot and Killed by Police Officer

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Through quick work with his revolver and unerring aim, Robert Adler, the special policeman in a West 23rd street dance academy, who late Saturday night shot and killed another man and probably fatally injured another while the fifty or more dancers were in the midst of the mazes of the waltz, broke up for the time being the Gipper gang, a band of gangsters.

Six of them, led by Charles Hunt, charged hatred against Adler and, according to the police, went to the dance academy to "get" him. When Adler stopped them at the door, his hands reached for his many pistol pockets. A shot was fired and the door near Adler's head was splintered. Then Adler's pistol flashed and Hunt, crumpled up and fell, shot through the head.

Three other shots were fired at Adler, but all missed. William Morris, one of the band, then hinged forward with pistol raised but the special policeman had him.

Heeman was too quick and shot him through the head. The remainder of the gang fled. Morris probably will die.

PLANS MADE FOR THE ANNUAL CHRISTMAS DAY SWIM

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 31.—Plans are being laid for the annual Christmas day swim in the Willamette river at Portland. It is expected the biggest list of entries yet made in the history of the event will be forthcoming.

A shorter course than was the case last year will be laid in order to encourage even the beginners in swimming to enter. A distance of 220 yards will be marked off on the waterfront and the swimmers will enter the water from a large moored at one end of the course and will swim to another boat at the proper distance.

Arthur Cayth, swimming instructor of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club, inaugurated the custom of holding a swimming race on Christmas day, and he will be in the water this year, as usual, to encourage the others in this aquatic novelty. F. E. Watkins, chairman of the swimming committee of the club, is also backing the event.

Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 31.—Yesterday's program of the 37th annual convention of the Y. M. C. A., consisted of devotional services, men's mass meetings and platform addresses. The church services where delegates spoke were well attended. At the men's mass meeting in Massey hall, Fred B. Smith, secretary, was the principal speaker. J. N. Spence of St. Louis, chairman of the association for the United States and R. Townson of New York, also spoke.

THESE MEN WILL BE AMONG THE VICTORS AND THE VANQUISHED OF ELECTION DAY

HIRAM W. JOHNSON

THEODORE A. BELL

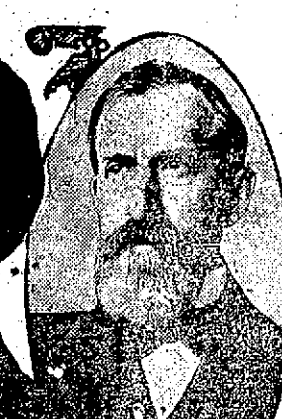

WOODROW WILSON

VIVIAN M. LEWIS

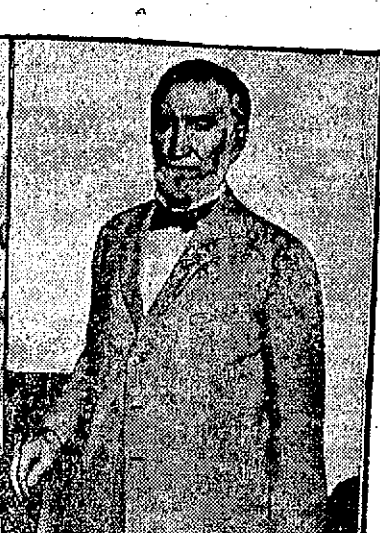

SENATOR BEVERIDGE

JOHN W. KERN

WILLIAM L. CUNDIFF

SPEAKER CANNON

SYDNEY ANDERSON

JAMES A. TAWNEY

HOKE SMITH

FREDERICK W. PLAISTED

SIMEONE BALDWIN

CHARLES A. GOODWIN

By CHARLES N. LURIE.

WITH the fall of the leaves comes the fall of the hopes of the candidates. And that is the kind of fall that hurts most if the facial expressions of the disappointed nominees, not their words, are to be believed.

It is to be feared that a greater proportion than usual of political hopes are doomed to go "the way to dusty death" this year, for possibly never before in the history of the United States have there been so many cases of doubt. For instance, after a recent canvass of the campaigns for election to the national house of representatives it was asserted that no fewer than 132 districts were to be classed as "doubtful." Think what that means—no fewer than 266 aspiring and perspiring men, outwardly confident of election to the house and inwardly confessing to themselves individually that "it looks bad!"

Interesting Political Battle.

The political battle being waged this year is one of peculiar intensity and interest. The insurgent storm, long blowing over the Republican party, found open demonstration in congress during the early part of the year and has broken fully now. Its rumblings and crashes are heard throughout the land. To it are attributed in large part the Democratic successes in Maine, Massachusetts and New York that have heartened up the opposition, nearly starved by long exile in the land of defeat. The injection of Colonel Roosevelt into the campaign gave his party a new rallying point and the campaign a new issue.

Taking the country by and large, insurgency is the leading topic in the present campaign. It is complicated with other issues, such as the tariff, the high cost of living and control of the corporations, and in some of the states it is overshadowed by local interest in the gubernatorial campaigns. In New York state and in some others the personality of ex-President Roosevelt looms large enough to make an issue of him and the men and measures which he approves or condemns. In some parts of the country Republicans have failed of renomination because they supported Speaker Cannon and the house machine, and in Georgia two Democrats have failed to "come back" because they did the same thing. In New Jersey a leader of the insurgents,

Charles N. Fowler, has been compelled to turn his attention from the house to the senate because he "bucked" Uncle Joe. It's an interesting scrap no matter how you look at it.

Many Governors to Be Elected.

Most of the states will elect governors this year. Four of them—Arkansas, Georgia, Maine and Vermont—already have done so. Arkansas went Democratic "by the usual majority," and the initiative and referendum, made an issue in the campaign, was approved. The interest in Georgia's campaign lay in the election of Hoke Smith, who had defeated for nomination the incumbent of the governor's chair, Joseph M. Brown. Vermont went Republican as usual, and Maine did not go Republican as usual. To the old time Republican this action of the Fine Tree State seemed almost like treason to the republic, but it is a fact nevertheless that from Jan. 1 the Democrats will be in control of the rock ribbed state. Two of her four representatives in the sixty-second congress will be Democrats, and the senatorial robe of Eugene Hale, one of the high priests of the standpatters, will be cut down or padded out, as the case may be, to fit a Democratic wearer. F. W. Plaisted was elected governor.

Every state is a center of interest to its loyal citizens. Space will not permit, however, the detailing of the names, professions and platforms of the gubernatorial candidates in all the states which will elect governors this year. Among the candidates are men of the most interesting and striking personalities, like James C. Dahlgren, erstwhile cowboy and present Democratic candidate for governor of Nebraska, whose candidacy has not met with the approval of William Jennings

Bryan; Woodrow Wilson, Democratic nominee in New Jersey, probably the leading exemplar of "the scholar in politics," who is opposed by Vivian M. Lewis; Hiram W. Johnson of California, a Republican candidate, an insurgent who has had to fight for nomination against the opposition of his own father, a standpatter, and for election against Theodore A. Bell, Democrat; Simeone B. Baldwin, a septuagenarian and a distinguished jurist and sociologist, who is making a fight for election as governor of Connecticut on the Democratic ticket against Charles A. Goodwin. Of every one of the gubernatorial candidates something equally interesting might be written. Ohio Democrats have renominated Governor Judson Harmon against Warren G. Harding, and in New York Henry L. Simons, a "Roosevelt man," and John A. Dix are the Republican and Democratic candidates respectively.

"Turned Down" Tawney.

Note in the illustration the picture of James A. Tawney. He is the only man in the whole "layout" who is not running or has not run for an office. He is placed there because, as one of the country's best known standpatters, he went down to defeat in the primaries for supporting Speaker Cannon and the speaker's policies. The Republicans of Tawney's district would have no more of him, despite the fact that he is an able man and an experienced legislator, and they named as their candidate Sydney Anderson, a young lawyer of thirty heretofore unknown to fame.

When the result of the coming election is known several members of that high and mighty body known as the United States senate will climb down from the anxious seat with deep breaths of relief or they will set about arranging their affairs for at least six years' enforced absence from Washington official life; also some men will be hiking to their tailors with orders for togas of the latest cut. The terms of thirty-one senators are almost completed. Twenty-four of them are Republicans. A Democrat will take the place of Hale of Maine, as already stated, and there will be in all likelihood "insurgents" to succeed Flint of California, Burrows of Michigan and Piles of Washington. One of the most interesting of the senatorial contents is that being waged in Indiana, where Senator Beveridge is fighting for endorsement of his "insurgent ideas." John W. Kern, Mr. Bryan's running mate in the late presidential election, is after Beveridge's seat.

He's After Uncle Joe's Seat.

Uncle Joe Cannon has had a vigorous campaign on his trail this fall. The man who wants the seat which serves Mr. Cannon as a stepping stone to the speaker's rostrum is William L. Cundiff, a lawyer of Danville, Ill., the speaker's home city. Mr. Cundiff is not old in years, being only forty-six, but he has had political experience enough for a man of greater years. He has been active in politics in Nebraska, Oklahoma and Illinois for twenty years and more, and to him belongs the distinction of having nominated William Jennings Bryan when the latter ran for congress the first time.

Man With Record For "Doing Things" Now Busy Trying to Raise the Maine

FIRST we had to come to the decision to raise the wreck of the Maine after twelve years of wavering. Then congress had to be induced to furnish the money for so big an undertaking. Then arose the question of the adequacy of the sum appropriated—this question is not yet settled, by the way—and last remained the problem of devising a feasible method of lifting the hulk of the famous battleship from the slime and mud of Havana harbor.

While the expert operators in marine surgery began holding consultations and advancing their individual views on the proper manner of operating on the wreck, the army engineers, charged by the government with the task of lifting the Maine, went ahead with their work. A recent report of progress stated that they had lifted the mast of the Maine to its original position. Of course that is something gained, but only a very small percentage of what is to be accomplished before the Maine is adrift again and on its way north. While the army engineers retain their century old record for efficiency, it may be assumed safely that everything possible will be done to raise the wreck. At their head is General William H. Bixby, who became chief of engineers of the army engineering corps when General Marshall retired in June. Doing things is General Bixby's strong point, and if he reports to the government that the wreck of the Maine cannot be lifted we may conclude that it will remain in Havana harbor for all time. In the meantime General Bixby and his men have $300,000 of the government's money with which to prosecute the work. Congress "loosened up" to that extent in its latest session. The estimates of the cost of raising the Maine have varied between $100,000 and $500,000. If Bixby finds the $300,000 inadequate and can show results for the money expended it is likely that congress will advance more money when asked to do so.

The plan of raising the Maine which the special board has recommended and the president has approved provides for the construction of a cofferdam of interlocking steel piling, within which the wreck is "to be first exposed for unwavering," as General Bixby describes it. By bulkheading and floating the undamaged portions will be removed, and then the damaged portions will be hoisted. The army engineers believe this will be the safest and fairest process for getting the wreck out of the harbor and also for determining the cause of the explosion.

Even before the echoes of the Maine explosion that "was heard around the world" in 1898 had ceased its reverberations plans for raising the Maine were discussed. Lay theorists as well as practical engineers have advanced many plans for moving the wreck. Each plan made its stir, little or big, and then was permitted to die through seeming want of government interest in the matter. It was asserted on the floor of congress and elsewhere that the government did not want the Maine raised; that it feared bringing the hulk to the view would fail to sustain the navy men's findings that an exterior explosion had destroyed the vessel. These views met with vehement refutation, and at last the lawmakers were stung into action by the open assertion that further delay was perfect evidence of want of patriotism.

In the meantime, however, the Maine sank deeper and deeper into the mud. It is asserted on good authority that it now lies beneath twenty-five feet of water and mud. How to get it out of the mud and afloat is the problem that must be solved.

When congress actually gave the money for the gigantic task various men of experience and repute came forward with plans for raising the wreck. Chief among them were John Arbuckle, the New York merchant and philanthropist, who has made a successful study of the raising of sunken ships, and John P. O'Rourke, one of New York's best known engineers, with a fine record of achievement.

The Arbuckle plan of salvaging ships may be described briefly as making the hull of the sunken ship water tight by divers and then forcing air into the holds, thus floating the hull. So confident was Mr. Arbuckle that he could raise the hulk of the Maine in this way that he purchased the Roosevelt, Peary's famous arctic vessel, for use as a wrecking ship.

The O'Rourke plan for raising the Maine contemplated the employment of practical tunnel building operations, but it has been rejected by the government experts.

Woman Champion Star Discoverer. Other Women Famous In Astronomy

I regard the discovery of a dish a far more interesting event than the discovery of a star, for we have already stars enough, but we can never have too many dishes.—Houston de Penacoy.

TO the lay reader the report of the finding of a new star may mean much or little, according to the depth or shallowness of his poetic sentiments. But to the astronomer the charting of a new point of light in the firmament is an achievement to be inscribed on the list of the year's events.

During the past twenty-five years only sixteen new stars have been found. Thirteen of them have been discovered by women astronomers of Harvard university and ten of the thirteen by Mrs.

Williamina Paton Fleming, who is fifty-three years old. After teaching in Dundee, her birthplace, for a few years she came to the United States about thirty years ago with her young son and obtained employment at Harvard. Until 1888 she was an assistant in the college observatory, and then she became curator of astronomical photographs. Mrs. Fleming is now in charge of the astrophotographic building of the observatory and has for assistants more than a dozen women computers. She discovered her first star in 1887. In some respects she is the world's leading woman astronomer. Mrs. Fleming gives much credit to the work of her women assistants in the university. Like most persons of great probably since the time when folks first began to study the heavens. The famous woman philosopher Hypatia, who flourished in Alexandria in the fourth and fifth centuries, was the daughter of Theon, a celebrated astronomer, and she herself gained some of her great learning from the stars.

It is recorded that a number of women added to the world's store of astronomical knowledge in the middle ages. One of them, an abbess of a German convent, is said to have anticipated some of the discoveries of Copernicus and Galileo. The translation of Newton's "Principia" into French was made by a woman.

The second half of the eighteenth century and the first half of the nineteenth is an era in astronomical history, owing to the researches of the three Herschels—Sir William, his son, Sir John Frederick, and Caroline Lucretia, sister of Sir William. "As an explorer of the heavens Sir William Herschel had but one rival—his son," according to one authority, but it is also asserted that much of Sir William Herschel's renown is due to the assistance of his sister, who subordinated her own fame to that of her brother without affecting her standing as one of the very greatest of woman astronomers of all time. Caroline Herschel reached the extraordinary age of ninety-eight, dying in 1848.

Contemporary with Miss Herschel was Mrs. Mary Somerville, another British woman, who lived from 1780 to 1872, a term of ninety-two years. She published a translation of the "Mécanique Céleste" of Laplace, as well as other works.

An American name which stands with Herschel and Somerville is that of Maria Mitchell (1818-89), professor of astronomy in Vassar college, the first woman member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the recipient of many honors from the hands of scientific men. Miss Mitchell's assistant at Vassar, Miss Mary Watson Whitney, succeeded to her chair and is the present professor of astronomy at the famous women's college.

England has had several women astronomers of note since the time of Miss Herschel and Mrs. Somerville. Among them should be mentioned Mary Agnes Clerke, Eliza Brown, Mrs. E. W. Maunder and Lady Huggins, wife of Sir William Huggins, the famous scientist. Prominent among women astronomers of today is Miss Dorothea Klumpke of San Francisco, born, who, like Mrs. Fleming, devotes the major part of her time to astrophotography. In America we have Mrs. Anita Newcomb McGee, who was assistant and secretary to her father, the late Professor Simon Newcomb; Miss Mary Proctor, who combines scientific attainments with the power to impart information interestingly in lectures and writings; Mrs. Mabel Loomis Todd, wife of Professor David Todd, who stands on a par with her husband in the estimation of other astronomers, and several others.

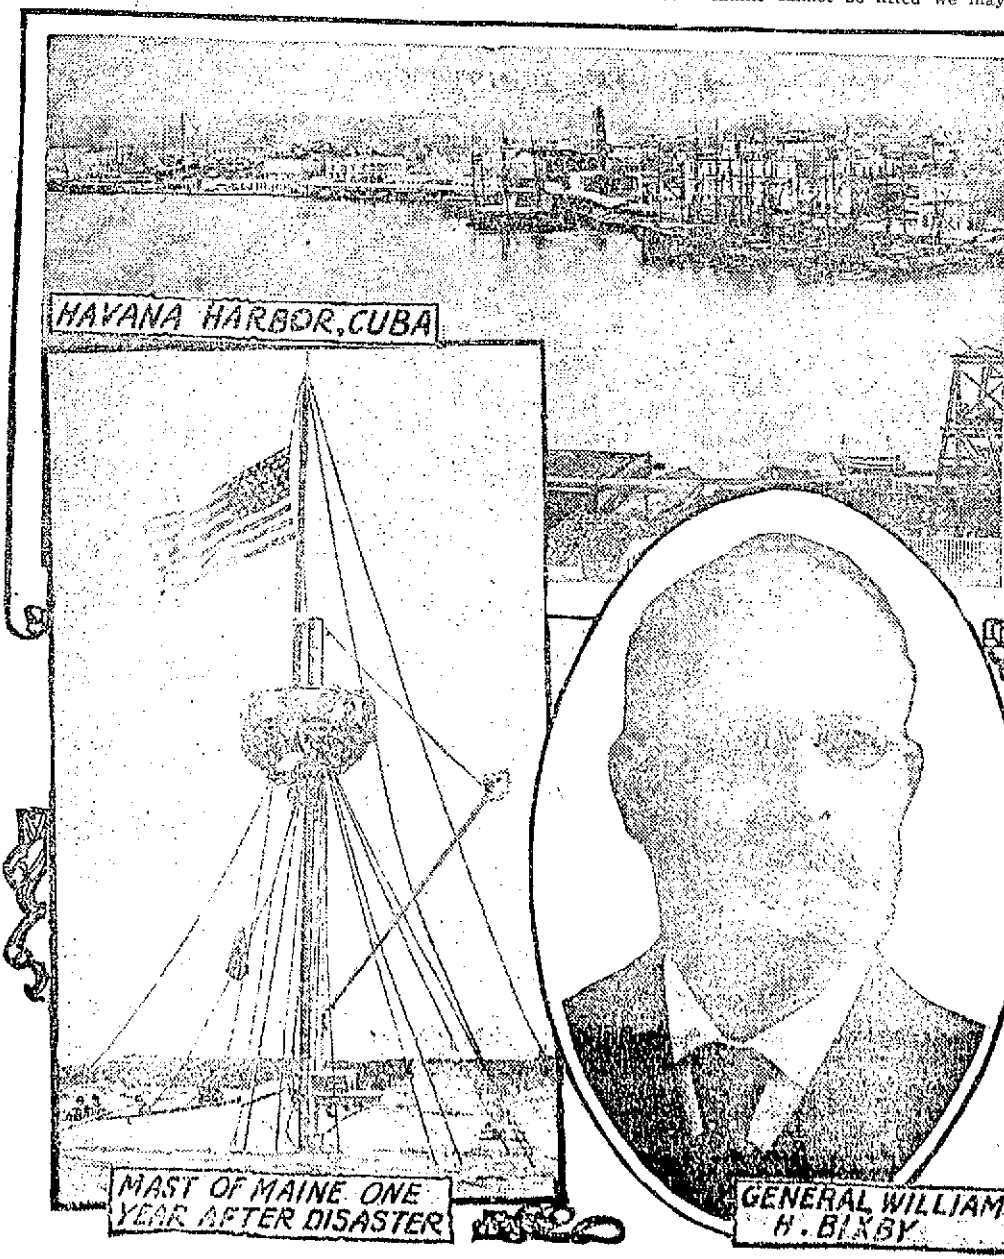

MRS. WILLIAMINA P. FLEMING.

Williamina Paton Fleming, whose likeness illustrates this article, Mrs. Fleming is the world's champion star discoverer. A biographical authority says of her that she is "known to astronomers as a discoverer of new stars, variables," etc. Mrs. Fleming's latest find is a new star in the constellation Ara. A few days before the discovery of this star Mrs. Fleming found one in the constellation Sagittarius.

The observation of the heavens has been the life work of Mrs. Fleming. She is very modest about her achievements and prefers to suppress details about her personality, declaring that only her work can be interesting to the public. She is a quiet, soft spoken woman, and her manner suggests something of the schoolteaching which was formerly her vocation.

By no means is Mrs. Fleming the first woman to win distinction in the field of astronomy. There have been women of note among the star gazers

HAVANA HARBOR, CUBA

MAST OF MAINE ONE YEAR AFTER DISASTER

GENERAL WILLIAM H. BIXBY

WALTER R. HUDSON.

WALTON WILLIAMS.

ENGINEER DEAD

He Was Stricken With Apoplexy

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 30.—With his hand upon the throttle waiting the signal to start his train, C. Fred Whitney, engineer on an intercolonial railway express running between St. John and Sussex, was stricken fatally with apoplexy, Saturday night. The train had pulled up at a small station for a short stop. The train ran by a little farther than usual and the fireman spoke of the fact to Whitney to which the engineer replied that the rails were slippery. A moment later the signal to start was given but the engineer made no move to open the throttle. Then it was that the fireman found his chief to be unconscious. He was placed in the baggage car and the fireman took the train to Sussex where Whitney was transferred to his home, but he died a few moments after his arrival.

Whitney had been in the employ of the railway for 44 years and for the past thirty years had been driving on the same run on which he was stricken with his death sickness.

FACE AND HEAD
AN AWFUL SIGHT

Eruption Broke Out when 2 Weeks Old—Itched So He Could Not Sleep—Hair All Fell Out—Cuticura Cured Him.

"I wish to have you accept this testimonial, as Cuticura did so much for my baby. At the age of two weeks his head began to break out with great sores and by the time he was two months his face and head were an awful sight. I consulted a doctor, who said it was nothing but a skin disease which the baby would soon get over. But he seemed to get worse so I called another doctor. His opinion seemed to be the same. They both prescribed medicines that did not do a bit of good. A friend advised me to take him to the hospital, which I did. Two doctors there gave me medicine in a liquid form. It did him no good.

"Nearly every day I would read a testimonial in regard to Cuticura and my wife thought she would try it to see if it would help the baby. I got a box of Cuticura Ointment and a cake of Cuticura Soap and after using these he was entirely cured. Before Cuticura cured him he could not seem to sleep, as his face and head would itch so. What hair he had all fell out but soon he had a nice head of hair and his face was perfectly clear. It is now nearly five years since he was cured and there has been no sign of the eruption returning. Chas. H. Evans, 81 Flint St., Somerville, Mass., April 10, 1910."

A single set of Cuticura Soap and Ointment is often sufficient to cure itching of the skin and treatment for affections of the skin and scalp. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Proprietors, Boston, Mass. 17-Mailed free. Latest Book on Care of Skin and Scalp.

Don't Pay a Dentist Too Much

Dr. Thomas Jefferson King
Dr. King's "Natural Gum" sets of teeth absolutely defy detection.

Your local dentist will charge you about four times as much as I would—he doesn't do much business, so he must "get it out of you"; besides, he does not know how to do it painlessly, and, in nine cases out of ten, he performs operations with old-fashioned instruments, which enable him to do only inferior work. My inventions I control solely, and when anything new comes out, I buy it. Remember—my patrons get the latest and best, and for less money.

Best set Teeth $5.00, gold set $3.00. Gold crowns $5.00, bridge work $5.00; gold fillings $1.00, other fillings 50c; painless extraction free when roots are ordered.

King Dental Parlors
Over Hall & Lyman's
63 Merrimack St., Lowell
Hours: 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. Sundays 10 to 3. Evening special. Lady attendant. Telephone 1274-2.

SAVE TIME AND MUSCLE
Goodale's Wash Clean
What it is. We have customers who have used it for years and say it does not injure the clothes and saves 99 per cent of the labor and water.

GOODALE'S DRUG STORE
217 CENTRAL STREET

LOOK SHARP AT HALLOWEEN AND UNDER THE CANDELIGHT YOUR FATE WILL SMILE IN THE MIRROR*AMES IN CONGRESS*Col. Carmichael Discusses His Opponent's Record

Col. James H. Carmichael left for Lawrence this morning where he will conduct a lively campaign for the next week making noon day addresses at the different mills and workshops of that city, Andover and Methuen.

On Saturday night Col. Carmichael addressed several social clubs on invitation and he confined his remarks to Col. Ames' record in congress and to the present high cost of living.

Col. Carmichael spoke as follows: "I have spoken of the record of my republican opponent while he was a member of the Massachusetts legislature. I have said that that record is conclusive proof that he is not in sympathy with the efforts of the working classes and the common people to better their condition. I assert now that his record during eight years in congress bears still stronger proof of inattention to his duties, a carelessness of the public welfare and an utter disregard of the struggles of the plain people for better opportunities and better conditions in the great struggle of life.

"My friends, I want to quote you a schedule of prices taken from the market reports of October 1, 1896, as compared with a report on prices of the same articles, October 1, 1910. The weekly provisions for an average family.

My friends, these are republican prices, which we pay today. These are high tariff prices. These are Payne-Aldrich prices.

including the sailors, in addition to fifty Eskimo men, women and children, who joined the expedition at Etah, 750 miles north of the Arctic circle. Every one of the party returned home from the trip in good health, due largely to the excellent care and treatment of Dr. Goodsell. In the letter the Peary Arctic club officially acknowledges the labor and skill of Dr. Goodsell in contributing to the memorable result and at the suggestion of Commander Peary encloses a large check as more substantial evidence of the club's appreciation.

EXPECT THEIR MESSIAH
BRISTOL, Tenn., Oct. 31.—Curious as to what had become of the body of Dr. Teed who announced before his death a year ago that he would rise from the tomb and become the Messiah of the Koreshanans, two members of the cult, according to Henry D. Silverfriend, attempted to unseal the tomb before this was accomplished both were deprived of their reason and died before they could be taken to an asylum.

Silverfriend is prominent in the Koreshan colony in Estero, Florida. He said yesterday that Dr. Teed had not risen, but members of the cult were confident he would come forth as their Messiah in due time.

High Cost of Living

My friends, I want to quote you a schedule of prices taken from the market reports of October 1, 1896, as compared with a report on prices of the same articles, October 1, 1910. The weekly provisions for an average family.

My friends, these are republican prices, which we pay today. These are high tariff prices. These are Payne-Aldrich prices.

My friends, these are republican prices, which we pay today. These are high tariff prices. These are Payne-Aldrich prices.

O'Donnell Dry Goods Co.

THE STORE FOR QUALITY AND STYLE

ANOTHER SHIPMENT OF NEW FALL DRESS FABRICS

The values to be found at our Dress Goods Counters are proverbial. Today an offering of several lines of new Fall Dress Goods, embracing all the most desirable weaves and newest shades—such as Bessmer, Sepla, Tan, Antiope, Orchid, Azura, Hazel nut, Lichen and many others. We rely on quality as poor goods are not cheap at any price.

TARTAN PLAIDS

These plaids closely follow the genuine Scotch effects for children's dresses and women's waists—shown in a great variety of new designs. These goods should not be confounded with the trashy kinds shown elsewhere at the price. Two grades, 49c and 75c

ZENATELLOW SUITING

Anyone who knows dress goods need not look at the fabric at 89c a yard, they can feel $1.25 worth of real value in every yard by simply touching it. We don't expect to have any other fabric this season at the price so big with quality. All new fall shades. Special 89c CENTS

All Wool Fancy Serges

42 inches wide, worsted dress goods—20 pieces in handsome stripes and self colored fabrics—medium weight. All wool serges are desirable in all seasons—popular from January to January and the ones in this offering are the newest and best shades. Value $1. Special 79c CENTS

IMPORTED BROADCLOTH

This broadcloth is from Austria—the finish is delicate and silky. It drapes exquisitely and will wear satisfactorily. The colors are London smoke, dark wine, navy blue, reseda, myrtle green and black. We don't think you can match the quality under $2 a yard. Special $1.50

ALL WOOL GERMAN HENRIETTA

Every woman knows the standing of this rich fabric. The present position of henrietta was fixed by style setters months ago and there is no going back of the decree. New fall shades of wistaria, navy blue, dark wine, gray, mignonette, including cream and black. Value $1.25 a yard. Special $1.00

DARING ATTEMPT FIREMEN ESCAPE

Was Made to Rob Jewelry Store Truck Crashed Into a Pole

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Following the arrest of two men, charged with breaking and entering and larceny at 8 yesterday morning, the police of division 3 discovered that an attempt had been made to break into the jewelry store of Julius Israel, 106 Court street.

The attempt was made by boring holes in the floor of the tailor shop of Max Sheinsohn, which is directly over the jewelry store. Fifty holes were bored in the floor, the persons who started the work evidently firing of the job. A bit and auger were found in the tailor shop.

Alfred Leroy, 22 years old, who refused to give his address, and William Dunn, 22, who said he lived in New York, are the men who were arrested as they were leaving 106 Court street.

Each man had a suit case filled with cloth and clothing, alleged to have been stolen from the tailor shop of Sheinsohn, on the second floor of the building. The goods are said to be worth about $300.

Two policemen of division 3 were on the opposite side of the street when they saw one of the two men come to a window in Sheinsohn's shop and look out.

The policemen crossed the street and awaited developments. Soon after the two men left the building, each with a suit case. They were placed under arrest and taken to station 3.

The police have been unable to learn anything of the identity of the two men. It is believed that they are New York men.

A NOVEL DISPLAY

Northwest Products to be Shown

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 31.—Within a few days an exhibit car, resplendent in fresh varnish and polished brass, will leave St. Paul on a 10,000 tour of the Eastern and Southern states, "chock full" of evidence of the productivity and varied resources of Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

At the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893, a similar car, equipped by the Northern Pacific Railway company, was on exhibition and attracted much attention. This car, after the close of the fair, made numerous tours, advertising the northwest. The car which is now ready to start on its long tour is the latest model in railroad coach building, seventy-five feet long, lighted by electricity and acetylene gas, equipped with extra wide windows, six-wheel trucks and all the other details of an up-to-date passenger car.

TOOK HER LIFE
AFTER MAKING LAST PLEA TO HUSBAND TO RETURN
NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—After making a last plea to her husband to return, Mrs. Anna Davis, of Brooklyn, committed suicide and with her took her two children, Ellis, 5 years old, and Elsie, 3 years old. All were found yesterday morning asphyxiated by gas.

For the last two years, Mrs. Davis had supported the family by sewing, but, finding the struggle a hard one, she wrote a note and turned on the gas. This is the note: "I am sorry, but this is the easiest way out of it. The children are asleep and won't know anything about it. I just can't fight any longer. The odds are against me."

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains down ward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerleree St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

PRISON SUNDAY BOTH DROWNED

Observed by Rev. Charles T. Billings at Unitarian Church

"The Prisoner" was the subject of an interesting sermon by Rev. Charles T. Billings at the First Unitarian church Sunday morning. The sermon was in accordance with a request by the prison association, that the church observe the last Sunday in the month as Prison Sunday. The preacher found his inspiration in Matt. 25:36: "I was in prison and ye came unto me."

One of the marvels of Christ's life was that he ministered so readily to people who had little claim upon him. Children came to him, those of whom he had never heard before came, those who would and could have little means of repaying Jesus came and he ministered unto them according to the power that was in him.

And it was because he lived a life of service that he could ask it freely of his disciples. The service he gave, he demanded that they should give and he told them that in serving the hungry, the sick, the stranger and the prisoner they were serving him.

But even the Armenian and the negro appeal to us more deeply than the prisoner. In helping the Armenian and the negro we are at least trying to help people who are trying to help themselves, people who are deservingly, people who appeal to us on the score of their manhood and womanhood. But the prisoner, although he is within the limits of our city and city, cannot appeal to us on these grounds. He is out of the pale of our interest and sympathy. He has had his chance and neglected it. He has tried himself to be not a fit member of society, has disobeyed the laws which are the foundation of its well-being, and his situation is a large measure the punishment for his disobedience.

For all disobedience of law brings its penalty. That is the teaching of both church and state. Another penalty of crime is not merely the prison but the humiliation of being disgraced, and the condition of being despised and scorned. When we read, therefore, as we may read in the pamphlets that many of our prisoners are unsanitary, unclean and with few facilities for bathing, we are reminded by others, that even so, the conditions of the prison are often better than the homes from which some of those who live there come. And if we are told that the libraries connected with the prison are poor, ill-assorted, and totally inadequate, we are also told that it is not the business of the state to make the prison too attractive to those who come there; and further, if the philanthropist tells us that the prisoner in order to develop again his lost self-respect, ought to have the power to earn honest wages, and perhaps provide for his family while in prison, and so prevent in a measure the punishment from falling on the innocent persons who suffer from his non-support. We are met with the objection that if we allow the criminal to work for wages he is competing with honest labor, and as for his family, it is hard indeed that they should suffer from his wrong-doing, but it is not that the penalty of all crime, that it cannot fall upon one alone, but always drags much sorrow in its train? And will not the fact that others suffer because of his crime, act as a greater deterrent of crime? Is it well to make a man feel that in prison or out he could support his family? If punishment is to act as a deterrent from crime, man should bear its full penalty.

And yet our prisoners, even as they are, are not successful as places of punishment. Of the 32,225 persons committed to prison in Massachusetts last year 18,415 had been in the same prisons before, and more than 12,000 of them from one to five times. As a deterrent of crime the prisons have not fulfilled our expectations.

But indeed a change has come over the spirit of prison management. Formerly the punishment was made to fit the crime; the worse the crime, the heavier the penalty. But now the punishment is made to fit the individual. It is recognized that he is not worthy of being a free member of society, and it is proposed to keep him in prison till he is. That might be said to be or growing to be the whole object of the prison now to help the individual to take his place again as a free and honorable member of the social order. This requires study of the individual character. The young and the old are in our prison, men who are battling with an ugly inheritance, or whose weakened will, make them uncertain factors in the struggle for existence, and men who have succumbed to some great temptation. They cannot all be treated alike and it is the establishment of the indeterminate sentence to probation system, with an officer to look after each individual case, that is the real reforming influence in the criminal's life of today.

For what does a prison do for a man? It does not often make him hate his sin. Let me bring you the testimony of one who with brilliant gifts, but perverted manhood was compelled by his misdeeds to spend two years in an English jail. The fact that it was England and a dozen years ago need not affect the question, for the influence of prison life must always be somewhat the same. He says "Prison life, with its endless privations and restrictions, makes one rebellious. The most terrible thing about it is not that it breaks one's heart, but that it turns one's heart to stone." The writer softened somewhat in his mood toward the latter end of his own life in prison and left it with high determination, but his words well interpreted what may be the average man's con-

BOTH DROWNED

Boat Capsized and Men Went Down

RUTLAND, Vt., Oct. 31.—Wladyslaw Bandasiewicz, aged 35, and Florioz Rutkowski, 37, were drowned in Otter creek at Centre Rutland about 11:45 yesterday morning, when a flat-bottomed boat in which they were rowing capsized. Josef Wisniewski, a nephew of one of the other men, was saved.

The three men were in the habit of spending their spare moments on the water, and yesterday morning they started out. They rowed leisurely for about an hour. When about 100 yards above stream from the falls Wisniewski started to bail out the boat and while resting his weight on one side the boat tipped over, throwing all three into the water. The two older men clung to the overturned craft, but Wisniewski swam for the shore. Chas. Pepesti, a boy, who was standing on the bank about 60 feet away, ran to the boat and extended a pole to Wisniewski and helped him ashore.

In the meantime the other two floundered relinquished their holds on the boat and started to swim ashore, but after a few strokes both sank.

When Wisniewski saw that his companions were drowned he became frantic and he started for the water and would undoubtedly have drowned himself had he not been restrained.

MATHEW INSTITUTE

HELD ANOTHER IMPORTANT MEETING YESTERDAY

The regular meeting of the Mathew Temperance Institute was held yesterday in Mathew hall, in Dutton street. There was a large attendance and President James J. Gallagher presided. There were ten propositions for membership which were referred to the board of examiners and three new members were admitted.

Various standing committees reported progress in their many lines of entertainment, among them being the committee having charge of the tournament of games to be played between the St. Charles society of Woburn and the local Mathews.

President Gallagher stated to the members that he had received many offers of assistance in behalf of the society since the mass meeting a week ago. The encouragement thus received should induce the members to redouble their efforts in building up the society.

REV. CHARLES T. BILLINGS, Pastor Unitarian Church.

A. G. Pollard Co.

THE STORE FOR THRIFTY PEOPLE

An Out of the Ordinary Announcement

FROM THIS STORE

Of Special Interest to Drawing School Students, Draftsmen, Architects, Engineers

The following prices are probably the lowest that these goods were ever offered at—wholesale or retail. They are all in first-class shape and up-to-date in quality. We think you'll be interested. On sale today in our Merrimack Street Basement.

DRAWING BOARDS

- | | |
|--|---------------|
| Size 9 in.x12 in., original price 35c..... | Our Price 10c |
| Size 12 in.x18 in., original price 50c..... | Our Price 15c |
| Size 13 in.x19 in., original price 60c..... | Our Price 19c |
| Size 17 in.x23 in., original price 75c..... | Our Price 25c |
| Size 19 in.x25 in., original price 90c..... | Our Price 29c |
| Size 20 1/2 in.x27 in., cleated, original price $1..... | Our Price 33c |
| Size 23 in.x30 in., original price $1.10..... | Our Price 35c |
| Size 23 in.x30 in., cleated, original price $1.25..... | Our Price 39c |
| Size 28 in.x41 in., original price $1.50..... | Our Price 49c |
| Size 28 in.x41 in., cleated, original price $1.75..... | Our Price 55c |

CELLULOID SQUARES, SCROLLS AND TRIANGLES

- | | |
|-------------------------|---------------|
| Original price 35c..... | Our Price 10c |
| Original price 60c..... | Our Price 19c |
| Original price 65c..... | Our Price 19c |

POUNCE

For removing the gloss from Tracing Cloth, original price 20c can. Our Price 5c Can

PAINT OR CRAYON BOXES

Tin—Assorted Sizes—Japanned

- | | |
|-------------------------|---------------|
| Original price 50c..... | Our Price 17c |
| Original price 75c..... | Our Price 25c |

TRACING PAPER

- | |
|--|
| Size 27x37 in., 24 sheets to roll, original price $2.00 a roll. Our Price 49c a Roll |
| Size 54 in. wide, 20 and 22 yard rolls, original price $2.00 a roll. Our Price 59c a Roll |

DRAWING AND SKETCH PAPER

- | |
|---|
| Linen Ledger in sheets, size 16 in.x21 in., original price 25c quire. Our Price 10c Quire |
| Sketch Paper, vellum finish, in sheets, size 11 in.x14 3/4 in. Our Price 2c Sheet, 20c per Dozen |
| Sketch Paper, in sheets size 11 in.x15 in. Our Price 3c Sheet, 25c per Dozen |
| Bristol Board, Reynolds & Co.'s extra heavy, in sheets, size 12 1/2 in.x15 1/4 in., original price 10c sheet, $1.00 dozen. Our Price 5c Sheet, 50c Dozen |
| Sketch Paper, Duplex, cream shade, size 27 in.x40 in., original price 10c sheet. Our Price 5c Sheet |
| Sketch Paper, white, original price 25c sheet. Our Price 10c Sheet |

Merrimack Street Basement

SPECIAL TODAY IN OUR BARGAIN BASEMENT

600 Pairs of Long Curtains

Slightly damaged by smoke and water, made in plain and fancy muslin, with tucks, hemstitch and lace trimmed, curtains worth 50c to $1 a pair.

Only 39c a Pair Basement

Palmer Street

Special Sale of Wash Ribbons of Best Quality

BEGINS TODAY

- | |
|--|
| 1 in white—pink and white with small dot pink, regular 6c quality. Only 3c Yard |
| 1 1/2 or 1 3/4 inch wide, in blue with small dot pattern, pink, bow-knot pattern, blue, gros grain, 8c quality. Only 4c Yard |
| 2 or 1/2 inch wide, in white, cream, pink or blue, 12c quality. Only 4c Yard |
| 3 or 3/4 inch wide, in white or pink, plain, 15c quality. Only 5c Yard |
| 5 or 1 inch wide, in white, cream, pink or blue, 20c quality. Only 5c Yard |
| 9 or 1 1/2 inch wide, in white, pink or blue, plain, 25c quality. Only 10c Yard |

West Section Centre Aisle

A. G. POLLARD CO.

The Store for Thrifty People

HALF-PRICE SALE

White Lingerie Dresses

A final clean-up of our stock of Lingerie Dresses. These dresses are grouped into two lots and are marked 1-3 to 1-2 off regular prices.

LOT 1—Just 18 Dresses in this lot, ranging in prices from $6.00 to $10.00 Today Only $5.00

LOT 2—Just 12 Dresses in this lot, ranging in prices from $13.50 to $15.00 Today Only $7.50

Sale of SILK PETTICOATS Starts Today

$5.00 Silk Petticoats $3.75

Made of extra fine quality silk, black and all colors; all lengths. Regular $5.00 Petticoats. Today $3.75

Just a few of these Petticoats, but every one is a $10.00 skirt. Today $5.00

Cloak Dept. Second Floor

Bargains at the Trunk and Bag Department

We secured the past week a small lot of fine sample Bags, Suit Cases and Trunks, which owing to the lateness of the season, we have decided to close at reduced prices.

About 40 Bags, all kinds and sizes, made from selected stocks; pigskin, alligator, cowhide, etc. Suitable for lady or gentleman, regular prices $2.98 to $16.00..... $1.98 to $10.00

About two dozen Suit Cases, sizes 22 and 24 inches, regular prices $2.75 to $16..... $1.75 to $10.00

TRUNKS - - - TRUNKS

20 Trunks, all one style, different sizes, 32 to 38 inches, black, vulcanized fibre binding, narrow, hard-wood cleats, two trays, fancy cloth lining, principal trimmings hand rivetted. High grade baggage in every respect. For this sale only..... $7.50 Each

For all sizes; regular prices $10.00 to $12.50.

Palmer Street. Near Avenue Door

NEW FANCY WORK Not Too Soon For Holiday Choosing

A tremendous assortment of all varieties of Stamped Fabrics, including a full line of Infants' Wearables.

ALL MATERIALS FOR THE WORKING

BURNT WOOD WORK—You may select new blanks from a lot of half a thousand—all shapes and sizes. Outfits up to $3.50 Each.

PYRO ETCH BRASS—The newest of the art workings. We've stamped candle and lamp shades, picture frames, handkerchief and glove boxes, jewel cases, tea files and trays; pipe, tie and book racks, fern dishes, jardiniere, desk sets, etc., etc.

ALL THE TOOLS TO WORK WITH

East Section Centre Aisle

In Our Underprice Basement

WARM COMFORTERS and PUFFS

At Special Low Prices

Our line of Bed Comforters and Puffs is the most complete in this section; we offer some extra good values for this week.

Comforters for double beds, covers of good medium and dark color silkaine, $1.25 value At $1.00 Each

Regular and extra large size Comforters, filled with good white batting, silkaine covering and fancy stitch, $2.00 value. At $1.50 Each

Comforters covered with fine cambrie, regular and extra size, filled with clean and white cotton batting, $2.50 value. At $2.00 Each

Good Comforters, regular and extra size, saten covering, fancy stitching, light and medium colors, $3.00 value. At $2.50 Each

Large Comforters, filled with best white batting, fancy stitch, covers of fine domestic saten, $3.50 value. At $3.00

Extra Large Comforters, covers of finest domestic saten in hand-some patterns, filled with very best cotton batting, $4.00 value. At $3.50 Each

Extra good value in Cotton Puffs, fine silkaine and fine saten covering. At $2.00, $3.00, $3.50 and $5.00

DOWN PUFFS AT POPULAR PRICES

All our Down Puffs are made of best white down and covering of best material, domestic saten, fine imported saten, silk and satin, plain and with borders.

- | | |
|--|-------------------------------|
| 6x6 Domestic Saten..... | $5.00 |
| 6x7 Domestic Saten..... | $6.50 |
| 6x6 Imported Saten..... | $8.50 |
| 6x8 Silk Covering and Saten Lining..... | $10.00 |
| 6x6 Silk Covering and Lining..... | $12.00 |
| 6x6 Silk Covering and Lining..... | $15.00 |
| Wool Puffs, Silk and Satin Covering..... | $7.50, $10 and $12.50 Each |

POPULAR PARLIAMENT

Prince Lang Says Entire Nation is Decided on It

PEKING, Oct. 31.—It is believed that the throne has decided to accede to the demand of the senate and the provincial delegates for the early convocation of a popular parliament.

In the presence of the grand councilors today Prince Lang, a member of the grand council, stated that the entire nation, from the highest to the lowest, was agreed on the necessity of the assembly of an early parliament. This declaration was received with loud and prolonged cheering. The importance of this concession on the part of the government can be scarcely over-estimated in view of its recent refusal to entertain a similar request made by a delegation from the provincial assemblies last June.

The program fixed by the late empress dowager provided for the election of a general representative legislative body to be known as the imperial parliament in 1915 at the end of a nine year period of preparation. No sooner had this plan been made known in a decree than a popular agitation was begun to influence the throne to advance the date when China might have a truly representative government.

The provincial assemblies met and discussed the matter and received the support of the merchants throughout the country. They sent a delegation

CHAPLAIN ELWOOD

ADDRESSED SUNDAY AFTER-NOON MEETING OF Y. M. C. A.

Robert A. Elwood, chaplain of the Spanish War Veterans of Pennsylvania, addressed a Sunday afternoon meeting under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, at the First Presbyterian church yesterday.

Mr. Elwood lives in Atlantic City, N. J., and he was introduced by F. A. Bowen, president of the Y. M. C. A. His subject was "The Prodigal Son Up to Date." He said, in part:

"When a young man has money to spend he has friends of both kinds, men friends and lady friends. Friendship is what God called his love for man when he has fallen down in the world. Much of the other kind of friendship is playing to a man for what's in it.

"The young man who asserts that he isn't going to be tied to his mother's apron strings, but that he is going to see all there is to see in the world, starts out for the fancy life. He goes into the shadows to get it. This fancy life isn't a life of New York or of a city on the Pacific coast. It's a life that obtains in every civilized community in the world. You've got it here in Lowell and you know where it is.

"There are plenty of men finding out just what that fancy life is costing too. Take the case of the man who with deliberation starts out to find it. There's nobody to pat him on the back

FOR SALE

12 GOOD SECOND HAND HORSES for sale, drivers, workers and business horses. If you are looking for a horse of any kind, give us a call, we can save you money. Clipping by power. 55 Franklin st.

CANARY BIRDS and cages for sale. Apply 165 West Sixth st.

40 PULLETS for sale, 75 cents each, for the lot. Ernest Vincent, Elmwood, Dracut.

WHITE STEAMER for sale; 6 passenger touring model, in good running order; first class condition; will demonstrate. Inquire J. T. Adams, 44 Leverett st., Tel. 630.

RAY HORSE for sale, 7 years old and weighs 1500 lbs. lost his mate. Apply Healey's Stable, Graniteville, Mass. Tel. 14-3 Westford.

RESTAURANT and lunch for sale; the best in the state; fittings mission; doing good business; best location; reasonable offer will buy it. Call 197 Main st., Nashua, N. H.

BLACK HORSE for sale; 6 years old, weighing 1100 lbs. and a good driver. Apply Collins, The Florist, 17 Gorham st.

RESTAURANT and lunch for sale; the best in the state; fittings mission; doing good business; best location; reasonable offer will buy it. Call 197 Main st., Nashua, N. H.

ONE DAY FAMILY HORSE for sale; sound and weighs 1100 lbs. Apply Austin Healey, Graniteville, Mass. Tel. 14-3 Westford.

CUSTOM MADE HARNESS for sale. Address C. M. H. Sun office.

16-ROOM HOUSE for sale, at 251 and 253 Appleton st. with steam heat, slate roof and first class location. Write to A. Cunningham, 719 Broadway st.

MOTOR CYCLE for sale, in good running order. Call at 74 Greenmount ave., Dracut Centre.

LOWELL STORAGE WAREHOUSE CO.

JACKSON STREET
W. M. Lovejoy, President and General Manager.

QUICK LOANS

$10.00 UPWARDS

AT POSITIVELY THE LOWEST RATES IN THE CITY

Our business is to loan money to housekeepers and working-men, in such a manner that it will be a help and not a burden. Perhaps you have a few small bills that you would like to pay. Here is an opportunity for you to pay them. Get a loan from us and pay us as thousands are paying us now. All business strictly confidential. Call, write or telephone 2974.

HOUSEHOLD LOAN CO. Wyman's Exchange, Cor.
Merrimack and Central Sts.
Fifth Floor. Take elevator. Rooms 503 and 505.

$5 THE $10 LOANS at

EQUITABLE LOAN

$15 CO. $25

$1 Less for.....$ 5.00
$2 Less for.....$10.00
$3 Less for.....$15.00
$4 Less for.....$25.00

Than any other loan company to Lowell.

MILL OPERATIVES, CLERKS, MECHANICS AND HOUSEKEEPERS MAY BORROW MONEY.

Loaned without security. No wages, no investigations or red tape. Business strictly confidential. Private officers meet borrowers at their homes. Office 37 Hildreth Building, 1700 North Main St., at head of stairs. Open every evening. 45 Merrimack street.

down the harder and grinds him.
That's sin's sympathy.

"The man whose face bears the marks of sin can't get a job anywhere. The business world has no place for him, in fact it doesn't want any man who's down in the ditch. And the man who finds this out agrees that the fanciness of the fancy life has all been taken away; nothing is left but the seams and the scars, and the stretch from the mire of sin, which is overpowering."

MONEY TO LOAN

NOTES OF SALARIED PEOPLE and wages, helping out security, easy payments. Offices in 60 principal cities. Don't be deceived by misleading advertisements. Investigate, acting terms of others, then save money by trading here. D. H. Palmer, Room 48, 45 Merrimack st.

WHY

Borrow money and pay high rates of interest when you can get any reasonable amount from a reliable company at

ONE PER CENT.

per month on Plans, Furniture, etc.

LOANS

made on day of application. Quick service and confidential methods.

If not convenient to call, write or phone, and we will have our representative call on you.

Merrimack Loan Co.

Room 2, 81 Merrimack St. or 17 John Street

Hours: 3 a. m. to 6 p. m.
Monday and Saturday until 5 p. m.

YOU CAN BORROW $10 and Upwards HERE

AT THE LOWEST RATES IN THE CITY WITHOUT DELAY NO SECURITY TAKEN

American Loan Co

3rd Floor,
ROOM 10, HILDRETH BLDG.
45 Merrimack Street.
Take Elevator
Call, Write or Telephone 2434

Absolutely Safe Storage

THE LOWELL STORAGE COMPANY has filled a long felt want in our city by building one of the largest storage buildings in New England, where every kind of Merchandise from a Diamond to a Locomotive is kept. The building is fireproof with arrangements for the storing of Furniture, Pianos and in short everything but dynamite at very reasonable rent. A person would be very foolish to sell his household goods if he was going out of town, and let them go at a great sacrifice, when he can have them stored perfectly safe with us. Come up to Jackson street and talk it over with us; we can satisfy you in every way. One floor heated for automobiles.

LOST AND FOUND

DIAMOND LOST, between Prescott St. and City Institution for Savings on Central st., Oct. 31. Return to Apply Haynes, the Jeweler, on Central st. Reward.

BLACK POMERANIAN FEMALE DOG lost, four white paws. Notify J. H. Tierney, 32 West st. Reward.

GOLD FILLED WATCH and chain lost, on road off of Grover road, near Fletcher's Crossing. Owner can have by proving property and paying for this adv. Call J. Gullfoyle, 199 High street.

LADY'S POCKETBOOK lost containing sum of money. Return to 459 Dutton st.

BOSTON TERRIER found. Owner can have same by proving property and paying charges. Apply at 290 Aiken avenue.

FOUND—The place to get your baby carriage three put on while you wait. 25c each. At 256 Bridge st. O. E. Prindle.

down the harder and grinds him.
That's sin's sympathy.

"The man whose face bears the marks of sin can't get a job anywhere. The business world has no place for him, in fact it doesn't want any man who's down in the ditch. And the man who finds this out agrees that the fanciness of the fancy life has all been taken away; nothing is left but the seams and the scars, and the stretch from the mire of sin, which is overpowering."

MONEY TO LOAN

NOTES OF SALARIED PEOPLE and wages, helping out security, easy payments. Offices in 60 principal cities. Don't be deceived by misleading advertisements. Investigate, acting terms of others, then save money by trading here. D. H. Palmer, Room 48, 45 Merrimack st.

WHY

Borrow money and pay high rates of interest when you can get any reasonable amount from a reliable company at

ONE PER CENT.

per month on Plans, Furniture, etc.

LOANS

made on day of application. Quick service and confidential methods.

If not convenient to call, write or phone, and we will have our representative call on you.

Merrimack Loan Co.

Room 2, 81 Merrimack St. or 17 John Street

Hours: 3 a. m. to 6 p. m.
Monday and Saturday until 5 p. m.

YOU CAN BORROW $10 and Upwards HERE

AT THE LOWEST RATES IN THE CITY WITHOUT DELAY NO SECURITY TAKEN

American Loan Co

3rd Floor,
ROOM 10, HILDRETH BLDG.
45 Merrimack Street.
Take Elevator
Call, Write or Telephone 2434

Absolutely Safe Storage

THE LOWELL STORAGE COMPANY has filled a long felt want in our city by building one of the largest storage buildings in New England, where every kind of Merchandise from a Diamond to a Locomotive is kept. The building is fireproof with arrangements for the storing of Furniture, Pianos and in short everything but dynamite at very reasonable rent. A person would be very foolish to sell his household goods if he was going out of town, and let them go at a great sacrifice, when he can have them stored perfectly safe with us. Come up to Jackson street and talk it over with us; we can satisfy you in every way. One floor heated for automobiles.

LOST AND FOUND

DIAMOND LOST, between Prescott St. and City Institution for Savings on Central st., Oct. 31. Return to Apply Haynes, the Jeweler, on Central st. Reward.

BLACK POMERANIAN FEMALE DOG lost, four white paws. Notify J. H. Tierney, 32 West st. Reward.

GOLD FILLED WATCH and chain lost, on road off of Grover road, near Fletcher's Crossing. Owner can have by proving property and paying for this adv. Call J. Gullfoyle, 199 High street.

LADY'S POCKETBOOK lost containing sum of money. Return to 459 Dutton st.

BOSTON TERRIER found. Owner can have same by proving property and paying charges. Apply at 290 Aiken avenue.

FOUND—The place to get your baby carriage three put on while you wait. 25c each. At 256 Bridge st. O. E. Prindle.

LOST AND FOUND

DIAMOND LOST, between Prescott St. and City Institution for Savings on Central st., Oct. 31. Return to Apply Haynes, the Jeweler, on Central st. Reward.

BLACK POMERANIAN FEMALE DOG lost, four white paws. Notify J. H. Tierney, 32 West st. Reward.

GOLD FILLED WATCH and chain lost, on road off of Grover road, near Fletcher's Crossing. Owner can have by proving property and paying for this adv. Call J. Gullfoyle, 199 High street.

LADY'S POCKETBOOK lost containing sum of money. Return to 459 Dutton st.

BOSTON TERRIER found. Owner can have same by proving property and paying charges. Apply at 290 Aiken avenue.

FOUND—The place to get your baby carriage three put on while you wait. 25c each. At 256 Bridge st. O. E. Prindle.

LOST AND FOUND

DIAMOND LOST, between Prescott St. and City Institution for Savings on Central st., Oct. 31. Return to Apply Haynes, the Jeweler, on Central st. Reward.

BLACK POMERANIAN FEMALE DOG lost, four white paws. Notify J. H. Tierney, 32 West st. Reward.

GOLD FILLED WATCH and chain lost, on road off of Grover road, near Fletcher's Crossing. Owner can have by proving property and paying for this adv. Call J. Gullfoyle, 199 High street.

LADY'S POCKETBOOK lost containing sum of money. Return to 459 Dutton st.

BOSTON TERRIER found. Owner can have same by proving property and paying charges. Apply at 290 Aiken avenue.

FOUND—The place to get your baby carriage three put on while you wait. 25c each. At 256 Bridge st. O. E. Prindle.

LOST AND FOUND

DIAMOND LOST, between Prescott St. and City Institution for Savings on Central st., Oct. 31. Return to Apply Haynes, the Jeweler, on Central st. Reward.

BLACK POMERANIAN FEMALE DOG lost, four white paws. Notify J. H. Tierney, 32 West st. Reward.

GOLD FILLED WATCH and chain lost, on road off of Grover road, near Fletcher's Crossing. Owner can have by proving property and paying for this adv. Call J. Gullfoyle, 199 High street.

LADY'S POCKETBOOK lost containing sum of money. Return to 459 Dutton st.

BOSTON TERRIER found. Owner can have same by proving property and paying charges. Apply at 290 Aiken avenue.

FOUND—The place to get your baby carriage three put on while you wait. 25c each. At 256 Bridge st. O. E. Prindle.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

4-ROOM COTTAGE for sale, one repair, steam heat, open plumbing, porch, bath, tub, A. Hargis at 1500, Knapp & Hunt, 69 Central block.

TWO TENEMENT HOUSES for sale, 5 rooms and bath in each tenement. Rents $240 a year. Price $2800. Knapp & Hunt, 69 Central block.

FINE TWO TENEMENT HOUSES near Broadway st. 5 room and bath, modern, hot water, cement cellar, excellent condition, good location, only $2800. A few other good ones in Belmont, $1600 to $2000. Call on J. H. Hargis at 1500, Knapp & Hunt, 69 Central block.

FOR SALE

Near Lawrence st., a good 7-room house in first class repair; large lot of land. Price $1800. Call on J. H. Hargis at 1500, Knapp & Hunt, 69 Central block.

Six miles from Lowell, 60 acre farm, good house and barn, both new, large orchard, $1800 worth of wood and timber, 10 cows, 2 horses, 100 hens, all farming tools. Price $3400.

Ken Gorman st., good 6-room house, good henney, large lot of land. Price $2000.

In Centralville near Bridge st., two tenement house, in good repair. Price $2300.

G. L. HUBBARD

301 Wyman's Exchange, Tel. 2103

SPECIAL NOTICES

CALL AND CONSULT the world's renowned palmist, clairvoyant and card reader. Ladies 25c and 50c; gents, 50c. 161 Appleton st.

CALL AND CONSULT the world's renowned palmist, clairvoyant and card reader. Ladies 25c and 50c; gents, 50c. 161 Appleton st.

WONG SAM has bought out the business formerly conducted by Yuen Lee, 123 Central st., Dracut. All customers, former customers and new customers. All work guaranteed.

CALL AND CONSULT the world's renowned palmist, clairvoyant and card reader. Ladies 25c and 50c; gents, 50c. 161 Appleton st.

LEARN shorthand now. Latest methods taught, and prices reasonable. Write or call, Miss A. M. Clark, 137 Shaw st.

I WILL PAY cash for any information leading to the return of lost property. Write or call, Miss A. M. Clark, 137 Shaw st.

REMOVAL—Mrs. Dianne, dress and cloak maker, has moved her place of business from 543 Dutton st. to 64 Fourth ave., Pawtucketville, where she will be pleased to meet all her old customers and friends. She also repairs.

MRS. BATTLES, trained maternity nurse; terms moderate; write or call. 2 Jewett ave.

LOWELL CHIMNEY CO., formerly with Smith Bros. Expert chimney builders. Repairing, h. use chimneys of all kinds. Stacks built without the use of nails; chimney cleaning a specialty; chimneys examined free of charge; slate roofs repaired. Office 32 Church st., Tel. 1335.

BADGES made to order; razors honed and concealed; citizens' shirts and ties. Hargis, 123 Gorham st. Tel. 952-2.

LIMBURG CO., chimney experts. Chimneys swept and repaired. Residence 1128 Bridge st. Tel. 945.

THE SUN IN HONOLULU—The Sun is sold every day at both newstands of the Union Station in Boston. Don't forget this when taking your train for Lowell.

Dry Hard Bobbin WOOD

Walter L. Parker Co

731 DUTTON STREET
Telephone 1560

3 baskets coarse wood$1.00
11 baskets coarse wood$2.00
3 baskets fine wood$1.00
1 baskets fine wood$2.00

Taylor Roofing Co.

In case you roof are shingling or a gravel roof you can call on the above concern and get the lowest figures. We use Galvalume metal, and warrant all our work. Tel. 931-13

MILLINERY

Hats Made and Trimmed
Feathers curled, hats made over, Satisfaction guaranteed. Work done at short notice.

Mourning Hats a Specialty
MRS. MARY E. McDONALD
23 Alden St., Cor. West Fourth

LEGAL NOTICES

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court, in and for the County of Middlesex.

Respectfully libels and represents George A. Stuart, of Marlboro, in said County, that he was lawfully married to Mary A. Stuart, of Stoughton, in the State of Missouri, at Southborough, Massachusetts, on the 18th day of February, A. D. 1890, and thereafter cohabited with and lived with said Mary A. Stuart as his wife and in this Commonwealth, to wit, at Marlboro, that your libellant has always been faithful to his marriage vows and obligations, and the said Mary A. Stuart, being wholly regardless of the same, at Marlboro, Massachusetts, on or about the first day of February, A. D. 1892, utterly deserted him, and has continued such desertion from that time to the date hereof, being more than three consecutive years next prior to the filing of this libel.

Wherefore your libellant prays that divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be granted to him, and your libellant and the said Mary A. Stuart.

Dated this 17th day of October, A. D. 1910.

GEORGE A. STUART.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, Middlesex ss. Superior Court, October 18, A. D. 1910.

Upon the libel aforesaid, it is ordered, that the libellant notify the libellee to appear before your Justices of said Court, at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Monday of December, next, by causing an attested copy of said libel and of the order thereon, to be published in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, once a week, three weeks successively, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said last mentioned day, and to an attested copy of said order, to be sent by registered letter to the residence of the libellee as set out in the libel, that she may then and there show cause, if any, why the prayer in said libel should not be granted.

THEO. C. HURD, Clerk.

A true copy of the libel and of the order thereon.

THEO. C. HURD, Clerk.

HELP WANTED

TABLE GIRL wanted at once. Apply Western House, 50 State st.

FINE—Handsome 18 piece set decorated dishes. Sell 10c. packets scotch powder. Address Perfume, Sun Office.

GIRL WANTED to wait on table and do chamber work; small, boarding house, 47 Tyler st.

TABLE GIRL wanted at 161 Fletcher st.

AGENTS WANTED to introduce article which helps reduce household expenses. Particulars free. Write to The High Plain Specialty Co., East Walpole, Mass.

YOUNG MEN wanted to prepare for positions as automobile repairmen, chauffeurs, salesmen. We make you expert by training by mail. Send you to good position. Pay big demand for men great. Free model of automobile with course. Ample leisure time. No money advanced. New terms reasonable. Empire Automobile Institute, Rochester, N. Y.

ALL ROUND MAN wanted for farm work. H. C. N., 110-123 Merrimack st.

STONE MASONS wanted at once. Osmond Construction Co., Nashua, N. H.

WOMAN WANTED for light housework. Must be competent in caring for baby. Address T. C. D., Sun Office.

CAPABLE WEAVERS and fixers wanted on new Draper looms, good wages and steady work. Apply to Hill Mfg. Co., Mill C, Fitchburg, Mass.

WOMEN WANTED to learn barbering. Earn $10 to $25 weekly, 35 Saturdays. Room, board, tools furnished. Hall's Barber Schools, 814 Washington st., Boston.

70 MONTHS—Customs, Internal revenue, railway mail clerks wanted. List on application. Address: U. S. Customs, New York City.

ONE OR TWO GOOD AGENTS wanted to sell in Lowell a line of favoring extracts. Write for terms, etc., to Reading, Wash., Agent, 78 Oak st.

MEN WANTED to learn the automobile business; road driving and shop training. Send stamp for particulars. New England Auto Co., 809 Tremont st., Boston.

ABLE BODIES WANTED for the U. S. Marine Corps, between the ages of 18 and 35, American born, or have first papers. Monthly pay $15 to $25. Additional compensation possible. Good clothing, quarters, and medical attendance. Enlist After 30 years service can retire with 75 per cent of pay and allowances. Service on board ship and ashore in all parts of the world. Write for particulars to Corps Recruiting Office, 15 Rutland Bldg., Lowell, Mass.

AGENTS WANTED to sell latest auto repair kit. Mends punctures in one minute—no cement. Write for circular to Commercial Supply Co., Sta. A, Whitman, Mass.

LIVE AGENTS WANTED for an article which sells at night. No talking; customers are waiting for it. Dawson Manufacturing Co., 8 Carey st., Fitchburg, Mass.

LAND SALESMEN wanted. Experience not necessary. Apply to Bristol, 28 Bridge st.

MISCELLANEOUS

BOARD FOR LADIES before and during confinement, good care, pleasant rooms, terms reasonable. 64 Pleasant st., Nashua, N. H.

SECOND HAND FURNITURE of all kinds bought, sold and exchanged. S. Edwards, 531 Dutton st. Telephone 1976-5.

SURGICAL INSTRUMENTS, knives and scissors sharpened; steel recut; saw filing and key fitting at Harry Gorman's, 128 Gorham st. Tel. 955-2.

DRINK GLORIA for health. Sold everywhere.

MOTHERS—Bent's Destroyer kills lice on children, and all insects; cures dandruff and itching scalp; prevents hair from falling out. Sold everywhere. Falls & Burkinshaw's, 418 Middlesex st.

WANTED

CARROTS AND PARSNIPS wanted. H. B. Trail will buy 100 bushels of each. Tel. 2555.

WANTED TO BOARD two children in a respectable family. Address for particulars to H. Sun office.

WASHING and fancy ironing wanted by the hour. Apply 281 Worthen st.

WORK WANTED by the day or hour, cleaning office. Capable woman with best of references. J. M. J., Sun Office.

QUINCY HOUSE—Boarders and roomers wanted; steam heat and electric light; bath and cold baths; comfortable home.

GOOD BOOKS wanted. Libraries or small lots. Paper novels. Merritt's Book Store, 277 Middlesex st.

ROGERS' INDIAN BLOOD REMEDY to be sold in Lowell at A. C. Stevens', 93 Central st.

OLD STOVES AND RANGES wanted to buy. Good prices offered for the goods. Write or call today. Address L. Sarris, P. O. Box 1052.

LEGAL NOTICES

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, Middlesex ss. Probate Court, To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Mary Ann Rogers, deceased.

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate by George Greenwood, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first day of December, A. D. 1910, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner I hereby directed, to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all persons known to have been interested in the estate of said deceased, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-fourth day of October, in the year one thousand nine hundred and ten.

W. E. ROGERS, Register.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, Middlesex ss. Probate Court, To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Elsie Abbott, otherwise known as Elsie M. Abbott, late of Dracut, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Lucilla A. Willoughby, of Dracut, in the County of Middlesex, without requiring a bond, and the said Court, in its order, has directed that you be cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the first day of November, A. D. 1910, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner I hereby directed, to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all persons known to have been interested in the estate of said deceased, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-fourth day of October, in the year one thousand nine hundred and ten.

W. E. ROGERS, Register.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, Middlesex ss. Probate Court, To all persons interested in the estate of Sarah A. D. Sanders, late of Andover, in the County of Belknap, deceased, and in the personal property hereinafter described, and to the Treasurer and Receiver General of said Commonwealth.

Whereas, Stephen S. Jewett, appointed executor of the will of said deceased, by the Probate Court for the County of Belknap, in the State of New Hampshire, has presented to said Court his petition representing that as such executor, he is entitled to certain real and personal property of said deceased, to wit: A deposit in Lowell Institution for Savings, Lowell, Book No. 2565, and praying that he be appointed receiver of said property, and that public or private sale on such terms and to such person or persons as he shall think fit—or otherwise to distribute and to transfer and convey such estate.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the seventh day of November, A. D. 1910, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner I hereby directed, to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all persons known to have been interested in the estate of said deceased, seven days at least before said Court, and by delivering a copy of this citation to the Treasurer and Receiver General of said Commonwealth fourteen days at least before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this seventeenth day of October, in the year one thousand nine hundred and ten.

W. E. ROGERS, Register.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed, given by Jeremiah Murphy of Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to The Central Savings Bank, a corporation established under the laws of said Commonwealth, and located at Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, dated October 5, 1909, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the County of Middlesex, in Book 44, Page 24, will be sold at public auction for breach of the conditions of said mortgage deed, on the premises hereinafter described, which was released from the operation of said mortgage deed by said Bank to Michael Salerno by partial release, dated December 17, 1909, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the County of Middlesex, in Book 45, Page 355; said premises are described in said mortgage deed as follows:

A certain parcel of real estate situated in said Lowell, and thus bounded and described: A certain parcel of land situated on the westerly side of Webster street, between Lot 9 on the north and Lot 10 on the south, and being Lots 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 on a plan of land entitled "Plan of Land in Lowell belonging to Lillian N. Moore, Surveyed May, 1899, Orin F. Osmond, Civil Engineer," which plan is recorded in said Registry, Book of Plans 18, Plan 26, and said parcel of land is bounded on the north by said Lot 9 on said plan one hundred and ten (110) feet, easterly by said Webster street six hundred and sixty-five (665) feet, southerly by said Lot 10 on said plan one hundred and ten (110) feet, westerly by said Lot 11 on said plan one hundred and ten (110) feet, containing according to said plan eighty-one thousand and seventeen (81,017) square feet of land.

Also a certain parcel of land situated on the easterly side of said Webster street, and being Lot 11 on said plan, and bounded: North by Lot 10 on said plan one hundred and ten (110) feet, easterly by said Lot

TRAINS TO AND FROM BOSTON

SOUTHERN DIV. WESTERN DIV.

| To Boston | From Boston | To Boston | From Boston |
|-----------|-------------|-----------|-------------|
| 7:40 | 8:30 | 7:40 | 8:30 |
| 8:00 | 8:45 | 8:00 | 8:45 |
| 8:20 | 9:00 | 8:20 | 9:00 |
| 8:40 | 9:15 | 8:40 | 9:15 |
| 8:55 | 9:30 | 8:55 | 9:30 |
| 9:10 | 9:45 | 9:10 | 9:45 |
| 9:25 | 10:00 | 9:25 | 10:00 |
| 9:40 | 10:15 | 9:40 | 10:15 |
| 9:55 | 10:30 | 9:55 | 10:30 |
| 10:10 | 10:45 | 10:10 | 10:45 |
| 10:25 | 11:00 | 10:25 | 11:00 |
| 10:40 | 11:15 | 10:40 | 11:15 |
| 10:55 | 11:30 | 10:55 | 11:30 |
| 11:10 | 11:45 | 11:10 | 11:45 |
| 11:25 | 12:00 | 11:25 | 12:00 |
| 11:40 | 12:15 | 11:40 | 12:15 |
| 11:55 | 12:30 | 11:55 | 12:30 |
| 12:10 | 12:45 | 12:10 | 12:45 |
| 12:25 | 13:00 | 12:25 | 13:00 |
| 12:40 | 13:15 | 12:40 | 13:15 |
| 12:55 | 13:30 | 12:55 | 13:30 |
| 1:10 | 13:45 | 1:10 | 13:45 |
| 1:25 | 14:00 | 1:25 | 14:00 |
| 1:40 | 14:15 | 1:40 | 14:15 |
| 1:55 | 14:30 | 1:55 | 14:30 |
| 2:10 | 14:45 | 2:10 | 14:45 |
| 2:25 | 15:00 | 2:25 | 15:00 |
| 2:40 | 15:15 | 2:40 | 15:15 |
| 2:55 | 15:30 | 2:55 | 15:30 |
| 3:10 | 15:45 | 3:10 | 15:45 |
| 3:25 | 16:00 | 3:25 | 16:00 |
| 3:40 | 16:15 | 3:40 | 16:15 |
| 3:55 | 16:30 | 3:55 | 16:30 |
| 4:10 | 16:45 | 4:10 | 16:45 |
| 4:25 | 17:00 | 4:25 | 17:00 |
| 4:40 | 17:15 | 4:40 | 17:15 |
| 4:55 | 17:30 | 4:55 | 17:30 |
| 5:10 | 17:45 | 5:10 | 17:45 |
| 5:25 | 18:00 | 5:25 | 18:00 |
| 5:40 | 18:15 | 5:40 | 18:15 |
| 5:55 | 18:30 | 5:55 | 18:30 |
| 6:10 | 18:45 | 6:10 | 18:45 |
| 6:25 | 19:00 | 6:25 | 19:00 |
| 6:40 | 19:15 | 6:40 | 19:15 |
| 6:55 | 19:30 | 6:55 | 19:30 |
| 7:10 | 19:45 | 7:10 | 19:45 |
| 7:25 | 20:00 | 7:25 | 20:00 |
| 7:40 | 20:15 | 7:40 | 20:15 |
| 7:55 | 20:30 | 7:55 | 20:30 |
| 8:10 | 20:45 | 8:10 | 20:45 |
| 8:25 | 21:00 | 8:25 | 21:00 |
| 8:40 | 21:15 | 8:40 | 21:15 |
| 8:55 | 21:30 | 8:55 | 21:30 |
| 9:10 | 21:45 | 9:10 | 21:45 |
| 9:25 | 22:00 | 9:25 | 22:00 |
| 9:40 | 22:15 | 9:40 | 22:15 |
| 9:55 | 22:30 | 9:55 | 22:30 |
| 10:10 | 22:45 | 10:10 | 22:45 |
| 10:25 | 23:00 | 10:25 | 23:00 |
| 10:40 | 23:15 | 10:40 | 23:15 |
| 10:55 | 23:30 | 10:55 | 23:30 |
| 11:10 | 23:45 | 11:10 | 23:45 |
| 11:25 | 24:00 | 11:25 | 24:00 |

SUNDAY TRAINS

| To Boston | From Boston | To Boston | From Boston |
|-----------|-------------|-----------|-------------|
| 7:40 | 8:30 | 7:40 | 8:30 |
| 8:00 | 8:45 | 8:00 | 8:45 |
| 8:20 | 9:00 | 8:20 | 9:00 |
| 8:40 | 9:15 | 8:40 | 9:15 |
| 8:55 | 9:30 | 8:55 | 9:30 |
| 9:10 | 9:45 | 9:10 | 9:45 |
| 9:25 | 10:00 | 9:25 | 10:00 |
| 9:40 | 10:15 | 9:40 | 10:15 |
| 9:55 | 10:30 | 9:55 | 10:30 |
| 10:10 | 10:45 | 10:10 | 10:45 |
| 10:25 | 11:00 | 10:25 | 11:00 |
| 10:40 | 11:15 | 10:40 | 11:15 |
| 10:55 | 11:30 | 10:55 | 11:30 |
| 11:10 | 11:45 | 11:10 | 11:45 |
| 11:25 | 12:00 | 11:25 | 12:00 |
| 11:40 | 12:15 | 11:40 | 12:15 |
| 11:55 | 12:30 | 11:55 | 12:30 |
| 12:10 | 12:45 | 12:10 | 12:45 |
| 12:25 | 13:00 | 12:25 | 13:00 |
| 12:40 | 13:15 | 12:40 | 13:15 |
| 12:55 | 13:30 | 12:55 | 13:30 |
| 1:10 | 13:45 | 1:10 | 13:45 |
| 1:25 | 14:00 | 1:25 | 14:00 |
| 1:40 | 14:15 | 1:40 | 14:15 |
| 1:55 | 14:30 | 1:55 | 14:30 |
| 2:10 | 14:45 | 2:10 | 14:45 |
| 2:25 | 15:00 | 2:25 | 15:00 |
| 2:40 | 15:15 | 2:40 | 15:15 |
| 2:55 | 15:30 | 2:55 | 15:30 |
| 3:10 | 15:45 | 3:10 | 15:45 |
| 3:25 | 16:00 | 3:25 | 16:00 |
| 3:40 | 16:15 | 3:40 | 16:15 |
| 3:55 | 16:30 | 3:55 | 16:30 |
| 4:10 | 16:45 | 4:10 | 16:45 |
| 4:25 | 17:00 | 4:25 | 17:00 |
| 4:40 | 17:15 | 4:40 | 17:15 |
| 4:55 | 17:30 | 4:55 | 17:30 |
| 5:10 | 17:45 | 5:10 | 17:45 |
| 5:25 | 18:00 | 5:25 | 18:00 |
| 5:40 | 18:15 | 5:40 | 18:15 |
| 5:55 | 18:30 | 5:55 | 18:30 |
| 6:10 | 18:45 | 6:10 | 18:45 |
| 6:25 | 19:00 | 6:25 | 19:00 |
| 6:40 | 19:15 | 6:40 | 19:15 |
| 6:55 | 19:30 | 6:55 | 19:30 |
| 7:10 | 19:45 | 7:10 | 19:45 |
| 7:25 | 20:00 | 7:25 | 20:00 |
| 7:40 | 20:15 | 7:40 | 20:15 |
| 7:55 | 20:30 | 7:55 | 20:30 |
| 8:10 | 20:45 | 8:10 | 20:45 |
| 8:25 | 21:00 | 8:25 | 21:00 |
| 8:40 | 21:15 | 8:40 | 21:15 |
| 8:55 | 21:30 | 8:55 | 21:30 |
| 9:10 | 21:45 | 9:10 | 21:45 |
| 9:25 | 22:00 | 9:25 | 22:00 |
| 9:40 | 22:15 | 9:40 | 22:15 |
| 9:55 | 22:30 | 9:55 | 22:30 |
| 10:10 | 22:45 | 10:10 | 22:45 |
| 10:25 | 23:00 | 10:25 | 23:00 |
| 10:40 | 23:15 | 10:40 | 23:15 |
| 10:55 | 23:30 | 10:55 | 23:30 |
| 11:10 | 23:45 | 11:10 | 23:45 |
| 11:25 | 24:00 | 11:25 | 24:00 |

SUNDAY TRAINS

| To Boston | From Boston | To Boston | From Boston |
|-----------|-------------|-----------|-------------|
| 7:40 | 8:30 | 7:40 | 8:30 |
| 8:00 | 8:45 | 8:00 | 8:45 |
| 8:20 | 9:00 | 8:20 | 9:00 |
| 8:40 | 9:15 | 8:40 | 9:15 |
| 8:55 | 9:30 | 8:55 | 9:30 |
| 9:10 | 9:45 | 9:10 | 9:45 |
| 9:25 | 10:00 | 9:25 | 10:00 |
| 9:40 | 10:15 | 9:40 | 10:15 |
| 9:55 | 10:30 | 9:55 | 10:30 |
| 10:10 | 10:45 | 10:10 | 10:45 |
| 10:25 | 11:00 | 10:25 | 11:00 |
| 10:40 | 11:15 | 10:40 | 11:15 |
| 10:55 | 11:30 | 10:55 | 11:30 |
| 11:10 | 11:45 | 11:10 | 11:45 |
| 11:25 | 12:00 | 11:25 | 12:00 |
| 11:40 | 12:15 | 11:40 | 12:15 |
| 11:55 | 12:30 | 11:55 | 12:30 |
| 12:10 | 12:45 | 12:10 | 12:45 |
| 12:25 | 13:00 | 12:25 | 13:00 |
| 12:40 | 13:15 | 12:40 | 13:15 |
| 12:55 | 13:30 | 12:55 | 13:30 |
| 1:10 | 13:45 | 1:10 | 13:45 |
| 1:25 | 14:00 | 1:25 | 14:00 |
| 1:40 | 14:15 | 1:40 | 14:15 |
| 1:55 | 14:30 | 1:55 | 14:30 |
| 2:10 | 14:45 | 2:10 | 14:45 |
| 2:25 | 15:00 | 2:25 | 15:00 |
| 2:40 | 15:15 | 2:40 | 15:15 |
| 2:55 | 15:30 | 2:55 | 15:30 |
| 3:10 | 15:45 | 3:10 | 15:45 |
| 3:25 | 16:00 | 3:25 | 16:00 |
| 3:40 | 16:15 | 3:40 | 16:15 |
| 3:55 | 16:30 | 3:55 | 16:30 |
| 4:10 | 16:45 | 4:10 | 16:45 |
| 4:25 | 17:00 | 4:25 | 17:00 |
| 4:40 | 17:15 | 4:40 | 17:15 |
| 4:55 | 17:30 | 4:55 | 17:30 |
| 5:10 | 17:45 | 5:10 | 17:45 |
| 5:25 | 18:00 | 5:25 | 18:00 |
| 5:40 | 18:15 | 5:40 | 18:15 |
| 5:55 | 18:30 | 5:55 | 18:30 |
| 6:10 | 18:45 | 6:10 | 18:45 |
| 6:25 | 19:00 | 6:25 | 19:00 |
| 6:40 | 19:15 | 6:40 | 19:15 |
| 6:55 | 19:30 | 6:55 | 19:30 |
| 7:10 | 19:45 | 7:10 | 19:45 |
| 7:25 | 20:00 | 7:25 | 20:00 |
| 7:40 | 20:15 | 7:40 | 20:15 |
| 7:55 | 20:30 | 7:55 | 20:30 |
| 8:10 | 20:45 | 8:10 | 20:45 |
| 8:25 | 21:00 | 8:25 | 21:00 |
| 8:40 | 21:15 | 8:40 | 21:15 |
| 8:55 | 21:30 | 8:55 | 21:30 |
| 9:10 | 21:45 | 9:10 | 21:45 |
| 9:25 | 22:00 | 9:25 | 22:00 |
| 9:40 | 22:15 | 9:40 | 22:15 |
| 9:55 | 22:30 | 9:55 | 22:30 |
| 10:10 | 22:45 | 10:10 | 22:45 |
| 10:25 | 23:00 | 10:25 | 23:00 |
| 10:40 | 23:15 | 10:40 | 23:15 |
| 10:55 | 23:30 | 10:55 | 23:30 |
| 11:10 | 23:45 | 11:10 | 23:45 |
| 11:25 | 24:00 | 11:25 | 24:00 |

LOCAL NEWS

Political printing at Tobin's Printery. Interest begins Saturday, Nov. 5, at the Central Savings bank.

"SEND WORD—DON'T WRITE."

If one wants a nice clean load of Coke delivered at the door, telephone any of the Lowell Gas Light company's numbers or make personal call at the offices. People are urged to house their supply now during the moderate weather. When the real cold weather comes, with all the many teams of the Lowell Gas Light people they cannot possibly keep up with orders. People who buy by the bag will find the regulation packages for sale at stores throughout the city. The Lowell Gas Light Coke is always plainly marked upon the bag.

A NEW MILL

TO BE ERRECTED AT BRATTLEBORO, VT.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Oct. 31.—A $500,000 textile mill is to be added to the industries of this city in the near future.

Of the half million dollars necessary for the establishment of the enterprise $250,000 has been subscribed locally. The remainder being furnished by Massachusetts and Rhode Island capitalists. The new concern will be styled the Fort Dunham mill, and Malcolm G. Chase of Providence, R. I., will be president and manager. H. I. Harriman of Hyde Park, Mass., is also interested in the project. The capitalization, it is said, will be lowest per spindle of any mill in New England.

REV. SISTER MARIE

FORMER LOWELL LADY DIED AT OTTAWA

Rev. Sister Marie of the Gray Nuns of Ottawa, formerly Miss Clara Dubois of this city, died last week at Ottawa. At the mother-house of the order. She was 37 years of age. Since her entering the order she had devoted her life to the care of orphan, being one of the directors of the Bethlehem asylum, one of the orphanages of the Gray Nuns devoted to the care of the little babies born from birth to three years of age.

Rev. Sister Marie was one of four nuns, all daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Dubois of 449 Moody street, and all members of the Gray Nuns of the Cross. The others are Rev. Sister Felina Dubois, Rev. Sister Marie Dubois, of Ottawa, formerly Miss Louise Eugenie Dubois. Besides her parents and these three sisters who were nuns with her, Rev. Sister Marie had four other sisters, Mrs. Pierre DuRoi, Mrs. Marie H. Novel and Mrs. Lucien Ducharme of Lowell; and Mrs. Adrien Beaudette of Hildesheim, Me.; and three brothers, France, Albert and Joseph Dubois, all of Lowell.

WOMEN'S BRANCH OF PEOPLE'S CLUB

Opened Oct. 1. Classes begin Nov. 1.

The classes are as follows: Dressmaking, Monday and Thursday. Includes cutting, fitting and making. Price $2.00 for 10 lessons. Plain sewing, Tuesday. Includes making of underwear and plain shirtwaists. Price $2.00 for 10 lessons. Millinery, Thursday. Includes making and trimming of hats. Price $2.00 for 10 lessons. Embroidery, Monday and Friday. Includes all forms of embroidery and lace making. Price $1.50 for 10 lessons. Cooking, Thursday. Includes all branches of cooking. Price $1.50 for 10 lessons. Christmas Gift Class, Thursday. Price $1.00 for 10 lessons. A pleasant reading room with current magazines and daily papers on the club table is also connected with the club. All women and girls are cordially invited to make use of these rooms for reading or recreation. Take the elevator.

NOTICE

C. M. SAUNDERS, CHIROPODIST Has Reopened Her Office at 99 Prescott st. and will be pleased to meet her former patrons and friends. Office hours—9 a. m. to 12 m.; 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. No evening work for the present. Closed Wednesday Afternoons

Scribbling Pads

John Street Window

4 Pads 7c

R. E. JUDD Bookseller and Stationer 75 Merrimack St.

NOTICE

Dr. J. V. Pepin takes pleasure in informing his many friends and patients that he has reopened a dental office in the Associate building, 322 Merrimack street, corner Worthen, directly opposite his former office.

ANNUAL PRIZE AWARD

THOMAS TALBOT MEMORIAL HALL

For Beautiful Premises by Talbot Company of No. Billerica

There were over 500 people in Thomas Talbot Memorial hall in North Billerica Saturday night, the occasion being the annual distribution of prizes offered by the Talbot mills to the tenants of that corporation for the best kept premises, vines, window and porch boxes, flower gardens and vegetable gardens.

The enthusiasm displayed by the people in attendance evidenced the deep enthusiasm of the village folks in beautifying their premises and keeping the town of Billerica before the public in this vicinity as the "town beautiful."

Cash prizes were offered, the total amount of prize money being nearly $50. None but those occupying houses belonging to the Talbot company are allowed to compete for the prizes, for similar prizes are offered each year by the Billerica Improvement association to contestants other than tenants of the Talbot company.

In addition to the prize money offered, the winners of first and second prizes in the events are each entitled to one year's subscription to a magazine or any book selected from a list which is prepared by the company.

Long before the hour for the opening of the exercises the pretty little hall was packed with townspeople and at 8 o'clock when President Frederick S. Clark, of the Talbot mills, called to order and delivered an address of welcome, there were over 500 people in the hall.

During the course of his remarks Mr. Clark expressed his gratification at the interest which the tenants of the company had taken in the competition during the past year. In former competitions, he said, the winners of the first prizes were not allowed to enter the events in which they had gained first honors for a period of three years, but next season this rule would be discontinued and all tenants would be permitted to compete, regardless of whether they had secured first award this year or last.

Mr. Clark also took occasion to publicly thank the judges, who so willingly gave their time in order to assist in the work of beautifying the village of North Billerica. The judges, he stated, were Rev. J. Harold Dale, Rev. Charles R. Williams, Ph. D., Mrs. Sydney A.

Bull and Mrs. F. S. Clark. He concluded his remarks by presenting Rev. Mr. Dale, the president of the Improvement association, who spoke briefly and announced the winners. Rev. Mr.

FREDERICK S. CLARK
Of the Talbot Mills

Williams also gave a short talk, after which the prizes were awarded by Mr. Clark amid enthusiastic applause by the audience.

The Prize Winners

The following is a list of the events and the prize-winners:

Best kept premises—1st, Joseph Fairbrother; 2d, Samuel Lord.

Vines—2d, Joseph Fairbrother; 3d, Thomas Waterhouse; 4th, Isabelle Mahoney; 5th, Harold Tvey.

Window and porch boxes—2d, Thos. Waterhouse, Samuel Lord; 3d, Isabelle Mahoney.

Flower gardens—1st, Joseph Fairbrother; 2d, Samuel Lord.

Vegetable gardens—1st, Raymond Carter; 2d, Flora Trefry; 3d, Harold Tvey; 4th, Harold S. Simpson.

One of the features of the prize winning premises, which were exhibited by stereopticon, the slides being operated by Mr. Natl. H. Hutchins. Besides the prize premises a number of views of local interest were shown, many being scenes which could be recalled only by the older residents of the town, but which were interesting nevertheless.

One of the slides presented a view of Billerica Centre taken in 1830. Another series of pictures which were familiar to the old residents of the town showed the development of the Talbot school, originally a one-story wooden affair, which was later made a two-story building and afterwards transformed into a four-apartment dwelling house when the new brick schoolhouse was erected about ten years ago.

EXTRA

HELD IN $10,000

Quincy Man Was Charged With Embezzlement of $7600

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Harold B. Faxon, a prominent yachtsman of Quincy ten years ago, who suddenly gave up his position as paying teller of the People's National bank of Roxbury, in the fall of 1909, returned here today from Goldfield, Nev., in custody of a United States marshal and pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging him with the embezzlement of $7600 of the funds of the bank. Faxon tried to regain the little fortune alleged to have been lost through stock speculations by hunting gold in the west under another name when he was discovered and placed under arrest on the old indictment on Oct. 18th last. Judge Dodge held him in $10,000 for trial, and Faxon went to jail in default of bail. Faxon was a nephew of the late Henry Faxon, the temperance advocate, and for several years was secretary of the Quincy Yacht club. It was stated at the time of the arrest in Goldfield that Faxon's wife had obtained a divorce within the past two years but this was denied today by the United States marshal who brought the prisoner on from the west.

RATE DECISIONS

Will Cost the Burlington Railroad $800,000

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Rate decisions at Denver, Spokane and other western points will cost the Burlington railroad $800,000.

The old rebating system reduced the freight revenue of the Burlington from 3 to 5 per cent. The Burlington is not in as good a condition to accumulate a surplus now as it was ten years ago.

The foregoing were among the statements made at the rate hearing today by Claude Burnham, vice president of the Burlington, who was the first witness. Attorney T. J. Norton, who represents the railroads as a whole at the hearing, stated that he had only one more witness to introduce.

On the subject of western rate decisions Mr. Burnham said: "The decisions have not been ordered into effect as yet, but unless they are materially modified they will conservatively estimate, cause the Burlington a loss of $800,000 annually."

Attorney Davis of the Burlington asked what effect on revenues rebating east of the Missouri had before the law made the practice illegal.

"Rebates were given almost exclusively on high class freight," replied the witness. "The result was a rate that was much lower than was fair to the railroads. But at no time did rebates cause more than 3 to 5 per cent decrease in the revenue of the Burlington."

"You have mentioned," said Attorney Lyon of the commission, "that the proposed increase would give the Burlington road about $400,000. For what purpose do you want that money?"

"The Burlington needs $400,000 and more to maintain the efficiency of the property."

"Do you regard the Burlington as an efficient transportation machine at present?" pursued Mr. Lyon.

"As compared with other roads, yes."

When Mr. Lyon inquired if witness considered the Burlington to be in a worse financial condition than it was in 1900, the latter hesitated, and then answered slowly:

"It is not in as good a condition to accumulate a surplus."

Mr. Lyon made a comparison of the dividends paid in 1900 and 1910 and of earnings, and asked if witness still maintained that the road was in a worse condition with regard to a surplus than ten years ago.

"Conditions have changed; they have changed in the last six months. There are greater demands on our earnings, particularly in the matter of wages."

KILLED HIMSELF
Boston Milliner Was in Ill Health

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The body of Henry Stormer, 50 years old, proprietor of a millinery establishment in this city, was found in a room in a local hotel today with a bullet wound in his head. The medical examiner, who viewed the body stated that Stormer committed suicide some time during the night. Ill health is given as the cause of the act. Stormer is survived by a widow.

TOOK HER LIFE
Woman Brooded Over Husband's Death

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Caroline avid deliberately inhaled through a straw from a cup, caused the death today of Mrs. George Coley. The woman has been melancholy since the death of her husband and is believed to have been insane yesterday when she chose this painful way of ending her life.

SERIOUS CHARGES
TAMPA, Fla., Oct. 31.—By request of the prosecution today, charges of conspiracy to murder J. P. Easterling and of complicity in the assassination of Easterling were dismissed against Joseph De la Canina, president of the joint advisory board of the tobacco working trades, J. P. Barham and Barrett Russell, members of the board. The men are still in jail on charges of conspiring to prevent men from returning to work in the factories.

FOR DEFENDANT

Verdict in Case of Fallon vs. Walsh

In the case of Fallon vs. Walsh, in which the jury reported a disagreement this morning, the court ordered a verdict for the defendant.

AN AWARD OF $1

Was Given to Benjamin F. Gibby

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—An award of $1 was given to Benjamin F. Gibby by the suit against Richard H. Long, a Framingham shoe manufacturer, in which Gibby sought to recover $10,000 for his services at the state house a few years ago in assisting in the passage of a bill aimed at the United Rhode Island Co. Long stated on the stand that he had paid Gibby $200 for services and claimed the amount covered all his obligations. Gibby, on the other hand, claimed he received only $1000, which he immediately paid to an assistant, and that he received nothing for his efforts. Gibby has been a legislative agent or lobbyist at the state house for ten years as a representative of several corporations and individuals and in addition was manager of two political campaigns for Eugene N. Foss, the present democratic candidate for governor, when the latter was running for congress as a republican.

HAND INJURED

Man Was Thrown From a Train

Arthur Peltier, aged 24 years, residing at 9 Hancock avenue, was thrown from a train in the vicinity of Middlesex Village shortly before three o'clock this afternoon and had his right hand badly crushed.

The ambulance was summoned and the young man was taken to the Lowell hospital, where at the time of going to press, it was stated that it might be necessary to amputate two fingers and a thumb.

Peltier was not an employee of the road and it is thought that he was stealing a ride when the accident occurred.

PIMLICO RACES

PIMLICO, Md., Oct. 31.—First race: Stinger, 120, Dugan, 1 to 2, 1 to 6, out first; Pharoah, 120, Doyle, 13 to 5, 1 to 5, out second; King Pin, 112, Fain, 60 to 1, 12 to 1, 2 to 1, third. Time, 1:13 4-5.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

An enjoyable Halloween party was held Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burlington in North Chelmsford. There were about 50 people present and the evening was spent in a pleasant manner. Halloween games were in order after which an informal musical and literary program was carried out. Among those who contributed were Miss Manie McCoy, Miss Margaret Box, Miss Helen Ahlberg and Messrs. Arthur Anderson, John Hemlow, Merrill Gagnon, Arthur Burlington, George Reid and Arthur Anderson.

The house was prettily decorated for the occasion. Refreshments were served during the evening.

DAN O'LEARY

VETERAN PEDESTRIAN IS AT ST. LOUIS

Dan O'Leary, the veteran pedestrian has turned up in St. Louis, Mo., where he has been "showing time" as only he can.

The St. Louis Republic of recent date had the following:

"Dan O'Leary, the veteran pedestrian, and five of his friends yesterday started on a walk from St. Louis to Edwardsville and return, but gave it up after getting to Collinsville on their way back. The jaunt was started with the intention of walking forty-five miles without stopping except for lunch."

The house was prettily decorated for the occasion. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Lungs

INCORPORATED 1829
THE OLD LOWELL SAVINGS BANK
INTEREST BEGINS NOVEMBER 5

LOWELL INSTITUTION FOR SAVINGS
118 SHATTUCK ST.

INTEREST BEGINS SATURDAY, NOV. 5

AT THE CENTRAL SAVINGS BANK ON CENTRAL STREET

CHRISTO IS WILLING
"Joe" Christo, the well known runner, stated that he will accept the challenge of Albert Nefes for a race at the Centerville Rollway in the near future.

PLAIN STREET BRIDGE INSPECTOR MASTER

Will be Opened in a Few Days for Traffic

Attended Meeting of State Milk Inspectors' Association

The iron work of the Plain street bridge has been finished and just as soon as the planks are laid the bridge will be ready for travel. The iron work was done by the Boston Bridge company and what that company was able to do in a few days would have taken months in a few years ago. The company sent a car to the scene of operations and the car was so equipped as to make it an almost perfect machine shop. It contained a derrick and a compressed air plant for field riveting. The rapidity with which the work was done was almost marvelous.

The iron for the Lincoln street bridge has not yet arrived. Both abutments are finished and ready for the iron in Walker street. Engineer Bowers said today that he did not know when the iron would arrive.

The street department is hustling on the Lawrence and Congress street jobs. The work in these streets includes the building of concrete bridges over Hale's brook and the widening of a portion of Lawrence street. It will require months to complete the Lawrence street job.

City Hall Meetings

The committee on appropriations will meet at 8 o'clock tonight and tomorrow night the board of aldermen will meet in regular session and there will be a meeting of the committee on convenience stations.

SCOTT MAY DIE SERIOUSLY HURT

Littleton Youth Probably Shot Himself

LITTLETON, Oct. 31.—John Scott, a youth of 20, was found dying near the home of Miss Alice Stone, a high school girl, early today. There were three bullet wounds in his body, one near his eye, another in the side of the head, and the third in the abdomen.

Scott called on Miss Stone last night but finding a young man at the house before him departed and is believed to have shot himself. He was taken to the Groton hospital, where it is said he could not survive.

INSPECTOR McCALL

WELL KNOWN MONTREAL OFFICER IS DEAD

Redmond Welch, superintendent of police, was notified by wire this afternoon of the death of Inspector John McCall of Montreal. Mr. McCall died yesterday and his funeral will take place on Wednesday. He had many friends in this city who will be pained to hear of his death.

Inspector McCall was a prominent member of the Montreal police department. He was a native of Montreal and was connected with many big cases in Montreal and other points in Canada. He came to Lowell on business for his department on several occasions and made many friends here.

Mr. McCall and Supt. Welch became fast friends and the news that came to him this afternoon from Montreal was a shock to Mr. Welch.

"I think," said Mr. Welch, "that his death must have been very sudden. He was a young man and so far as I knew enjoyed the best of health. I liked him from the day I first met him. I liked him for his sound principles and rugged honesty. While at the historic congress in Montreal I spent a great deal of time with him and he was very kind to me. He was then in the pink of condition and the news of his death is a great shock to me. If it is possible for me to make the necessary arrangements I will attend his funeral."

NEW FOOTBALL

SOME QUESTION WHETHER IT HAS COME TO STAY

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The question whether the new football has come to stay is within three weeks of being answered with the championship season all but reached. Next Saturday's contests will be the last before the final struggles and the rules committee is already sizing up the situation to see whether the present game is a fixture or needs more tinkering either toward the original or forward to still more open play. The cry, principally from old players, against the latest modification of the most popular of modern college sports, has subsided to a whisper and with the injured list cut down from 25 to 40 per cent, leaders in the sport seem agreed that the rules committee will make only minor modifications next winter.

In the work of the eastern colleges up to date Harvard and Princeton stand at the head with their goal lines intact and a string of six and five victories, respectively. As Harvard has lost but one game every game, and Princeton failed to get to the goal line in the game with Lafayette, winning by a field goal, the Cambridge team is placed first on the eastern list, with Princeton a close second. The naval cadets are third, for their goal line is also free from the talons of injury.

The International Brotherhood of Teamsters today in Boston, has sent word here that, if necessary, he will organize all the express drivers in the country and call them out on strike.

During the early hours today the companies apparently confined their attentions to preparations to break the strike. Strikers are expected to arrive from Philadelphia today. The strikers were caught unawares in Jersey City early today when a dash of 100 trucks was made and the express matter brought to this city without trouble. No disorders were reported by the police in the early hours of the day.

The waybill clerks of the American Express Co., who have no organization and no special grievances, held a meeting this morning and decided to go out on a sympathetic strike this morning.

The Adams company moved nine trucks this morning.

Strike sympathizers upset an express wagon on West Broadway near Bleeker street. An one was hurt.

The International Brotherhood of Teamsters this morning called out between 1500 and 1800 drivers and helpers employed by the Boston Dispatch, a subsidiary of the Adams Express Co. Monahan's Express, and the Manhattan Delivery Co. These men went out at once, one of them according to the strikers, remaining at work.

LOWELL GIRLS

WERE USHERS AT THE TEACHERS' CONVENTION

The officers of the Lowell High School Girls' brigade acted as ushers at the meeting of the teachers' association in Tremont Temple, Boston, Friday, and as ushers they were exceedingly efficient. Girl ushers are somewhat of an innovation, but the scheme works tip-top. A man who might feel inclined to brush a boy usher aside feels that he is in duty bound to respect the girl usher and obey orders.

The Lowell girls performed their duties so thoroughly and impartially that the secretary of the convention was held up by them and he had to show his credentials before they allowed him to pass. The girls of the brigade are: Charlotte Abels, captain; Harriet Mansur, Co. C; Mildred Emerson, Co. B; Pauline Woodworth, Co. A; Margaret Woodworth, Co. B; Dorothy Branchell, Co. C; Helen Hunt, Co. D; Helen Cary, first lieutenant; A. Dorothy Estes, first lieutenant; B. Major Mary Jackson; and Major Irene Hogan.

The work of these girls as ushers was a feature of the convention.

SHOTS WERE EXCHANGED

MADRID, Oct. 31.—In a religious procession held at Calatayud, Saragossa province, yesterday, a collision occurred between clerical and anti-clerical partisans. Shots were exchanged and several persons were wounded.

TELEPHONE ALARM

A telephone alarm at 12:56 o'clock this afternoon summoned a portion of the fire department to a grass fire on the old fair grounds in German street. The blaze was extinguished before any damage was done.

STRIKE MAY SPREAD

Trouble in New York May Affect Entire Country

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The strike of the express company drivers and helpers, which has brought the express business in this city to a virtual standstill, is expected to spread today to the stable hands.

D. J. Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters now in Boston, has sent word here that, if necessary, he will organize all the express drivers in the country and call them out on strike.

During the early hours today the companies apparently confined their attentions to preparations to break the strike. Strikers are expected to arrive from Philadelphia today. The strikers were caught unawares in Jersey City early today when a dash of 100 trucks was made and the express matter brought to this city without trouble. No disorders were reported by the police in the early hours of the day.

The waybill clerks of the American Express Co., who have no organization and no special grievances, held a meeting this morning and decided to go out on a sympathetic strike this morning.

The Adams company moved nine trucks this morning.

Strike sympathizers upset an express wagon on West Broadway near Bleeker street. An one was hurt.

The International Brotherhood of Teamsters this morning called out between 1500 and 1800 drivers and helpers employed by the Boston Dispatch, a subsidiary of the Adams Express Co. Monahan's Express, and the Manhattan Delivery Co. These men went out at once, one of them according to the strikers, remaining at work.

PRESENTED A RING

A delightful Halloween party was held at the home of Mr. L. J. Labarge of Sixth avenue Saturday night, when his daughter, Miss Loretta, was presented a beautiful emerald ring. Miss Pauline Cummings making the presentation speech. Miss Loretta, though taken by surprise, responded in a neat manner, wishing her guests an enjoyable evening. There were games of all kinds, vocal selections, piano solos by Masters Walter Pinhot, Irving Snyder, William Hiltz and David Hogan. Walter Popo and Percy McMaster. The Misses Ethel Hayes, Alice Dever, Pauline Cummings, Cleo Labarge, Lillian Allard, Bessie Kennedy and Loretta Labarge. Miss Yvette Richards contributed singing and dancing.

The dining room was beautifully decorated with autumn foliage, pumpkins and Halloween novelties.

One of the features of the evening was an entertainment entitled "Annabelle" by Masters William F. Loukas and Walter Pinhot. Refreshments were served. Miss Ruth Leinwas assisted in the dining room by the Misses Irene P. Labarge, Rose A. Margolis and Clara J. Labarge. All departed at a late hour well pleased with the event.

APPOINTED ASSAYER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—George R. Cummings, chief clerk of the New York assay office, was today appointed assayer, succeeding H. G. Torrey, resigned.

POLITICAL PRINTING

Lawler Printing Co., 29 Prescott St.

INTEREST BEGINS

Thursday, Nov. 3

SAVINGS DEPT.
Traders National Bank

Hours: 8:30 to 3, Saturdays, 8:30 to 12:30 and 7 to 9 p.m.

NOVEMBER

Quarter Month

AT THE WASHINGTON Savings Institution
207 Corn at Street

6 O'CLOCK PRANKS AND WILES

IMMENSE GATES THE ARCHBISHOP

Being Made for Panama Canal.

Dedicated Star of the Sea Church.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 31.—The largest gates in the world are being made here for the Panama canal. Anyone of the 92 of them will be about as high as a six-story building, as wide (65 feet) as many city buildings and seven feet thick. The structural steel that will go to make them will weigh 60,000 tons, or more than eight times as much as was used to build the Eiffel tower in Paris. The cost will be $5,500,000.

Of the 60,000 tons of steel required the heaviest single pieces will weigh about 18 tons. These will be huge girders, which are seven feet wide, and will be placed like the first floor girders of a skyscraper.

The thousands of individual pieces will be shipped by steamer by way of Baltimore, and with them will go about 400 skilled workmen from Pittsburgh to set them up. The advance guard of experts leaves here in December and the first work will probably begin early in 1911. It will take three years to complete the job.

Every lock will be ample for a ship 50 per cent. larger than any vessel now afloat, and it has been estimated that as many as a hundred ocean ships may be handled in a single day. There are no other locks approaching these in size. The famous Suez canal is a sea-level affair and the few great lock canals would have to combine their gates to equal the size and strength of the great doors of Panama.

GREAT SWINDLE

Is Suspected by Philadelphia Firm

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Brooklyn and Philadelphia manufacturers appear to have been swindled out of $50,000 or $75,000 in goods, according to statements made Saturday in the Bedford avenue court, Brooklyn, following the arrest of Louis Crystal and Myer Lipschutz. They were accused of receiving stolen goods and were held in $3000 bail each.

Lipschutz, a Philadelphia manufacturer of women's cloaks and suitings, was the complainant. Under the belief that he was selling goods to Samuel Brooks, a reputable Manhattan business man, Lipschutz shipped to a store in Brooklyn goods valued at $50,000 in 60 days' credit.

A few days ago Lipschutz met another Philadelphia manufacturer, who informed him that he had also sent a large lot of goods to the store. Upon further investigation he found that about 50 Philadelphia business men had been called upon by the same representative of Samuel Brooks, and about 20 shipped goods, but no attempt was made to open the store.

About $10,000 worth of property has been recovered.

SAVARD MAY DIE

Found in Bed Enveloped in Flames

SALEM, Oct. 31.—Jean B. Savard, aged 41 years, living at 54 Harbor street, was terribly burned in a fire at his home yesterday afternoon.

An alarm from box 73 summoned a portion of the fire department to his home, where it was found that a fire was in progress in a bedroom. Constable John Russell and Charles C. Childs, driver of the patrol wagon, were among those who entered the burning dwelling. After searching several apartments they entered the bedroom where the fire was in progress and found Savard lying on a bed enveloped in flames.

He was removed to the patrol wagon and carried to the Salem hospital. At 6 p. m. it was reported by the hospital officials that the condition of Savard was deemed very critical.

THE GLENDALES

WILL NEXT SHOW AT BRISTOL, CONN.

The Glendale quartet completed its engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre last evening, having taken part in the Sunday concert, and the members say that it was the most successful week they have had since making their professional debut on June 20. They will remain in this city until Wednesday evening when they will leave for Bristol, Conn., where they have a three days' engagement. From Bristol they go to Providence for one week and their remaining schedule calls for 17 weeks' "work."

The short vacation will give the boys a needed opportunity to "rest up" as they have been working continuously since they started. They say that the reception given them here was the "best ever" and assert that they will ever remember their first visit to their home city in the role of professional entertainers.

Don't suffer pain in dentistry. Dr. Allen, Old City hall, uses painless methods.

BAY HARBOR for sale, weighing about 975 lbs. Inquire 2 Queen st.

DO IT NOW!

The time to fix that umbrella and have it ready for rainy day is now. When it commences to rain, in time of peace you should prepare for war. We are umbrella doctors and our umbrellas are at 600 Merrimack St.,

Sarre Bros.

NOTICE

My wife, Mary Boyle, having left my bed and board, I will not be responsible for any bills contracted by her in my name after this date. Signed, JOHN COYLE, 112 Chapel st.

Oct. 31, 1910.

Archbishop William H. O'Connell, assisted by about 20 priests of the Boston archdiocese and in the presence of about 2000 Catholic residents of East Boston yesterday afternoon dedicated the new St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, at the corner of Moore and Saratoga streets, East Boston.

It was the grandest religious event in Catholic circles of East Boston in many years, the occasion being one that had long been looked forward to by the pastor of the church, Rev. Fr. William H. McDonough, formerly of St. Peter's church, this city, his assistants, Rev. Fr. John F. Kelly and Rev. Fr. Richard Boland, and the members of the church.

Ground for the new church, only the basement of which is completed at present, was broken April 29, 1909, and since that time the parishioners of St. Mary's Star of the Sea church have been anxiously looking for the day when it might be their proud privilege to worship in the edifice.

The structure, even as it stands at present, was pronounced by his grace, the archbishop, the visiting clergy, participating in the dedication and all who viewed it for the first time yesterday, to be one of the handsomest temples of worship in Boston. Archbishop O'Connell in his congratulatory message, which he delivered after the service of dedication, paid high tribute to the clergy and members of the church for the faith that was in them, which he said was well testified to in the handsome new church which he hoped would soon be completed, and extended to them the blessings of God for future happiness and success.

AMERICAN WOMEN

PAY $800 A PAIR FOR STOCKINGS

VIENNA, Oct. 31.—American women have astonished Europe this summer by their expenditures for jewels and clothing. The story is told here of a rich "practical" New York woman, the wife of a steel man, who asked a Parisian woman belonging to an aristocratic house:

"What do you do with your winter diamonds in summer?"

"I wear 'em," said the Parisian, with a look of astonishment. Her sister from across the water, a Parisian had only one diamond—her ring. The fair New Yorker turned away with a shudder.

The Neues Wiener Journal, which vouches for the story, says there are 100 women in New York who are known to spend $150,000 a year on their personal apparel and adornment. Almost every American woman, says the paper, "possesses some special taste which she freely indulges. One, for instance, chapbooks about lace pocket handkerchiefs and has the greatest delight in displaying her collections when she gets back from Europe. Another woman will make silk stockings her past fancy, and, holding out a foot encased in silk cobweb, will say to her friends this has cost her $800 a pair, and there are no more to be had, for the man who wove them has turned blind."

American women, according to this Austrian writer, have millions of dollars' worth of diamonds quite apart from their collections of other gems, and they readily pay $150 for an embroidered nightgown.

When the New York woman, according to this Vienna paper, is asked if she doesn't think she is just a little bit extravagant, she opens her eyes and says: "Why, it is my own money; my husband made it, and why shouldn't I spend it as I like?"

BOXING GOSSIP

The bouts this week are:

MONDAY.

Battling Nelson vs. Anton La Grave, San Francisco.

Con O'Kelly vs. Hank Griffin, Utica.

George Alger vs. Billy Nixon, New Bedford.

Frankie White vs. Kid Farmer, Memphis.

Billy Ryan vs. Bant Dorsey, Albany.

Frankie Burns vs. Tommy Houck, New York.

Johnny Stewart vs. Mike Cunningham, Bangor.

Willie Jones vs. O. Langdon, Glens Falls, N. Y.

Terry Fitzgerald vs. F. Loughrey, Philadelphia.

TUESDAY.

Porky Flynn vs. Jim Barry, Kenneth Salisbury vs. Bob LeFavour, A. J. Duffy vs. Tom Foley and Haywood Briggs vs. Dick Howell, Armory A. A. Willie Beecher vs. Battling Hurley, New York.

Jack Moran vs. Jack Dillon, Indianapolis.

Frankie Madden vs. Joe Selger, New York.

Charley Harvey vs. Bob O'Leary, New York.

Reddy Moore vs. Bob Williams, J. Dougherty vs. Pat Eddle, Ed. Stringer vs. Barney Ford and Fred Corbett vs. Twin Miller, Philadelphia.

WEDNESDAY.

B. A. A. amateur tournament, 4 trials bouts.

THURSDAY.

Young Loughrey vs. Bob Moha, Milwaukee.

Mike McIntyre vs. Jimmy Quinlan, Lawrence.

Charley Harvey vs. Young Rago, New York.

Danny Dunn vs. Joe Wagner, New York.

Harry Lewis vs. Buck Crouse, Pittsburgh.

FRIDAY.

Hugo Kelly vs. Tony Caponi, Minneapolis.

Jack Dorman vs. Leach Cross, New York.

Kid Carrig vs. K. Sperry, Dunkirk, N. Y.

Jack Sheehan vs. Tommy Furey, Billy Lewis vs. M. Donahue and George Golden vs. Young McDonough, Manchester, N. H.

SATURDAY.

B. A. A. amateur tournament. Semi-finals and finals.

1x-rlhlg, RbThU, 1zw;

SOME FAVORITE HALLOWE'EN PRANKS

Of the Hallowe'en as Handed Down by Tradition

"We merry sangs, an' friendly cracks, And unco tales, an' funny jokes— Their sports were cheap an' cheery; Till buttered sowns wi' fragrant lunt, Set at their gabs a-steerch; They parted air cargerin Fu' blithe that night."

Tomorrow will be the feast of All Saints, or as it is anciently known, the feast of "All Hallow's," and hence today is "Hallowe'en," the eve of "All Hallow's," and a festival that has been observed with varied practices since time immemorial the world over, though particularly in Scotland and Ireland.

All the traditions of Hallowe'en have come from the old country and Young America has added a number of new world stunts of a rough-house order, such as removing gates, advertising signs, ringing door bells and other annoying practices to which no self-respecting fairy would resort, even to make a roaring holiday.

From the works of that foremost child of nature, Bobby Burns, comes the best description of Hallowe'en. He wrote a lengthy poem on the subject, the concluding stanza of which appears above and for the benefit of the husbands of his non-Scottish admirers he left interesting notes explaining the traditions upon which the poem is based.

Hallowe'en is thought to be a night upon which witches, devils and other mischief-making beings are all abroad on their baneful midnight errands; the fairies, are said on Hallowe'en to hold a grand anniversary.

The passion of prying into the future makes a striking part of the history of human nature, in its rude state, in all ages and in all nations, and hence on Hallowe'en among the Scotch the practice of long syne the future was divined by lad and lassie, through the medium of the spirits and practices weird and uncanny to see where fate would yet join their hearts.

"Then first an' foremost thro' the kail Their stocks maun a' be sought ane."

The first ceremony of Hallowe'en, according to the old Scotch custom, was the pulling each a stock or plant of kail. The couple were obliged to go out hand in hand with eyes shut and pull the first they met. It was prophetic of the size or shape of the grand object of all their spells, the husband or wife of the future. If any earth stuck to the root it was a sign of fortune, and the taste of the heart of the stock indicated the natural temper or disposition of the happy mate of the future. Lastly the atoms were placed over the door and the Christian names of the persons whom chance first brought into the house were the names in question. In Ireland a somewhat similar practice was once in vogue though a cabbage was stolen from a neighboring field.

Burning nuts was another famous charm. The nuts were named with the names of a lad or lassie and then were laid in the fire. Accordingly as they burned quietly together or jumped away from each other so would the courtship be.

Another familiar practice was to take a candle and go alone to a looking glass; cut an apple before it and some traditions say you should comb your hair at the same time; the face of your future wife or husband will be seen in the glass as if peeping over your shoulder.

These are only a few of the old-time practices, some of which are still carried out in this country though in somewhat modified form.

In this country Hallowe'en is observed principally by the children whose fun consists of ducking for apples for the night is often called "Snap Apple" night, and a practice for the older ones, namely hiding a wedding ring in the mashed potatoes at the evening meal, the lucky one getting the ring in his or her portion being sure to be married within a twelve-month, while all kinds of games in which the "Goblin," made of a pumpkin with a candle within, plays a prominent part.

So, if you miss your gate or if your doorknob annoys you from your slumbers, don't swear, simply recall the fact that it is only the fairies and that fortunately they are permitted to roam on only one night in the year.

FUNERALS

O'REILLY—The funeral of Mrs. Jennie O'Reilly took place yesterday afternoon from the home at 54 Perry street and was largely attended. Services were held at the Immaculate Conception church, Rev. Fr. Tighe, O. M. I., officiating. The bearers were Patrick McAndrew, Thomas Boyle, Michael Noonan, Owen Gillogoley, Dennis Haley and John Burns. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery under the direction of Undertaker Peter Davey. Rev. Fr. Tighe, O. M. I., read the committal prayers at the grave.

FANNING—The funeral of Frederick G. Fanning took place Sunday afternoon from the home of his parents, rear 28 Walnut street, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. At St. Patrick's cemetery the burial took place under the direction of Undertaker Thomas J. McDermott. Among the beautiful floral tributes laid upon the grave were the following: Large pillow on base with the inscription "Our Darling" from the bereaved parents; roses and lilies, Master John McGlinchey and family; large wreath of roses and lilies, Master John McGlinchey; basket of pinks and chrysanthemums with ribbon, inscribed "Cousin," the Shughrue children; basket of roses, pinks and chrysanthemums, Grandfather John J. Fanning; spray of roses and pinks, Alice, Margaret and Parker Fanning; spray of carnations and pinks, Cousin Helen and Marlon; spray of pinks, the Murray children and Philip McGovern; spray of pinks and ferns, Miss McGary, and many sprays from other friends.

TIGHE—With solemn impressive services held at St. Peter's church this morning the mortal remains of Thomas E. Tighe, a most respected young resident, were consigned to their final resting place in St. Patrick's cemetery. The obsequies were attended by a large gathering of the relatives and friends of deceased who was widely known and quite popular. On all sides were apparent the sorrow for the deceased and sympathy for the bereaved family. This was notable in the large cortege that left the house, 50 Crosby street, for the church at 3.30 o'clock. At 9 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Father Heffernan, assisted by Rev. Frs. Burns and O'Brien as deacon and sub-deacon. The choir under the direction of Mr. James E. Donnelly sang the Gregorian mass, the solos being sustained by Mr. Donnelly and Miss Whiteley, Mrs. Josephine McKennedy presiding at the organ. The following delegations were in attendance at the funeral, William Kennedy, Albert Conner, J. Clark, J. Johnson, T. O'Sullivan, P. Noonan, W. Regan, and M. Winn, brother police officers, who did escort duty to the remains; Thomas J. Fitzgerald, James A. Kane, Edward F. Maguire and John J. Kennedy, representing the C. Y. M. C. The bearers were Frederick Welch, John Conlon, Michael Larkin, Walter Coughlin, William Keegan and Edward Connors.

There were many beautiful floral tributes, including a large pillow inscribed "Our Tom" from the family; cross and anchor on base inscribed "Chum" from Fred Welch, John Conlon, Charles Duff, Walter Coughlin, Frank Delehanly, John McDermott, George Holdich, Michael Larkin and Cornelius O'Neil; mammoth floral clock on base inscribed "The Dead Hour" from the Lovell police department; wreath on floral stand inscribed "Superannuary Officers" from his class of superannuary officers; large pillow from the C. Y. M. C.; large base inscribed "At Rest" William F. Shea and friends; cross on base from Duffy family; heart on base inscribed "Tom" from Miss Mamie Shannahan, Clara Mahoney and Nora Mahoney; large wreath, BA and Mrs. Moran, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Herley, Helen, Mary and Margaret Doherty; large spray of cypress palms, lilies and roses from Mr. and Mrs. M. Hessian; spray of carnations, Mr. and Mrs. Pare; sprays from Mrs. Catherine Shea, Mrs. Michael Daly, Mrs. Mary Martin, Miss Flosie McHugh, Mrs. M. Molloy and family, Miss Niland, Mr. and Mrs. M. Leonard, and the Misses Anna and Grace Reynolds. At the grave Rev. Fr. Heffernan read the committal prayers, and burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

PRESCOTT—The funeral of Miss Hazel Prescott who passed away Friday evening at the Lowell General hospital, aged 51 years, took place from her late residence, 115 Myrtle street this morning at 10 o'clock and was largely attended by relatives and friends. There were many beautiful floral offerings, bearing testimony of the esteem in which the deceased was held. The services which were very held, were conducted by Rev. Charles T. Billings, pastor of the First Unitarian church and the body was forwarded to Providence, Rhode Island, where the interment will take place in the family lot in the Swan Point cemetery. Mr. C. W. Eaton had charge of the funeral arrangements and the interment was under the direction of the J. B. Currier Co., undertakers.

O'HANLON—The funeral of Mrs. Annie O'Hanlon took place from her late home, 68 Livingston street, this morning and a mass of requiem was sung at the Sacred Heart church by Rev. Fr. James McDermott, O. M. I. The choir under the direction of Mrs. A. Muldoon sang the Gregorian mass and appropriate solos were sung, and the body was leaving the church the choir sang "De Profundis." The bearers were Messrs. James McArdie, Joseph Montgomery, Arthur Loughran, Terrence Kelly, Aver O'Hanlon and Michael McMullen. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. Fr. McDermott, O. M. I., read the final prayers. Although the family requested that no flowers be sent, there were a large wreath of ivy leaves from the husband and family; mammoth cross on base from the McArdie family; spray of pinks from Mr. and Mrs. Michael Donnelly; spray of pinks with ribbon lettered "Godmother" from Minnie McArdie; spray of pinks from Nellie Donnelly; spray of chrysanthemums from Bernard McArdie, and spray of pinks from Mary Gillilan. The funeral was under the direction of Undertaker John O'Connell.

LYNCH—The funeral of Thomas Lynch took place this morning from the chapel of C. H. Molloy & Sons. A funeral high mass was sung in St. Patrick's church by Rev. Joseph Curtin. The Gregorian chant was sung by the choir. Miss Alice Murphy and Mr. Andrew McCarthy were the soloists. Mr. M. Johnson presided at the organ. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Rev. Fr. Curtin read the prayers at the grave. The bearers were Henry Twohey, Henry Twohey, Jr., William Murphy and William Johnson. Among the floral offerings were the following: Large standing wreath from Mr. Thos. E. O'Day; large wreath of asters from Merrimack electric department; spray of pinks from Margaret Cumpliffe; mound of flowers, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Howes; spray of pinks, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lapointe; spray, from a friend, C. H. Molloy & Sons, undertakers in charge.

TO WORK IN TAMPA. PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 31.—Sixty-five skilled cigarmakers, among them a number of women, quietly left the city last night and are now on their way to Tampa, Fla., where they are to be employed in the factories in which workmen and manufacturers cannot agree.

We Give "S. & H." Green Trading Stamps

Nelson's Colonial Dept. Store

IT SAVES TO PAY CASH

Anniversary Sale of

RUGS

| | | | |
|--|---------|--|---------|
| Bigelow Axminster Rugs, size 9x12, worth $30, slightly mismatched.... | $18.50 | Double Panel Bigelow Axminster Rugs, worth $25. Sale price..... | $13.95 |
| Bigelow Axminster Rugs, size 8-3x 10-6, worth $28 slightly mismatched | $16.95 | Bigelow Brussels, full 5 frames, size 9x12, worth $30. Sale price..... | $24.75 |
| Bigelow Imperial Arlington Rugs, high grade sample rugs, size 9x12, worth $40. Sale price | $30.00 | Bigelow Brussels, full 5 frames, size 8-3x10-6, worth $28. Sale price | $22.75 |
| Bigelow Imperial Arlington Rugs, size 8-3x10-6, worth $38. Sale price | $28.00 | Tapestry Rugs, seamless, size 9x12, worth $13. Sale price..... | $8.95 |
| | | Best Tapestry Rugs, seamless, worth $19. Sale price..... | $14.70 |

LINOLEUM and FLOOR OIL CLOTH

| | | | |
|---|-----|---|-----|
| Heavy English Linoleum, worth 70c. Sale price, yard | 49c | Heavy Oil Cloth, fancy patterns. Sale price, yard | 29c |
| Heavy Inlaid Linoleum, worth $1.25. Sale price, yard | 85c | 30c Straw Matting. Sale price, yard..... | 19c |

Anniversary Sale of Lace Curtains, Draperies, Couch Covers, Blankets, Sheets, Bed Spreads, Pillow Slips and Comfortables

ALL THIS WEEK

LATEST TO QUIT LOWELL

Hudson Man Supposed to be a Kleptomaniac

Many Other Interesting Cases Engage Attention of Police — Sunday Card Players Fined — Assault at a Saturday Night Wedding

Eben A. Woodbury, aged 55 years, a veteran of the Civil war and an alleged kleptomaniac, who resides in Hudson, N. H., was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with attempting to commit larceny Saturday afternoon. James E. O'Donnell, who represented the aged defendant, entered a plea of not guilty.

The first witness for the government was Herbert Charrette who resides at 474 Moody street. He testified he saw the defendant coming out of the building in which he lives last Saturday afternoon. The man left the house in a hurry and upon reaching the street ran through Moody street and turned into a side street. Witness gave chase and finding an officer pointed the man out to him and Woodbury was placed under arrest.

Albina Forget, who lives in the house in question in Moody street, testified she entered her room about 1.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon and found Woodbury standing in front of her bureau. One of the drawers was open but she could not state as to whether or not he had anything in his hand.

Anna Proulx, who lives in the same house, testified to seeing the old man leaving the house in a hurry.

Supt. Welch said he had a conversation with Woodbury yesterday afternoon and that the man admitted that he had entered the house for the purpose of stealing, but could not tell why he did such things. He said he came to Lowell to get some flies. He left his horse and carriage in Pelham and came to Lowell on the electric. He did not know why he went to the building in Moody street and if he was sorry for what he had done and if given a chance would try to overcome his weakness. He said he was all right while he remained in the country but when he came to the city he lost control of himself.

Supt. Welch showed that the man had been arrested in Lawrence and Nashua, and since 1887 had been before the court on a number of different occasions.

No defense was offered other than Judge Clyde of Hudson, N. H., who took the stand in order to tell what he knew about the man. He said that Woodbury is a kleptomaniac and does not steal for what gain he makes, but because there is some fascination about it. Judge Clyde cited certain instances where Woodbury had stolen things and whatever he took was of little or no value despite the fact that he had chances to steal things of greater value.

Upon Judge Clyde stating he would try to look after the man, Mr. Woodbury was placed on probation for one year in order that he keep away from Lowell.

Row at a Wedding

There was a wedding in Howe street Saturday night and one of the guests in the hospital, while another was placed under arrest. Stanislaus Watkavitch was the victim of the assault and he is now lying at St. John's hospital with a deep gash in the head while the police claim that one John Sokolinsky is the assailant. The latter was locked up late Saturday night but this morning when his name was called to answer to a complaint charging him with assault and battery it was found that he was among the missing. He was given a reasonable time to appear in court and when he failed to do so his default was read. It is understood by the police that while the wedding was in progress Watkavitch and Sokolinsky had a heated dispute with the result that the latter struck Watkavitch over the head with a bottle or glass. The injured man was taken to St. John's hospital, where he received treatment and later Sokolinsky was located at his home in Bent's court and taken to the police station.

Raid in Upper Market Street

Sergeant Duncan, Inspectors Grady, Dwyer and Fox raided a house at 470 Market street last night and succeeded in getting ten men in the drap net. The police had been "tipped off" that there was a card game in progress and the raiding party by strategic work made its way into the room, the ten occupants not being aware of the approach of the officers until the latter were in the room. There were ten men seated around the table and considerable money was in the center of the table. The ten were sent to the police station, three of the prisoners being charged with gaming on the Lord's Day while the other seven were charged with being present at a game. When booked at the police station they gave their names as follows: Stavos, Pubrikos, George Karoulos and James Aloups, James Andries, Andros Giris, Harris Athinis, Charles Certas, James Riles, Christos Cescos and Christos Pappas, the first three being charged with gaming and the seven last for being present.

When arraigned in police court this morning each entered a plea of guilty and those who were charged with gaming were fined $10 each and those with being present $7 each.

Evaded His Fare
John E. Dempsey was charged with evading car fare on a car of the Boston & Northern Street Railway Co. and also with being drunk. He admitted that he had been drunk but denied that he had refused to pay his fare.

Conductor George T. McKenna testified that Dempsey got on his car about 1.30 o'clock from the end of the car line at District Centre and believing that the man was going to ride back to the city did not bother him for car fare owing to the short distance to the end of the line. He testified that on the return trip he asked Dempsey for his fare and the latter refused to pay. He further testified that he made many other attempts to collect the fare until he reached Merrimack square at which place he turned the man over to Patrolman Kilroy.

Patrolman George Small corroborated to a large extent the testimony offered by the conductor. Patrolman Kilroy, when called to the stand, said that the man was drunk when Conductor McKenna called his attention to him. Dempsey said that he paid his car fare, but the court evidently did not believe him and found him guilty on both charges, imposing a fine of $10 for evading car fare and $5 for drunkenness.

His Trip Postponed
Charles Yunuli was to have taken a trip to Greece this week but as a result of a little sentence handed out by Judge Hadley this morning Charles will have to postpone his trip for at least three months. It seems that the defendant and his wife have not been living together of late and yesterday he called on her and after assaulting her threw their six months' old baby on the floor. The cause of the trouble is that Charles wants to go back to Greece to live while his wife prefers this country. The court found the man guilty and ordered him to be sentenced to jail for three months and also furnish bonds in the sum of $100 to keep the peace for six months.

Case Postponed

Salmon K. Husson, who was arrested Saturday on a warrant charging him with larceny and forgery, appeared in court this morning and through his counsel, William A. Hogan, entered pleas of not guilty to each complaint. Lawyer Silverblatt asked for a continuance till Saturday until he could secure some witnesses who are out of town at the present time and the request was granted.

Allowed to Return Home

John T. Keating, who lives in Fitchburg and works in Ayer, came to Lowell Saturday for the purpose of purchasing a pair of shoes. While here he got intoxicated and was later arrested. This morning he put up a pitiful plea to be given a chance to go back to his work. He said he had no money with him but if given time he could pay the fine. He was fined $5 and ordered to pay it within a month.

Drunken Offenders

Daniel Campbell, charged with being drunk, was sentenced to four months in jail while David Sheehan will spend the next six months at that institution.

Francis Little was given a suspended sentence of five months in jail and John Clark was placed in the hands of the probation officer for a year.

John C. Driscoll, who was on parole from the state farm, will be returned to that institution.

George B. McGinnis, Frederick A. Giles and Edward Gendron were each fined $5. There were several first offenders who were fined $2 each and a few simple drunks were released.

Blanche Mercier was fined $5 for getting drunk on Sunday.

THE POLITICAL HALLOWEEN

If Col. Ames looks in his mirror tonight he certainly will see the portrait of our next congressman as represented above.

NOTED DEMOCRATS

Will Take Part in Campaign This Week

Prominent Speakers From Afar Will Take Stump in This State—Candidates Foss and Cassidy Will Address Two Rallies in Lowell

Gov. Folk of Missouri, Congressman-Elect Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Lewis and Clark, Maine, Ex-Gov. Higgins of Rhode Island, Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, and Governor-Elect Frederick W. Plaisted of Maine are coming to Massachusetts this week to assist Mr. Foss and the democratic state committee in putting Massachusetts side by side with Maine as a democratic pace maker for the rest of the Union.

The state committee has arranged hundreds of rallies for the coming week, covering every section of the state. Mr. Foss and Mr. Cassidy, candidate for governor and lieutenant-governor, will cover an enormous territory in their effort to address as many voters as possible, gradually working toward Boston, after their rallies in Springfield, Chicopee, Westfield and Holyoke on Monday night.

The deep interest nationally in the contest in Massachusetts is in no way better indicated than by letters and telegrams received by Mr. Foss and the state committee from such representative men as Governor Folk, who accepted with alacrity the invitation of the committee to speak in Boston on Saturday night.

Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma wrote: "I regret exceedingly that I cannot add my mite, as I was so glad to do last year, in appearing before Massachusetts voters. The opportunity is yours. Elect Mr. Foss and the rest of the ticket, and make sure of the legislature. The democrats of the Bay State can and should name the successor of Henry Cabot Lodge."

Judson P. Harmon of Ohio, who is in direct line for the democratic presidential nomination in 1912, wired: "Were it not for my own campaign I would be with you personally, as well as in spirit. You can win."

Woodrow Wilson, who resigned the presidency of Princeton college, to accept the democratic gubernatorial nomination in New Jersey, has proposed the exchange of a day's campaigning with Mr. Foss during the coming week, so anxious is he to participate in the Bay State campaign.

Chairman Joseph A. Maynard of the Boston City committee has scheduled hundreds of rallies in Boston during the week, which will be brought to a close in Boston by a mammoth meeting on Saturday night. At this rally the local talent so far ahead in the campaign will address Bostonians. The speakers will include: Gov. Folk of Missouri, Gov.-elect Frederick W. Plaisted of Maine, Congressman-elect Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Maine, and the democratic nominee, as well as other prominent Bay State democrats.

Mr. Foss, in addition to his regular evening engagements, will participate in several daylight auto tours in different parts of the state, notably on Tuesday, when with Mr. Cassidy, he will tour Worcester county.

The schedule of rallies for the week as made up to date by the democratic committee is as follows:

Monday
Springfield, Chicopee, Westfield, Holyoke.
Speakers—Foss, Cassidy, Palmer, Candidate McKeechie.
North Attleboro, Mansfield, North Adams.
Speakers—Mayor Fitzgerald, Vahey, Cong. Candidate R. T. Coughlin.
Westboro, Upton, Grafton.
Speakers—John R. Thayer and local speakers.

Tuesday
Amesbury, Newburyport.
Speakers—Thomas P. Riley, C. W. Bartlett, Cong. Candidate William H. O'Brien.
Cong. Candidate Walter H. Creamer will hold rallies in Malden and elsewhere in his district.
West Barnstable, Osterville, Centerville.
Speakers—Cong. Candidate Thatch-

er and local candidates.
Tuesday
Cambridge (2), Newton, Watertown, Waltham, Somerville, Chelsea.
Speakers—Foss, Cassidy, Vahey, Mayor Fitzgerald.
Holyoke, Chicopee, Bridgewater and Middleboro, with local candidates and other speakers yet to be assigned.
Candidates Foss and Cassidy will make a daylight auto tour of Worcester county.

Wednesday
Fitchburg, Leominster, Clinton.
Speakers—Vahey, Hamlin, J. R. Thayer, W. P. Hayes.
Salem, Danvers, Peabody, Marblehead, Gloucester, Manchester.
Speakers—Foss, Cassidy, W. H. O'Brien, Frank C. Richardson.

Thursday
Fall River (2).
Speakers—Gov. Higgins of Rhode Island, Congressman-elect D. J. McGillicuddy of Maine, Mayor John P. Fitzgerald of Boston, Mayor John T. Coughlin of Fall River and Thomas P. Riley of Malden.

Friday
French rally in New Bedford.
Ayer.
Speakers—T. J. Boynton of Everett, Francis J. Carroll.

Saturday
Sharon, Stoughton, Randolph, Malden, Cohasset, North and West Falmouth, Hanover and Hudson.

Sunday
Lowell (2), Lawrence (2), Haverhill.
Speakers—Foss, Cassidy and local candidates.

Monday
Gardner, Winchendon.
Speakers—Mayor John F. Fitzgerald and John R. Thayer.

Tuesday
Wakefield, Woburn, Medford, Wicquand, Chatham.
Speakers—Hamlin, Vahey, Cong. Candidate Creamer.

Wednesday
Pawtucket, Boston.
Evening, Italian rally.
Malden and North Cambridge.

Thursday
Worcester, Ware, Gloucester, Brockton, Framingham, Marlboro, Northboro, Milford, Hudson, Maynard, Watertown, Athol, Orange, Cohasset, Weymouth, Hingham, Scituate, Fitchburg, Leominster.

Friday
Worcester, whirlwind tour of Boston, Boston evening rally and ratification meeting (hall to be announced).
Speakers—Gov. Folk of Missouri, Gov.-elect F. W. Plaisted of Maine, Congressman-elect D. J. McGillicuddy of Maine, Hon. Eugene N. Foss, Hon. Thomas F. Cassidy, Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, James H. Vahey, Sherman L. Whipple, Henry M. Whitney, Edmund A. Whitman, Thomas P. Riley, and others.

Saturday
Worcester, whirlwind tour of Boston, Boston evening rally and ratification meeting (hall to be announced).
Speakers—Gov. Folk of Missouri, Gov.-elect F. W. Plaisted of Maine, Congressman-elect D. J. McGillicuddy of Maine, Hon. Eugene N. Foss, Hon. Thomas F. Cassidy, Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, James H. Vahey, Sherman L. Whipple, Henry M. Whitney, Edmund A. Whitman, Thomas P. Riley, and others.

Sunday
Lowell (2), Lawrence (2), Haverhill.
Speakers—Foss, Cassidy and local candidates.

Monday
Gardner, Winchendon.
Speakers—Mayor John F. Fitzgerald and John R. Thayer.

Tuesday
Wakefield, Woburn, Medford, Wicquand, Chatham.
Speakers—Hamlin, Vahey, Cong. Candidate Creamer.

Wednesday
Pawtucket, Boston.
Evening, Italian rally.
Malden and North Cambridge.

Thursday
Worcester, Ware, Gloucester, Brockton, Framingham, Marlboro, Northboro, Milford, Hudson, Maynard, Watertown, Athol, Orange, Cohasset, Weymouth, Hingham, Scituate, Fitchburg, Leominster.

Friday
Worcester, whirlwind tour of Boston, Boston evening rally and ratification meeting (hall to be announced).
Speakers—Gov. Folk of Missouri, Gov.-elect F. W. Plaisted of Maine, Congressman-elect D. J. McGillicuddy of Maine, Hon. Eugene N. Foss, Hon. Thomas F. Cassidy, Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, James H. Vahey, Sherman L. Whipple, Henry M. Whitney, Edmund A. Whitman, Thomas P. Riley, and others.

Saturday
Worcester, whirlwind tour of Boston, Boston evening rally and ratification meeting (hall to be announced).
Speakers—Gov. Folk of Missouri, Gov.-elect F. W. Plaisted of Maine, Congressman-elect D. J. McGillicuddy of Maine, Hon. Eugene N. Foss, Hon. Thomas F. Cassidy, Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, James H. Vahey, Sherman L. Whipple, Henry M. Whitney, Edmund A. Whitman, Thomas P. Riley, and others.

Sunday
Lowell (2), Lawrence (2), Haverhill.
Speakers—Foss, Cassidy and local candidates.

Monday
Gardner, Winchendon.
Speakers—Mayor John F. Fitzgerald and John R. Thayer.

Tuesday
Wakefield, Woburn, Medford, Wicquand, Chatham.
Speakers—Hamlin, Vahey, Cong. Candidate Creamer.

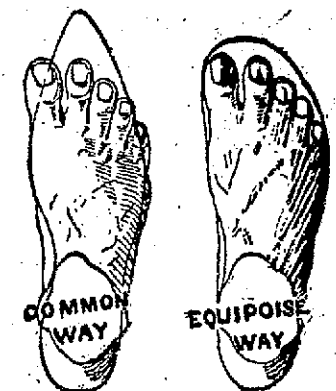

Wednesday
Pawtucket, Boston.
Evening, Italian rally.
Malden and North Cambridge.

Thursday
Worcester, Ware, Gloucester, Brockton, Framingham, Marlboro, Northboro, Milford, Hudson, Maynard, Watertown, Athol, Orange, Cohasset, Weymouth, Hingham, Scituate, Fitchburg, Leominster.

The F. H. Pearson Co.

Footwear Merchants

Ask to See Our Equipoise Shoes

FOR MEN AND WOMEN

They are made to correct arch fallacy. If you are wearing arches you can take them out.

You don't believe it. We do because we know what we are talking about.

That's our business all the time and has been for years.

THINK THIS OVER

Look at the shoes. Try one on your foot, then you will know what we are talking about.

THE HOME OF FOOT FITTING

120-122 Merrimack St.

MANHATTAN CLUB

Held Annual Election of Officers

The Manhattan Social club, which is composed of popular young men of wards 8 and 9, held its annual election and installation of officers in its rooms in Gorham street yesterday. The meeting was called to order by President John P. Ward at 4 o'clock. He stated that the object of the meeting was to select officers for the ensuing season and as he had held the office of president for two years he would not contest for re-election. He thanked the members for their enthusiasm and co-operation in the past and urged them to continue their grand work. Mr. Ward then called for nominations. For president there was no contest as Charles L. Crowley was unanimously chosen. The other officers elected were: Vice-president, Frank E. Laycock; recording secretary, Wm. Donnellan; financial secretary, Daniel F. McCarthy; treasurer, John Ready; board of trustees, John P. Frawley, Richard F. Fitzgerald and John P. Ward. At the conclusion of the election the installation was held, the rotating officers performing the ceremony.

Mr. Crowley, the newly elected president, was then called upon for remarks. He responded and thanked the members for the honor that they had bestowed upon him and said that he would endeavor to conduct the club in the same progressive and efficient manner that his predecessor had. He spoke of the importance of the members to co-operate with the officers and said that if this was done, success was assured. He then called for a vote of thanks to the retiring officers. At the conclusion of his remarks President Crowley was congratulated by all and was assured that all would assist him in increasing the club's popularity and augmenting its treasury. An informal musical program was carried out. It included songs by Charles A. Carey, Albert Ohlson, Bert Mason, George Rogers, Thomas Fay and others, with Robert Fay as accompanist.

INJURIES FATAL

Driver Was Thrown From His Pony

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Venette S. Pelletreau, a well known real estate dealer of Brooklyn, was thrown from a runaway pony at Morristown, N. J., yesterday and killed.

Mr. Pelletreau was a member of the Passaic Valley Hunt club of Long Hills, N. J., and rode into Morristown yesterday morning with several other members of the club to look over some western polo ponies that had just been received by a horse dealer. Mr. Pelletreau was particularly impressed with the looks of a little bay pony. It was a restive creature, and the groom held it with difficulty as it reared and plunged.

"I'll have a try at that one," said Mr. Pelletreau. He dismounted from his own horse, and in spite of the remonstrances of his friends, who told him to wait until the horse could be saddled and bridled, he vaulted on its back. It is believed that his spurs scared the pony's sides as he mounted. At any rate, as he touched its back it gave a violent plunge. Then it wheeled and started for the alleyway that led out of the stable yard. Several grooms made a rush, but the pony dodged them, ran into Morris street, the mounted members of the hunt club in full pursuit.

Pelletreau kept a firm seat and tried to get a grip on the halter. He was unable to do so, and his mount galloped at full speed down the street. It was about 12 o'clock and many people returning from church were crossing the avenue. The hoof beats warned most of them, but in several instances the rider of the bridless horse was barely able to avoid running them down.

Half a mile farther on, opposite the Memorial hospital, the rider made a determined effort to get hold of the halter and succeeded in grasping the rope. He had almost succeeded in bringing the pony to a walk and his friends had come up to within a short distance of them, when Mr. Pelletreau used his spurs to thoroughly master his mount. The pony reared violently. Then he bucked, coming down hard on all fours. Mr. Pelletreau was thrown off, and landed on his head against the stone curb of the street.

From the windows of the hospital the accident had been witnessed, and several men ran out and carried the unconscious man into the building, where it was found that his skull had been fractured. He was placed on the operating table, and the surgeons endeavored to relieve the pressure on the brain, but their patient died within an hour.

Rich Cut Glass

We Have Just Received for the Holidays a Beautiful Line of

CUT GLASS

Suitable for wedding presents at very moderate prices, at

Frank Ricard's

Eyes examined and Glasses fitted by the latest modern methods.

Democratic Rallies

Tuesday Night at 8

Old Boston & Maine Depot

Prominent speakers from city and state, including Philip A. Kiely, of Lynn, candidate for senate in Seventh Middlesex District. Tuesday, 12.45 p. m., at Helme Electric Co. Thursday noon, American Hide and Leather Co.

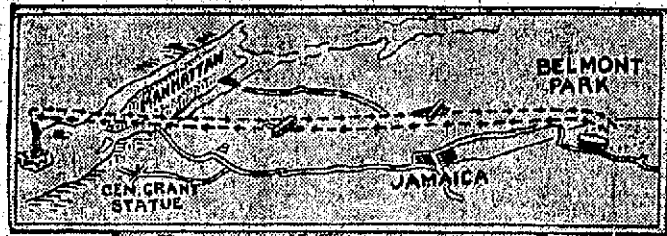

WANTS TO "SQUARE" HIMSELF

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—To "square himself with Uncle Sam," as he put it, Peter Olsen, who deserted from the cruiser Charleston ten years ago, boarded the cruiser Colorado yesterday and surrendered himself.

"I'm getting $150 a month from a good job at home and — well, Uncle Sam, he treated me pretty decent and I feel kinder mean. Just have to square himself." So he told Bontswain Gibson.

Owing to the absence of the commander, Olsen was allowed to go on his promise to return.

WHITE IS BEATEN

THE COURSE OF THE GREAT AVIATION RACE AT BELMONT PARK

Moisant Defeated the Great Aviator in a Flight

NEW YORK, October 31.—Three aviators flew from Belmont Park, L. I., yesterday afternoon, circled the Statue of Liberty in an airplane, swept back through the upper air without a mishap and alighted chilled but exultant.

John B. Moisant, flying for America, covered the estimated 38 mile course in 34 minutes 33.84 seconds; Grahame-White of England was second in 35.21.39, and Count de Lesseps of France was third in 41.56.25. None, however, won the $10,000 prize for the flight offered by Thomas F. Ryan, for the rules prescribe that the "contestants can start any time between 2.45 p. m., and 3.30 p. m., any day of the international aviation meet. Under this interpretation Moisant, although he protested, must await the result of any possible flights today. He is at liberty to better his time of yesterday as are Grahame-White and De Lesseps.

Hardly had the bomb announcing the start of Liberty flight exploded in midair when up from the field scurried De Lesseps in his 100-horsepower Bleriot. Gracefully he rose with the motor dropping perfect attainment, circled across the starting line, and as though to make sure that his machine was in shipshape for the flight of 38 miles across the headwinds and town and bay, flew about the course and then pointed its prow upward and west, and went sailing majestically over the grandstand.

Nothing daunted by the jump the Frenchman had got on him, Grahame-White, in less than a minute, was in the air in a Bleriot of 100 horsepower. There was no preliminary skirmishing on his part. Once past the starting pylon, the Englishman was off on his journey, and, figuratively speaking, at the heels of De Lesseps, Grahame-White's machine appeared to be the faster of the two.

Passing the grandstand at an elevation of about 1000 feet, both aviators headed above the railroad tracks which took them over Jamaica Plain and across the town of Jamaica. Here they were sailing at an elevation of about 3000 feet with the Englishman still chasing the Frenchman, half a mile astern. Every vantage point was filled with awe-inspired spectators; automobiles clogged the thoroughfares and the motormen stopped their cars in order that they and their passengers might witness the duel in the air.

The sky was cloudless and the two flying monoplanes silhouetted against the blue sky made a beautiful picture. So far up were they that the whirring of the motors was scarcely audible.

Over Jamaica, still following the railroad as a guide for their flight, De Lesseps and Grahame-White held their course into Brooklyn—the city of homes and of churches, with their great spires piercing the air. The aviators never faltered but kept up their express train speed despite the biting cold.

Grahame-White was still gaining on De Lesseps, but the Frenchman was first out across the bay and around the Statue about 1000 feet above the big black balloon that had marked the course. The crowds along the Brooklyn waterfront, on Governor's island and along the Battery shouted and waved their hands and handkerchiefs.

Then Grahame-White sent the nose of his Bleriot around above the head of Miss Liberty and started back over the same course as he had traveled. De Lesseps still had a slight lead, but with the wind at his back, Grahame-White put on full speed and began easing down his rival's advantage. Midway over Brooklyn the aviators were on even terms, each at an altitude of between 2000 and 3000 feet, but reaching the outskirts of the city Grahame-White forged ahead and was still in earnest with Belmont Park as his objective. De Lesseps kept directly in the Englishman's wake and now and then could be seen working his controls in an endeavor to get greater speed from his machine, which was fast falling behind. Both men were high above the railroad tracks. It seemed as though they feared to lose the glistening glimmer of steel rails. As on the outward journey, the same scenes were enacted by the great crowds below, and it seemed as though thousands of spectators had gathered to witness the flight.

Passing back over Jamaica, Grahame-White had a lead of about two miles. Arriving at the aviation field the Englishman started his descent from a height of about three thousand feet. He came down in a graceful sweep over the tops of the great trees with the nose of his machine pointed downward at an angle of 40 degrees.

He was going lightning fast and the crowds held their breath in the fear that the Englishman might lose control of the monoplane and be dashed with it to earth. But Grahame-White was cool and collected, for he quickly brought the machine on an graceful downward, passed over the finish line while the cheers of the thousands inside and out the field rang in his ears.

While the crowds were gathered about the Englishman showering congratulations upon him, out of the blue came the Frenchman. All eyes were focused upon him. Like Grahame-White had been, he was three thousand feet up and coming down like the wind. He also described a beautiful curve downward, flew over the grandstand with scarcely any diversion in speed, thence out over the course, each minute coming lower and lower. Finally he settled near his hangar with not even so much as a jar. He received cheers as hearty as those which had greeted Grahame-White.

Moisant Gets Ready
Meanwhile, Moisant was tuning up his newly bought Bleriot preparatory to making a start. At first its motors did not sing true, but finally they became attuned and he shot into the air around the starting pylon and was off over the grandstand steering by the compass for Belmont's island on which stands the Statue of Liberty. Fifty miles an hour was the speed the spectators reckoned he was making against the cold, biting wind which hour, he was only a few moments after he had passed beyond the park enclosure until he was lost in the distance.

Moisant was indignant at the prospect of Grahame-White and De Lesseps being allowed to compete again today. He was yesterday, he contended, and even if the rules leave the contest open to any aviator during certain hours of any day of the meet, he holds that he has eliminated his rivals yesterday.

If they let Grahame-White have another chance," said Moisant last night. "I shall demand that the meet be extended so that I may have another chance to beat Grahame-White. The meet officially ended tonight and tomorrow's flights were supposed to be confined to the program of last Sunday, which inclement weather prevented. No other flights should be allowed tomorrow and if there is then I shall ask for a postponement of several weeks to allow me to get a 100-horsepower machine."

"It is just as fair for them to grant this to me as it will be if they let Grahame-White fly a second time tomorrow. I don't care a farthing about the $10,000, but I do care for the honor of America, and as we have won fairly, I think we are entitled to the honor and credit."

HUNTSMEN BUSY

Deer Season Reopened in Vermont

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Oct. 31.—At sunrise this morning the hills and woods of the Green Mountain state were invaded by an army of huntsmen who, taking advantage of the reopening of the deer season, set out in quest of the elusive game. The extreme drought which has prevailed in many parts of the state last week induced Gov. John Mearns to suspend the season by proclamation and thus minimize the danger from forest fires.

No blighting effect resulted from the interruption for at daybreak the gunners, among whom were a more than ordinarily large number of women, were out in greater force than ever. Windham county was a favorite section for the hunters. Last year a great killing was made in this region and the prediction is freely made that the slaughter will be repeated this year.

$25,000 DAMAGE

Watertown Elevator a Complete Loss

WATERTOWN, Oct. 31.—The all-out signal for the grain elevator fire here was not sounded until 4 yesterday afternoon, making it one of the largest battles the local department has had to contend with in years.

The building and contents are a complete loss. Bundles of hay kept smoldering all day and occasionally one would burst forth in flames, keeping Chief Hatch and his men busy all day long.

Admired by three engines from Boston without doubt prevented the flames from spreading to nearby buildings.

Loring & Co. could not say with any degree of accuracy today just what the loss will be, but $25,000 may cover the damage. Two cars of hay on a side track in the rear of the building also went up in smoke.

BESSIE ABBOTT FOOTBALL TEAMS

Coming to Sing in Both Lowell Teams Defeated Saturday

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Miss Bessie Abbott, the Ysobel of Mascagni's new grand opera of like title, is expected in New York, Nov. 3 on the Majestic. Mascagni will follow on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie. The scenery and costumes have arrived from Milan. The announcements with regard to the

BESSIE ABBOTT

"Ysobel" engagements at the New theatre are now in the hands of subscribers. All reservations must be made by Nov. 10, when seats unassigned will be offered at public sale. The evening prices will be from $2 to $10 and the matinee from $1 to $5. Boxes will be $100 and $50. Reservations of the opera commenced at La Scala theatre, Milan, last month, and they will be continued here. Mascagni himself is to conduct at all performances. This performance is due to be the sensation of the opera season.

The Textile school football team was defeated by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Sophomore team by a score of 21 to 0 Saturday afternoon on the Textile campus in Moody street. The locals were handicapped inasmuch as the team which they put on the gridiron was a crippled one.

MacDuff, the regular quarterback, was out of the game and the position was filled by Smith, a halfback, who is suffering from two broken ribs. Aspinwall received a badly torn lip in the early part of the game and was obliged to withdraw. Thompson and Pinanski also received injuries which put them out of the game.

The game proved to be so long drawn out that the fourth period was played in the darkness.

The following was the lineup of the teams:

| | |
|-------------------------------|----------------------|
| L. T. S. | M. I. T., '13 |
| Leftingwell re | le Fallon |
| Zobel rt | It Capen, Mather |
| Hutchinson rg | lg Gibson |
| McClary c | c Gustin |
| Thompson, Kelsey lg | rg Gage, Freeman |
| Crane lt | rt Murdoch |
| Pinanski, Rogers, Minis lo | re Lovell |
| Smith qb | qb De Coen |
| Johnson rbb | lbb Willett, Whitman |
| Harding lbb | rbb Goff |
| Aspinwall, R. P. Jefferson ft | ft Elchorn |

Score—M. I. T., '13, 21. L. T. S., 0. Touchdowns—Goff 2. Referee—Field. Goals—Goff 2. Referee—Field. Umpire—Lupien. Field judge—Merrill. Head linesman—Swanson. Time—four 10-minute periods.

LOWELL HIGH LOST

The Lowell high school football team went to Malden Saturday afternoon and was defeated by a score of 12 to 0 by the high school team of that place. Despite the fact that the Lowell boys lost, the game was a good one. A number of local admirers of the team accompanied the boys to Malden and cheered from the time the game was started until the whistle blew announcing the end of the fourth period.

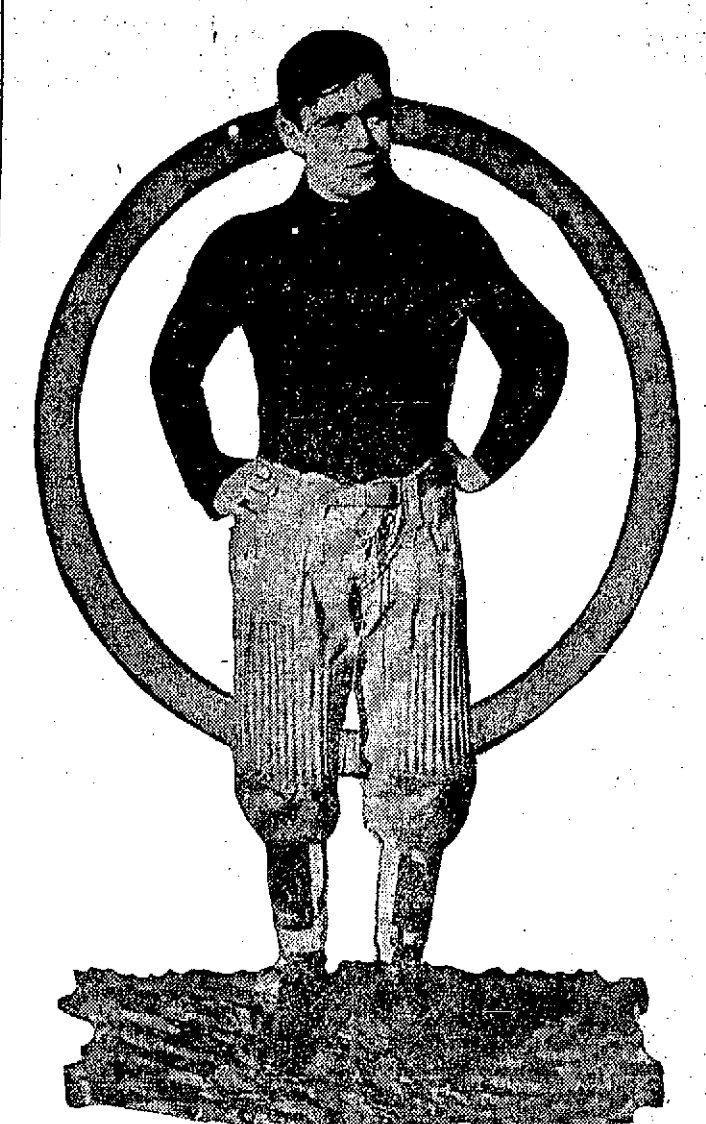

During the course of the game Duval of the local team sustained a dislocated shoulder which in all probability will keep him out of the game during the remainder of the season.

The lineup:

| | |
|--------------------|-------------------|
| Lowell | Malden |
| Carter, Trull le | re Linus, Butler |
| Hazeltine lt | rt Anderson |
| Edgar lg | rt Washburn |
| Hogan c | rg Marston |
| Spaulding rg | c Thompson |
| Duval, Clark rg | lg Reeves |
| Rostler rt | le Benoit |
| Bailey re | le Miner, Gerrish |
| Leggatt qb | qb R. Benoit |
| Bennett rbb | lbb Westcott |
| Frazier, Bowers lg | lg Linus |
| Canley lbb | lbb Turner |
| Donovan fb | fb Milliken |

Score—Malden 12, Lowell 0. Referee—Babcock. Umpire—Cameron. Field judge—Ingalls. Head linesman—Damon.

MINNESOTA'S GREAT QUARTERBACK TALK OF WESTERN FOOTBALL

McGOVERN

ST. PAUL, Oct. 31.—In Johnny McGovern the Minnesota eleven has the star quarterback of the 1910 season. McGovern was the choice for All American quarterback last year, and it looks as if he will have the honors to himself this year. The Gophers' little field general is about everything that a quarterback should be. In all Minnesota's battles this season he has displayed great generalship. In the recent game against Nebraska McGovern's wonderful all around playing materially aided his team in defeat. He pulled off sensation after sensation, and of every five plays started off in he dispersed it with a forward pass. When the Cornhuskers started to play the loose line McGovern would shift the attack through the line in the weakest spots and appeared to possess an uncanny ability to pick these weak spots. In addition to electrifying the 15,000 spectators with his long darting runs and line bucks, McGovern negotiated two splendid field goals and came through the hour of hard play with an entire team endeavoring to stop him without injury or hurt more serious than a bruise. In the big games of 1909 McGovern starred occasionally, but in the game against Nebraska he pulled off sensation after sensation, and of every five plays started off McGovern figured conspicuously in three.

GREAT ATHLETES ENTERED IN NT'L INDOOR CHAMPIONSHIPS TO BE HELD IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—After looking over the list of out-of-town athletes who will start in the national indoor championships to be held here Oct. 31 and Nov. 1 it seems as though many metropolitan champions will be in the "has been" class after the meet is over. The out-of-town entry is the best ever received in the history of the A. U. and the games will bring together the most representative set of athletes seen in New York for years. Thirty-two events are to be decided, and the cream of the athletic world from the north, east, south and west will face the starter to try for championship honors. The colleges for the first time seem to be taking interest in this meeting. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth and Michigan sending men, and the knowing ones say they will not be surprised if the college men upset the chances of the two major clubs, the New York A. C. and Irish American A. C. Among the stars entered in the different events are the famous Melvin Sheppard, Harry Glasing, the N. Y. A. C. crack; Frank Sauer, the western half mile champion; Lukeman, the Canadian hundred yard champion; Kiviatt, the sensational New Yorker; Wilton Paul, the former intercollegiate champion; Martin Sheridan, the world's most famous athlete, and Ralph Rosa, the great shot put champion. The indoor championships this year will be one of the best meetings ever held, and many new records will undoubtedly be made.

INVESTIGATION BOWLING SCORES

Into Cause of the Chicago Strike

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Investigation into the cause of the strike of 20,000 garment workers, which has paralyzed the clothing industry of the city with a view to bringing about an early settlement of the difficulty was undertaken at a meeting of citizens held yesterday in the residence of Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen. Resolutions providing for the organization of a citizens committee and for the appointment of a sub-committee of five to begin an investigation into conditions in the clothing shops and to interpret the strike to the public were adopted. Mrs. Charles Henrotin presided at the conference in the absence of Dr. Emil S. Hirsch, who is chairman of the citizens committee but who was unable to attend the meeting.

No demands are to be made for increased wages at this time and though the strikers will insist that the employers recognize the principle of collective bargaining they will not ask for strictly union shops.

All they are demanding in that respect is that the employers shall not discriminate against any employee because of his connection with a union.

HALLOWE'EN FUN

Will Wind Up Sacred Heart Festivities

The Sacred Heart parish bazaar came to a most successful close Saturday with the banner crowd of the week in attendance.

Among the guests of the evening was Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan, who not only addressed the gathering and liberally patronized the different tables but upon leaving presented Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., a substantial check for the school building fund.

The feature of the entertainment offered was the singing of the Glendale quartet from the Merimack St. theatre, all four being members of the Sacred Heart parish. The boys appeared in their stage make-up and made a big hit.

Averages in the Manufacturers' League

The contest for supremacy in the Manufacturers' bowling league is waxing warm and at the present time there are three teams tied for first place. They are the Bigelow, Boott and Massachusetts teams. The Appleton quintet which is in fourth place is giving the leaders a battle.

Treble of the Massachusetts team leads in the individual standing. The following shows the team and individual standing:

| TEAM STANDING | | | |
|---------------------|-----|------|-------|
| Bigelow | Won | Lost | P. C. |
| Boott | 8 | 4 | 66.6 |
| Massachusetts | 8 | 4 | 66.6 |
| Appleton | 7 | 5 | 58.3 |
| Lawrence | 6 | 6 | 50.0 |
| Hamilton | 6 | 6 | 50.0 |
| Lowell Machine Shop | 5 | 7 | 41.7 |
| Tremont & Suffolk | 0 | 12 | 0.0 |

INDIVIDUAL STANDING

| Bowler and Team | Strings | Ave. |
|------------------------------|---------|------|
| Preble, Mass. | 6 | 84.8 |
| Abbott, Boott | 6 | 84.8 |
| Kirby, Boott | 5 | 82.3 |
| Boyle, Mass. | 5 | 82.4 |
| Lawrence, Bigelow | 5 | 80.3 |
| McClary, Mass. | 3 | 82.2 |
| Cove, Mass. | 3 | 80.6 |
| Beil, Mass. | 3 | 80.4 |
| McClary, Bigelow | 2 | 85.0 |
| Sargent, Bigelow | 2 | 80.2 |
| Pillsbury, Lawrence | 2 | 80.1 |
| Allen, Lawrence | 2 | 80.0 |
| Howey, Hamilton | 2 | 80.0 |
| Thurston, Bigelow | 2 | 80.0 |
| Holgate, Boott | 2 | 80.0 |
| Grant, Lowell Machine Shop | 2 | 80.0 |
| Griffin, Hamilton | 2 | 80.0 |
| Paradis, Bigelow | 2 | 80.0 |
| Webster, Mass. | 2 | 80.0 |
| Briggs, Tremont & Suffolk | 2 | 80.0 |
| Johnson, Boott | 2 | 80.0 |
| Green, Lawrence | 2 | 80.0 |
| Sharpe, Lowell Machine Shop | 2 | 80.0 |
| Dodge, Hamilton | 2 | 80.0 |
| Chase, Lawrence | 2 | 80.0 |
| Pickering, Tremont & Suffolk | 0 | 85.1 |

LECLAIR KILLED

He Was Struck by a Car

TAUNTON, Oct. 31.—Stepping from the sidewalk directly in front of a big electric car bound from Brockton to Taunton yesterday, William LeClair, aged 45, was instantly killed.

His head was crushed by the forward trucks of the car and his body so tightly wedged beneath the car that it was necessary to use jacks to extricate it.

LeClair was a painter, and so far as is known here had no relatives. He came to Taunton from some part of Canada about five years ago.

7-20-4
10c Cigar

Factory's output now upwards of half-million weekly. Largest selling brand of 10c cigars in the world.
Factory, Manchester, N. H.

Bright, Sears & Co.
BANKERS AND BROKERS
Wyman's Exchange
SECOND FLOOR

HIGHWAYMEN BUSY

Fourth Robbery is Reported in Greater Boston

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The fourth woman victim of highwaymen in Brighton in as many days is Miss Katherine E. Coakley of 96 Corey road, Brookline.

While walking along Corey road about 6 last night she was robbed of a handbag containing $3 in money and an emethyst ring valued at $10.

In all but the first robbery, that of Miss Mary McDougall last Thursday night, the handbags have been snatched from the women.

In the three cases one man did the job, but in the case of Miss McDougall two men worked together and one furnished a revolver.

In none of the cases reported have the thieves been very successful as far as securing much money is concerned, the sums, except in the case of Miss Coakley, ranging only from 75 cents to $1.50.

Captain Sullivan of division 14 has taken every precaution at his command to catch the thieves. Extra men have been assigned to the district where the robberies have occurred, along Commonwealth avenue from Harvard avenue to the reservoir section.

The first robbery occurred last Thursday evening about 11 when Miss Mary McDougall, a servant girl at 6 Cheswick road, Brighton, was held up by two young men on Chestnut Hill avenue near Commonwealth avenue.

Miss McDougall had been in town and had returned on a Beacon street car, getting off at the corner of Commonwealth and Chestnut Hill avenues. She started to walk along in the direction of Englewood avenue and was stopped by the two men.

One grabbed her roughly by the throat while the other pushed a revolver in her face. The man with the revolver stole the young woman's pocketbook. The two men then released Miss McDougall and started down Englewood avenue.

ITCHING ECZEMA

Eczema and similar skin diseases rarely cure themselves, but grow worse from week to week until the sufferer is nearly driven mad with intense irritation. Don't waste time taking internal medicines. Get a 10c box of Cadum, the new medical compound, and apply it immediately. The itching will stop at once, and a great improvement will be noticed overnight. People who have itched and scratched for years and sleep and rest soon after Cadum is applied. Cadum is also for pimples, rash, blotches, ulcers, eruptions, scaly skin, chafing, piles, etc.

An elevated railway conductor heard the young woman's cries and ran to her assistance, but her assailants had got away by the time the conductor reached the almost insensible girl.

On the following evening Miss May Murphy, who is employed at the Brighton wing of the Homeopathic hospital on Summit avenue, was robbed of her pocketbook at the corner of Summit and Commonwealth avenues and about half a mile from the scene of the holdup of the evening before.

Saturday evening the snatch thief appeared at the corner of Franklin and Holton streets in Allston, where he had no trouble in relieving Mrs. Charles H. Atwood of 127 Franklin street of her purse containing $1.25.

The snatch thief has been variously described as being from 15 to 24 years of age. He is said to be of fairly good height. Miss Coakley said last evening that he was about 5 feet 10 inches in height, weighed about 150 pounds and wore dark clothes and a black derby hat. She said he was about 20 years old.

In addition to the fact that extra men have been put out to run down the thief, the police auto is being called into play, as well as the bicycle force at division 14. Captain Sullivan warns the women of the district to keep their pocketbooks out of sight or advise them not to carry them in such a manner that they may be easily snatched away.

BOSTON MAN

MADE AN ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 31.—Adolph Talamini, about 26 years old, of East Boston, son of the publisher of Liberta, an Italian weekly paper published in Providence, in his room in a local hotel last evening drank the phosphorous of matches dissolved in water and then tried strangulation with a towel. A note was found saying that he "loved Ethel," but that his case was hopeless.

Apparently repenting of his acts, Talamini rang for a bellboy and then lapsed into a dazed condition. He was taken to the Maine General hospital. Physicians say he will recover unless he absorbed too much phosphorous.

Talamini came here two days ago and registered as "Jack Alter." He said he was canvassing for the publishing house. Last night he admitted his real name and his address as 186 Bremen street, East Boston.

THE SUN LISTED

As Preferred Medium for Classified "Ads"

The following letter relative to publications preferred and recommended for classified advertising is received from the Mail Order World Advertising Agency of Lockport, N. Y. It is but fair to say that the letter comes without any solicitation or negotiation direct or indirect on our part. The letter, which is self-explanatory, is as follows:

Lockport, N. Y., Oct. 28, 1910. Publisher Sun, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—We take pleasure in handing you, under separate cover, copy of the fourth revised edition of our booklet, "Where Your Ads Will Pull."

After a thorough and exhaustive test of the merits of the papers in your field, we have selected your paper as representative of that field among the leading classified media of the country.

In selecting the papers named in our booklet, we have had at our disposal accurate figures covering seven years of careful testing. In no case have we been guided by an argument or inducement offered by publishers, and feel that in presenting these lists to users of classified advertising space, we have produced the first absolutely authoritative list of the best classified media in America.

Trusting that you will maintain the same high standard that has characterized your publication in the past, we remain

Yours very truly,
The Mail Order World Advertising Agency.

CARBONOL

Dispels All Dirt

Some kinds of dirt, especially of a greasy nature, won't dissolve in water; but a dash of Carbonol in the water makes such dirt vanish.

Carbonol is invaluable in house-cleaning. It is also a disinfectant and deodorant; makes garbage odorless, destroys nasty smells. Disinfects and purifies everything. More necessary than soap for sanitary housekeeping. 10c and 25c a bottle. Sample free on request.

Barrett Manufacturing Co.,
297 Franklin St., Boston, Mass.

OUR LAW BREAKERS

Probation Officer Ramsay Discusses Their Reformation

Makes Valuable Suggestions Relative to Future Treatment of the Many Non-Support Cases That Daily Come Before the Court

At the Eliot church yesterday Probation Officer James P. Ramsay delivered an interesting talk on the prison congress, recently held at Washington, D. C., which was attended by representatives of all civilized nations, and a series of suggestions for prison work in the future.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Ramsay said: "Perhaps not again in this generation will there come to this country three such congresses as were held at Washington during the first week of this month."

"First, the American Prison congress, the session lasting three days.

"Second, the first annual meeting of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology.

"Third, the International Prison congress, which began its session on Sunday, October 2. This congress meets once every five years and although it was organized by an American, Mr. E. C. Wines, it has never before held a meeting in this country. The first meeting was held in London in 1872, and the last in Budapest, Hungary.

"The meeting of the International Prison congress brought together for the first time in America, representatives from 26 states of our Union, and 37 foreign governments, representing the different professions, which come into contact with criminals and with the administration of the penal code, lawyers, legislators, judges, administrators of institutions, educators, and leaders of preventive and constructive philanthropy.

"Among the 278 delegates present were such well known Americans as Bishop Fallows of Chicago, Dr. Charles R. Henderson, North Western university, Chicago; Governor Gilchrist of Florida; H. C. Carbaugh, judge advocate, U. S. army; Frederick Howard Wines of Springfield, Ill.; Major R. W. McClaughry, Warden U. S. penitentiary, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas; Justice Charles DeCourcy of Massachusetts; Commander Eva Booth of the Salvation Army; Z. R. Brockway, retired prison manager of Elmira; Miss Helen Gould, and many others.

"Many of the foreign delegates have international reputations: Paul Lubinsky, professor of law, Imperial university, St. Petersburg; Dr. J. Simon von Stry, professor of penal law, Holland; Sir Evelyn Ruggles-Brise, London, England; Kimpah T. King, supreme court of justice, Peking, China, not admitting the old and venerable Dr. Guillaume of Switzerland, secretary to the congress for many years.

"The delegates were greeted and welcomed by President Taft. The United States government appropriated $20,000 for the special entertainment of the foreign delegates. We were taken down the Potomac in a government vessel, and a banquet was served to the delegates. Many speeches were delivered by the foreigners, the Chinese justice carrying off the honors.

"In brief the resolutions under the section on criminal law, approved the scientific principle of the indeterminate sentence and defined the makeup of parole boards, which should give its application.

"Under the section on prison administration, the essential principle on which the reformatory method is based, was defined, short term sentences deprecated, and the joint confinement of prisoners waiting trial and those serving short sentences condemned.

"The resolutions defined the terms on which conditional liberation and parole should be carried out, and distinguished between probation and parole; they held that all penal institutions, including houses of detention and jail, should be under the control of a central authority, that all prisoners should be employed at useful labor.

"They affirmed the uselessness of repeated short sentences for inebriety, and the practical success of special establishments for the detention for long periods, of habitual drunkards.

"They favored workhouses for professional mendicants and vagrants, and advocated agricultural and industrial training and medical supervision in connection with the same; also the extension or establishment of a system of identification of such offenders.

"The section held that it is desirable to introduce and extend laws providing for probation. That the effects of suspended sentence, without probational oversight, are difficult if not impossible to ascertain.

"Under the fourth section, dealing with children, a strong series of resolutions was drawn up, declaring that young delinquents should not be subjected to the penal procedure now applied to adults, and defining the principle of probationary control with respect to them. The section held that legislative measures and moral and social propaganda are necessary for the protection of illegitimate children, declaring incidentally but strongly for a single moral standard applicable to men and women alike. It supported laws for making parents responsible for the wrong-doing of their children.

Before the session adjourned, London was chosen as the meeting place for 1915, and Sir Evelyn Ruggles-Brise, as president of the International commission, and will bring the congress to a close.

"I would not give the impression, however, that the present system is not working out an immense amount of good, the local probation officer, Mr. Shattuck, collects a great deal of money in non-support cases, and one court alone, the Roxbury municipal court, through its probation officer, collected last year $5000.

In conclusion—probation officers can be of great service to neglected wives and deserted children. I am acquainted with officers who specialize in this form of probation work and a great

JAMES P. RAMSAY,
Probation Supervisor

back to the city of its first meeting place and afford a remarkable opportunity for reviewing the advances since the initial congress in 1872.

Under the third section on prevention, the resolutions held that the state should allow payment to prisoners and that the money should be available for the assistance of their families, if needed.

Non-Support Cases
Mr. Ramsay then went into the important subject of "non-support" and cited many interesting incidents that have come under his observation.

In summing up he said: "For these evils, I would therefore, strongly urge that all cases of non-support or family desertion cases come before our police, district or municipal courts, be treated privately, that a day he set apart for their hearing, just as the cases of juveniles are now conducted, in a room set apart for the same, and that if the defendant is to be given a suspended sentence, he be placed in the care of the probation officer as surety, who shall see that the order of payments is made by the court is duly collected, and paid over to the neglected family. If unable to collect this money, he should arrest and return to court his ward, as he has the right to do under the law, or else invoke the aid of the police to arrest for him, which he has also the right to do, and then let the judge deal with the man, not by sending him to a common jail, where he can mix and associate with thieves and other hardened criminals, where his labor is light, his food good and plentiful, as it ought to be, clean baths and bedding, as they must be, with good books to read and tobacco smoking enjoyed as per rule of the institution; but to some place not yet discovered, but which I will take the liberty of suggesting.

Good Suggestion
Why not have the state establish or rather extend the industrial camp idea, as is now operated under the management of the prison commissioners at Rutland, Mass. A few such colonies established in the different counties where these common drunkards, and wife deserters could be placed at work reclaiming the waste lands of the commonwealth would surely not be at variance with public sentiment or organized free labor. Then I would recommend that we go one step farther and adopt the sense of the resolution as passed at the 'International Prison Congress,' and pay over to the families of these men a part of their earnings, say, for the sake of still further illustrating this subject, a nominal sum of 50 cents per day, so that there would be no incentive for a man to commit an offence, for the sake of getting employment from the state.

If the clergy and a few level-headed citizens were to take this proposition to the legislature, we might in time get this work established and thereby find a part solution of this great social problem. "The deserted family."

I would not give the impression, however, that the present system is not working out an immense amount of good, the local probation officer, Mr. Shattuck, collects a great deal of money in non-support cases, and one court alone, the Roxbury municipal court, through its probation officer, collected last year $5000.

In conclusion—probation officers can be of great service to neglected wives and deserted children. I am acquainted with officers who specialize in this form of probation work and a great

The Bon Marche Dry Goods Co.

SPECIAL SALE TODAY OF Children's Coats

—AT—

$1.98 Each

About 100 in the lot. Fancy mixtures, latest styles. Suitable for children from 3 to 14 years of age. Extra values at regular prices $3 and $4.

SALE PRICE TODAY

$1.98 Each

amount of good is accomplished by them. One officer attached to a large court in Essex county informed the writer that his judge took great interest in this branch of the probation system, and working together as they did, many cases where husbands failed to provide for their wives never reached the public stage of the open court. A complainant would call to see the judge in his private room, tell her story. She would then be referred to the probation officer, who, after giving her a hearing would call upon the husband or write him a letter requesting him to call at the probation office. If he came voluntarily—and most of them did—they would sit down and talk the matter over. The probation officer would point out to the man the folly of being brought into a public hearing in court, and being obliged to submit to the court's decree when the business could just as well be settled privately. This method usually prevails and an agreement is entered into, whereby the probation officer is paid a stipulated sum weekly for the benefit of the family.

The amount collected and paid out by this one officer is very large, amounting to several thousand dollars annually.

Many other officers do a large amount of this same kind of work which the public learns but little about, inasmuch as this branch of probation work is not printed in any public document. (These cases not being entered upon the court docket, do not get a place in the annual report of the prison commission.)

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

Another great influence for good in these cases is that of the probation officer's efforts in facilitating and bringing about the reunion of husband and wife, parted as they often are, by a fit of temper, or domestic infidelity. A good counsellor can do much toward ironing out the family creases and bring about harmony and good feeling, where nothing but discord has previously reigned.

BADLY DAMAGED

Two Schooners Were in Collision

VINEYARD HAVEN, Oct. 31.—Badly damaged, the schooners Frank E. Swain, Boston for Charleston, S. C., and Sarah and Lucy, Boston for New York, which collided yesterday while beating past the Cross Rip Lightship were towed in here early today.

The headgear and bowsprit of the Sarah and Lucy were carried away while the sparker of the Swain was torn to ribbons and the port and afterhouse of the latter schooner were badly damaged. Neither vessel was leaking and it was expected that they would be towed to New London late today for repairs.

Captain Theall of the Swain stated upon his arrival here today that the collision was caused by the Sarah and Lucy endeavoring to cross the bow of the Swain. Both vessels came to anchor and distress signals were hoisted. The revenue cutter Acushnet was notified last night and immediately went to the assistance of the vessels. The Acushnet took the Sarah and Lucy in tow and arrived at the port shortly after midnight. The tug Orion came down from Boston and towed the Swain in here this morning.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO-CRISTAL Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

TRAMP STEAMSHIP
CARRIES THE BIGGEST LUMBER CARGO YET

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 31.—Carrying the biggest lumber cargo ever floated on any sea, the British tramp steamship Knight of the Garter, has just sailed from Portland with 5,300,000 feet of Oregon fir on board. The cargo weighs 17,400,000 pounds and is valued at $60,000. More valuable lumber cargoes are sent away from this port every little while, but this is the record one in tonnage.

The steamer is bound for North China ports and the cargo is made up of rough lumber. Part of it is square timbers that will be sawed by the Chinese by hand after their arrival on the other side. The lumber in the Knight of the Garter's cargo represents about 100 acres of the finest timber in the Pacific northwest, a quarter section of big fir trees being required to supply this amount of lumber.

The big British tramp will go from China to New Zealand and load wool for London. She left down the Columbia river drawing 26.9 feet of water.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," heaving of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at these will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Merrimack Clothing Co.

ACROSS FROM CITY HALL

MERRIMACK SUITS

FOR WOMEN

The secret of finding a suit that satisfies your taste and, your judgment lies in going where quality is as much considered as style.

At $18.50

We have women's tailored suits made of chevrot, rough serges and fancy worsteds and we venture to say that no custom tailor puts better cloth into a $30 or $35 suit or better tailoring into any suit than you will find in these.

At $20.00

These are totally different styles made of broadcloths, basket weaves, chevrots and serges in all good colors—the coats are the proper lengths and the skirts so varied and yet so closely identified with the narrow pored skirt that you have all the style that is and none of the conspicuous lack of it that is found in so many skirts today.

At $25.00

These are unusually fine suits of heavy chevrots, fancy worsteds, broadcloths and serges excellently tailored with all sorts of go in the cut, many have the plain tailor-made coats, others are quite elaborate in their trimmings and all of the skirts are cut over the newest models.

WE HAVE OUR GARMENTS FITTED BY EXPERT FITTERS FREE OF CHARGE

A Genuine Corset Bargain

The New RENO BELT Corsets

in both models, for medium and tall figures, reduce the hips in a way unequalled by any other corset. Boned with double watch-spring steels guaranteed not to rust.

Style 43 has High Bust and Low Bust
Style 47 High Bust and Low Bust
Style 49 High Bust and Low Bust
Style 50 Medium Bust
Extra quality of Imported Coutil
For Sale By

The Bon Marche Dry Goods Company

The Bon Marche Dry Goods Company

C
O
A
L

On a Cold Afternoon

A BLAZING FIRE

In the Fireplace Makes the Home More Cheerful.

—OUR—

American Cannel Coal

BURNS LIKE WOOD. LASTS LONGER

C
O
A
L

HORNE COAL CO.

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

Member of the Associated Press

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH.

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was 16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

Never in the history of the city have we had so many street improvements in progress as at the present time.

The importance of East Merrimack street as a public thoroughfare was not realized until it was closed by sewer work.

Hamlin, Vabey and the other democratic leaders are loyally fighting for the election of Eugene N. Foss. The pre-nomination differences are all forgotten in the desire for victory at the polls in the interest of the whole people.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

The people of this country today are groaning under the high cost of living and are looking for relief from the coming election.

The insurgent movement in the republican party is marching on and promises to leave the machine candidates and the machine policies far behind in the race.

The housekeepers especially are well informed on the burdens in this increased cost of living. They make the purchases and they realize what a short way a five dollar bill will go in buying household supplies compared to what it paid for ten or fifteen years ago. The purchasing power of the dollar has declined nearly one-half because the prices of commodities in general have been boosted up by the trusts in virtue of their power to stamp out competition under protection of the high tariff wall.

If the women of this country could vote they would cast their ballots solidly against the trust policies that have practically doubled the cost of living within the past fifteen years. The high tariff has rested heavily on dress goods for women as well as upon many household necessities which have formerly sold at moderate prices.

If we look back to the year 1896 and compare the prices of that year with those of today we shall find a most alarming increase. Below we give a comparison from the Johnstown, Pa., Democrat, showing how the prices in 1896 compare with those of the present time. We notice that some of the present prices are under-stated. Take for example the single article of flour quoted at $6.50. The average brand of flour sells at $7.50 a barrel in Lowell and other New England cities today while some brands are sold at $8 per barrel. We mention this instance to show that in the prices quoted there is no attempt to juggle figures or to make the situation worse than it really is. The comparisons follow:

In 1896 under democratic rule you could buy two pounds of salt pork for 10 cents. Today the price is 34 cents.

In 1896 you could buy five pounds of pork ribs for 30 cents. Today the price is 90 cents.

In 1896 you could buy four pounds of smoked shoulder for 28 cents. Today the price is 60 cents.

In 1896 you could buy two pounds of sausage for 14 cents. Today the price is 30 cents.

In 1896 you could buy five pounds of lard for 25 cents. Today the price is 85 cents.

In 1896 you could buy five pounds of corned beef for 25 cents. Today the price is 70 cents.

In 1896 you could buy four pounds of butter for 64 cents. Today the price is $1.52—and you are not sure of getting genuine butter at that.

In 1896 you could buy two dozen eggs for 26 cents. Today the price is 64 cents—and packed eggs at that.

In 1896 you could buy one pound of cheese for 13 cents. Today the price is 20 cents.

In 1896 you could buy two quarts of beans for 8 cents. Today the price is 20 cents.

In 1896 you could buy a barrel of flour for $4. Today the price is $6.50.

In 1896 you could buy four pounds of fowl for 48 cents. Today the price is $1.00.

In 1896 you could buy 21 pounds of sugar for $1. Today the price is $1.31.

In 1896 you could buy two pounds of steak for 32 cents. Today the price is 50 cents.

In 1896 you could buy five pounds of roast beef for 66 cents. Today the price is $1.25.

In 1896 you could buy a bag of corn for 65 cents. Today the price is $1.60.

In 1896 you could buy a bushel of oats for 28 cents. Today the price is 55 cents.

And so on through the entire list of family necessities.

In other words, a two weeks' store bill in 1896 amounted to $9.76. A two weeks' store bill today foots up $18.96.

It appears from this comparative statement that prices of household necessities have doubled since 1896; but if the rate of wages went up in the same proportion there would be no reason to complain.

The standpatters assert that the tariff has nothing to do with increasing prices, but the fact is undeniable that prices began to increase as soon as the Dingley law went into effect and kept on soaring with the multiplication of trusts, and mounted still higher when the Payne-Aldrich law took effect.

Let the voters of this district and of the state in general consider their own interests and vote against the party that is responsible for this enormous drain upon the resources of the people. How can a man support himself and family of small children upon six, seven, eight or even ten dollars a week?

While the rate of wages is somewhat higher than formerly the purchasing power is greatly reduced, and that is why the average family finds it so hard to get along.

There is an opportunity to effect a change by following the example of the state of Maine in voting for democratic candidates and democratic policies. Nothing else will bring the trusts and standpatters to their senses.

It is all nonsense for voters to turn in disgust from both political parties and seek relief in some revolutionary scheme that can never be realized because wrong in principle, visionary and impracticable. The voters of this country today have the power in their own hands, and if things are wrong it is because they have not used that power right when they cast their ballots on election day. If they vote for their own interests, refusing to be intimidated or influenced to do something entirely different, they will soon find the changes and the reforms that will correct most of the present abuses.

SEEN AND HEARD

Now that winter is coming on, it is time to make a black mark on the curbstone, so that in shoveling off the sidewalk you won't go beyond your neighbor's line.

Don't worry, girls. There will be mistletoe for sale, as usual, this year at the Christmas season.

Men wouldn't have to work half so hard if it weren't for the women, and the women wouldn't have to work half so hard if it weren't for the men.

Nothing illustrates a mean man's character better than laughing at a woman's way of sharpening a pencil, instead of offering to sharpen it for her as he should.

Giving advice is a pretty serious matter, even though people very seldom follow it.

The restaurant man isn't hard-hearted just because he doesn't care how hungry people get.

The habit of wearing society buttons is getting to be so common now that before long the people who don't belong to anything may take to wearing a non-society pin, just to be in style.

When a woman is always talking in public how good her husband is to her, people naturally begin to wonder if he really is.

A great many people are denying themselves to give their boys and girls an education, one result of which will be that when the boys and girls have the education they will look down on the old folks.

It is always very impressive to hear a sixteen-year-old girl say of another sixteen-year-old girl: "Oh, she is an old, old friend of mine!"

Every young bride should learn dressmaking, so that she would be able to support herself in case anything should happen to her husband. Incidentally, by making her own dresses she can save her husband money. This piece of advice applied to husbands would make them all their own tailors.

When a young man gets the idea in his head that he is a good judge of human nature, it generally costs him money before he finds out his mistake.

Even if clairvoyants could tell the future from a lock of hair, that wouldn't do Mr. Rockefeller any good.

How immensely superior the boy who has a stem-winding watch is to the boy who has an old key-winder.

Sometimes a woman's literary society devotes nearly a quarter of the evening to literary matters.

Even in Boston people talk about getting into good society, as if all society in Boston were not good.

WHERE SUMMER WAS

Where summer was the grass is gray and brown.

And withered leaves are scattered here and there.

To mark how they have softly fluttered down.

On sighing breezes, or through breathless air.

The flowers flaunt no more their banners gay.

Nor toss their perfumes to the laughing wind—

No trace the more of joyous June or May.

Do we in all the dying landscape find.

Where summer was the birds have flown the nest.

To journey southward to a fairer clime.

No more the twilight purples in the west.

While stars march up the eastern slope of time.

But night stalks in with draperies that fold.

All suddenly upon the world of light.

And winds that chant a chorus dull and cold.

Run with the rustling leaves beside the night.

Where summer was—it comes not back today.

The silver mornings bringing each a song.

That lifts in joy adown a rose-hedged way.

With little echoes trailing it along:

The golden hush of summer afternoons.

When we of field and flower seem a part.

And all of summer's sweetness aways and swoons.

And in an untold rapture holds the heart.

Where summer was, the lone tree on the hill.

Lifts up its arms of sacrificial fire.

Heaped high with leaves that flame all mystic-still.

In red and gold—a beacon and a pyre.

But one brave blossom lifts its petalled cup.

From the recesses of the drooping vine.

As though before it dies it would raise up

The parting draught of summer's scented wine.

—Wilbur D. Nesbit in Chicago Evening Post.

Hallowe'en Sale

John Street Window

While They Last, Two for 5c

R. E. JUDD, Bookseller and Stationer, 79 Merrimack St.

ST. THOMAS' SALVE

—FOR—

Piles, Old Sores and Skin Diseases

—FOR SALE—

At All Up-to-Date Drug Stores

THIRTY-FIVE CENTS

SPECIALS

Steamed clams, 20c; fried oysters and French fries, 25c; fried clams and French fries, 25c. Call and see us.

LOWELL INN

Busiest place on Central street

J. P. Q. No. 2 Nut Coal

$6.50 per ton, $3.25 per half ton.

For kitchen range or topping off the furnace fire it is worth more than coal you pay $7.50 per ton for. Try a ton and be convinced. I guarantee every ton. Make and cash orders will receive immediate attention.

JOHN P. QUINN

Office and Yards, Gorham and Dix Sts.,

Telephones 1180 and 2480; when one is busy, call the other.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"Billy the Boy Artist" gives no idea of the original, comical, sparkling, dashing, charming musical comedy presented at the Opera House for three nights beginning tonight.

Just consider the effort and expense that goes into the modern first class musical show now-a-days. For instance, "Billy the Boy Artist," that plays at the Opera House for three nights starting tonight, is a good example. To begin at the beginning the author worked at the play and songs for two years off and on, three competent composers being engaged to write the twenty-two pieces of music. Every costume, property and place of scenery had a sketch made for it first, which was afterward reproduced by the costumers and scenery painters; a first class company specially engaged to fit the parts as well as play them rehearsed for weeks while at the same time a strong chorus of singing and dancing girls was being trained under an expert dancing master.

When everything was ready for its Metropolitan opening thousands of good, hard American dollars had been spent. There is a vast difference between putting on a dramatic play with a few modern costumes and some simple scenery and an up-to-date musical show. Every chorus girl in "Billy the Boy Artist" has to change to five different fetching expensive dresses in the course of the evening. Barnum's circus is the only other form of entertainment that holds anything like the same comparison between the big original investment and the small price of admission. Think it over.

THE NEW OPERA COMPANY.

That music and the dance so closely allied in the history of music, are still good friends is illustrated by the fact that Christian Hansen, the noted tenor to appear here on November 12th, with the New Opera company at the Opera House, uses dancing as his favorite exercise. J. C. Brill, the managing director of the New Opera company, known to his intimates as a quiet humorist, says that Hansen makes him nervous, that he dances so much as to make him think of one afflicted with the St. Vitus dance.

"THE MAN ON THE BOX."

"The Man on the Box," which is to be presented at the Opera House on Saturday, matinee and night, by John Meehan and supporting company, has been styled "America's best comedy." It has always been a prime favorite with theatergoers since first produced by Henry E. Pikey. It amuses by a whirl of genial whimsicality and holds the interest upon the disengagement of its situations as a well made piece should. The characters are drawn with the human touch of good comedy.

Seats go on sale Wednesday.

GERTRUDE ELLIOTT.

The date, announced for the local engagement of the talented actress Gertrude Elliott, in Mrs. Frances Burnett's play, "The Dawn of Tomorrow," is Friday, Nov. 11th, and already there is an unusual number of inquiries at the box office in regard to the engagement. Miss Elliott, who has made a pronounced success in this play, has just finished a successful engagement at the Shubert theatre, Boston, and will be seen here supported by the same exceptional cast and same complete production as during the Boston engagement.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

One of the greatest local favorites in Lowell's theatrical history is to be at the Hathaway theatre this week, and his presence is expected to pack the playhouse throughout the week. He is Wright Huntington, formerly a madame idol in this city, who is now heading his own company in a jolly vaudeville playlet, entitled "A Vision of the Night." The Great Lutz & Co. present an act that is brimful of surprises. The Great Lutz plays the slide trombone, using his toes and legs in the place of fingers and arms. He plays the snare and bass drums in the same manner. With the stage in darkness, he takes a rifle and shoots a lighted candle out of his brother's mouth. He also executes many other difficult feats of sharpshooting, and as a finish, Mrs. Lutz, wife of his brother, stands on a swing, and while it is in motion the Great Lutz shoots away the things that hind her cloak about her, allowing it to drop at her feet. The brother then gives an exhibition of fancy shooting. From an article as well as applause standpoint, the singing of Horace Wright and Rene Dietrich, "The Somewhat Different Singers," is sure of high honors. Mr. Wright, who won laurels by his splendid vocal work in "The Wall Between," makes his entrance as an Italian and sings a native song. Miss Dietrich follows with a selection that shows her cultivated and melodious voice to admirable advantage. They close with a "Moon" song. Wilbert and Leland are European comedy acrobats, who appear in a unique and original exhibition. They are just over from England, and will make their first American appearance at Hathaway's. William J. Morrissey, a popular vaudevillian, will give pleasure with his merry and musical piano. Kessler and Lee are a gifted pair of terpsichoreans, and their stepping in "Dances of All Nations" is worth going far to enjoy. Vittorio and Georgetti, "The Upside Down Boys," offer a distinct and remarkable novelty.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

It was a great bill which was presented at the first Sunday night concert of the season at the Merrimack Square theatre last night, and the audience which packed the house to the doors thoroughly enjoyed it, and made it plain that they did so.

For besides such acts as the Glendale quartet, out of the six vaudeville features on the program there were three which had not before been seen here: Ward & Raynor, Grace Lavelle and Eddie Poyser.

The bill for this week promises some delightful surprises also. There is for instance, Dr. McDonald, who is truly an electrical wizard, and who is assisted in an unusual and elaborate act by a young woman who apparently defies all the mystic powers of electricity.

Irene LaTour is besides being a wonderful contortionist, a very charming, winsome young woman. She has, to assist her in her act, her little pet dog "Zaza," who plays a far from unimportant part in the act.

Then there is Morgan & West, real comedians this time, in a screamingly funny skit and a one line monologue, the soloist who so delightfully defied last week that the management acceded to numerous requests and retained her at the local house of the element for another engagement.

The Seattle Stock Co. will present a dainty comedy called "The Thief and the Doctor," and the company will appear with an augmented cast, Miss Comfort Marie, a dainty and charming little actress, having been engaged for a prominent role.

A continuous performance will be presented every day from 1 until 10:30 p. m.

PUTNAM & SON CO.

166 CENTRAL STREET

Fancy OVERCOATS

Values up to $15, for

$8.50

Here are 17 patterns of fancy overcoats and but fifty-five coats in the lot—all marked to sell for this extremely low price.

These are from last season—but you'd never know it unless we told you—for they're smart cut and in good style today.

Every pattern is desirable—they're capably tailored and our only purpose in making this low price, is to clear our stock of small quantities that have but two or three coats in a lot.

Young men's sizes, fitting boys from 17 years up to young men, 38 breast measure. Original prices were $10, $12, $13 and $15, all today $8.50

Our Complete Overcoat Stock Is Ready

A surprising variety of styles—covering every possible use—from the conservative dress overcoat to motor great coats.

DRESS OVERCOATS

Full-box back, made by Rogers-Pett & Co., and other high class makers—kerseys, meltons, English coatings, in black, blue, oxford and Cambridge from.... $10 to $35

FANCY OVERCOATS

50 inches long—full box back with very deep center vent—the swellest garments shown this season, all new coatings in browns, tans, grays, herringbone weave, overplaids and quiet stripes, $10 to $30

COMBINATION COLLAR OVERCOATS

Collars with the long roll lapel, or to button close in military style, Stan-lays and other models. These coats are 50 inches long, made with full box back, many of them cravenetted, making them water-proof, mighty smart patterns in fancy coatings, $10 to $28

GREAT COATS

Full double breast with more "snap and go" than you've ever seen in ready for service garments. All made with full box back and a broad sweep to the skirt. Stunning fancy patterns and fine friezes with box cloth linings—great coats for motoring, $20 to $32

FUR LINED COATS

Fine kerseys, splendid fitting and perfectly tailored, $35 to $150

FUR COATS

Fur outside. Made on very full patterns, Chinese Dog, Siberian Buffalo Calf and Raccoon, $16.50 to $55.00

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

An entire new show at the Academy today, including Capt. Dolin & Co., Europe's heavyweight balancing novelty; Walters, White & Walters, comedy singing and dancing trio; and Fredericks & Kirkwood in a western comedy playlet, "The Cowboy's Visit," also new and up-to-date moving pictures. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

Those who have read the Soldiers' stories in the Boston Sunday Post magazine will appreciate the future dramatic subject at the Theatre Voyons today. Its title is "His French of Discipline," and its scenes range from Paris to the gold fields of California. There are three real comedies on the bill, and each is good for many laughs. "The Princess's Visit," the story of a man who proposes by letter and then wishes he hadn't, and it brings out many funny situations.

"The Amazon" is a trick comedy novel, staged with the greatest care. It takes advantage of every possible laugh and will be a big success.

EMPIRE THEATRE

"The Moulin Rouge orchestra with Frederick Guillaume, may be classified in the line of the 'Hits.' Although only a very few weeks in this country, the Moulin Rouge orchestra with Frederick Guillaume has secured a head-line position wherever it has appeared. The mere announcement of the act may indicate that it consists of the ordinary musical entertainment. To enlighten all, it will be of interest to learn that Frederick Guillaume is considered one of the best impersonators of famous composers of past and present. While the orchestra renders the overture to William Tell, Frederick Guillaume appears as Rossini, the conductor of the overture, and directs his musicians with the same skill and fervor, for which Rossini was noted. In Lightning like rapidity the impersonator appears as Verdi, Liszt, Strauss, Gounod, Souza, Muscatti, Suppe and a number of others, directing selections from Il Trovatore, Second Hunarfan Rhapsody, Blue Danube Waltz, Faust, Stars and Stripes Forever, Cavalleria Rusticana, Poet and Peasant, etc., etc. Most amusing is Frederick's portrayal of the leader of the present Moulin Rouge orchestra in Paris, conducting the closing waltz at three o'clock in the morning.

DRACUT

The Florence club defeated the invaders in a good game of football Saturday afternoon on Skillin's field, the final score being 10 to 0. The game was one of the best that has been seen in the town this season and was well contested. Despite the fact that the invaders met defeat they put up a strong game.

DEMOCRATS CONFIDENT

That Foss Will Win a Great Victory Nov., 8

ROSTON, Oct. 31.—Both the democratic and republican candidates for governor rested yesterday and got all the sleep they could, preparatory to resuming their stump speaking again this evening.

The democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, Thomas F. Cassidy of Adams, spent yesterday at a hotel in this city and Lieut. Gov. Frothingham rested at his home.

Cassidy has long been recognized as one of the best speakers in the party and is in great demand all over the state for rallies. His friends predict a big vote for him in the western part of the state and wherever he has spoken in the eastern and central sections he has made many new friends and votes of the entire ticket. He is easily the best speaker on the democratic ticket this year.

Yesterday James H. Vahey spent most of the afternoon and evening with him. Mr. Vahey is deeply interested in the candidacy of his friend Cassidy and wants to see him elected.

The Boston democratic campaign opens tonight with rallies in wards 3, 18, 20 and 24.

Foss and Cassidy go to Springfield Holyoke, Chicopee and Westfield for rallies.

Gov. Draper speaks in Brockton and Lieut. Gov. Frothingham goes to Melrose.

Democratic Reports Hopeful

It was announced at democratic state headquarters last evening that the committee is in receipt of hundreds of letters and telegrams from all sections of the state, reporting a condition of affairs which is extremely pleasing.

Christopher T. Cullahan of Holyoke says, that after a trip through the Berkshires he is satisfied from personal observation that "conditions have improved wonderfully over a fortnight ago, particularly in Adams and North Adams."

From the 14th congressional district, the committee is assured that conditions were never more bright, more enthusiastic for Mr. Foss being shown than during the recent congressional fight, which sent the gubernatorial nominee to congress. Many republicans are openly asserting their intention to vote for Mr. Foss. Edward Gilmore of Brockton writes as follows:

"It looks to me, after personal visitation of the towns in Plymouth and Barnstable counties, that you have Gov. Draper beaten in a landslide in the 14th district. In all the towns where I have been I have found many anti-Lodge republicans—they are for Foss and anti-Lodge. I am told by many republicans that Judge Harris is now a Lodge man and with Draper and no longer entertaining 'maurine' feelings, but the cannot deny the republicans who are planning to vote for you, not even in his own Bridgewater."

"The republicans are getting very anxious about Cape Cod," says State Committeeman George T. McLaughlin of Sandwich. They are going to send Bates and a host of speechees down here beginning Thursday. That is evidence enough for me. Mr. Thacher starts a whirlwind trip up from Provincetown, beginning on the Monday before election, and we will get in the last and conclusive arguments—not to speak of the votes."

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Gerald J. Griffin and Miss Josephine M. Aubut were married yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Louis church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Jacques. The witnesses were William M. Lannan and Alex. A. Cote. A family dinner was served at the bride's home, 212 Ludlum street, followed by a reception in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin left later by the 9:25 train, for a brief bridal trip.

TROTTER-CHATEAUNEUF

Mr. Victor Trotter and Miss Marie Chateaneuf were married yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory. Rev. Fr. Brillard, O. M. I., being the officiating clergyman. Messrs. Charles J. Pratt and Arthur Chateaneuf were the witnesses.

DUBE-BURNS

Mr. Alfred Dube and Miss Rose Burns were married yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory, by Rev. Fr. Brillard, O. M. I. Messrs. James Burns and Annette Dube were the witnesses.

DOLE-SMITH

Mr. Ralph M. Dole, who for a number of years was connected with the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co., but who is now residing in Johnstown, N. Y., was united in marriage to Miss Edna C. Smith, of Cambridge, N. Y., on October 29, at the marriage taking place at the parsonage of the Protestant Street Methodist church, Gloversville, Rev. George C. Douglass performing the ceremony.

The full ring service was used. The bride carried bride roses, and was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Ida Mae Lawrence of Johnstown, while the bridesmaids were attended by Mr. Clarence S. Putnam of Johnstown. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was given at the home of Mr. Dole's sister, 22 North Judson street. There was later a reception. Mr. and Mrs. Dole received many beautiful gifts. Following a wedding tour they will live at 108 Byard street, Johnstown, N. Y.

THE FINANCES

STATEMENT OF THE LOWELL HOSIERY CO.

The following is from Fibre and Fabric of even date:

The financial statement of the Lowell Hosiery Co. as of September 30, reads as follows:

Notes payable are $60,000.00

Taxes for the current year due the 20th inst. 2,481.94

Total $62,481.94

Bills receivable 30,381.93

Billing price of goods at mill and in New York 18,452.55

Total $49,834.48

Commission 3 per cent. 1,464.76

Balance we owe $47,369.72

Cash in bank 4,180.51

Cash and local bills receivable 636.70

Total $52,157.93

Balance we owe $10,324.01

Against plant and machinery and supply account of $7,189.94

Treasurer 27 has been remarkably successful in the building up of the plant and business of the company, as in the last half of 1902 when he assumed the trusteeship there was a loss from operations which he has changed into a good profit and during his management, $9000 has been spent on extraordinary repairs, repairs, etc., $25,000 for new machinery and $41,000 for dividends. Competition now demands more modern machinery and a loan of $100,000 is being considered, to be used for new equipment, provided a shareholders' committee, consisting of H. G. Duckworth, Alonzo C. Walsh, George Bowers, J. H. Sparks and F. A. Fletcher and the new equipment is needed. The plant now operates about 382 looms, 16 ribbers, 57 loopers and 50 sewing machines on seamless cotton hosiery. The business was established in 1859 and the company is capitalized at $200,000, while the insurance appraisal is $232,156 and assessed value of the land $39,250.

Wonderful Case of Deafness Cured

Chester, N. H., May 19, 1910.

Keron's Institute, Manchester, N. H.

This is to certify that I have been deaf for two years, and doctors pronounced my case incurable, on account of my old age, 73 years; I was cured after taking three treatments from Prof. G. W. Keron, and can hear the tick of a clock at quite a distance.

I cheerfully recommend Prof. G. W. Keron to all deaf people, as I believe he can help them.

Signed, S. A. BLACKSTONE

Chester, N. H.

If you are alive and can breathe yet there is still a chance for you to get well without medicine, surgery, pain or absence from business, at Keron's Institute, 939 Elm street, Manchester, N. H., 387 Broadway, Lawrence, Mass. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Office hours, 9 to 11 a. m., 1 to 6, and 7 to 8:30 p. m. Sundays, 4 to 5 p. m. Lawrence office open every Monday, Tel. 1198-2.

LAKE COMMERCE

Shows a Decrease From Previous Years

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Domestic commerce on the Great Lakes during September, as measured by the volume of shipments from domestic lake ports, shows a smaller volume than for the preceding summer months. The bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor announces a monthly total of 11,892,012 short tons shipped, which is less than the corresponding total for September, 1909—12,527,865 short tons. As compared with the figures for September, 1908, the increase in volume was, however, not less than 35 per cent. Smaller shipments of iron ore and miscellaneous freight are mainly accountable for the decrease in the monthly total.

The iron-ore shipments for the month, 6,009,652 long tons, were 12 per cent. less than the total for the preceding month as well as the September figures of 1908, though the total for the year thus far is larger than that of the corresponding months of last year. The loss in shipments does not affect equally all the shipping ports. The Duluth-Superior figures for the month, 3,245,967 long tons, were slightly in excess of the corresponding 1909 total. Shipments from the other Lake Superior and Michigan ports, on the other hand, were decidedly lower than a year ago, Escanaba reporting the largest decline from 917,358 long tons in September, 1909, to 659,452 long tons for the month under consideration. Practically all the larger receiving ports show smaller receipts a year ago. The monthly receipts at Lake Erie ports were 4,956,821 long tons, compared with 5,681,236 long tons in August and 5,771,346 long tons in September, 1909. Lake Michigan ports show receipts of 1,048,347 long tons compared with 1,141,220 long tons for the preceding month and 1,170,407 long tons for September, 1909.

The season's shipments to the end of September, 34,276,049 long tons, owing to the heavy movement during the early part of the season, are still over 5 million tons larger than for the corresponding period in 1909 and about 4 tons larger than in 1907.

The shipments of coal during the month, while also lower than the month before, compare favorably with corresponding 1909 figures. Hard-coal shipments for the month, 375,391 short tons, destined mainly to Superior, Chicago, and Milwaukee docks, were considerably in excess of the September 1909 figures. The season's shipments to the end of September, 3,033,434 short tons, were about 22 per cent. larger than a year ago. The soft coal shipments during the month, 2,457,721 short tons, of which over 60 per cent was destined to Duluth-Superior and Milwaukee docks, were also lower than the month before, although nearly 25 per cent larger than during September of the preceding year. The shipments for the 9 months of the season, 12,697,705 short tons, by far exceeded corresponding totals for any of the preceding years.

The lumber shipments during the month, 161,501 M feet, continued fairly heavy and exceeded in volume the shipments during each of the summer months. The 9 months' record, 922,596 M feet, shows a 10 per cent increase over the 1909 total. Heavier season receipts at Lake Erie ports, 393,218 M feet, are mainly responsible for the larger total, the receipts at North Tonawanda for the present year being about 49 per cent larger than in 1909.

The grain shipments during the month, 21,026,572 bushels, compared favorably with the corresponding 1909 shipments of 20,831,749 bushels. Corn and oats showing heavy gains while the movements of wheat and barley were decidedly smaller than a year ago. Both the monthly and season's movements of flaxseed, 245,056 and 856,555 bushels, respectively, were considerably lower than in former years. Losses, as compared with September, 1909, are also shown in the shipments of flour, salt, iron manufactures, and miscellaneous freight, while shipments of pig iron and copper show larger monthly totals than a year ago.

Merchandise traffic during the month through the Sault Ste. Marie canals aggregated 8,790,274 short tons, compared with 9,227,192 and 6,453,358 short tons, reported for September, 1909 and 1908. The decrease, as compared with last year's figures, affects only customs duties, chiefly those of iron ore, wheat, and other grains. The smaller grain traffic, as compared with September, 1909, is due primarily to the smaller shipments of Canadian wheat from Lake Superior ports. The monthly coal traffic through the canals, while heavier than for September, 1909, shows a decline when compared with the preceding month's record. The number of vessel passages for the month was 2997, representing a total of 7,093,575 net tons register, compared with 2,918 vessel passages and a tonnage of 7,435,703 net tons register for September, 1909.

The total vessel movement on the Great Lakes during the month, as measured by the departure of vessels, included 9897 vessels of 14,742,014 net tons register, compared with 10,011 vessels of 16,057,489 net tons register reported for September of the preceding year.

The September freight traffic movement through the Detroit river, 9,516,534 short tons indicates a decrease of traffic similar to that stated above for all lake ports, though the loss affects only the southbound movement. The northbound freight movement for the month, 2,937,325 short tons, largely composed of coal, proved heavier than during the month before and about 23 per cent. in excess of the corresponding total in 1909.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ROWING

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 31.—The athletic governing board of Syracuse university has voted to eliminate intercollegiate rowing from the list of sports for the present college year. The services of Coach James A. Ten Eyck will be retained.

As rowing necessitates the heaviest expenses and brings no financial returns, it was deemed best to drop that sport for the present to effect economy.

The governing board expects that rowing will again be taken up in 1912.

NEW CABINET ELECTED

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 31.—President-elect Marshal Hermes Fonseca has selected his new cabinet as follows:

Minister of foreign affairs, Baron de Itabora.

Minister of the interior, Senhor Correa.

Minister of public works, Dr. J. J. Seabra.

Minister of agriculture, Pedro Toledo.

Minister of finance, Senhor Salles.

Minister of war, General Barreto.

Minister of marine, Admiral Loaz.

LAKE COMMERCE

Shows a Decrease From Previous Years

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Domestic commerce on the Great Lakes during September, as measured by the volume of shipments from domestic lake ports, shows a smaller volume than for the preceding summer months. The bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor announces a monthly total of 11,892,012 short tons shipped, which is less than the corresponding total for September, 1909—12,527,865 short tons. As compared with the figures for September, 1908, the increase in volume was, however, not less than 35 per cent. Smaller shipments of iron ore and miscellaneous freight are mainly accountable for the decrease in the monthly total.

The iron-ore shipments for the month, 6,009,652 long tons, were 12 per cent. less than the total for the preceding month as well as the September figures of 1908, though the total for the year thus far is larger than that of the corresponding months of last year. The loss in shipments does not affect equally all the shipping ports. The Duluth-Superior figures for the month, 3,245,967 long tons, were slightly in excess of the corresponding 1909 total. Shipments from the other Lake Superior and Michigan ports, on the other hand, were decidedly lower than a year ago, Escanaba reporting the largest decline from 917,358 long tons in September, 1909, to 659,452 long tons for the month under consideration. Practically all the larger receiving ports show smaller receipts a year ago. The monthly receipts at Lake Erie ports were 4,956,821 long tons, compared with 5,681,236 long tons in August and 5,771,346 long tons in September, 1909. Lake Michigan ports show receipts of 1,048,347 long tons compared with 1,141,220 long tons for the preceding month and 1,170,407 long tons for September, 1909.

The season's shipments to the end of September, 34,276,049 long tons, owing to the heavy movement during the early part of the season, are still over 5 million tons larger than for the corresponding period in 1909 and about 4 tons larger than in 1907.

The shipments of coal during the month, while also lower than the month before, compare favorably with corresponding 1909 figures. Hard-coal shipments for the month, 375,391 short tons, destined mainly to Superior, Chicago, and Milwaukee docks, were considerably in excess of the September 1909 figures. The season's shipments to the end of September, 3,033,434 short tons, were about 22 per cent. larger than a year ago. The soft coal shipments during the month, 2,457,721 short tons, of which over 60 per cent was destined to Duluth-Superior and Milwaukee docks, were also lower than the month before, although nearly 25 per cent larger than during September of the preceding year. The shipments for the 9 months of the season, 12,697,705 short tons, by far exceeded corresponding totals for any of the preceding years.

The lumber shipments during the month, 161,501 M feet, continued fairly heavy and exceeded in volume the shipments during each of the summer months. The 9 months' record, 922,596 M feet, shows a 10 per cent increase over the 1909 total. Heavier season receipts at Lake Erie ports, 393,218 M feet, are mainly responsible for the larger total, the receipts at North Tonawanda for the present year being about 49 per cent larger than in 1909.

The grain shipments during the month, 21,026,572 bushels, compared favorably with the corresponding 1909 shipments of 20,831,749 bushels. Corn and oats showing heavy gains while the movements of wheat and barley were decidedly smaller than a year ago. Both the monthly and season's movements of flaxseed, 245,056 and 856,555 bushels, respectively, were considerably lower than in former years. Losses, as compared with September, 1909, are also shown in the shipments of flour, salt, iron manufactures, and miscellaneous freight, while shipments of pig iron and copper show larger monthly totals than a year ago.

Merchandise traffic during the month through the Sault Ste. Marie canals aggregated 8,790,274 short tons, compared with 9,227,192 and 6,453,358 short tons, reported for September, 1909 and 1908. The decrease, as compared with last year's figures, affects only customs duties, chiefly those of iron ore, wheat, and other grains. The smaller grain traffic, as compared with September, 1909, is due primarily to the smaller shipments of Canadian wheat from Lake Superior ports. The monthly coal traffic through the canals, while heavier than for September, 1909, shows a decline when compared with the preceding month's record. The number of vessel passages for the month was 2997, representing a total of 7,093,575 net tons register, compared with 2,918 vessel passages and a tonnage of 7,435,703 net tons register for September, 1909.

The total vessel movement on the Great Lakes during the month, as measured by the departure of vessels, included 9897 vessels of 14,742,014 net tons register, compared with 10,011 vessels of 16,057,489 net tons register reported for September of the preceding year.

The September freight traffic movement through the Detroit river, 9,516,534 short tons indicates a decrease of traffic similar to that stated above for all lake ports, though the loss affects only the southbound movement. The northbound freight movement for the month, 2,937,325 short tons, largely composed of coal, proved heavier than during the month before and about 23 per cent. in excess of the corresponding total in 1909.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ROWING

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 31.—The athletic governing board of Syracuse university has voted to eliminate intercollegiate rowing from the list of sports for the present college year. The services of Coach James A. Ten Eyck will be retained.

As rowing necessitates the heaviest expenses and brings no financial returns, it was deemed best to drop that sport for the present to effect economy.

The governing board expects that rowing will again be taken up in 1912.

NEW CABINET ELECTED

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 31.—President-elect Marshal Hermes Fonseca has selected his new cabinet as follows:

Minister of foreign affairs, Baron de Itabora.

Minister of the interior, Senhor Correa.

Minister of public works, Dr. J. J. Seabra.

Minister of agriculture, Pedro Toledo.

Minister of finance, Senhor Salles.

Minister of war, General Barreto.

Minister of marine, Admiral Loaz.

The GILBRIDE CO.

WE ARE DETERMINED UPON INCREASING OUR BUSINESS IN

Rugs, Bedding and Draperies

This department is not satisfied with any past achievement. It is always endeavoring to better its own best. How such a policy affects your interests will be best demonstrated to you by a visit the coming week. We carry only the better grades, consequently this sale is of unusual importance to prospective purchasers of HOUSE FURNISHINGS. By making a small deposit, any of the goods advertised will be stored free of charge a reasonable length of time.

Hodge's Fibre Rugs

Every rug guaranteed perfect—None mismatched; all in perfect condition.

7-6x10-6 Fibre Rugs, $7.50 value.....$2.95

9x12 Fibre Rugs, value $10.00.....$5.95

9x12 Axminster Rugs, value $25.....$18.50

(These rugs are all perfect and this season's patterns.)

30x60 Royal Axminster Rugs in reproduction of Orientals.....$1.98

9x12 Tapestry Rugs, value $20, for.....$10.95

30x60 Double-faced Reversible Smyrna Rugs, worth $1.50.....79c

65c Linoleums, two yards wide, in wide range of patterns.....49c Square Yard

50c Floor Oil Cloths, two yards wide, all perfect goods.....39c Square Yard

Our Line of Draperies

Is as complete as ever, and we are constantly adding the most up-to-date styles and patterns, so you are sure to get the latest goods at the lowest possible prices.

Muslin Curtains, good quality, worth 75c pair, for.....59c

Muslin Curtains with hemstitched edge and two-inch lace insertion, value $1.65, for.....$1.25

High Grade Nottingham Curtains, in all the newest effects, reduced for this special sale, 79c to $5.00 Pair

Irish Point Curtains—Our line at $5.00 has no equal in this city and includes curtains that were priced up to $7.00.

Couch Covers reduced for this sale. Priced from 79c to $4.98

Brass Beds and Iron Beds

Springs and Mattresses

The sale prices on these goods are the lowest we have ever quoted for the same quality of goods. Our Mattresses are all guaranteed perfectly sanitary, and every bed and spring carries our guarantee.

Beautiful Brass Beds, continuous post and large rod ends and hucks, worth $27.50, for.....$19.50

$20 Brass Bed, full two-inch posts with heavy allers, English lacquered.....$14.95

$50 Brass Beds, two-inch posts, Napoleon design, regular $50 value.....$35.00

$7.50 White Iron Beds, guaranteed Bessemer steel tubing, best quality, hard-baked enamel....$5.98

$7.50 Couch Beds.....$4.98

All Steel Frame Drop Side Couch, fitted with National spring, top and mattress, complete, $4.98

$4.00 National Springs in all sizes, malleable corner castings, for.....$2.48

$3.00 Soft Top Mattresses in good quality ticking, for.....$1.98

$4.00 Soft Top and Bottom Combination Mattress for.....$2.98

Cotton Comfort Mattress, best ticking, $10.00 quality, for.....$5.95

DPAPERY and UPHOLSTERY DEPT.

In our work-room we are prepared to furnish the highest grade of workmanship on all kinds of Drapery Work, from Shades to the finest class of Draperies and Festoon Work. Estimates given on Shades and Draperies by expert workmen, who will call at your residence, look over your house and advise you in the latest styles of work. Get the habit of coming here once and you will call again.

LEADER OF GANG

Shot and Killed by Police Officer

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Through quick work with his revolver and unerring aim, Robert Adler, the special policeman in a West 23rd street dancing academy, who late Saturday night shot and killed one man and probably fatally injured another while the city or more dancers were in the midst of the mazes of the waltz, broke up for the time being the copper gang, a band of gangsters.

Six of them, led by Charles Hunt, ex-slaved hitler against Adler and, according to the police, went to the dancing academy to "get" him. When Adler stopped them at the door six hands reached for as many pistols. Another shot at the primer of Adler's Miltomath Amateur Athletic club, inaugurated the custom of holding a swimming race on Christmas day and he will be in the water this year as usual, to encourage the others in this aquatic novelty. F. E. Watkins, chairman of the swimming committee of the club, is also backing the event.

Three other shots were fired at Adler, but all missed. William Morris, one of the band, then lunged forward with pistol raised but the special policeman was too quick and shot him through the head. The remainder of the gang fled. Morris probably will die.

PLANS MADE FOR THE ANNUAL CHRISTMAS DAY SWIM

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 31.—Plans are being laid for the annual Christmas day swim in the Willamette river at Portland. It is expected the biggest list of entries yet made in the history of the event will be forthcoming.

A shorter course than was the case last year will be laid in order to encourage even the beginners in swimming to enter. A distance of 220 yards will be marked off on the water from a buoy moored at one end of the course and will swim to the other end at the primer of Adler's Miltomath Amateur Athletic club, inaugurated the custom of holding a swimming race on Christmas day and he will be in the water this year as usual, to encourage the others in this aquatic novelty. F. E. Watkins, chairman of the swimming committee of the club, is also backing the event.

Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 31.—Yesterday's program of the 37th annual convention of the Y. M. C. A., consisted of devotional services, men's meetings and platform addresses. The church services where delegates spoke were well attended. At the men's meeting in Massey hall, Fred B. Smith, secretary, was the principal speaker. J. N. Spence of St. Louis, chairman of the association for the United States and Canada, also spoke.

WHEN IN WANT OF COAL or MASON Supplies

Don't Forget We Sell

Fire Brick, for Bakers' Ovens.

Drain Pipe, for Sewers.

Drain Pipe, for Wells. Sizes run from 3 to 24 inches.

Blacksmith Coal.

Admiralty New River Steam Coal, for Boilers.

Jeddo Lehigh, Stove or Egg Size.

Reading Hard White Ash, Stove or Egg Size.

Wilkesbarre Free Burning, Stove, Egg or Nut.

Lackawanna White Ash, all sizes.

Franklin Red Ash, Stove Size.

Cannell Coal, for Open Grates.

Briquettes, no clinkers or cinders.

Agricultural Lime, for land.

Lime for Maine, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and Vermont.

Portland Cement.

Rosendale Cement.

Fire Cement.

Fire Clay.

Hard Wall Plaster.

Wire Lath.

Mortar Color.

Hair.

Hard Brick, for nice work.

Pressed Brick, for Fire Places.

Soft Brick, for Chimneys.

Fire Brick, for Boilers.

At our Broadway yard we carry in stock the largest variety of Coal of any dealer in the city. If you want good clean Coal send us your order or call and we will be pleased to show you our Coal and also prove that we are still doing business at our own yard.

E. A. WILSON & CO. 4 Merrimack Sq., 700 Broadway, 15 Tanner St.

Telephones 68-135-352.

NIGHT EDITION BRIGHT OUTLOOK

For Great Democratic Victory in Fifth District

Carmichael's Election Confidently Predicted—Even the Republican State Committee Appears to See Defeat Approaching

The republican state committee with the election one week away has practically conceded Lowell and vicinity, or in other words, the fifth congressional district, to the democrats.

Last year Mr. Vaher carried the fifth district by some 2800 votes, carrying Lowell by nearly 2500 votes. Those facts have apparently given the state committee cold feet as the committee declines to risk even one big republican rally, before the state election.

Time was when indignant local republicans would rush to the front and provide a rally irrespective of the state committee but that was when they were all united. This year finds the republican party of the fifth district split on two great issues, one the high cost of living and the other the personal contest of Lodge and Ames. The working men in the republican party are going to vote the democratic ticket because a republican congress has brought about the present unbearable conditions; the Lodge stand-pat element of the party which swears that the big boss is going to throw down Ames for congress last his victory there should be followed by his victory over Lodge for the United States senate next year. Little has been heard from the republican press of this district relative to the state election and less from the republican city committees of Lowell and Lawrence.

Great Democratic Activity.

On the other hand, the democratic state committee and the local committee are working as they never worked before. As will be seen in another column prominent democrats from many states are here to still campaign to assist in this campaign, while rallies are being held in every city and town in the commonwealth. As there is no hall big enough for the coming rally in this city next Thursday night, two have been engaged and every voter will have an opportunity to hear Messrs. Foss and Cassidy, the democratic standard bearers, for they will be here on Thursday night. Between now and election day Congressmen-elect McGillicuddy of Maine and other prominent speakers will be heard here.

The seventh senatorial district Candidate Kiely is hustling and will hold three rallies in Lowell this week as referred to below. Candidate Pearson in the eighth district is displaying his usual hustling ability and reports most encouragingly.

Col. Carmichael Hustling

Never in the many campaigns of his career has Col. James B. Carmichael displayed such activity as at present. After a very busy week just passed Col. Carmichael left for Lawrence this morning where he intends to give his time for the coming week. This afternoon he attended a conference with Mr. Paul Hannegan, the officers of the Lawrence democratic city committee, and other prominent democrats of that city relative to a plan of campaign in that city, Melhuus and Andover. Tomorrow noon he will address a rally at the Wood mills in South Lawrence. He will return to Lowell tomorrow evening to be present and vote at the meeting of the board of aldermen when the measure relative to the pay of city laborers comes up and after leaving city hall, if time permits, he will attend the board of trade meeting and the rally to be held at the old Boston & Maine depot. An urgent request was made to Col. Carmichael that he remain in Lawrence tomorrow evening, but the colonel would not allow his duty as a member of the board of aldermen to be neglected on account of his campaign and he was forced to decline the request.

At Tremont and Suffolk

A number of employees of the Tremont and Suffolk mills waited upon Col. Carmichael Saturday and invited him to address a noon day rally at their plant. Though pretty well booked up from now until election day Col. Carmichael promised to get there.

SEVENTH DISTRICT

THREE DEMOCRATIC RALLIES BY SENATORIAL CANDIDATE KIELY

The democratic voters of the seventh senatorial district will have an opportunity to hear their candidate for senator in this city for arrangements have been made for three rallies in that district.

The first will be held tomorrow noon at the Heinz Electric company plant in Lawrence street and tomorrow evening a big rally will be held at the old Boston and Maine depot. On Thursday a third rally will be held at the American Hide and Leather company's plant in Perry street. At all three rallies, Philip A. Kiely of Lynn, democratic candidate for senator in the seventh district will be a speaker.

At the rally tomorrow evening at the Boston and Maine depot not only will Mr. Kiely speak but Col. Carmichael, Mayor Neenan and others will be among the speakers. Mr. Kiely is a forceful speaker and his remarks will be well worth hearing. He is putting up an aggressive campaign throughout the district and expects to turn it over to the democratic column in the coming election.

BIDDEFORD BANK

Resumed Business This Morning

BIDDEFORD, Me., Oct. 31.—The doors of the York County Savings bank, which were closed by the state bank examiner in August when a discovery was made of discrepancies in the accounts of former Treasurer Richmond H. Linscott, which later were found to aggregate more than $300,000, were re-opened today and business was resumed.

Since the closing of the bank the depositors accounts have been scaled down 22 1/2 per cent. by order of the supreme court to make the bank solvent and enable the institution to resume business.

SOLD OUT TO GEO. H. WOOD.

One of the most important business transactions that has taken place on Merrimack street for a long time was the sale of the stock of the Grant Jewelry Co., which took place last week, George H. Wood, the wholesale and retail jeweler of Central street being the purchaser. It has been known for some time that there was to be a change in the management of this jewelry establishment of the Grant Co., and many have been interested in the purchase of this elegant stock. Mr. Wood is a man who seems as one possessed of live wires and certainly must be covered with them, for he is one of Lowell's leading as well as liveliest merchants. After the others had looked over the property over, and had made their bids, Mr. G. H. Wood came on the scene and with his keen knowledge of the jewelry business attained by forty years' experience every moment of which has been actively spent in this line of merchandising, and with his insight, made a figure which was acceptable to the owners, and has now become the proprietor, and will offer the stock in a sale which will start within a few days at the present location, which will prove a fortunate thing to the people of this city and vicinity.

It has not been positively decided as yet as to the way in which the property will be disposed of, but as Mr. Wood is a wholesale as well as a retail dealer the goods will be offered in large or small lots to buyers. This sale will be of benefit to all wideawake purchasers who intend to give a present during the coming months or who are alert enough to procure their Christmas tokens at this time. It will be to their advantage to attend this sale as the purchase price was way down, and Mr. Wood will thus be able to sell the stock at a figure which, while below the cost of the same, will give him a generous profit, and this is all he expects. He will give more to the purchasers at this sale than was ever given by any other dealer. He figures that he got the stock below 50 per cent. of its face value and can thus afford to give the values above spoken of. The shrewd will keep their eyes on the daily papers for the announcements which will be made through the press just as soon as the stock has been assembled for the sale.

FUNERAL NOTICES

PANGBURN.—Died in this city, Oct. 29, at 313 street, Elizabeth L. Pangburn, daughter of Charles and Mary, aged 1 year, 1 month, 7 days. Funeral from the residence Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The funeral will be under the direction of Undertaker J. A. Weinbeck.

HARMON.—Died Oct. 30, at the Lowell General Hospital, Dorothy M. Harmon, aged 3 months, daughter of William and Ruby Harmon. Funeral services will be held at the home of her parents, 38 Chad street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Friends are invited without further notice. Burial private. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

ELDER.—Died Oct. 30, in this city, very suddenly, Frederick B. Elder, aged 52 years, at his home, 138 Baldwin street. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Edna M. Elder. Funeral services will be held at his late residence, 138 Baldwin street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Friends are invited without further notice. Burial will take place Thursday at Portland, Me. Please omit flowers. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

| NEW YORK MARKET | High | Low | Close |
|------------------|---------|---------|---------|
| Amal. Copper | 89 1/2 | 89 1/2 | 89 1/2 |
| Am. Car & F. | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 |
| Am. Cit. Oil | 85 1/2 | 85 1/2 | 85 1/2 |
| Am. Locom. | 40 | 39 3/4 | 39 3/4 |
| Am. Smelt. & R. | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 |
| Am. Sugar Ref. | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 |
| Anacosta | 42 | 41 1/2 | 41 1/2 |
| Atchafalaya | 104 1/2 | 104 1/2 | 104 1/2 |
| Balt. & O. P. | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 |
| Br. Rap. Tran. | 77 1/2 | 77 1/2 | 77 1/2 |
| Canadian Pac. | 200 1/2 | 199 1/2 | 199 1/2 |
| Cent. Pac. | 144 1/2 | 144 1/2 | 144 1/2 |
| Ches. & Ohio | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 |
| C. C. & St. L. | 73 1/2 | 73 1/2 | 73 1/2 |
| Col. & Gt. W. | 23 1/2 | 23 1/2 | 23 1/2 |
| Consol. Gas | 138 1/2 | 138 1/2 | 138 1/2 |
| Del. & Hud. | 169 1/2 | 169 1/2 | 169 1/2 |
| Den. & Rio G. | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 |
| Gen. & H. C. P. | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 |
| Dis. Sugar Co. | 32 | 31 1/2 | 31 1/2 |
| Erie | 28 1/2 | 28 1/2 | 28 1/2 |
| Erie 1st pf. | 48 1/2 | 48 1/2 | 48 1/2 |
| Gen. & N. H. | 154 1/2 | 154 1/2 | 154 1/2 |
| Gt. North pf. | 126 1/2 | 126 1/2 | 126 1/2 |
| Gt. No. Ore. pf. | 68 | 68 | 68 |
| Int. Met. Com. | 22 1/2 | 22 1/2 | 22 1/2 |
| Int. Met. pf. | 67 1/2 | 67 1/2 | 67 1/2 |
| Int. Paper pf. | 55 1/2 | 55 1/2 | 55 1/2 |
| Kan. City So. | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 |
| Kan. & Texas | 34 1/2 | 34 1/2 | 34 1/2 |
| Louis. & N. H. | 144 1/2 | 144 1/2 | 144 1/2 |
| Mexican Cent. | 34 | 33 1/2 | 33 1/2 |
| Missouri Pac. | 54 | 53 1/2 | 53 1/2 |
| N. Y. Cent. & H. | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 |
| No. Am. Co. | 68 | 68 | 68 |
| Nor. & West. | 93 1/2 | 93 1/2 | 93 1/2 |
| North. Pac. | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 |
| Penn. & N. H. | 144 1/2 | 144 1/2 | 144 1/2 |
| People's Gas | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 |
| Pullman Co. | 160 | 160 | 160 |
| Reading | 162 1/2 | 162 1/2 | 162 1/2 |
| Rea. Iron & S. | 97 1/2 | 97 1/2 | 97 1/2 |
| Rock Is. pf. | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 |
| Rock Is. pf. | 64 | 64 | 64 |
| S. Pac. | 123 1/2 | 123 1/2 | 123 1/2 |
| S. Pacific | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 |
| Southern Ry. | 25 1/2 | 25 1/2 | 25 1/2 |
| Southern Ry. | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 |
| Tenn. Copper | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 |
| Tenn. Copper | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 |
| Texas Pac. | 1 | 1 | 1 |
| Third Ave. | 13 1/2 | 13 1/2 | 13 1/2 |
| Union Pacific | 173 1/2 | 173 1/2 | 173 1/2 |
| U. S. Rub. | 38 1/2 | 38 1/2 | 38 1/2 |
| U. S. Rub. pf. | 111 1/2 | 111 1/2 | 111 1/2 |
| U. S. Steel | 78 1/2 | 78 1/2 | 78 1/2 |
| U. S. Steel pf. | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 |
| U. S. Steel pf. | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 |
| Utah Copper | 48 | 48 | 48 |
| Wabash R. R. | 18 | 18 | 18 |
| Webb R. R. pf. | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 |
| Westinghouse | 72 1/2 | 72 1/2 | 72 1/2 |
| Western Un. | 72 1/2 | 72 1/2 | 72 1/2 |
| Wiscon. Cen. | 58 1/2 | 58 1/2 | 58 1/2 |

STOCK MARKET

STEADY AND DULL AT THE CLOSE

TODAY

The Rise in Some Stocks Reached 2 1/2 Points—Lowest for Principal Active Stocks Wiped Out

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Stocks were under selling pressure at the opening, which found fractional declines in the more active issues. Allis Chalmers pf. gave way 1 1/2, International Harvester 1 1/2 and United States Steel and Amn. Smelting 1/2. Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie rose 1/2 and Amn. Ice 1/2.

A concentration of selling orders on U. S. Steel undermined the whole market and prices fell sharply. U. P., Penna., Rock Island, St. Louis & San Fran. 2d pf., U. S. Steel, Amn. Smelting, Sloss Sheffield Steel and Virginia, Carolina Chem. gave way 1/2, Colo. & Southern Erie 1st pf. and Amn. Loco. 1 1/2, Rock Island pf. 1 1/2 and U. S. Rubber 2d pf. 2 points. Dealings were small. The undertone was steady at an advance.

The orders for execution in the market accumulated over the week-end afforded no basis for an effectual upward movement and realizing sales were pushed. Many stocks had lost a point or more before noon. The sale of short term bonds, issued by the Michigan Central was cited as evidence of the difficulty of securing capital. Bonds were steady.

Only trivial recoveries were made when the decline stopped after midday, the market becoming sluggish when the rally commenced.

The market closed steady and dull. The rise in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie reached 7 1/2 points and the recovery generally wiped out the losses for the principal active stocks.

| STOCKS | High | Low | Close |
|------------------|---------|---------|---------|
| Amal. Copper | 89 1/2 | 89 1/2 | 89 1/2 |
| Am. Car & F. | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 |
| Am. Cit. Oil | 85 1/2 | 85 1/2 | 85 1/2 |
| Am. Locom. | 40 | 39 3/4 | 39 3/4 |
| Am. Smelt. & R. | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 |
| Am. Sugar Ref. | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 |
| Anacosta | 42 | 41 1/2 | 41 1/2 |
| Atchafalaya | 104 1/2 | 104 1/2 | 104 1/2 |
| Balt. & O. P. | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 |
| Br. Rap. Tran. | 77 1/2 | 77 1/2 | 77 1/2 |
| Canadian Pac. | 200 1/2 | 199 1/2 | 199 1/2 |
| Cent. Pac. | 144 1/2 | 144 1/2 | 144 1/2 |
| Ches. & Ohio | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 |
| C. C. & St. L. | 73 1/2 | 73 1/2 | 73 1/2 |
| Col. & Gt. W. | 23 1/2 | 23 1/2 | 23 1/2 |
| Consol. Gas | 138 1/2 | 138 1/2 | 138 1/2 |
| Del. & Hud. | 169 1/2 | 169 1/2 | 169 1/2 |
| Den. & Rio G. | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 |
| Gen. & H. C. P. | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 |
| Dis. Sugar Co. | 32 | 31 1/2 | 31 1/2 |
| Erie | 28 1/2 | 28 1/2 | 28 1/2 |
| Erie 1st pf. | 48 1/2 | 48 1/2 | 48 1/2 |
| Gen. & N. H. | 154 1/2 | 154 1/2 | 154 1/2 |
| Gt. North pf. | 126 1/2 | 126 1/2 | 126 1/2 |
| Gt. No. Ore. pf. | 68 | 68 | 68 |
| Int. Met. Com. | 22 1/2 | 22 1/2 | 22 1/2 |
| Int. Met. pf. | 67 1/2 | 67 1/2 | 67 1/2 |
| Int. Paper pf. | 55 1/2 | 55 1/2 | 55 1/2 |
| Kan. City So. | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 |
| Kan. & Texas | 34 1/2 | 34 1/2 | 34 1/2 |
| Louis. & N. H. | 144 1/2 | 144 1/2 | 144 1/2 |
| Mexican Cent. | 34 | 33 1/2 | 33 1/2 |
| Missouri Pac. | 54 | 53 1/2 | 53 1/2 |
| N. Y. Cent. & H. | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 |
| No. Am. Co. | 68 | 68 | 68 |
| Nor. & West. | 93 1/2 | 93 1/2 | 93 1/2 |
| North. Pac. | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 |
| Penn. & N. H. | 144 1/2 | 144 1/2 | 144 1/2 |
| People's Gas | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 |
| Pullman Co. | 160 | 160 | 160 |
| Reading | 162 1/2 | 162 1/2 | 162 1/2 |
| Rea. Iron & S. | 97 1/2 | 97 1/2 | 97 1/2 |
| Rock Is. pf. | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 |
| Rock Is. pf. | 64 | 64 | 64 |
| S. Pac. | 123 1/2 | 123 1/2 | 123 1/2 |
| S. Pacific | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 |
| Southern Ry. | 25 1/2 | 25 1/2 | 25 1/2 |
| Southern Ry. | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 | 118 1/2 |
| Tenn. Copper | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 |
| Tenn. Copper | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 |
| Texas Pac. | 1 | 1 | 1 |
| Third Ave. | 13 1/2 | 13 1/2 | 13 1/2 |
| Union Pacific | 173 1/2 | 173 1/2 | 173 1/2 |
| U. S. Rub. | 38 1/2 | 38 1/2 | 38 1/2 |
| U. S. Rub. pf. | 111 1/2 | 111 1/2 | 111 1/2 |
| U. S. Steel | 78 1/2 | 78 1/2 | 78 1/2 |
| U. S. Steel pf. | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 |
| U. S. Steel pf. | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 | 108 1/2 |
| Utah Copper | 48 | 48 | 48 |
| Wabash R. R. | 18 | 18 | 18 |
| Webb R. R. pf. | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 | 32 1/2 |
| Westinghouse | 72 1/2 | 72 1/2 | 72 1/2 |
| Western Un. | 72 1/2 | 72 1/2 | 72 1/2 |
| Wiscon. Cen. | 58 1/2 | 58 1/2 | 58 1/2 |

SUPREME COURT

CALLED UPON TO DECIDE IMPORTANT QUESTION

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Whether Euclid La Chapelle, an inventor, will be obliged to hand over to the United States Machine Co., a machine which he asks $50,000 for, is a question which will be decided by the supreme court of the United States. A suit brought by the company to compel La Chapelle to turn over the machine to it came before Judge Hardy in the superior court today. La Chapelle entered the employ of the plaintiff company under a contract for the term of ten years at a salary of $20 per week. The conditions of the agreement required him to turn over to the company all inventions made by him and all patents which he might secure. He invented a machine, for which he demanded $50,000 from the company and upon its refusal to pay he left his employment. The company is now seeking to have the court order La Chapelle to turn over his invention to it. The principal ground of defense made by La Chapelle was that the contract was in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act in that it created a monopoly in restraint of trade. The company contended that inventions and patents were not commerce and could not be regarded as in restraint of trade under decisions of the supreme court of the United States. Judge Hardy agreed with this view but exceptions were taken in behalf of La Chapelle and the defense announced that an appeal would be made to the supreme court of the United States.

COURT WILL NOT INTERFERE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The supreme court today declined to interfere with the conviction of James Holt, who as an enlisted man in the United States coast artillery, was found guilty of having murdered Henry E. Jordan, another enlisted man at Fort Jorden barracks, Washington, in 1908.

REPUBLICANS TO CONFER

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—A conference with the Hughes leaders will precede the lively speaking tour that Henry L. Stimson is to make tonight through the borough of Manhattan. Just who would attend the conference, scheduled for 4 o'clock in the morning at the headquarters of the republican candidate's quarters at the Manhattan hotel was not known there prior to Mr. Stimson's arrival. It was said, however, that most of the visitors would be New York men.

Tonight will be a red letter occasion in the local campaign. Starting at 7:30 o'clock Mr. Stimson and Theodore Roosevelt will make nine speeches each at various halls strung from the Battery to Harlem. The plan is to have Col. Roosevelt follow Mr. Stimson by about half an hour and speak from the same platform. While the nine principal speakers are waiting for the two principal speakers they will hear addresses by other speakers.

DIV. 8, A. O. H.

MILITARY ORGANIZATION HELD A DRILL YESTERDAY

The military organization of Division 8, A. O. H. held a drill in A. O. H. hall yesterday afternoon. The drillmaster, Capt. Fitzgerald, was greatly pleased at the showing made by the new company and at the conclusion of the drill congratulated the members on the interest they are taking in the organization.

There were fifty-five members of the company present at the drill and Pres. William A. Mearns, who witnessed the work of the men expressed his satisfaction and said that it will be only a short time when there will be five companies composed of members of Division 8.

HE LEFT $6000

DR. LENOX WALLING REMEMBERED HIS FIANCÉE

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 31.—Dr. Lenox G. Walling, a young and well-known physician of Burlington, who died last week, made only one bequest in his will, that of $6000 to Miss Hazel Mae Wheeler of New Hampshire, a professional nurse, who was engaged to be married to him next month.

Since his illness, which began last April, Miss Wheeler had been Dr. Walling's nurse. When he was taken to his mother's home in Harrisville, Miss Wheeler accompanied him. Dr. Walling's will was named as executor by a personal bond of $12,000, James Sykes, Roswell F. Brooks and William H. Stewart, all of Burlington, were appointed appraisers.

FORMER PREMIER JEERED

LISBON, Oct. 31.—A crowd jeered former Premier Franco as he left the court today, having been admitted to bail in the sum of $200,000. Foreign Minister Machado protested against the admission to bail of the former premier but exhorted his enemies to be calm. Franco is charged, among other things, with having issued during his tenure of office 70 illegal decrees and with having liquidated the debts of King Carlos, amounting to $500,000, with crown funds, on the pretext of augmenting the civil list.

BOY SHOT AND KILLED

LINCOLN, Me., Oct. 31.—Millage Lyons, a ten-year-old boy, was accidentally shot and killed by his young step-sister, Helen Cole, at Webster plantation late yesterday. Word of the accident reached here today. The boy had just returned home from a hunting trip with his father and another man. The girl ran out to meet them and young Lyons handed her his 22 calibre rifle. A moment later the weapon was discharged and the bullet entered the boy's heart.

TO OPEN FIRST PARLIAMENT

CAPETOWN, S. A., Oct. 31.—The duke of Connaught, who will formally open the first parliament of the union of South Africa on behalf of King George, arrived here today accompanied by the Duchess and the Princess Victoria Patricia. The party received a splendid welcome.

Pending the state opening November 4, the parliament was convened today by Lord Gladstone, governor general of the union of South Africa, for the purpose of electing a speaker and otherwise organizing.

MIL

ENGINEER DEAD

He Was Stricken With Apoplexy

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 30.—With his hand upon the throttle waiting the signal to start his train, C. Fred Whitney, engineer on an Intercolonial railway express running between St. John and Sussex, was stricken fatally with apoplexy, Saturday night. The train had pulled up at a small station for a short stop. The train ran by a little farther than usual and the fireman spoke of the fact to Whitney to which the engineer replied that the rails were slippery. A moment later the signal to start was given but the engineer made no move to open the throttle. Then it was that the fireman found his chief to be unconscious. He was placed in the baggage car and the fireman took the train to Sussex where Whitney was transferred to his home, but he died a few moments after his arrival.

PLANT FACTORY CLOSED
BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The acquisition of the rights of the shoe making machinery of Thomas G. Plant by the United Shoe Machinery company, in the recent litigation and settlement is having its serious after-effect in the virtual shutting down of the Plant factory in Roxbury and the throwing out of employment of nearly 2000 men and women. While many of the people have secured work in Lynn, Brockton, Peabody and other shoe towns, and in Manchester, N. H., there are still hundreds living in Roxbury who are unable to secure work and are in danger of eviction for non-payment of rent. Not more than 100 hands are now employed in the Plant factory.

FACE AND HEAD
AN AWFUL SIGHT

Eruption Broke Out when 2 Weeks Old—Itched So He Could Not Sleep—Hair All Fell Out—Cuticura Cured Him.

"I wish to have you accept this testimonial, as Cuticura did so much for my baby. At the age of two weeks his head began to break out with great sores and by the time he was two months his face and head were an awful sight. I consulted a doctor, who said it was nothing but a light skin disease which the baby would soon get over. But he seemed to get worse so I called another doctor. His opinion seemed to be the same. They both prescribed medicine that did not do a bit of good. A friend advised me to take him to the hospital, which I did. Two doctors there gave me medicine in a liquid form. It did him no good.

"Nearly every day I would read a testimonial in regard to Cuticura and my wife thought she would try it to see if it would help the baby. I got a box of Cuticura Ointment and a cake of Cuticura Soap and after using these he was entirely cured. Before Cuticura cured him he could not seem to sleep, as his face and head would itch so. What hair he had all fell out but soon he had a nice head of hair and his face was perfectly clear. It is now nearly five years since he was cured and there has been no sign of the eruption returning. Chas. H. Evans, 81 Flint St., Somerville, Mass., April 10, 1910."

Don't Pay a
Dentist Too Much

Dr. Thomas Jefferson King
Dr. King's "Natural Gum"
rests on tooth absolutely defy detection.

Your local dentist will charge you about four times as much as I would—he doesn't do much business, so he must "get it out of you"; besides he does not know how to do it painlessly, and, in nine cases out of ten, he performs operations with old-fashioned instruments, which are capable of doing inferior work. My inventions control solely, and when anything new comes out I buy it. Remember—my patrons get the latest and best, and for less money.

Rest set Teeth $5, good set $5. Gold crowns $5, bridge work $5, gold fillings $1 up, other fillings 50c; painless extraction free when sets are ordered.

King Dental Parlors
Over Hall & Lyon's
45 Merrimack St., Lowell
Hours: 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. Sundays 10 to 3. French spoken. Lady attendant. Telephone 104-2.

SAVE TIME AND MUSCLE
Goodale's Wash Clean
We have customers who have used it for years and say it does all the work of the clothes and saves 33 per cent of the labor on wash day.

GOODALE'S DRUG STORE
517 CENTRAL STREET

LOOK SHARP AT HALLOWEEN AND UNDER THE CANDELIGHT YOUR FATE WILL SMILE IN THE MIRROR

AMES IN CONGRESS

Col. Carmichael Discusses His Opponent's Record

Col. James H. Carmichael left for Lawrence this morning where he will conduct a lively campaign for the next week making noon day addresses at the different mills and workshops of that city, Andover and Methuen.

On Saturday night Col. Carmichael addressed several social clubs on invitation and he continued his remarks to Col. Ames' record in congress and to the present high cost of living.

Col. Carmichael spoke as follows: "I have spoken of the record of my republican opponent while he was a member of the Massachusetts legislature. I have said that that record is conclusive proof that he is not in sympathy with the efforts of the working classes and the common people to better their conditions.

"I assert now that his record during eight years in congress bears still stronger proof of inattention to the welfare and an utter disregard of the struggles of the plain people for better opportunities and better conditions in the great struggle of life.

"Mr. Ames' early career in congress showed hide-bound partisanship. He voted in the fifty-eighth congress for the bill to force Arizona into joint statehood with New Mexico, regardless of the wishes of the people of that state. A republican move to defeat the statehood movement, as they feared it, meant the addition of democratic congressmen and democratic United States senators to the ranks of a party fighting for the people's interests at Washington. This is the man whose friends declare that he always receives a large democratic vote. If the democratic party respects its organization, respects itself and expects the respect of decent men it will vote to retire to private life my republican opponent, who, regardless of protestations of liberalism, has a record of narrow partisanship up to the very moment when insurgency became popular and necessary to some people's political life. In this same congress my opponent is upon record in favor of ship subsidies, the giving of vast sums of money from the Federal treasury to the great corporations owning and operating the trans-Atlantic liners. In the fifty-ninth congress my republican opponent voted to abolish the eight hour law on the Isthmus of Panama. Organized labor never received a stiffer punch from the congress of the United States than this legislation, yet this is the man who attempts to represent a district composed almost exclusively of hard working and struggling men and women, and I might almost add, children. For many years without a general public knowledge the railroads have been furnishing the president of the United States with transportation. During the session of the fifty-ninth congress, this fact became generally known, and an indignant public protest against the president's acceptance of favors from the railroads and a bill was introduced providing twenty-five thousand dollars for presidential traveling expenses. The member from the fifth Massachusetts district dodged this legislation and did not vote upon this bill advanced in the public interest, and in the interest of decency and independence in politics. Is my opponent in favor of the president accepting free transportation from the railroads of America? If he is not, where was he when this legislation was before congress?

"I shall now pass for the present to a consideration of the present tariff law and the cost of the necessities of life. Each day between now and election I shall take up portions of the record of my republican opponent from the day he entered congress to the present day. I ask the people of the district to read this record carefully and I shall abide their verdict when they have knowledge of this man's public record.

My republican opponent voted for the Aldrich-Payne tariff bill at every stage of its passage. His insurgency was not rampant at that time. He was consistent with his past up to then. He was with the vested interests; he was a stand pater; he was a high tariff man. I charge to the operation of this iniquitous law and its predecessor, the Dingley tariff law, the present intolerable conditions under which in fourteen years the necessities of life have nearly doubled, while labor receives only a trifle more than it did at that time.

High Cost of Living
My friends, I want to quote you a schedule of prices taken from the market reports of October 1, 1910, compared with a report on prices of the same articles, October 1, 1910.

| | Oct. 1 1909 | Oct. 1 1910 |
|------------------------|-------------|-------------|
| 3 lbs. salt pork | 1.25 | 1.50 |
| 5 lbs. pork ribs | .75 | 1.15 |
| 4 lbs. smoked shoulder | .45 | .64 |
| 2 lbs. sausage | .35 | .46 |
| 5 lbs. lard | .45 | .60 |
| 5 lbs. corned beef | .50 | 1.00 |
| 4 lbs. butter | 1.04 | 1.52 |
| 2 doz. eggs | .50 | 1.00 |
| 2 doz. beans | .15 | .24 |
| 5 lbs. round beef | .40 | 1.25 |
| 4 lbs. fowl | .54 | 1.00 |
| 21 lbs. sugar | 1.05 | 1.26 |
| 2 lbs. rump steak | .40 | .50 |
| 5 lbs. round beef | .40 | 1.25 |
| bag of corn | 1.10 | 1.50 |

My friends, these are republican prices which we pay today. These are Payne-Aldrich prices.

DR. GOODSSELL

COMMENDED BY THE PEARY ARCTIC CLUB

NEW KENSINGTON, PA., Oct. 31.—Over a year after his return from the expedition commanded by Robert E. Peary in his successful search for the North pole, Dr. John W. Goodsell of this place has received a letter from General Thomas H. Hubbard, president of the Peary Arctic club of New York city, commending the local physician on his work during the trip in the far north. There were 26 members of the party that went in search of the pole, including the sailors, in addition to fifty Eskimo men, women and children, who joined the expedition at Etah, 750 miles north of the Arctic circle. Every one of the party returned home from the trip in good health, due largely to the excellent care and treatment of Dr. Goodsell. In the letter the Peary Arctic club officially acknowledges the labor and skill of Dr. Goodsell in contributing to the memorable result and at the suggestion of Commander Peary encloses a large check as more substantial evidence of the club's appreciation.

EXPECT THEIR MESSIAH

BRISTOL, Tenn., Oct. 31.—Carlous as to what had become of the body of Dr. Teed who announced before his death a year ago that he would rise from the tomb and become the Messiah of the Kreshans, two members of the cult, according to Henry D. Silverfriend, attempted to unseal the tomb but before this was accomplished both were deprived of their reason and died before they could be taken to an asylum.

Silverfriend is prominent in the Kreshan colony in Estero, Florida. He said yesterday that Dr. Teed had not risen, but members of the cult were confident he would come forth as their Messiah in due time.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains downward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."

—Mrs. AUGUSTE VESPERMANN, De Forest, Wisconsin.

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."

—Mrs. LILLIE PEYRON, 1111 Korler St., New Orleans, La.
Thirty years of unpar. leled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

O'Donnell Dry Goods Co.

THE STORE FOR QUALITY AND STYLE

FALL DRESS FABRICS

The values to be found at our Dress Goods Counters are proverbial. Today an offering of several lines of new Fall Dress Goods, embracing all the most desirable weaves and newest shades—such as Bessmer, Sepia, Tan, Antiopa, Orchid, Azura, Hazelnut, Lichen and many others. We rely on quality as poor goods are not cheap at any price.

TARTAN PLAIDS

These plaids closely follow the genuine Scotch effects for children's dresses and women's waists—shown in a great variety of new designs. These goods should not be confounded with the trashy kinds shown elsewhere at the price. Two grades, 49c and 75c

All Wool Fancy Serges

42 inches wide, worsted dress goods—20 pieces in handsome stripes and self colored fabrics—medium weight. All wool serges are desirable in all seasons—popular from January to January and the ones in this offering are the newest and best shades. Value $1. Special 79c CENTS

ALL WOOL GERMAN HENRIETTA

Every woman knows the standing of this rich fabric. The present position of henrietta was fixed by style setters months ago and there is no going back of the decree. New fall shades of wistaria, navy blue, dark wine, gray, mignonette, including cream and black. Value $1.25 a yard. Special $1.00

ZENATELLOW SUITING

Anyone who knows dress goods need not look at the fabric at 89c a yard, they can feel $1.25 worth of real value in every yard by simply touching it. We don't expect to have any other fabric this season at the price so big with quality. All new fall shades. Special 89c CENTS

IMPORTED BROADCLOTH

This broadcloth is from Austria—the finish is delicate and silky. It drapes exquisitely and will wear satisfactorily. The colors are London smoke, dark wine, navy blue, reseda, myrtle green and black. We don't think you can match the quality under $2 a yard. Special $1.50

DARING ATTEMPT FIREMEN ESCAPE

Was Made to Rob Jewelry Store

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Following the arrest of two men, charged with breaking and entering and larceny at 6 yesterday morning, the police of division 3 discovered that an attempt had been made to break into the jewelry store of Julius Israel, 106 Court street.

The attempt was made by boring holes in the floor of the tailor shop of Max Shelnosh, which is directly over the jewelry store. Fifty holes were bored in the floor, the persons who started the work evidently firing of the job. A bit and auger were found in the tailor shop.

Alfred Leroy, 22 years old, who refused to give his address, and William Dunn, 22, who said he lived in New York, are the men who were arrested as they were leaving 106 Court street.

Each man had a suit case filled with cloth and clothing, alleged to have been stolen from the tailor shop of Shelnosh, on the second floor of the building. The goods are said to be worth about $300.

Two policemen of division 3 were on the opposite side of the street when they saw one of the two men come to a window in Shelnosh's shop and look out.

The policemen crossed the street and awaited developments. Soon after the two men left the building, each with a suit case. They were placed under arrest and taken to station 3.

The police have been unable to learn anything of the identity of the two men. It is believed that they are New York men.

A NOVEL DISPLAY

Northwest Products to be Shown

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 31.—Within a few days an exhibit car, resplendent in fresh varnish and polished brass, will leave St. Paul on a 30,000 tour of the Eastern and Southern states, "chock full" of evidence of the productivity and varied resources of Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

At the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893, a similar car, equipped by the Northern Pacific Railway company, was an exhibition and attracted much attention. This car, after the close of the fair, made numerous tours, advertising the northwest. The car which is now ready to start on its long tour is the latest model in railroad coach building, seventy-five feet long, lighted by electricity and acetylene gas, equipped with extra wide windows, six-wheel trucks and all the other details of an up-to-date passenger car.

TOOK HER LIFE

AFTER MAKING LAST PLEA TO HUSBAND TO RETURN

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—After making a last plea to her husband to return, Mrs. Annie Davis, of Brooklyn, committed suicide and with her took her two children, Ellis, 5 years old, and Elsie, 3 years old. All were found yesterday morning asphyxiated by gas.

For the last two years, Mrs. Davis had supported the family by sewing, but, finding the struggle a hard one, she wrote a note and turned on the gas. This is the note: "I am sorry, but this is the easiest way out of it. The children are asleep and won't know anything about it. I just can't fight any longer. The odds are against me."

Truck Crashed Into a Pole

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Members of ladder 4, Dudley street, Roxbury, had a narrow escape from serious injury late yesterday afternoon when the truck crashed into an elevated pole at the corner of Dudley and Warren streets, while responding to an alarm. Two of the horses were thrown to the street and the pole of the ladder truck smashed into splinters.

The fact that the forward end of the ladder truck struck the pole probably saved it from being driven through the front windows of the drug store of L. D. Drury on the corner.

An alarm was given from box 261 at 3.23 for a fire in the 2½-story wooden dwelling house at 17 Cobden street, occupied by Hiram Dwyer. The ladder truck left its house on Dudley street, with Edward Powers, one of the heat reinmen of the department, driving. Dudley street is being repaired and at the junction of Dudley and Warren streets several cars were stopped as the ladder truck came along.

Just as it got in front of Drury's drug store, a horse that has been in the department but two weeks shied. He was on the right side. Before Driver Powers could halt him up the horse reared and threw his weight against the middle horse. The force of the impact threw both of the other horses on the sidewalk.

Lieut. Hogan and Ladderman Rourke, who were riding near the head of the truck, jumped to the street and secured the horses. Neither animal was injured.

The accident yesterday afternoon is

A Lesson in Economy

A dollar saved is better than two earned. Hundreds of householders in the city and suburbs can testify that the greatest saving has been made for money invested is by having the Good-Weathers Strip put on the doors. They are indestructible and the best thing ever devised for keeping out cold air and dust. If you had them once you would never be without them. It also means money saved to you. Send your order.

CHAPPED SKIN

When red, rough, unsightly and sore, can be quickly healed and greatly improved in appearance by the liberal use of A.D.S. PEROXIDE CREAM

This is an ideal preparation for keeping the skin smooth and white and the complexion fair and beautiful.

It is a fine, greaseless, fragrant toilet cream. A mild, harmless bleach, which every woman who values her appearance should use regularly. Get it at any A. D. S. Drug Store.

Frank J. Campbell, 255 Central St.; Falls & Burkinshaw, 418 Middlesex St.; Houle's Pharmacy, 462 Moody St.; R. J. Lang & Co., 374 Merrimack St.; Wm. H. Noonan & Co., 305 Bridge St.; John H. O'Neill, Lawrence St., corner Wamsitt; Routhier & Dellea, 632 Merrimack St.; Charles W. Trombley, 415 Bridge St.; Fred Howard, 197 Central St.; John T. Sparks & Co., 747 Lakeview Ave.

the second that ladder 4 has had in a few months. The other occurred on Washington street, near Lenox street, when a new horse hit an elevated pole and was killed. In both instances the accidents were due to new horses.

IMPROVING LAKEVIEW AVENUE
The preliminary work for the macadamizing of Lakeview avenue in the Navy Yard district is almost completed and the work of putting on the crushed stone will in all probability be started within a few days.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

TORTURES OF PILES
IT IS UNNECESSARY TO SUFFER THIS TERRIBLE TROUBLE

Keen torture is the everyday lot of the sufferer from piles. And yet that suffering is needless. Carter & Sherburne, Lowell, Mass., will sell you Hem-Roid and later return your money if it fails.

We have sold Hem-Roid that way for two or three years and refunds asked have been less than 3 per cent. We therefore recommend it with confidence.

Hem-Roid is an internal remedy. The prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, Station B, Buffalo, N. Y. Write for booklet.

A Lesson in Economy

A dollar saved is better than two earned. Hundreds of householders in the city and suburbs can testify that the greatest saving has been made for money invested is by having the Good-Weathers Strip put on the doors. They are indestructible and the best thing ever devised for keeping out cold air and dust. If you had them once you would never be without them. It also means money saved to you. Send your order.

J. B. GOODWIN
11 THORNDIKE STREET

HAMILTON HALL

For public meetings, concerts, banquets, festivals and fairs.

Lodge Rooms

Large and small with large ante rooms, elevator service and all conveniences.

CLUB PARLOR

Light, large and w. private office, part of building.

Office to LET
Light, large and with private office.

Special—Small Lodge Rooms
Rooms have been arranged for lodges and other organizations needing small quarters at very low rental with all conveniences. Apply to

JESSE D. CROOK, OWNER
ROOM 17 OLD FELLOWS' BLDG., 84 MIDDLESEX ST.
Of Janitor, Day or Evening.

Wood! Wood! Wood!

For kitchen range, fireplace, or furnace. Now is the best time of the year to fill your bins. I carry the largest stock of Wood of any fuel dealer in New England. I am my own wholesaler and retailer. I sell in any quantity from $1.00 worth to a carload. All you have got to do is to telephone 1180 or 2480 and tell us what you want. Mail and telephone orders will receive immediate attention.

John P. Quinn
Office and Yards, Gorham and Dix sts.
Telephone 1180 or 2480; when one is busy, call the other.

PRISON SUNDAY

Observed by Rev. Charles T. Billings at Unitarian Church

"The Prisoner" was the subject of an interesting sermon by Rev. Charles T. Billings at the First Unitarian church Sunday morning. The sermon was in accordance with a request by the prison association, that the churches observe the last Sunday in the month as prison Sunday. The preacher found his inspiration in Matt. 25:38: "I was in prison and ye came unto me." He said, in part:

One of the marvels of Christ's life was that he ministered so readily to people who had little claim upon him. Children came to him, those of whom he had never heard before, those who would and could have little means of repaying Jesus came and he ministered unto them according to the power that was in him.

And it was because he lived a life of service that he could ask it freely of his disciples. The service he gave, he demanded that they should give and he told them that in serving the hungry, the sick, the stranger and the prisoner they were serving him.

The world has not forgotten that thought. Still we believe we are serving him when we minister to the needs of the humblest of God's creatures, and yet there are boundaries of our sympathy. We hear a cry of distress from Sicily or Armenia and we sometimes think these regions are too remote for our interest, that the needs of our own country are more insistent and more far-reaching, and that charity begins at home.

Or, we are asked to help the negro, and though often we have responded to that appeal, there is a growing feeling that the negroes ought to do this work themselves, and the multiplied charities of our own city demand our first attention.

But even the Armenian and the negro appeal to us more deeply than the prisoner. In helping the Armenian and the negro we are at least trying to help people who are trying to help themselves, people who are deserving, people who appeal to us on the score of their manhood and womanhood. But the prisoner, although he is within the limits of our state and city, cannot appeal to us on these grounds. He is out of the pale of our interest and sympathy. He has his chance and neglected it. He has his chance and he has not used it. He has his chance and he has not used it. He has his chance and he has not used it.

For all disobedience of law brings its penalty. That is the teaching of both church and state. Another penalty of crime is the disgrace and the humiliation of being beyond the appeal of our immediate interest and sympathy. When we read, therefore, as we may read in the pamphlets that many of our prisoners are unsanitary, unclean and with few facilities for bathing, we are reminded by others, that even so, the conditions of the prison are often better than the homes from which some of those who live there come. And if we are told that the libraries connected with the prison are poor, ill-assorted, and totally inadequate, we are also told that it is not the business of the state to make the prison too attractive to those who come there; and further, if the philanthropist tells us that the prisoner, in order to develop again his lost self-respect, ought to have the power to earn honest wages, and perhaps provide for his family while in prison, and so prevent in a measure the punishment from suffering from his non-support. We are met with the objection that if we allow the criminal to work for wages, he is competing with honest labor, and as for his family, it is hard indeed that they should suffer from his wrong-doing, but it is not that the penalty of all crime, that it cannot fall upon one alone, but always drags much sorrow in its train. And will not the fact that others suffer because of his crime, act as a greater deterrent of crime? Is it well to make a man feel that in prison or out he could support his family? If punishment is to act as a deterrent from crime, man should bear its full penalty.

And yet our prisons, even as they are, are not successful as places of punishment. Of the 32,000 persons committed to prison in Massachusetts last year 18,415 had been in the same prisons before, and more than 12,000 of them from one to five times. As a deterrent of crime the prisons have not fulfilled our expectations. But indeed a change has come over the spirit of prison management. Formerly the punishment was made to fit the crime; the worse the crime, the heavier the penalty. But now the punishment is made to fit the individual. It is recognized that he is not worthy of being a free member of society, and it is proposed to keep him in prison till he is. That might be said to be or ought to be the whole object of the prison now to help the individual to take his place again as a free and honorable member of the social order. This requires study of the individual character. The young and the old are in our prison, men who are battling with an ugly inheritance, or whose unbroken will, make them uncertain factors in the struggle for existence, and men who have succumbed to some great temptation. They cannot all be treated alike and it is the establishment of the indeterminate sentence to probation system, with an officer to look after each individual case, that is the real reforming influence in the criminal's life of today.

For what does a prison do for a man? It does not often make him better his sin. Let me bring you the testimony of one who with brilliant gifts, but perverted manhood was compelled by his misdeeds to spend two years in an English jail. The fact that it was England and a dozen years ago need not affect the question, for the influence of prison life must always be somewhat the same. He says "prison life, with its endless privations and restrictions, makes one rebellious. The most terrible thing about it is not that it breaks one's heart, but that it turns one's heart to stone." The writer softened somewhat in his mood toward the latter end of his own life in prison and left it with high admiration, but his words well represent what may be the average man's conception of a prison. He chafes under its restraints. He becomes not so much conscious of his own faults, as rebellious that he has been caught, and the heart of stone is not a favorable soil for the seeds of higher ethical impulse to take root.

And yet the fate of these men concerns our own. We cannot allow them to become individual criminals without a protest. The more criminals we develop the more society is menaced. And we rise or fall with them. The more they come back to the world, better fitted to engage in its honorable

REV. CHARLES T. BILLINGS,
Pastor Unitarian Church.

warfare, the more heartily we should welcome them and try to find for them a worthy place in the work of every day life.

To help these men to a new chance in the world is certainly a concern of ours. To say their crime has forfeited their chance is not merely foolish, it is almost criminal, because if we give these men no chance, they must drift back again to the life of the criminal. It is our work to encourage them to all honest attempts to make a living. So we add to the moral strength of the community, and it is your business and mine to reach out a hand to help these men as they climb the upward way.

SLIGHT FIRES

THAT CALLED FOR THE ATTENTION OF THE DEPARTMENT

An alarm from box 42 about 5.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze in Middlesex street, near the corner of Grand street. The fire was caused by an over-heated stove but was extinguished before any damage was done.

A still alarm was sent in Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock for a small blaze in a barn in Willsie street, near the corner of Broadway.

An alarm from box 37, at 1.35 o'clock this morning, was for a chimney fire in a house in Kinsman street. There was no damage.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

ENJOYED BY THE PAWTUCKET BOAT CLUB

An enjoyable Halloween party was held Saturday night at the Pawtucket Boat club house about 50 young people being the guests of Miss Jessie Richardson of Middlesex street.

The clubhouse was decorated in an artistic manner, the decorations being in keeping with Halloween.

The principal enjoyment of the evening was dancing. Various Halloween games were played and refreshments served.

F. H. ROURKE
OFFICE

Liberty Square

Telephone 1177-1

BOTH DROWNED

Boat Capsized and Men Went Down

RUTLAND, Vt., Oct. 31.—Wladyslaw Bandaszewicz, aged 38, and Piotr Rutkowski, 37, were drowned in Otter creek at Centre Rutland about 11.45 yesterday morning, when a flat-bottomed boat in which they were rowing capsized. Josef Wisniewski, a nephew of one of the other men, was saved.

The three men were in the habit of spending their spare moments on the water, and yesterday morning they started out. They rowed leisurely for about an hour. When about 100 yards above stream from the falls Wisniewski started to bail out the boat and while resting his weight on one side he reached for an old pole and the boat tipped over, throwing all three into the water. The two older men clung to the overturned craft, but Wisniewski swam for the shore. Chas. Popeski, a boy who was standing on the bank about 60 feet away, ran to spot and extended a pole to Wisniewski and helped him ashore.

In the meantime the other two Polanders relinquished their holds on the boat and started to swim ashore, but after a few strokes both sank.

When Wisniewski saw that his companions were drowned he became frantic and he started for the water and would undoubtedly have drowned himself had he not been restrained.

The accident happened about 160 feet from the homes of the dead men. The bodies were recovered in about 15 feet of water an hour later.

MATHEW INSTITUTE

HELD ANOTHER IMPORTANT MEETING YESTERDAY

The regular meeting of the Mathew Temperance Institute was held yesterday in Mathew hall, in Dutton street. There was a large attendance and President James J. Gallagher presided. There were ten propositions for membership which were referred to the board of examiners and three new members were admitted.

Various standing committees reported progress in their many lines of entertainment, among them being the committee having charge of the tournament of games to be played between the St. Charles society of Woburn and the local Mathews. In arranging these games, the committees appointed by both societies intend to make it interesting and to establish more friendly relations between the two societies. Valuable prizes will be given to the winners of the various games. The committees will come together shortly to formulate plans for these games during the winter months.

President Gallagher stated to the members that he had received many offers of assistance in behalf of the society since the mass meeting a week ago. The encouragement thus received should induce the members to redouble their efforts in building up the society.

A. G. Pollard Co.

THE STORE FOR THRIFTY PEOPLE

An Out of the Ordinary Announcement

FROM THIS STORE

Of Special Interest to Drawing School Students, Draftsmen, Architects, Engineers

The following prices are probably the lowest that these goods were ever offered at—wholesale or retail. They are all in first-class shape and up-to-date in quality. We think you'll be interested. On sale today in our Merrimack Street Basement.

DRAWING BOARDS

| | |
|--|---------------|
| Size 9 in.x12 in., original price 35c..... | Our Price 10c |
| Size 12 in.x18 in., original price 50c..... | Our Price 15c |
| Size 13 in.x19 in., original price 60c..... | Our Price 19c |
| Size 17 in.x23 in., original price 75c..... | Our Price 25c |
| Size 19 in.x25 in., original price 90c..... | Our Price 29c |
| Size 20 1/2 in.x27 in., cleared, original price $1..... | Our Price 33c |
| Size 23 in.x30 in., original price $1.10..... | Our Price 35c |
| Size 23 in.x30 in., cleared, original price $1.25..... | Our Price 39c |
| Size 28 in.x41 in., original price $1.50..... | Our Price 49c |
| Size 28 in.x41 in., cleared, original price $1.75..... | Our Price 55c |

CELLULOID SQUARES, SCROLLS AND TRIANGLES

| | |
|-------------------------|---------------|
| Original price 35c..... | Our Price 10c |
| Original price 60c..... | Our Price 19c |
| Original price 65c..... | Our Price 19c |

POUNCE

For removing the gloss from Tracing Cloth, original price 20c can. Our Price 5c Can

PAINT OR CRAYON BOXES

Tin—Assorted Sizes—Japanned

| | |
|-------------------------|---------------|
| Original price 50c..... | Our Price 17c |
| Original price 75c..... | Our Price 25c |

TRACING PAPER

| | |
|---|----------------------|
| Size 27x37 in., 24 sheets to roll, original price $2.00 a roll. | Our Price 49c a Roll |
| Size 54 in. wide, 20 and 22 yard rolls, original price $2.00 a roll. | Our Price 59c a Roll |

DRAWING AND SKETCH PAPER

Linen Ledger in sheets, size 16 in.x21 in., original price 25c quire. Our Price 10c Quire

Sketch Paper, vellum finish, in sheets, size 11 in.x14 1/4 in. Our Price 2c Sheet, 20c per Dozen

Sketch Paper, in sheets size 11 in.x15 in. Our Price 3c Sheet, 25c per Dozen

Bristol Board, Reynolds & Co.'s extra heavy, in sheets, size 12 1/2 in.x15 1/4 in., original price 10c sheet, $1.00 dozen. Our Price 5c Sheet, 50c Dozen

Sketch Paper, Duplex, cream shade, size 27 in.x40 in., original price 10c sheet. Our Price 5c Sheet

Sketch Paper, white, original price 25c sheet. Our Price 10c Sheet

Merrimack Street Basement

SPECIAL TODAY IN OUR BARGAIN BASEMENT

600 Pairs of Long Curtains

Slightly damaged by smoke and water, made in plain and fancy muslin, with tucks, hemstitch and lace trimmed, curtains worth 50c to $1 a pair.

Only 39c a Pair

Palmer Street

Basement

Special Sale of Wash Ribbons of Best Quality

BEGINS TODAY

1 in white—pink and white with small dot pink, regular 5c quality. Only 3c Yard

1 1/2 or 1/4 inch wide, in blue with small dot pattern, pink, bow-knot pattern, blue, gros grain, 8c quality. Only 4c Yard

2 or 1 1/2 inch wide, in white, cream, pink or blue, 12c quality. Only 4c Yard

3 or 3/4 inch wide, in white or pink, plain, 15c quality. Only 5c Yard

5 or 1 inch wide, in white, cream, pink or blue, 20c quality. Only 5c Yard

9 or 1 1/2 inch wide, in white, pink or blue, plain, 25c quality. Only 10c Yard

West Section

Centre Aisle

A. G. POLLARD CO.

The Store for Thrifty People

HALF-PRICE SALE

OF

White Lingerie Dresses

A final clean-up of our stock of Lingerie Dresses. These dresses are grouped into two lots and are marked 1-3 to 1-2 off regular prices.

LOT 1—Just 18 Dresses in this lot, ranging in prices from $6.00 to $10.00 Today Only $5.00

LOT 2—Just 12 Dresses in this lot, ranging in prices from $12.50 to $15.00 Today Only $7.50

Sale of SILK PETTICOATS Starts Today

$5.00 Silk Petticoats $3.75

Made of extra fine quality silk, black and all colors; all lengths. Regular $5.00 Petticoats. Today $3.75

$10.00 SILK PETTICOATS $5.00

Just a few of these Petticoats, but every one is a $10.00 skirt. Today $5.00

Cloak Dept.

Second Floor

Bargains at the Trunk and Bag Department

We secured the past week a small lot of fine sample Bags, Suit Cases and Trunks, which owing to the lateness of the season, we have decided to close at reduced prices:

About 40 Bags, all kinds and sizes, made from selected stocks; pigskin, alligator, cowhide, etc. Suitable for lady or gentleman; regular prices $2.98 to $16.00. $1.98 to $10.00

About two dozen Suit Cases, sizes 22 and 24 inches, regular prices $2.75 to $16. $1.75 to $10.00

TRUNKS - - - TRUNKS

20 Trunks, all one style, different sizes, 32 to 36 inches, black, vulcanized fibre binding, narrow, hardwood cleats, two trays, fancy cloth lining, principal trimmings hand rivetted. High grade baggage in every respect. For this sale only. $7.50 Each

Palmer Street

Near Avenue Door

NEW FANCY WORK Not Too Soon For Holiday Choosing

A tremendous assortment of all varieties of Stamped Fabrics, including a full line of Infants' Wearables.

ALL MATERIALS FOR THE WORKING

BURNT WOOD WORK—You may select new blanks from a lot of half a thousand—all shapes and sizes. Outfits up to $3.50 Each.

PYRO ETCH BRASS—The newest of the art workings. We've stamped candle and lamp shades, picture frames, handkerchiefs and glove boxes, jewel cases, tea tiles and trays; pipe, tie and book racks, fern dishes, jardinières, desk sets, etc., etc.

ALL THE TOOLS TO WORK WITH

East Section

Centre Aisle

In Our Underprice Basement

WARM COMFORTERS and PUFFS

At Special Low Prices

Our line of Bed Comforters and Puffs is the most complete in this section; we offer some extra good values for this week.

Comforters for double beds, covers of good medium and dark color silklike, $1.25 value At $1.00 Each

Regular and extra large size Comforters, filled with good white batting, silklike covering and fancy stitch, $2.00 value. At $1.50 Each

Comforters covered with fine cambric, regular and extra size, filled with clean and white cotton batting, $2.50 value. At $2.00 Each

Good Comforters, regular and extra size, sateen covering, fancy stitching, light and medium colors, $3.00 value. At $2.50 Each

Large Comforters, filled with best white batting, fancy stitch, covers of fine domestic sateen, $3.50 value. At $3.00

Extra Large Comforters, covers of finest domestic sateen in hand-some patterns, filled with very best cotton batting, $4.00 value. At $3.50 Each

Extra good value in Cotton Puffs, fine silklike and fine sateen covering. At $2.00, $3.00, $3.50 and $5.00

DOWN PUFFS AT POPULAR PRICES

All our Down Puffs are made of best white down and covering of best material, domestic sateen, fine imported sateen, silk and satin, plain and with borders.

6x6 Domestic Sateen $5.00

6x7 Domestic Sateen $6.50

6x6 Imported Sateen $8.50

6x6 Silk Covering and Sateen Lining $10.00

6x6 Silk Covering and Lining $12.00

6x6 Silk Covering and Lining $15.00

Wool Puffs, Silk and Satin Covering $7.50, $10 and $12.50 Each

LEGAL NOTICES

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given to and for the use of the County of Suffolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts to The Central Savings Bank, a corporation established under the laws of the Commonwealth and located at Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth, bearing date the 12th day of December, 1916, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the Northern District of said County of Middlesex, Book 44, Page 116, will be sold at public sale for benefit of the conditions of said mortgage deed on the premises hereinafter described on Wednesday, the sixteenth day of December, 1916, at three o'clock and forty-five minutes in the after-

The following described real estate is situated in the City of Lowell, and is thus bounded and described: A certain parcel of land situated on the westerly side of Webster street, and being Lots 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 on a plan of land entitled "Plan of Land in the City of Lowell, Surveyed May, 1899, Orin E. Moore, Civil Engineer," which plan is on file in the City of Lowell, and is of Plans 13, Plan 26, and bounded: Northerly by Lot 9 on said plan and by the westerly side of Webster street two hundred and fifty (250) feet; southerly by Lot 9 on said plan, and by the westerly side of Webster street two hundred and fifty (250) feet; easterly by the westerly side of John C. Burke, two hundred and fifty (250) feet; and southerly by the westerly side of said plan, and by the westerly side of Webster street two hundred and fifty (250) feet of land. A certain parcel of land situated on the westerly side of said Webster street, and being Lots 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773, 774, 775, 776, 777, 778, 779, 780, 781, 782, 783, 784, 785, 786, 787, 788, 789, 790, 791, 792, 793, 794, 79

ness, in The Sun "Wang" ordered

TRAINS TO AND FROM BOSTON

SUNDAY TRAINS

| SOUTHERN DIV. | | | | WESTERN DIV. | | | |
|---------------|-------------|---------------|-------------|---------------|-------------|---------------|-------------|
| To Boston | From Boston | To Boston | From Boston | To Boston | From Boston | To Boston | From Boston |
| Lowell | 7:00 | Lowell | 7:00 | Lowell | 7:00 | Lowell | 7:00 |
| Andover | 7:15 | Andover | 7:15 | Andover | 7:15 | Andover | 7:15 |
| Haverhill | 7:30 | Haverhill | 7:30 | Haverhill | 7:30 | Haverhill | 7:30 |
| Salem | 7:45 | Salem | 7:45 | Salem | 7:45 | Salem | 7:45 |
| Amherst | 8:00 | Amherst | 8:00 | Amherst | 8:00 | Amherst | 8:00 |
| North Andover | 8:15 | North Andover | 8:15 | North Andover | 8:15 | North Andover | 8:15 |
| Concord | 8:30 | Concord | 8:30 | Concord | 8:30 | Concord | 8:30 |
| Wilmington | 8:45 | Wilmington | 8:45 | Wilmington | 8:45 | Wilmington | 8:45 |
| Andover | 9:00 | Andover | 9:00 | Andover | 9:00 | Andover | 9:00 |
| Haverhill | 9:15 | Haverhill | 9:15 | Haverhill | 9:15 | Haverhill | 9:15 |
| Salem | 9:30 | Salem | 9:30 | Salem | 9:30 | Salem | 9:30 |
| Amherst | 9:45 | Amherst | 9:45 | Amherst | 9:45 | Amherst | 9:45 |
| North Andover | 10:00 | North Andover | 10:00 | North Andover | 10:00 | North Andover | 10:00 |
| Concord | 10:15 | Concord | 10:15 | Concord | 10:15 | Concord | 10:15 |
| Wilmington | 10:30 | Wilmington | 10:30 | Wilmington | 10:30 | Wilmington | 10:30 |
| Andover | 10:45 | Andover | 10:45 | Andover | 10:45 | Andover | 10:45 |
| Haverhill | 11:00 | Haverhill | 11:00 | Haverhill | 11:00 | Haverhill | 11:00 |
| Salem | 11:15 | Salem | 11:15 | Salem | 11:15 | Salem | 11:15 |
| Amherst | 11:30 | Amherst | 11:30 | Amherst | 11:30 | Amherst | 11:30 |
| North Andover | 11:45 | North Andover | 11:45 | North Andover | 11:45 | North Andover | 11:45 |
| Concord | 12:00 | Concord | 12:00 | Concord | 12:00 | Concord | 12:00 |
| Wilmington | 12:15 | Wilmington | 12:15 | Wilmington | 12:15 | Wilmington | 12:15 |
| Andover | 12:30 | Andover | 12:30 | Andover | 12:30 | Andover | 12:30 |
| Haverhill | 12:45 | Haverhill | 12:45 | Haverhill | 12:45 | Haverhill | 12:45 |
| Salem | 1:00 | Salem | 1:00 | Salem | 1:00 | Salem | 1:00 |
| Amherst | 1:15 | Amherst | 1:15 | Amherst | 1:15 | Amherst | 1:15 |
| North Andover | 1:30 | North Andover | 1:30 | North Andover | 1:30 | North Andover | 1:30 |
| Concord | 1:45 | Concord | 1:45 | Concord | 1:45 | Concord | 1:45 |
| Wilmington | 2:00 | Wilmington | 2:00 | Wilmington | 2:00 | Wilmington | 2:00 |
| Andover | 2:15 | Andover | 2:15 | Andover | 2:15 | Andover | 2:15 |
| Haverhill | 2:30 | Haverhill | 2:30 | Haverhill | 2:30 | Haverhill | 2:30 |
| Salem | 2:45 | Salem | 2:45 | Salem | 2:45 | Salem | 2:45 |
| Amherst | 3:00 | Amherst | 3:00 | Amherst | 3:00 | Amherst | 3:00 |
| North Andover | 3:15 | North Andover | 3:15 | North Andover | 3:15 | North Andover | 3:15 |
| Concord | 3:30 | Concord | 3:30 | Concord | 3:30 | Concord | 3:30 |
| Wilmington | 3:45 | Wilmington | 3:45 | Wilmington | 3:45 | Wilmington | 3:45 |
| Andover | 4:00 | Andover | 4:00 | Andover | 4:00 | Andover | 4:00 |
| Haverhill | 4:15 | Haverhill | 4:15 | Haverhill | 4:15 | Haverhill | 4:15 |
| Salem | 4:30 | Salem | 4:30 | Salem | 4:30 | Salem | 4:30 |
| Amherst | 4:45 | Amherst | 4:45 | Amherst | 4:45 | Amherst | 4:45 |
| North Andover | 5:00 | North Andover | 5:00 | North Andover | 5:00 | North Andover | 5:00 |
| Concord | 5:15 | Concord | 5:15 | Concord | 5:15 | Concord | 5:15 |
| Wilmington | 5:30 | Wilmington | 5:30 | Wilmington | 5:30 | Wilmington | 5:30 |
| Andover | 5:45 | Andover | 5:45 | Andover | 5:45 | Andover | 5:45 |
| Haverhill | 6:00 | Haverhill | 6:00 | Haverhill | 6:00 | Haverhill | 6:00 |
| Salem | 6:15 | Salem | 6:15 | Salem | 6:15 | Salem | 6:15 |
| Amherst | 6:30 | Amherst | 6:30 | Amherst | 6:30 | Amherst | 6:30 |
| North Andover | 6:45 | North Andover | 6:45 | North Andover | 6:45 | North Andover | 6:45 |
| Concord | 7:00 | Concord | 7:00 | Concord | 7:00 | Concord | 7:00 |
| Wilmington | 7:15 | Wilmington | 7:15 | Wilmington | 7:15 | Wilmington | 7:15 |
| Andover | 7:30 | Andover | 7:30 | Andover | 7:30 | Andover | 7:30 |
| Haverhill | 7:45 | Haverhill | 7:45 | Haverhill | 7:45 | Haverhill | 7:45 |
| Salem | 8:00 | Salem | 8:00 | Salem | 8:00 | Salem | 8:00 |
| Amherst | 8:15 | Amherst | 8:15 | Amherst | 8:15 | Amherst | 8:15 |
| North Andover | 8:30 | North Andover | 8:30 | North Andover | 8:30 | North Andover | 8:30 |
| Concord | 8:45 | Concord | 8:45 | Concord | 8:45 | Concord | 8:45 |
| Wilmington | 9:00 | Wilmington | 9:00 | Wilmington | 9:00 | Wilmington | 9:00 |
| Andover | 9:15 | Andover | 9:15 | Andover | 9:15 | Andover | 9:15 |
| Haverhill | 9:30 | Haverhill | 9:30 | Haverhill | 9:30 | Haverhill | 9:30 |
| Salem | 9:45 | Salem | 9:45 | Salem | 9:45 | Salem | 9:45 |
| Amherst | 10:00 | Amherst | 10:00 | Amherst | 10:00 | Amherst | 10:00 |
| North Andover | 10:15 | North Andover | 10:15 | North Andover | 10:15 | North Andover | 10:15 |
| Concord | 10:30 | Concord | 10:30 | Concord | 10:30 | Concord | 10:30 |
| Wilmington | 10:45 | Wilmington | 10:45 | Wilmington | 10:45 | Wilmington | 10:45 |
| Andover | 11:00 | Andover | 11:00 | Andover | 11:00 | Andover | 11:00 |
| Haverhill | 11:15 | Haverhill | 11:15 | Haverhill | 11:15 | Haverhill | 11:15 |
| Salem | 11:30 | Salem | 11:30 | Salem | 11:30 | Salem | 11:30 |
| Amherst | 11:45 | Amherst | 11:45 | Amherst | 11:45 | Amherst | 11:45 |
| North Andover | 12:00 | North Andover | 12:00 | North Andover | 12:00 | North Andover | 12:00 |
| Concord | 12:15 | Concord | 12:15 | Concord | 12:15 | Concord | 12:15 |
| Wilmington | 12:30 | Wilmington | 12:30 | Wilmington | 12:30 | Wilmington | 12:30 |
| Andover | 12:45 | Andover | 12:45 | Andover | 12:45 | Andover | 12:45 |
| Haverhill | 1:00 | Haverhill | 1:00 | Haverhill | 1:00 | Haverhill | 1:00 |
| Salem | 1:15 | Salem | 1:15 | Salem | 1:15 | Salem | 1:15 |
| Amherst | 1:30 | Amherst | 1:30 | Amherst | 1:30 | Amherst | 1:30 |
| North Andover | 1:45 | North Andover | 1:45 | North Andover | 1:45 | North Andover | 1:45 |
| Concord | 2:00 | Concord | 2:00 | Concord | 2:00 | Concord | 2:00 |
| Wilmington | 2:15 | Wilmington | 2:15 | Wilmington | 2:15 | Wilmington | 2:15 |
| Andover | 2:30 | Andover | 2:30 | Andover | 2:30 | Andover | 2:30 |
| Haverhill | 2:45 | Haverhill | 2:45 | Haverhill | 2:45 | Haverhill | 2:45 |
| Salem | 3:00 | Salem | 3:00 | Salem | 3:00 | Salem | 3:00 |
| Amherst | 3:15 | Amherst | 3:15 | Amherst | 3:15 | Amherst | 3:15 |
| North Andover | 3:30 | North Andover | 3:30 | North Andover | 3:30 | North Andover | 3:30 |
| Concord | 3:45 | Concord | 3:45 | Concord | 3:45 | Concord | 3:45 |
| Wilmington | 4:00 | Wilmington | 4:00 | Wilmington | 4:00 | Wilmington | 4:00 |
| Andover | 4:15 | Andover | 4:15 | Andover | 4:15 | Andover | 4:15 |
| Haverhill | 4:30 | Haverhill | 4:30 | Haverhill | 4:30 | Haverhill | 4:30 |
| Salem | 4:45 | Salem | 4:45 | Salem | 4:45 | Salem | 4:45 |
| Amherst | 5:00 | Amherst | 5:00 | Amherst | 5:00 | Amherst | 5:00 |
| North Andover | 5:15 | North Andover | 5:15 | North Andover | 5:15 | North Andover | 5:15 |
| Concord | 5:30 | Concord | 5:30 | Concord | 5:30 | Concord | 5:30 |
| Wilmington | 5:45 | Wilmington | 5:45 | Wilmington | 5:45 | Wilmington | 5:45 |
| Andover | 6:00 | Andover | 6:00 | Andover | 6:00 | Andover | 6:00 |
| Haverhill | 6:15 | Haverhill | 6:15 | Haverhill | 6:15 | Haverhill | 6:15 |
| Salem | 6:30 | Salem | 6:30 | Salem | 6:30 | Salem | 6:30 |
| Amherst | 6:45 | Amherst | 6:45 | Amherst | 6:45 | Amherst | 6:45 |
| North Andover | 7:00 | North Andover | 7:00 | North Andover | 7:00 | North Andover | 7:00 |
| Concord | 7:15 | Concord | 7:15 | Concord | 7:15 | Concord | 7:15 |
| Wilmington | 7:30 | Wilmington | 7:30 | Wilmington | 7:30 | Wilmington | 7:30 |
| Andover | 7:45 | Andover | 7:45 | Andover | 7:45 | Andover | 7:45 |
| Haverhill | 8:00 | Haverhill | 8:00 | Haverhill | 8:00 | Haverhill | 8:00 |
| Salem | 8:15 | Salem | 8:15 | Salem | 8:15 | Salem | 8:15 |
| Amherst | 8:30 | Amherst | 8:30 | Amherst | 8:30 | Amherst | 8:30 |
| North Andover | 8:45 | North Andover | 8:45 | North Andover | 8:45 | North Andover | 8:45 |
| Concord | 9:00 | Concord | 9:00 | Concord | 9:00 | Concord | 9:00 |
| Wilmington | 9:15 | Wilmington | 9:15 | Wilmington | 9:15 | Wilmington | 9:15 |
| Andover | 9:30 | Andover | 9:30 | Andover | 9:30 | Andover | 9:30 |
| Haverhill | 9:45 | Haverhill | 9:45 | Haverhill | 9:45 | Haverhill | 9:45 |
| Salem | 10:00 | Salem | 10:00 | Salem | 10:00 | Salem | 10:00 |
| Amherst | 10:15 | Amherst | 10:15 | Amherst | 10:15 | Amherst | 10:15 |
| North Andover | 10:30 | North Andover | 10:30 | North Andover | 10:30 | North Andover | 10:30 |
| Concord | 10:45 | Concord | 10:45 | Concord | 10:45 | Concord | 10:45 |
| Wilmington | 11:00 | Wilmington | 11:00 | Wilmington | 11:00 | Wilmington | 11:00 |
| Andover | 11:15 | Andover | 11:15 | Andover | 11:15 | Andover | 11:15 |
| Haverhill | 11:30 | Haverhill | 11:30 | Haverhill | 11:30 | Haverhill | 11:30 |
| Salem | 11:45 | Salem | 11:45 | Salem | 11:45 | Salem | 11:45 |
| Amherst | 12:00 | Amherst | 12:00 | Amherst | 12:00 | Amherst | 12:00 |
| North Andover | 12:15 | North Andover | 12:15 | North Andover | 12:15 | North Andover | 12:15 |
| Concord | 12:30 | Concord | 12:30 | Concord | 12:30 | Concord | 12:30 |
| Wilmington | 12:45 | Wilmington | 12:45 | Wilmington | 12:45 | Wilmington | 12:45 |
| Andover | 1:00 | Andover | 1:00 | Andover | 1:00 | Andover | 1:00 |
| Haverhill | 1:15 | Haverhill | 1:15 | Haverhill | 1:15 | Haverhill | 1:15 |
| Salem | 1:30 | Salem | 1:30 | Salem | 1:30 | Salem | 1:30 |
| Amherst | 1:45 | Amherst | 1:45 | Amherst | 1:45 | Amherst | 1:45 |
| North Andover | 2:00 | North Andover | 2:00 | North Andover | 2:00 | North Andover | 2:00 |
| Concord | 2:15 | Concord | 2:15 | Concord | 2:15 | Concord | 2:15 |
| Wilmington | 2:30 | Wilmington | 2:30 | Wilmington | 2:30 | Wilmington | 2:30 |
| Andover | 2:45 | Andover | 2:45 | Andover | 2:45 | Andover | 2:45 |
| Haverhill | 3:00 | Haverhill | 3:00 | Haverhill | 3:00 | Haverhill | 3:00 |
| Salem | 3:15 | Salem | 3:15 | Salem | 3:15 | Salem | 3:15 |
| Amherst | 3:30 | Amherst | 3:30 | Amherst | 3:30 | Amherst | 3:30 |
| North Andover | 3:45 | North Andover | 3:45 | North Andover | 3:45 | North Andover | 3:45 |
| Concord | 4:00 | Concord | 4:00 | Concord | 4:00 | Concord | 4:00 |
| Wilmington | 4:15 | Wilmington | 4:15 | Wilmington | 4:15 | Wilmington | 4:15 |
| Andover | 4:30 | Andover | 4:30 | Andover | 4:30 | Andover | 4:30 |
| Haverhill | 4:45 | Haverhill | 4:45 | Haverhill | 4:45 | Haverhill | 4:45 |
| Salem | 5:00 | Salem | 5:00 | Salem | 5:00 | Salem | 5:00 |
| Amherst | 5:15 | Amherst | 5:15 | Amherst | 5:15 | Amherst | 5:15 |
| North Andover | 5:30 | North Andover | 5:30 | North Andover | 5:30 | North Andover | 5:30 |
| Concord | 5:45 | Concord | 5:45 | Concord | 5:45 | Concord | 5:45 |
| Wilmington | 6:00 | Wilmington | 6:00 | Wilmington | 6:00 | Wilmington | 6:00 |
| Andover | 6:15 | Andover | 6:15 | Andover | 6:15 | Andover | 6:15 |
| Haverhill | 6:30 | Haverhill | 6:30 | Haverhill | 6:30 | Haverhill | 6:30 |
| Salem | 6:45 | Salem | 6:45 | Salem | 6:45 | Salem | 6:45 |
| Amherst | 7:00 | Amherst | 7:00 | Amherst | 7:00 | Amherst | 7:00 |
| North Andover | 7:15 | North Andover | 7:15 | North Andover | 7:15 | North Andover | 7:15 |
| Concord | 7:30 | Concord | 7:30 | Concord | 7:30 | Concord | 7:30 |
| Wilmington | 7:45 | Wilmington | 7:45 | Wilmington | 7:45 | Wilmington | 7:45 |
| Andover | 8:00 | Andover | 8:00 | Andover | 8:00 | Andover | 8:00 |
| Haverhill | 8:15 | Haverhill | 8:15 | Haverhill | 8:15 | Haverhill | 8:15 |
| Salem | 8:30 | Salem | 8:30 | Salem | 8:30 | Salem | 8:30 |
| Amherst | 8:45 | Amherst | 8:45 | Amherst | 8:45 | Amherst | 8:45 |
| North Andover | 9:00 | North Andover | 9:00 | North Andover | 9:00 | North Andover | 9:00 |
| Concord | 9:15 | Concord | 9:15 | Concord | 9:15 | Concord | 9:15 |
| Wilmington | 9:30 | Wilmington | 9:30 | Wilmington | 9:30 | Wilmington | 9:30 |
| Andover | 9:45 | Andover | 9:45 | Andover | 9:45 | Andover | 9:45 |
| Haverhill | 10:00 | Haverhill | 10:00 | Haverhill | 10:00 | Haverhill | 10:00 |
| Salem | 10:15 | Salem | 10:15 | Salem | 10:15 | Salem | 10:15 |
| Amherst | 10:30 | Amherst | 10:30 | Amherst | 10:30 | Amherst | 10:30 |
| North Andover | 10:45 | North Andover | 10:45 | North Andover | 10:45 | North Andover | 10:45 |
| Concord | 11:00 | Concord | 11:00 | Concord | 11:00 | Concord | 11:00 |
| Wilmington | 11:15 | Wilmington | 11:15 | Wilmington | 11:15 | Wilmington | 11:15 |
| Andover | 11:30 | Andover | 11:30 | Andover | 11:30 | Andover | 11:30 |
| Haverhill | 11:45 | Haverhill | 11:45 | Haverhill | 11:45 | Haverhill | 11:45 |
| Salem | 12:00 | Salem | 12:00 | Salem | 12:00 | Salem | 12:00 |
| Amherst | 12:15 | Amherst | 12:15 | Amherst | 12:15 | Amherst | 12:15 |
| North Andover | 12:30 | North Andover | 12:30 | North Andover | 12:30 | North Andover | 12:30 |
| Concord | 12:45 | Concord | 12:45 | Concord | 12:45 | | |